

Chapter 743 The Argument

Despite Nora's rage, Aubrey and Alicia maintained their calmness.

In particular, Alicia didn't leave and asked mockingly, "Are you playing a bluff on us? The Carter Group is the main sponsor of this event. You are merely a typical model. You can only enter if you are invited. How dare you put on airs here? Nora, you have no right to request Aubrey leave! However, she got the power to demand you to leave!"

Aubrey frowned slightly as she slowly approached Alicia and reprimanded her, "Alicia, Nora and I have been close friends for a long time. How can you address her in that manner?"

Nora despised the way Aubrey pretended to be friendly and kind. She couldn't figure out why she had come here from Captern.

Now, however, she didn't have a lot of time to think about it. She sneered, "Who is your friend? Aubrey, drop your act! There is no man in this room. No matter how hard you try, nobody will be moved by your kindness and generosity."

With a straight face, Aubrey said sadly, "It's been so long since we last crossed paths. Why do you perceive me like that? Do you no longer care about me? Nora, when are you planning on returning to Captern? I really miss you."

Nora gave her a sneering eye roll and said, "It has nothing to do with you. I'm not interested in telling you or seeing you. Get out of here immediately!"

Aubrey didn't budge an inch despite everything she said.

Instead, she said worriedly, "I'm telling you this out of kindness, Nora. Your father is in critical condition. You should return as soon as possible."

Nora was about to curse but was instead taken aback. She hesitated and asked, "Why didn't I hear of it?"

Before Aubrey could respond, Alicia sneered, "Of course, you don't know. You have no concern for your family. You only know how to chase men!"

She became more amused as she spoke. She sarcastically remarked, "I have never seen anyone as shameless as you. You came to such a humble city for a poor man. You chased him so hard and still he rejected you. You're a humiliation to socialites like us in Captern..."

Nora rushed up to her before she could finish speaking, giving her a hard slap. In an outraged voice, she yelled, "Alicia, watch your mouth! I decently pursued Nolan. I didn't pester him and I didn't force him to marry me! How could I be a humiliation? You have the audacity to call yourself a socialite? Everyone is aware that you have slept with a married man. It's been so long and yet you haven't been married to him. I'm more honorable than a mistress like you!"

Alicia hated her secret being exposed the most. She was so enraged that she lost control of herself and cursed, "Nora, who is more shameless? You or me? What's wrong with me being a mistress? I have a man supporting my needs. On the other hand, you have done so much for Nolan, but he hasn't even given you a second glance. Why do you keep bugging him? You are more shameless!"

She reprimanded Nora but felt it was insufficient, so she rushed up and pushed her hard.

Nora wore heels that were higher than ten centimeters.

She was unprepared for the attack, so when Alicia pushed her, she hit herself on the corner of the table and almost fell.

Alicia pounced on the chance.

She was about to slap her when the door slammed open.

They turned around when they heard the noise and saw Celia, who rushed over and grabbed Alicia's hand.

Alicia was astonished to see Celia and questioned, "Who are you? It has nothing to do with you. Get out of my way, or I'll teach you a lesson!"

Celia stated fiercely and firmly, "I'm Nora's friend. Her business is my business. You can deal with me as you wish. I'm not scared of you!"

She then shook off Alicia's hand.

Alicia stumbled and fell backward, bumping into Aubrey, who was close behind.

Her face grew pale from fear. She swiftly bowed and said, "I'm sorry, Aubrey. I didn't mean to..."

Alicia kept apologizing, but when she looked up, Aubrey was staring directly at Celia.

Celia caught Aubrey's gaze and stared back at her.

Aubrey was tall, but she did not possess a voluptuous physique. She had sloping shoulders, a flat chest, slim legs, and an angular-beautiful face. Her eyes were warm and loving, despite her masculine appearance.

She was indeed stunning.

Celia was confused as to why Aubrey was staring at her.

"Nora."

Celia wanted to help Nora, who had hit her waist on the table, but she was scared Nora would refuse her, so she asked awkwardly, "Are you okay?"

Nora was aware that Celia was assisting her, but she was still disturbed by what had occurred previously, so she ignored Celia. She then turned and yelled at Alicia and Aubrey again, "Get out of here!"

Aubrey did not leave but instead approached Celia slowly. Her eyes were still wide with disbelief. "Who are you?"

She was stunned when she saw Celia.

She was adopted by the Carter family. She had seen a photo of Jenifer, a lady of the Carter family, who had gone missing following a fire more than 20 years ago. At first glance, she thought that Celia looked like Jenifer.

Aubrey was nervous because she knew the Carter family had never given up searching for Jenifer all these years.

The young lady in front of her resembled Jenifer in every way. Perhaps there was an intriguing connection between them.

Celia scowled. She didn't like Aubrey's stare and didn't want to answer her question.

Just as Aubrey was approaching her and she didn't know what to do, Nora stepped over to protect her and shouted at Aubrey, "It's none of your business who she is!"

Alicia still wanted to hit Nora, but Aubrey stopped her.

Aubrey stopped staring at Celia's face, trying to hide her disbelief, and said, "I apologize. Alicia is far too rash. I didn't think she would push you. Please don't hold it against her."

And then she paused before saying, "Nora, I'm here to tell you that your father is sick. He has always treated me nicely, so I came here to meet you and tell you this so that you can go back to see him. Please don't blame Alicia. She's a bit rash, but she means well."

Celia frowned as she heard Aubrey's hypocritical remarks.

Aubrey's appearance didn't match her behavior, but that didn't matter. She would defend Nora no matter what happened.

With sarcasm, she responded, "Miss Carter? Isn't it a little late to say that? Why didn't you intervene when this lady attacked Nora earlier? You're now at a disadvantage, so you finally decided to intervene?"
