

Chapter 475 A Car And A Man

Listening to what Celia told him, Tyson smiled. He lowered his head and gave her a gentle kiss before going to the bedroom to get changed.

He took out his phone and sent a message to Briar. "Pick me up at my home now. I am going to the company. "

When he'd got changed, he came to the living room to say goodbye to Celia. "Baby, I'm leaving."

Celia helped him smooth his clothes as she looked at him pitifully. "Honey, I want to discuss something with you. I want you to quit the delivery job. You work too much. I am making plenty of money at my current job. It would be no problem for me to support our family."

She regretted it as soon as she said this. Was she hurting Tyson's self-esteem by being too direct?

Tyson just smiled as he stroked her face. "I'm a man. I should be financially independent. I can't rely on my wife to support me. Besides, the delivery job is a good workout and keeps me healthy."

Celia agreed hesitantly. She held Tyson in her arms for a while before letting go. She waved and said, "Be careful on the road. I'll wait for you."

Tyson promised, "Honey, don't worry. I'll be back with you as soon as possible."

Finally, with one last kiss, he left the house, under the gaze of Celia.

Downstairs outside, he briskly walked toward a corner uncovered by surveillance cameras. Briar had parked the car there.

Tyson walked over and removed his mask.

Briar got out of the car and handed him a couture suit.

Tyson changed into the high-end suit and got into the car.

Briar locked his mask and clothes in the trunk and then climbed into the driver's seat.

This was routine for both of them.

Briar looked at his phone and replied to a message. Then he turned round to Tyson and said: "Mr. Robinson's attitude this time seems to be very sincere. He said that he would wait for you. My bet is the probability of successful cooperation is very high."

Tyson said calmly, "I see. Let's go."

Briar said no more and started the car.

Celia happened to be watching this scene from the balcony.

She had gone to the balcony to see Tyson off.

After all, Tyson always saw her off after they arrived at her workplace.

To Celia's surprise though, by the time she had gone out onto the balcony, Tyson had already disappeared.

She looked around to find Tyson but only saw a Lincoln limousine parked on the side of the road which looked out of place. A well-dressed and very handsome man opened the door and got into the car.

It was so remote here. How could there be such a luxurious car in this neighborhood?

What shocked Celia most was that the handsome man who stepped into the car looked almost identical to her one-night stand!

It was far away though, maybe she just couldn't make out his face clearly, Celia thought.

She rubbed her eyes, trying to see more clearly, but the man rolled up the window.

And the car sped off.

