

Chapter 476 Sudden Worry

Celia felt anxious for a long time after the car had driven away.

She wanted to follow the man and get a better look at his face. She wanted to ask him what happened that day and whether he remembered her or not?

There was no chance of her catching up with the car though. Besides, she didn't know what she should do if that was indeed her one-night stand.

A man who could afford such a car and live in a mansion could not be an ordinary person.

She pushed this thought to the back of her mind.

Then another thought struck her.

What was that man doing here?

When they'd first met, he had been sitting in a luxury car on a desolate mountain road.

This time he'd appeared near her home in a remote suburb with another fancy car.

Did he live nearby?

Celia felt uncomfortable at the thought.

She was getting carried away.

She had lived in this area for a long time and had never heard of any rich villa nearby. The man must just be passing by.

Celia returned to the living room and heaved a long sigh.

She had never imagined she would again encounter that man after that one-night stand.

She recalled that when she had sex with Tyson last night, she had seen similarities between them. Had she maybe just not forgotten about him subconsciously?

She had heard that women especially missed the men who took their virginity but she didn't have any emotional attachment towards that man. How could she think of him when she was with Tyson?

The more Celia thought about it, the more upset she became. She could not get entangled with that person. Otherwise, she would never be able to live a peaceful life again.

She hoped that her marriage with Tyson could be long lasting and that no one would disturb their lives.

Taking a deep breath, Celia texted a message to Tyson. "Tyson, when will you be back home? Please be careful, don't overspeed. "

She got worried about Tyson suddenly, so she kept staring at the phone hoping for a reply.

Tyson did not text back promptly. It took a while instead.

"Honey, I'm in a hurry to get the food. I'll try to be back in two hours. Don't worry. I will be careful. If you are bored, why don't you go to meet your bestie? "

Celia didn't want to interfere with Tyson's work. She worried her text would be distracting him while he drove so she said no more.

Instead, Celia gave her friend Alita a call.

It took Alita a while to answer. She sounded a little exhausted and concerned. "Cece, why are you calling all of a sudden? Is something up?"

Celia explained, "Nothing. Don't worry. I just have something on my mind and want to talk. If you are busy, I won't bother you."

Alita breathed a sigh of relief. "I'm glad you are fine. You worried me calling so unexpectedly! It's my day-off today. Are you home? Give me the address and I'll come to you."
