

Chapter 666 I Know You Well, So I Suspect You

Everyone turned their heads to face where the voice was coming from, and they saw Emmitt, the CEO's secretary, walking over quickly.

"Why is Mr. Boyd here?"

"Mr. Reyes will probably help Celia again. They must be having an affair!"

"Stop speculating. You will get in trouble if Mr. Boyd hears you."

The crowd began to gossip again.

Emmitt was afraid that the gossip would go out of control, so he stood in front of the crowd and announced coldly without delay, "Mr. Reyes has found out about the accident. I just contacted the senior washing company, and they will have the dress cleaned as soon as possible."

Tyson had been tipped off about a commotion in the design department and hurriedly sent Emmitt to deal with the problem before he arrived in the Semshy Group.

He knew that gossip spread rapidly in the company, and if he didn't resolve it in time, there would be unimaginable consequences. So, he had Emmitt settle the gossip before it could become worse.

While Emmitt was busy calming everyone down in the design department, Tyson was in his office, observing the situation from his monitor. At first, he was anxious about

Chapter 666 I Know You Well, So I S. 🎁 +120 Points at most

Celia's distress. However, after Emmitt skillfully handled the commotion, he could finally heave a sigh of relief when she calmed down.

Celia handed the dress to Emmitt, who then sent it to be washed. Half an hour later, the dress was cleaned and sent back.

Celia was impressed by the quality of the washing service. The whole dress seemed to be back to its original state. Even the destroyed feathers were mended.

"Now that the problem with the dress has been solved, I hope everyone can put aside their prejudices and stop blaming someone, okay?" Emmitt said sternly as he gave an authoritative look at each and every staff member in the department.

After he saw a couple of nods and heard a buzz of agreement, he turned around and left, feeling satisfied.

A few moments later, Alec and Nora came to collect the clothes on behalf of Orchi.

They were very satisfied with the dresses.

Especially Alec, who was glancing at Celia dotingly. He had developed a soft spot for Celia ever since he knew that she was his and Jenifer's daughter.

He took one of the dresses and held it in front of Nora, picturing her in it. He then turned to Celia and smiled, "I'm very pleased with your design. This dress is a perfect fit for Nora. You've done exactly what I asked for."

Celia was over the moon when she received high praise from a leading figure in the industry. However, the rumors about them had not disappeared, and she was tired of being a topic of gossip. So, she tried hard to contain her happiness as she smiled politely and indifferently at Alec and thanked him. "Thank you for your praise, Mr. Wagner. It's a great honor for me to be working with you. I'm glad that you are satisfied with my design."

Chapter 666 | Know You Well, So I S. 🎁 +120 Points at most

Alec noticed Celia trying to put a distance between them, and he knew he couldn't be too hasty. He had to maintain a positive impression to avoid scaring her or souring their relationship. So, he just nodded and said, "I hope we still can cooperate in the future."

With that, he left with Nora.

After they left, Etta couldn't contain her suspicion any longer. She dragged Celia to a corner and whispered warily, "Celia, don't you think it's a little strange? I think someone is targeting you on purpose. We have to investigate this matter. You wouldn't want Mr. Reyes to help you resolve the matter if this sort of thing happens again, right?"

Celia nodded and echoed, "You're right. Let's go to Annis' studio now. I'd like to find out who ruined the dress."

Etta immediately called for a car, and they headed for Annis' studio.

Meanwhile, Annis had been thinking about the dress after her call with Celia. Seeing Celia coming to her studio to investigate the matter, she took the initiative to help. She asked Claire to come to her office and asked, "Claire, you are the last person to handle the dress, so you are the prime suspect. Tell me, does this matter have anything to do with you?"

Of course, Claire denied it directly. "I didn't do anything. I swear I really dried all the feathers. I don't know how this happened."

Annis studied Claire for a moment and didn't believe what she said. After a long time, she sighed and lectured, "Claire,

Chapter 666 I Know You Well, So I S. 🎁 +120 Points at most you have been with me for several years, and I know what you are capable of. I don't want to blow up this matter and embarrass you. I will only give you one last chance. Did you do it?"

Claire shook her head insistently and refused to admit. "Why would I admit to something I haven't done? Annis, I have been working for you for so many years. Why don't you trust me?"

"I know you well. That's why I suspect you. We'll review the CCTV footage. If you are the one who did it, I will not be going easy on you," Annis replied as she sighed and looked at Claire disappointedly.

With that, Annis immediately asked someone to retrieve the surveillance video.

Claire was flustered and shocked. She thought the surveillance camera was broken two days ago and no evidence would be captured. Had she known the camera was working, she wouldn't have been so bold.

She didn't expect Annis to repair the surveillance camera secretly.

"Did you think that the surveillance camera was broken, so you dared to be so unscrupulous?" Annis asked coldly. She snorted and looked condescendingly at Claire, sneering, "Since I accepted a big project from the Semshy Group, how could I not repair the surveillance camera? If anything happens, I can rely on the surveillance footage to prove my company's innocence."

Soon, the surveillance video was delivered, and everyone gathered to watch. As expected, the footage clearly showed Claire leaving the feathers wet on purpose, allowing the paint to stain the dress.