

Chapter 394 Be My Real Girlfriend

Brea's heart beat faster when she heard Wayne's words, but she still kept scolding Wayne.

"Aren't you supposed to be smart? Why are you so foolish today? Why didn't you ring the doorbell or call me? If I hadn't opened the door, would you have just kept waiting?"

The more she talked, the sweeter she thought he was. At this moment, she felt nothing but happiness in her heart.

She had someone who was willing to wait for her for hours just to give her a surprise, and she also had feelings for this person. How could she not fall in love with him?

But Brea didn't soften her tone until she felt she had given him enough grief. Then she sighed and said, "In fact, next time, you can just message me directly and tell me to open the door for you."

Wayne looked at her affectionately and said, "But I was willing to wait for you. I was very happy in the process. Although I was the one trying to give you a surprise, I also felt that feeling the moment you opened the door."

His eyes became even more affectionate, which made the redness on Brea's face deepen and her heart beat even faster.

She quickly lowered her head to avoid his eyes.

She couldn't bear his gaze. She was afraid that if she looked at him any longer, she wouldn't be able to help kissing him.

"Why are you doing this?" she asked. She bit her lower lip and said, "I didn't ask you to give me a surprise."

With a dotting smile, Wayne said, "You didn't ask for a surprise. I wanted to do this. I'm pursuing you. Can't you see that?"

"Pursuing me? But why?" Brea was stunned.

Wayne shrugged. "You didn't want to be my real girlfriend, so I had to do something. I want to win your heart. Were you moved by the surprise?"

Brea burst into laughter. "I'm not that easily moved."

Wayne shook his head. "It doesn't matter. I'm willing to chase you for the rest of my life."

He looked sincere. Brea suddenly felt the urge to agree to be his girlfriend. But as she thought about the gap between the Duffy family and the Evans family, as well as her newly started career, she quickly gave up on that idea. She didn't want to let Wayne succeed so soon. She was afraid that he wouldn't value her if he got what he wanted so quickly. Moreover, she really wanted to develop her career first. Her love life wasn't her priority.

In response, Brea laughed and asked, "Why are you always so smooth-talking? How many times have you said these words to women? How many women have you chased?"

Wayne grabbed her hand and pressed it against his chest. "I swear, I've only said these words to you."

His eyes revealed his true feelings.

Brea felt moved, but she had to stick to her guns. She couldn't fall in love so soon!

She deliberately pulled her hand back and rolled her eyes. Then she asked, "Don't you have anything else to do? As the young master of the Evans Group, don't you need to handle business affairs? How's that deal with the client?"

Wayne replied, "I already closed the deal yesterday, so I was able to take some time to come see you today."

He moved closer to her.

"Business is important, but pursuing love is more important. I came to you as soon as the meeting ended."

His flirtatious words made Brea's heart race.

As he looked at her expression, Wayne knew that he had a chance. He took advantage of the moment and said, "I've seen the recent hot searches, and I've also asked someone to guide the netizens to scold Keira. Does that make you happy? Keira has suffered a lot."

At the mention of Keira, Brea felt excited and said with a smile, "You are really good. It's probably the first time that Keira has suffered such a big setback."

"It's no big deal." Wayne snorted. "She deserves it for provoking my beloved."

Brea lowered her head shyly again.

Seeing this, Wayne pulled her into his arms.

This time, Brea didn't refuse. She leaned against his chest, her heart pounding violently.

This time, Wayne didn't move his hands to touch her body. Instead, he asked with concern, "Is everything going well at work?"

Brea nodded. "It is. The brands that wanted to terminate their contracts with me before all want to renew them now. There are also several other luxury brands hoping for me to endorse their products. I also have several commercials to shoot, so I should be busy in a few days."

After listening to her patiently, Wayne suddenly blinked and looked at her seriously. "Can I come to make out with you every day?"

