

Chapter 478 Good Friend

Seeing how serious Celia had become, Alita laughed and pinched her face. "I was just kidding. It's not that terrible! There are many bodyguards keeping Ronald safe. This guarantees my personal safety. It is a challenge working for him though. It has been the worst experience I've had since joining the industry. It's made me realize that those stuck up female artists I used to work with were actually alright."

Celia breathed a sigh of relief.

"Ronald Robinson...I never heard of him before."

"Well, I heard he has had many lovers but none of them has been made public. Rumor has it that they haven't received any benefits from him either. Ronald is such a heartless man."

Her tone was angry but her eyes were bright. Celia noticed this and joked, "This Ronald is good-looking, isn't he? Although you complain about him, you don't seem to really believe it in your heart. Do you have a crush on him?"

Alita was stunned and blushed.

She took out her phone to find a photo of Ronald. She explained hurriedly, "Look, that's him. And no, I don't like him."

Celia looked at the photo.

The man in the photo had an angular face. He was extremely handsome. His deep, affectionate eyes were very attractive. He seemed like a man with many stories. He looked born to be an actor.

Celia praised, "He is rather handsome."

But, he was no comparison to her husband, she thought to herself.

She couldn't help but smile whenever she thought of Tyson.

Alita was oblivious. She pulled Celia to sit on the sofa with her and said, "Sweetie, enough talk about me. That lame stuff at work doesn't matter. Let's talk about you. You told me you had something on your mind. What was it?"

Celia wanted to release it all at once and she struggled to organize the words in her mind first.

Alita was afraid that she would only share the good news and not the bad. She hugged her and comforted her, "We have been good friends for so many years. If there's anything troubling you, you can tell me. I'm glad I'm here for you."

Celia leaned against Alita and told her all that had happened recently.

"My mother's ring has not been returned. My dad sold it to an antique shop which resold it to an auction house. It will be auctioned soon and I don't have enough money for even a fraction of the starting price. And... I saw my one-night stand near my house this morning. I don't know if he lives here or if he was just here for some business but I'm worried he will ruin everything!"

Celia felt overwhelmed. The more she talked, the more emotional she became. In the end, she started to cry.

"Alita, what I should do? I really love my husband. I only had a one-night stand with that man because Cerissa tricked me. I never wanted to do that. I just want to be with my husband. I'm really afraid this matter will affect our lives."

When Alita heard what had happened to her friend, she got very worked up and cursed loudly.

"Is Adrien out of his mind? How could he hurt you with that bitch? Cerissa never had good intentions. He is your father! You should have called the police, and got all these bastards arrested. It really pisses me off!"

Alita kept scolding everyone from the Kane family for a while.

Celia was in a better mood by the end of it. "Thanks, Alita. I feel better now. They have been punished and the Kane Group has been acquired."
