Chapter 479 Comforting

Alita gritted her teeth when she heard Celia. She said, "Those idiots from the Kane family deserve what's happened to them. I don't know who bought the Kane Group but they certainly did a good thing! I still think it's not enough of a punishment though. I wish everyone in the Kane family would go to hell, apart from you and your mother of course!"

Alita felt distressed for Celia and held her in her arms and patted her on the back. "Cerissa is so evil. How could she drug you and then let a stranger take your virginity? I wouldn't want to meet karma in a dark alley if I were her!"

Alita held Celia tighter. Tears were streaming down her face. "I didn't know these things. You should have told me before. You know I would have helped you find a way. I certainly never would have let them persuade you to marry into the Shaw family!"

She sighed and continued, "Thanks god that Tyson treats you well. Otherwise, I will help you divorce him no matter what."

"Tyson is awesome to me."

Celia's mood improved a little as soon as Tyson was brought up.

She sat up, more composed and explained, "I wanted to forget all about that night so I never said a word about it to anyone. I thought I could move on from what had happened. I never expected to see that person again!"

She gave Alita another tight hug. "I want nothing to do with that person anymore. I don't want him to disturb my life with Tyson."

Celia trembled as she considered this. Alita comforted her, "It will be okay. He was just passing by. Besides, Tyson will understand it was in the past. Celia, whatever you do, please don't blame yourself. It's all Cerissa's fault, not yours at all. You are innocent."

Celia wished that was the case. Something else bothered her though.

Celia tried to explain, "Alita, to be honest, I don't know why but I often find myself thinking of that man's appearance. I don't even know his name!"

Alita patted her hand and said, "It's normal. After all, that guy did take your virginity. This is always hard for women."

Celia shook her head. "I feel I've betrayed Tyson. I lost my virginity the day before our wedding... I almost... I wanted to give myself completely to Tyson. Why did I have to go through something like this? I just can't understand."

Alita was patient. She comforted, "Don't think like that. It wasn't planned so don't blame yourself. Think of it as a bad dream, now you're awake and your life is back on track. No one can destroy your happiness. You have to make peace with yourself. You don't want to hurt Tyson by dwelling on the past."

Celia looked up at her friend. She felt calmer after talking with her.

Alita wiped away Celia's tears like a mother. Celia said, "Alita, you're the best. I've been keeping these things to myself for too long. I was at breaking point. I feel much better now that I have told you everything."

Alita gave her a kiss. "I am glad you are feeling better. You waited forever to tell me something so important. You should have shared this a long time ago. Even if I can't help you, it's always good to have someone listen to you vent!"

Celia nodded and sat up straight slowly.

Alita asked once more, "What are you going to do about your mother's sapphire ring?"
