

Chapter 466 Messages

Tyson washed his face and brushed his teeth before going into the kitchen to cook.

He had just put the last pan away when he received a message from Brea.

It read, "Mr. Reyes, everything you ordered is complete. Cece has been given the day off. She doesn't know it was you who asked me to arrange it though. She thanked me multiple time and it was a little embarrassing. "

Tyson laughed out loud. In his reply to Brea, he wrote, "Great work. You don't have to tell Celia that it was me who gave her the day off. "

At that, he placed down the phone and continued cooking.

His phone began to vibrate again shortly afterwards. It was a message from Brea once more.

"Mr. Reyes, I don't understand. Why did you do that? Do you perhaps have a crush on Cece? "

Tyson replied, "It's none of your business. "

Brea replied seconds later, "Mr. Reyes, don't be angry. I am only trying to help. I think you pay particular attention to Cece. My observation is that you have never treated any other employees with such favor before. "

Tyson knew full well that Brea wanted to prevent him from falling in love with Celia who was a married lady.

But he just wanted to be nice to his own wife. What was wrong in that?

Tyson didn't want to continue the argument. He made up an excuse and said, "It's just because I'm in good mood. I can give anyone I want a day off. Mind your own business. Don't let me and the company worry about you. "

He hoped that this might scare Brea off but he was wrong. She sent another message.

"Don't think you can just make anything up and fool me. Do you really think I don't know you? You're not the kind of boss that gives employees a day off just because you are in a good mood! I kindly remind you that Cece is married and has a husband. You'd better watch out. "

Before Tyson could reply, he'd received another message from Brea. "Anyway, forget it. I won't ask anymore. Mr. Reyes, do whatever you want. I hope you will be happy more often, then maybe the whole company will get a day off. "

Tyson sensed the sarcasm here. He wanted to have the last word. He sent another message.

"I heard you're close with Wayne these days. I have no objection to you dating of course and I support you very much. But I don't want to see the news about you getting pregnant before marriage. Your career is on the rise and the company has invested a lot of money in you. "

Brea was rendered speechless by this personal message. She replied with an ellipsis. Then, after a while, another message came through. "Mr. Reyes, don't worry. I'm not a loser. I will not waste this opportunity. I promise that the company won't lose money because of me. Just wait and see. I will become a top star. "

Sensing that Brea was confident and in high spirits, Tyson ended the chain of messages with, "Okay, I'll wait and see. "

He put his phone down again and looked back at the pan in front of him.

He couldn't help thinking that Brea hadn't denied her relationship with Wayne. It seemed that the two of them really did have a thing.

He began to look at Wayne with new eyes. He'd not seen the man for a few days and now he was dating the most beautiful female star with the worst temper in the entertainment industry.

He must have underestimated Wayne!

While he had his head lowered and was cooking, he was hugged from behind.

"Tyson, what are you smiling about?"

murmured Celia pleasantly into his ear.
