

Chapter 330 Keira's Mockery

"Miss Duffy, how do you feel after being harassed online the entire day? I've just taken over one of your endorsements and shot an advertisement for a whole day. I haven't had the time to congratulate you. Congratulations! Finally, you are now on the hot search. You are popular now."

Brea clicked on the message, and the moment she saw the content, she was so angry that she almost smashed her phone.

It was as if she could even see Keira's mocking face through the screen.

Keira was still the same as before. Every time she knew that Brea was suffering a setback, she would come to mock Brea.

But Brea would not let Keira outdo her. She texted back directly.

"Are you still in the mood to send me a message and say sarcastic words? I heard that you went to see Mr. Reyes in person when Semshy Group refused to cooperate with Hayden Entertainment. Did you go to him to talk about cooperation? Or to throw yourself at him? But we haven't heard any news about your cooperation with Semshy Group yet. Were you not able to reach an agreement with Mr. Reyes? You shouldn't have been kicked out by him, right? You should have come to me before you went to him. With our relationship, I would have kindly told you that your plain face is not his type. Then you wouldn't have gone there in vain."

Keira didn't reply for a long time.

Brea knew in her heart that she had hit the nail on the head.

So she smiled complacently and was about to continue what she was doing. But a new message from Keira came in.

"Thank you for worrying about me. I appreciate your concern. But so what if I can't cooperate with Semshy Group? It doesn't matter. I've already had the Evans Group supporting me. Haven't you seen the trending topic? I have a close relationship with Wayne Evans. You are deeply involved in scandals now. But if you beg me, maybe I can ask him to help you explain to the outside world. Then you can thank me later."

As soon as Brea saw Wayne's name in Keira's message, she was so angry that she clenched her phone tightly and ran to see him.

Wayne was frying fish in the kitchen when he was suddenly grabbed by Brea. He was stunned for a moment, then smiled helplessly. "My dear lady, what's wrong again?"

Brea ignored his teasing. She raised her hand and showed her phone in front of his face. "Look at how your Keira is provoking me. She said that she had the Evans Group supporting her, and hinted to me that you two are in a relationship. What's going on?"

Wayne was startled. He took the phone from her and looked at it for a long time with a puzzled expression on his face.

The fish was about to burn, so he had to turn off the stove for the time being. He then held Brea's hand and explained seriously, "I swear that I have nothing to do with Keira. She is just talking nonsense to piss you off."

But Brea was still upset. She said unhappily, "Then tell me, is Keira really cooperating with Evans Group? Is she going to be the ambassador for the Evans Group's clothing? She doesn't deserve to endorse such a good brand."

The more Brea talked, the angrier she became. She struggled out of Wayne's arms and looked up at him. "Why did you debase yourself to talk about cooperation with Keira? And even if you went to talk to her, why was it photographed? Now, all the netizens think that you are a couple. I'm so angry!"

However, Wayne just endured her anger and didn't say anything. The truth was, the angrier she was, the happier he became. Because this meant that she cared so much about him.

After Brea talked a lot, Wayne looked into her eyes and burst into laughter. "Do you really care so much about this? Brea, you care about me, right?"

His words disrupted Brea's anger. The anger in her eyes was gradually replaced by shyness. She bit her lower lip, hesitating whether to admit it or not.

If she didn't admit it, she would seem stubborn. But if she did, Wayne might tease and control her.

When Wayne saw the complicated expression on her face, he touched her head lovingly. Then he took out his phone, dialed Keira's number, and put it on speaker.
