

Chapter 439 Alick's Motives

Alick shook off Lesly disgustedly and snapped, "What the hell are you doing? Don't come close to me!"

Lesly was heartbroken by his reaction. After all, they had dated for so long, so she was naturally not expecting him to treat her so coldly.

She froze for a moment before tears slowly streamed down her face.

Ever since the fast-food restaurant owner fired her, she had not been able to find a job anywhere, and most places did not even want her as a waitress.

Hence, she was left with no choice but to submit her resume to low-tier jobs, and was finally hired as a cleaner at the Terry Hotel.

Actually, she had her own considerations. She believed that since the Terry Hotel was owned by the Juarez family, she might eventually run into Alick as long as she worked there.

However, she had never imagined him to be so heartless to her. She always felt that he must have broken up with her because of Celia.

But then, she also believed that he would be willing to get back with her as long as she pleaded with him and coaxed him.

However, after seeing his attitude towards her now, she realized that he might actually not want her anymore.

Sobbing, Lesly pointed at Celia and questioned, "Alick, are you really treating me like this because of her?"

Alick glanced at Celia and denied resolutely, "No, it has nothing to do with her. I wanted to get back with her again, but she has been refusing me and would not let me get close to her."

He watched out for Celia's mood, because he wanted to win her back. Seeing that she was silent, he continued, "Listen, I broke up with you because I was sick of how vulgar you were. Only elegant and refined women like Celia deserve me. Do you get it? Honestly, I regretted being with you not long after we got into a relationship, but since we'd already slept together, I had to make it up to you. That's why I continued to be in a relationship with you and even spent a lot of money on you. I always knew that you were with me for money, but I hoped that you would become a better person with time. I did not expect you to be a trashy gold digger even now."

"A gold digger?" Lesly was exasperated. Pointing at Celia's necklace, she snapped, "Did you gift that necklace to her? When we were together, I begged you to buy me that necklace a hundred times, and you always refused. But now that she asked for it, you bought it for her. Doesn't that make her a gold digger as well? Celia is a bitch who destroyed our relationship!"

As she mentioned the necklace, Alick turned around and glanced at Celia's necklace, shocked.

He was so smitten by her beauty before that he did not notice that she was wearing a necklace that was worth twenty million dollars!

He was well aware of Celia's family background, so there was no way for her to have bought such an expensive necklace. Even the man she had married seemed to be poor.

So who gave her that necklace? Was it Derek? Or someone else? Or was the necklace a fake, a copy?

Suppressing his doubts, Alick retorted to Lesly, "That necklace costs twenty million dollars, and when we went to the jewelry store, you kept saying that you wanted it. Why would I buy you such an expensive necklace? Look at yourself! Do you even deserve such expensive jewelry?"

Lesly's heart was tainted with jealousy, making her point at Celia, crying miserably, "Then why did you buy it for Celia? What makes you think that she deserves it when I don't? Is she really that much better than me?"

While Alick was still thinking of a way to impress Celia, she sneered, "Looks like you still have no idea of your boyfriend's financial situation. He did not give this necklace to me. It was my husband's grandfather who gifted it to me."
