

Chapter 302 Slip Of The Tongue

When Hobson got angry, everyone at the table fell silent. Even Doreen stopped clamoring. She was also stunned.

Although she was young and bold, she was still afraid of Hobson. After all, she heard about his iron fist in the business circle when she was very young. It could be said that he was a legend.

Tyson and Celia comforted Hobson at once.

"Grandpa, don't be angry. Remember your health. You must take care of yourself."

Tyson patted Hobson's back to comfort him. After a long time, he gradually calmed down. Then he looked at Doreen and said coldly, "How can I not be angry? We are having a good meal here, but someone is deliberately stirring up trouble."

His sharp eyes were fixed on her.

And when she looked at him, he saw the resentment on her face. He said angrily, "What are you looking at? Yes, I am talking about you."

Doreen's face was full of grievance. "You are unfair. You are kind to Tyson and his wife. But you are mean to me. Is it because you think only Cece can give birth to a child, and I can't? She is not pregnant with your great-grandchild yet, so don't be happy too early. Maybe she can't give birth to a baby either."

Hobson thumped the table angrily. "How dare you say that! She is a well-educated and sensible woman. After she married into the Shaw family, she has behaved herself well. While you, you know nothing but looking for trouble. How many unreasonable things have you done with the support of the Welch family? And you still expect me to like you?"

But Doreen was unwilling to admit defeat. She asked, "What trouble did I make for you? The people who are making trouble are clearly Tyson and his wife. They came back to the Shaw family today to stir up trouble. Tyson has been kicked out of the Shaw family. Why did he still come back? Have you asked him about his intention?"

After saying this, she covered her mouth subconsciously.

She was so anxious that she spilled the beans that Tyson was kicked out of the Shaw family.

Doreen immediately glanced at Mack, asking for help.

But Mack just glared at her and whispered, "Why did you say that? Do you want Grandpa to back Tyson up?"

She replied in a low voice, "Why are you so angry? I didn't mean it. I just had a slip of the tongue."

The two of them were so busy arguing in a low voice that they did not notice that Hobson's face had darkened.

Hobson keenly captured the key information in Doreen's words. He turned to Danilo and said with a cold face, "What did Doreen mean? What did she mean that Tyson was kicked out of the family? He left the Shaw family because he wanted to train himself outside, right?"

Danilo could tell that Hobson was going to hold on to this matter, and he was afraid that Hobson would know the truth. But he still pretended as if nothing had happened. He smiled helplessly and quickly explained, "It's all Doreen's nonsense. After all, Tyson is my son. How can I kick him out?"

Hobson didn't see through Danilo's disguise, but he was suspicious. He said coldly, "Don't try to fool me. I know you're always in favor of Mack, and you don't pay much attention to Tyson."

Then he turned to Tyson and said, "Tyson, I want to hear it from you. I don't believe others anymore. Don't be afraid, and just tell me the truth. I will uphold justice for you."

When his eyes landed on Tyson's mask, he suddenly had an inexplicable feeling that Tyson must have suffered a lot during his absence.

"Tyson...." Hobson held Tyson's hand and said tentatively, "I just want to ask you one question. Did you leave the Shaw family because you wanted to be independent or you were forced to do so?"

