

Chapter 747 Departure For Captern

When Celia recalled her mother's family name was also Carter before she got married, she wondered if her mother had anything to do with the Carter family in Captern.

Besides, the family name of the Aubrey she met today was also Carter, and she seemed to pay extra attention to Celia. Celia did not believe that everything would be so coincidental. However, she couldn't figure out anything.

Tyson noticed that she seemed troubled and comforted her, "Honey, do you want to go to Captern to investigate the truth?"

Celia regained her composure and looked up at Tyson, asking, "Why?"

Tyson hesitated and decided to tell her his plan. "I've wanted to develop my business in Captern since a long time ago and already established a branch there. Even if these things didn't happen, I planned to move to Captern eventually. Since our parents' enemies are related to the people in Captern, it would make sense to visit Captern for proper investigations. Are you onboard with the idea?"

Celia hesitated at Tyson's proposal.

She lived her entire life in Hosworth and treated it as her hometown. Now that she was asked to abandon everything here and move to a new city, she had some reservations. She couldn't bear to leave the people and things here.

However, she also desperately wanted to avenge her mother.

Tyson could tell what she was hesitant about and assured her, "We don't have to settle there. Honey, I promise you, we will return after discovering the truth. As long as you want to return, I will give up everything and come back with you. I want to be with you. I don't need anything else."

Celia finally made up her mind.

Tyson made her understand that she must avenge her mother and investigate how she died clearly.

Besides, as long as Tyson was by her side, Celia would go anywhere, no matter the danger.

"We'll go to Captern. Let's investigate everything together and seek justice for our beloved ones!" Celia nodded and said firmly.

Satisfied with her response, Tyson held her in his arms and kissed her gently.

Over the next few days, Tyson busied himself with tying some loose ends in Hosworth and communicating with the branch in Captern.

When everything was settled, they invited all their friends for a barbecue at home and announced their departure for Captern.

Everyone was shocked, but Wayne quickly accepted the fact. He gave Tyson a firm hug and said, "Tyson, I will support you in whatever you do. Just one word from you, and I will do anything for you. We will be best friends forever."

Tyson was moved but broke away from Wayne's hug and said, "Stop hugging me. I'm straight."

"Me too," Wayne chuckled softly as he withdrew his hand awkwardly.

Holding Celia's arm, Alita asked dejectedly, "Babe, are you really going to Captern?"

Celia nodded and explained the situation to the crowd.

Everyone was shocked again.

Wayne was the first to react again. He gritted his teeth and said accusingly, "Tyson, we are best friends. Why didn't you tell me until now? When are you going? Tell me if you need my help. Don't feel shy about it! You are my best friend. This makes your enemy my enemy."

Tyson replied casually, "We'll be there in a few days."

Everyone was surprised and chorused, "So soon?"

Tyson answered calmly, "There are many things to deal with in Captern. So the sooner, the better."

Both Brea and Alita were unwilling to part with Celia. Brea said reluctantly, "We will still be friends forever, right?"

"I can't believe you're just leaving us like this," Alita added despondently.

Celia assured them, "Of course, we will be friends forever. Nothing will change. I just have to investigate the cause of my mother's death. I don't want her to die an unjustifiable death."

The two of them sighed and nodded understandingly, and Brea tried to lighten the mood, "Fine, you can go. But when we visit you in Captern, you must show us around the place."

Celia nodded and agreed, "Definitely. You must come to visit. I will miss you very much."

Wayne was not attuned to such sad atmospheres, so he decided to cheer everyone up. "Since it's our last dinner before parting, let's eat and drink to our heart's content. Don't cry. We can always see each other again."

He patted his chest proudly and said, "I'm a barbecue expert. Come on, let me show you my skills."

With that, Wayne and Tyson brought the barbecue ingredients outside, leaving the women to chat on the terrace.

Celia headed to the kitchen. She took out the drinks she had prepared and handed them to Brea and Alita.

Brea took the drink and started scrolling through her phone. Suddenly, she looked up at Celia and asked, "Cece, do you know Alicia?"

The name sounded familiar, but Celia couldn't remember who it was. She shook her head and said, "No, I don't. Why?"

Brea looked at her screen again and said in confusion, "But Alicia is asking around for your information. She seems to be very eager to know you."

Celia was also confused, but she couldn't recall someone named Alicia.

Brea showed Celia Alicia's photo, and Celia immediately recognized her. It turned out Alicia was the woman who caused Nora trouble in the party before.

Suddenly, her mind drifted to Aubrey.

Celia related the dispute Alicia had with Nora in the lounge to Brea. "I didn't do anything to them. I don't know if it's Alicia who wants to find out more about me or if it's Aubrey who asked her to do so."

Brea frowned and asked in confusion, "I've heard of Aubrey. She is from the Carter family, one of the four richest families in Captern. She is pampered and famous among the upper class at home and abroad. If you have offended her, I'm afraid many people in Captern will make things difficult for you."

Brea's tone turned worried as she continued, "It would be better if it was Alicia trying to investigate you. She is not from an influential family, and her family's situation is not even as good as mine. But she has recently entered high society because she hooked up with a rich old man. Please be careful either way. I'm afraid you will be in danger."

Celia frowned. She didn't expect to have offended such a big shot.

However, to dispel Brea's worries, she comforted her quickly, "Don't worry, Brea. You know me. I'm not a pushover. Besides, I have Tyson to protect me. I will be safe. Nothing will go wrong."

Brea felt a little relieved and changed the topic. "I wonder where Nora is. I sent her several messages and thought she would come to have a meal with us before you leave, but she didn't."
