

Chapter 209 Brea Came

"Cece, did you hear that? Someone seems to be calling you," Wayne said to Celia.

Celia also heard it. The voice seemed to come from outside the window. She walked to the direction of the voice in confusion and pushed the window open. To her surprise, it was Brea! Although the latter was wearing sunglasses, Celia was very familiar with her after all, so she recognized her in one glance.

She hurried to open the door and invited Brea into the ward. She asked in surprise, "Brea, why are you here? Are you here to visit your friend or something?"

Brea raised her hands and said, "I am here to treat the wounds on my hands. After all, I am a celebrity. I can't have scars. Although I've applied medicine on them, I think it would be better to consult with the doctor.

My friend introduced this hospital to me. She said it is a good hospital with good privacy, so I came here. When I passed by the ward just now, I happened to see you through the glass window. So, I called out to you."

Brea took off her sunglasses and glanced around the ward, only then did she realize that there were also two men here.

They were Wayne and the other man who looked like Mr. Reyes.

A surprised expression flashed across her face. When she was about to ask Celia, she was distracted by Flavia who pointed at her and asked, "Cece, is this the girl you just mentioned?"

Brea looked at Flavia, confused.

Celia nodded enthusiastically, pulled her to the bedside and introduced her to Flavia.

"Yes, this is the girl in the photos I showed you. She's beautiful, right? Her name is Brea Duffy, a female star of the company I work in at the moment."

Flavia's eyes lit up. She reached out her trembling hand and held Brea's hand carefully. She looked at the latter up and down and smiled happily. "Good girl, it's so nice to meet you. You look more beautiful than you are in the photos! How could there be such a very pretty girl in the world?"

Brea had always been confident in her beauty. The praise she got occasionally didn't faze her anymore as she had been used to it. Nonetheless, when she heard Flavia's sincere praise, she still blushed. She replied with a smile, "Thank you. Flavia, you're flattering me."

"You are so beautiful and polite that the more I look at you, the more I like you. No wonder Wayne has a secret crush on you." Saying this, Flavia laughed even more happily.

"What?" Brea frowned slightly. She thought she had misheard as she asked, "Who has a secret crush on me?"

"Oh! It seems that you don't know?" Flavia kept laughing by herself as she said, "Since you don't know, let me tell you."

In confusion, Brea took a look at Celia again and saw a smile on the latter's face. She couldn't help feeling amused by this unexpected information. "Okay, Flavia, please tell me more."

Just like that, the three of them chatted happily, while the two men in the corner were suffering.

Tyson didn't expect that Brea would suddenly appear. Although he was wearing a mask, he didn't feel secure, thinking that he would be recognized by her at such a close distance.

His body stiffened the moment Brea entered. Then, he took advantage of the time when Celia and Brea were talking to Flavia and pulled Wayne out of the ward.

"What's wrong?" Wayne, who was pulled out suddenly, was dumbfounded.

Tyson kept an eye on the situation in the ward and said to Wayne in a low voice, "You must keep Brea in the dark and don't let her recognize me. If she recognizes that I'm the CEO of Semshy Group, Cece will find out my true identity as well."

It was rare for Tyson to be so alert and nervous like this. Wayne asked in confusion, "Why are you so afraid that Celia would know your identity? Whatever the case, she would understand. After all, she is a good girl, and she should be able to keep the secret."

"Don't ask too much. She can't just find out until I let her know," Tyson said seriously.

Before he completed his plan, he had to hide it from Celia. He couldn't get her involved when he was not finished with fighting against the Shaw family. As the Shaw family tended to be too ruthless, no one knew what they could do to her. He must protect her well and never put her in danger. In order to do so, it was for the best if he kept her in the dark.

Tyson thought for a while and said, "Anyway, keep that in mind. I'll go to the parking lot and wait for Cece there. When she asks, you help me explain."

After that, he left decisively.

In Wayne's perspective, he couldn't understand the actions of Tyson and was still trying hard to understand this matter. Looking at Tyson's back, he couldn't help shaking his head and sighing with a heavy heart.

He murmured to himself, "Who could have imagined that the CEO of Semshy Group has such a difficult and complicated life?"

At this time, the door of the ward was pushed open and Celia came out.

"Wayne, what are you doing outside alone?"

Before Wayne could answer, she looked around and asked in confusion, "Where did Tyson go? He was just here a few minutes ago. Do you know where he is?"
