

Chapter 454 Completely Down And Ou

Celia sat down as Tyson opened a bottle of juice and handed it to her.

She accepted it and gently nodded as a thanks.

Doreen sat opposite to her, rolling her eyes in annoyance as she watched the couple. She didn't like these two people, and she didn't like how Tyson was being so good to Celia.

It wasn't that Doreen had feelings for Tyson. Deep down, she was just resentful that Mack didn't treat her as well as Tyson treated Celia. She couldn't accept that this Kane bitch was treated better by her husband. It left her wondering what Celia did to deserve this treatment.

Doreen was glaring angrily at Celia when she suddenly saw the necklace around her neck. She couldn't quite believe her eyes. "Why are you wearing this necklace?" she asked, pointing an accusatory finger at it.

Celia was stunned. Her hands subconsciously reached to the necklace to protect it. "What's wrong? Is there something wrong with this necklace?"

Doreen's eyes widened in disdain. "You ignorant bumpkin! How dare you wear this necklace without knowledge of its value? This is a limited edition luxury jewelry! Even if you have lots of money, it's almost impossible to buy it now!"

As a matter of fact, the necklace had been a cause for one of her and Mack's quarrels.

Doreen had asked Mack to buy her the necklace as soon as it hit the market. He said that he already asked someone to take care of it, thinking that it would satisfy her. When he remembered to buy the necklace, every piece was already sold out.

Doreen gave her a reproachful look, growing angrier at the thought of Celia just cluelessly wearing something that she wasn't able to obtain for herself. "Where did you get the money to buy such an expensive necklace? Did you steal it?"

Tyson couldn't tolerate seeing Celia get accused like this so he stood up for her and explained, "The necklace is from my grandfather. He thought we were struggling financially so he gave it to us as a gift."

Doreen turned red with jealousy. "Hobson is so kind to you. He even gave such precious jewelry to your wife. I bet he also wants to give you all his assets. What if I pretend to be poor in front of your grandpa too? That's what you did, right? You acted all sad and cried in front of him, then he felt pity for you so he gave you so many gifts That's so much easier than talking about business and working hard every day, isn't it?"

Doreen cast a glance outside the door and continued, "That supercar parked outside, did your grandpa give that to you as well? You probably pretended you didn't want it when you were in front of him, but now you drive your fancy sports car and show off everywhere. Does that make you feel rich?"

Well, you can only play pretend for a while. When Hobson passes away, your life will be back to its original shape. No matter how well your grandpa treats you, you are just hopeless nobodies. Don't forget your identity. An illegitimate child and a poor lady truly are a perfect match."

Hearing this, Mack immediately pulled Doreen's arm. "That's enough, Doreen. After all, Tyson and Celia are still part of the Shaw family," he scolded.

Doreen snorted, and in a voice dripping with resentment, she said, "He is a bastard who was kicked out of the Shaw family. As for his wife, she is just the poor lady of the Kane family. How could you say that she is a member of the Shaw family?"

Her eyes grew in excitement with each word she spoke. "I heard that the Kane Group was recently bought by a rich man in Hosworth. She really is completely down and out now!"

Doreen then tilted her head back and laughed loudly, taking pleasure in mocking Celia.
