

Chapter 333 Captured

Wayne didn't really care much about this matter. "Keira isn't the ambassadress of the Evans Group. The Evans Group is going to hold a business show, and she's only one of the performers there. Also, she doesn't have a high position in the industry, so I still have the right to make the decision about her. I will tell my people to replace her with someone else on the show and then I will inform my father about this. He won't have any objections."

Brea let out a sigh of relief. "I was just worried that your father might get angry at you since you made an impulsive decision. After all, this is a unilateral breach of contract. Are you going to have to pay compensation? How about I pay it instead?"

To be honest, she didn't really want to give Keira any compensation, but she just didn't want Wayne to be negatively affected by this incident.

"That's quite generous of you. You're not making much money, yet you're offering to pay it instead?" Wayne smiled and reached out to gently pinch her on the cheek. "Don't worry. Keira doesn't have a high status in the entertainment industry, so I can afford whatever the compensation amount may be. If my father does get angry, I'll take you to see him personally. That way, he'll definitely calm down."

Brea blushed. "Don't bring up the topic of me meeting your father anymore. Our relationship hasn't even reached that point yet. Why are you saying it as if I'm going to marry you?"

Wayne looked back at her with a smile while continuing to fry the fish. "It doesn't matter. You'll be my woman sooner or later anyway because I've captured you now."

Brea raised an eyebrow. "What makes you so confident of that?"

The smile didn't fade from Wayne's face as he pointed at the food in the pan. "There's this saying. If a man wants to capture a woman's heart, he has to capture her stomach first. The food I cook is so delicious that there's no doubt I've captured your stomach already. Now my next step is to capture your heart."

Brea pouted slightly. "I've heard that saying before, too. However, you're mistaken. The way to a man's heart is through his stomach, but the way to a woman's heart is through her..."

She stopped her sentence abruptly.

She realized that she had been about to say the word "vagina".

However, Wayne was still waiting for her to finish her sentence. "Well? What is it?"

Brea's face was red as she quickly changed the topic. "I forgot about it suddenly. Anyway, let's not talk about this any longer. Is that business show important? Which star are you going to replace her with?"

Wayne sensed that she didn't want to talk about the previous topic anymore, so he didn't force her. "It's not that important, actually. It's just that the shopping mall under the Evans Group needs the help of well-known celebrities to perform in order to attract attention, liven up the atmosphere, and also increase its popularity at the same time. It just so happens that Keira has got a little popular recently. We have a business contract with her company, Hayden Entertainment, so we decided to send her an invitation."

Brea nodded. "So that means it doesn't matter even if you change her for another celebrity."

"That's right." Wayne smiled. "How about you perform instead? Personally, I think you're much more suitable than Keira."

Brea blinked, then shook her head anxiously. "Forget it. I have a lot of anti-fans, so I think I'll only screw up the entire show if I attend."

Wayne reached out and gently grasped her chin, making her look at him straight in the eyes. "Since when did you become so unconfident? I think you're good enough for this. Don't worry, I'll make the arrangements, and then I'll send an invitation to your agent."

Brea smiled, knowing that she could no longer refuse him. "Isn't this like going through the back door?"

Wayne chuckled. "Nonsense. I'm your boyfriend. How can this be considered going through the back door? I'm simply keeping the benefits for my woman. I think you're more than capable of this, and I also prefer working with you rather than finding another celebrity."

He looked at her with a triumphant expression on his face. "Well? Aren't I clever?"

