

Chapter 699 To Clear Up Any Misunderstandings

Celia brought Nora to her office and made her a cup of coffee. "Nora, thank you for standing up for me," she said gratefully.

Nora sipped the coffee and waved her hand. "Anytime. That's what friends are for!" she replied.

She then placed a gift for Nolan on the desk and looked at Celia expectantly. "Cece, if you want to thank me, could you please help me give this to Mr. Reyes? He won't take it if it's from me," she said hopefully.

Celia hesitated as she looked at the gift box.

She didn't want to help another woman send gifts to her husband.

Nora noticed Celia's hesitation and frowned slightly. "Cece, you promised to help me pursue Nolan. Are you going back on your words?" she asked Celia disappointedly.

"I did agree to help..." Celia replied slowly and felt like she was caught in a tight spot.

After all, she didn't know Nolan was Tyson then and thought Nolan had inappropriate intentions toward her, so she desperately wanted to match make Nolan and Nora.

Who would have thought things would turn out this way?

Now, it was too late for regrets.

"Alright, I'll help you pass it to him," Celia sighed.

Nora kissed her face excitedly and said with a smile, "Thank you so much, Cece. If Nolan and I get married, I will give you a big gift!"

She then left Celia's office, humming a joyful tune.

As Nora left, she passed by the group of employees whom she chided. They had gathered together again for more gossip.

Nora frowned. Why was there so much gossip in the company?

She strode over unhappily and was about to reprimand them again when she heard they were talking about Nolan.

"I think Mr. Reyes has a crush on Celia. Otherwise, why would he be so anxious to save Celia? I'm sure he wouldn't care about us if we were in danger. He would likely just pay for the treatment of our injuries."

"It's obvious that Mr. Reyes treats Celia specially. Only Nora will stupidly take Celia as a friend. She trusts Celia so much that she doesn't even know she has been betrayed."

"It's not Nora's fault. Think about the number of men Celia seduced. Even someone as cold as Mr. Reyes fell for her, let alone an innocent lady like Nora."

Of course, Nora didn't believe Celia would backstab her. However, her trust was subconsciously wavering.

She didn't want the gossip to ruin her friendship with Celia, so she decided to go to Nolan's office to clear up any misunderstandings.

Meanwhile, Celia entered the CEO's office.

Tyson smiled warmly at Celia, holding her hand when she walked in and ordered Emmitt to leave.

Celia passed the gift to Tyson and forced a smile. "It's for you," she said awkwardly.

"A gift for me?" Tyson said, surprised.

He thought the gift was from Celia, so he quickly opened the package and found an exquisite tie inside.

When he was about to try it on eagerly, Celia pouted and sulked. "This is a gift from Nora."

Tyson put the tie back into the box at once and asked her seriously, "Honey, why are you helping another woman to send a gift to me?"

Celia glared at him and grumbled, "It's because you hid your identity from me. If I had known earlier, I would have told Nora that Nolan is my husband, and we wouldn't be in this dilemma now."

Tyson felt guilty and held her in his arms. "I'm sorry. It's all my fault. But can you put up with it a little longer? I'll settle everything soon and reveal my identity to the public. Everything will work out soon," he apologized.

Just then, Nora arrived outside Tyson's office. When Emmitt saw her, he rushed up and said anxiously, "Miss Aston, Mr. Reyes is busy now. He's not available."

This was not the first time Emmitt had stopped Nora from seeing Nolan. However, this time he looked strangely flustered.

She recalled the gossip she heard outside Celia's office and decided to barge into the room despite Emmitt blocking the way.

When she saw what was happening in the office, she froze
