

Chapter 192 Brea Demanded One Hundred Thousand

Brea was not aggressive, but the sense of oppression her body emitted was so strong that Vida couldn't help trembling.

Actually, Vida wanted to talk to Celia instead. Since Celia was just new in the Semsby Group and was not very famous in the design circle yet, she guessed that she wouldn't have to pay too much if she asked Celia to design the dress for her.

She thought that if she talked to Celia in person, she could easily achieve her goal with a low cost.

But now that Brea had stepped in, she couldn't bargain casually.

Vida thought for a while. Then she offered a price that she thought was fairly high.

"How about twenty thousand dollars? Will that be acceptable, Brea?"

Brea couldn't believe her ears. After confirming that she heard it right, she rolled her eyes mercilessly.

"You have the nerve to offer twenty thousand dollars? Do you think of Cece as a beggar?"

As soon as Vida heard this, she couldn't help feeling embarrassed. She quickly defended herself. "Celia is just a newcomer in the design industry, and she hasn't won any awards yet. Twenty thousand dollars is not that low.

And I only asked her to design a dress for me for the red carpet this time. It's not a long-term agreement. Twenty thousand dollars is already a good price, right?"

Brea snorted coldly, "Cece exclusively works for me. Since you want her to design a dress for you, don't you think you should show your sincerity? Twenty thousand dollars? Are you looking down on her or me? Do you think my employee is worthless?"

Vida didn't have a good relationship with many people, especially after she gained some popularity because of her role in a popular drama. She didn't respect the other stars in her company. But because of her popularity, no one dared to retort her face to face.

So now that Brea was arguing with her in public, the other stars who had been holding back their anger also seized the opportunity to vent.

"I think she's just being arrogant. She thinks highly of herself because she is a little famous. She doesn't even take Brea seriously."

"She didn't want to pay Cece at all, right? Twenty thousand dollars? That's too embarrassing! I guess she actually wants Cece to design a dress for her for free. When she offered such an amount, she even hesitated for a long time first. Isn't she so stingy?"

"Cece is a very good designer. Besides, just for Brea's sake, you can't offer twenty thousand dollars."

After being humiliated, Vida pulled a long face and said to Brea, "Brea, I want you to know that although I was acting in a popular drama and have gained some popularity recently, my team is spending a lot of money on marketing and other things. So we didn't make much money at all. If I am rich, I will definitely offer a much higher price."

As soon as she said these words, everyone laughed.

Brea laughed too, and her laughter was extremely scornful.

"Don't tell me you are poor, Vida. You can earn millions of dollars just by attending a random activity. How can you still say you didn't make much money? You make money with your face, and Cece makes money with her design work. You make much more money than her. Who is in a more difficult situation?"

Vida was speechless for a while. Her pretty face flushed. She pouted and said, "Brea, you are too aggressive."

Brea said coldly, "I'm just telling the truth."

Vida couldn't refute, so she could only force a smile and said, "Then tell me your price. I'll accept it as long as it's not too outrageous. I sincerely want to cooperate with Miss Kane."

When Brea saw that Vida was sincere, she waved her hand and said, "One hundred thousand dollars. As long as you pay one hundred thousand dollars, Cece will design a dress for you for the red carpet."

There was still hesitation on Vida's face, so Brea immediately said, "Anyone with discerning eyes can see Cece's talent. You will know that one hundred thousand dollars is worth it."

Vida was stunned upon hearing this.

One hundred thousand dollars? Didn't she say not too outrageous?
