

Chapter 489 The Truth Of Her Marriage Was Exposed

Celia and Adrien were stunned at hearing Tyson's words.

They both became uncomfortable and nervous.

Celia felt particularly distraught.

She didn't want her secret exposed. How could Tyson accept that she had deceived him?

After all, she was using a false identity to be with him. If he found out that it was all a lie, would he ever find it in himself to trust her again?

Adrien's eyes kept darting between Celia and Cerissa.

He'd brought Cerissa here today to expose Celia's fake identity and her secret.

No man can tolerate a woman's deceit, right? Moreover, it was absurd to marry a man in the identity of someone else.

Cerissa wasn't as pretty as Celia but she was cute and charming and softly spoken. Most men liked her type.

Adrien believed that as soon as Tyson realized how amazing Cerissa was, he would slowly forget Celia.

Adrien took a deep breath and organized his thoughts. He pointed at Cerissa and said, "I'm sorry, Mr. Shaw. We have not been honest with you and the Shaw family. She is not Cece's cousin but in fact the real Cerissa."

Celia hadn't expected this bombshell. She held onto Tyson's arm in her nerves. She was scared she was about to lose him.

Tyson squeezed her hand in comfort.

He looked at Adrien and said coldly, "Go on. Don't miss out any details."

Adrien felt sure his plan had succeeded and so he began to make a scene.

He pointed at Celia and sneered, "Mr. Shaw, the woman next to you is Celia Kane. In order to marry a rich man like you, she took the place of her sister, Cerissa. She is my ex-wife's daughter. We raised her for so many years but she repeatedly stole from us and complained that her stepmother and I were not good to her. I was forced to throw her out to make a living on her own."

As he said this, his chest rose and fell as if Celia really had done those things and he was still angry.

"After learning that her sister was going to marry you, she took her place as the bride at your wedding. I knew right away but there were so many guests present, I dared not reveal the truth. I could only watch as she married you."

Adrien had come well-prepared. With those words, he had turned Celia into the villain.

Tyson frowned. He did not give away much feeling in his eyes.

Celia was furious. She hadn't expected Adrien to distort the facts so much. She wanted to have her say.

She admitted it was her fault for lying to Tyson and she would accept whatever Tyson wanted to do now, even if it meant divorce. She didn't want any misunderstanding between them though and she didn't want him to think of her as a terrible woman.

Before she could get a word in, Tyson held her hand and gently comforted her, "Cece, calm down. Let him finish."

Adrien was oblivious to the affection in Tyson's eyes and continued to speak righteously.

"Mr. Shaw, please forgive my dishonesty. I didn't expose Celia because she is also my daughter. We had agreed to keep this a secret for her. But instead of being grateful, she instigated her friend, Alita, to hurt my wife Mabel. I can't bear it any more. I don't want to be part of her devilish schemes."
