

Chapter 777 Arrest

Tyson's presence was overpowering, and everyone present was silent for a second.

Then someone in the crowd yelled, "The police are coming!"

The crowd then split into two lines, making the way for a couple of uniformed police officers approaching Tyson. One of them asked, "Sir, are you Tyson Shaw? Someone accused you and your Semshy Group of bribery, and the company's internal cash flow was also affected. Please accompany us back to the police station for further investigation."

Celia explained right away, "Sir, there must be a misunderstanding. My husband has never done anything illegal in his life. Can you please look into this thoroughly?"

The police officer stated, "We have investigated, and the evidence is conclusive."

"No way!" Celia was convinced that Tyson would never do something like that.

She looked at Tyson worriedly, hoping he could refute the accusations.

Tyson, on the other hand, was far more calmed. He didn't deny anything but told Celia, "I'll be fine. You must believe me."

"Of course, I believe you!" Celia couldn't wait to respond to him. She gradually composed herself as she met his steady gaze.

She was sure that Tyson was innocent and would be released from the police station soon.

The crowd calmed down as Tyson was taken into the police car, and the officers began evacuating the onlookers and media from the gate, commanding them not to surround the police car.

An hour later, the throng and media dispersed, but the news about Tyson being taken to the police station made headlines, leading many to believe that Semshy Group was to blame for the incident.

The Internet was flooded with hatred and cyber violence against Tyson. At the same time, some people were shouting on the street that the Semshy Group should leave Captern.

Things had progressed to the point where Brea and Wayne in Hosworth had heard the news.

Brea was still enraged after countless rounds of online confrontations with the netizens. So she said firmly, "I know Tyson well. He would never do such a thing. He must have been set up!"

She was enraged and concerned about Celia at the same time. "I don't know if Cece is doing okay now. She doesn't have many friends there. With what happened, it is unlikely that Nora will accompany her. After all, she hasn't sorted out her own family's issues."

Brea was worried that Celia might be hurt. She quickly left her work behind and dashed over to Wayne.

Wayne was discussing with his assistant about traveling to Captern when Brea arrived at the Evans Group.

"I'm going to Captern with you," Brea said.

Wayne explained, "I knew you would come, so I have had my assistant arrange everything so that we can go there immediately. Things happened so fast, and I wasn't able to contact Tyson. I'm worried about the situation there. There is no time to waste; we must leave immediately."

Brea nodded. It was unusual for her to follow his plan.

Soon after, the two of them boarded a private plane to Captern. They headed straight to Celia's apartment immediately after they landed.

Moments after Celia arrived home, she heard a loud knock on the door.

She had no idea who it was. When she slowly opened the door, Brea rushed up to her and hugged her tightly. "Cece, it's been so long. I miss you so much!"

Celia was speechless.

She hadn't expected Brea to come to see her, especially when she was so fragile and helpless.

Furthermore, she discovered that Wayne accompanied Brea. Her eyes quickly turned red, and she asked, "Why are you here?"

Brea held Celia by the arm and said, as she entered the apartment, "Of course, we are here for you! We've read the headlines on the Internet. We're all concerned about you and Tyson. Although we all know he wouldn't do such a thing, I still want to ask, did the police take him?"

Celia led the two of them to the living room and nodded, "Yes, the police said they had the evidence, but I don't know what it is."

"Cece, please tell me about the whole incident first. The more detailed, the better. I'll think about it and see if there's something wrong," Wayne stated.

Celia agreed and proceeded to tell the two the entire story.

After hearing the whole story, Brea quickly stated, "In my opinion, this is a conspiracy by the Shaw Group. They pretended to want to work with Tyson when, in reality, they intended to frame him. It's just too despicable."

Celia also had suspicions about the Shaw Group's involvement in this matter. It was a fact Tyson's true identity might have clashed with the interests of certain individuals within the Shaw family. Additionally, this was not the first instance of the Shaw Group engaging in such activities.

Brea expressed her frustration by punching Wayne. "Please find a way to get Tyson out quickly. The Shaw family practically controls this place and it's too risky for Tyson to be incarcerated. It's impossible to predict what could happen to him in there."

Wayne was in the middle of typing when Brea punched him, causing him to let out a grunt of pain. Despite the pain, Wayne remained focused on the task at hand. "I am working to gather more information about the situation, my dear. Please be patient with me as this is not a simple matter. It has caught the attention of individuals in positions of power, and the police department has verified the evidence. Unfortunately, it's not feasible to get Tyson out of prison at this time, and even visiting him is not a possibility."

Brea's anxiety levels continued to rise. "What do we do now? Tyson can't just stay in jail!"

Celia, on the other hand, remained composed. "There's no need to worry. I trust Tyson is innocent and has a plan in place. He asked me not to worry."

Celia attempted to alleviate Brea's and Wayne's concerns regarding Tyson and offered them some words of comfort.

Despite Celia's attempt to reassure them, Brea's anxiety and frustration only intensified. She expressed her anger with curses directed towards the Shaw family. "I already thought the Shaw family in Hosworth was heartless, but I never imagined the Shaw family in Captern could be worse. It's cruel to treat their own people this way. Do they want to see Tyson die?"

While Celia shared similar thoughts to Brea, she refrained from expressing them. She recognized doing so would only make the situation more chaotic.

Meanwhile, in the Shaw family's house.

After seeing the news, Gretchen summoned Moses. "What has happened?"

Moses appeared to be indifferent to the situation. "I'm not entirely sure. I proposed working with Tyson because I felt guilty of having inadvertently targeted him without realizing he is my nephew. After my brother reprimanded me, I wanted to apologize to Tyson, for my brother's sake. I didn't expect Tyson to be so greedy he would use subpar materials, which resulted in this major catastrophe. Now, even I am unsure of what to do."

Gretchen appeared skeptical. "Are you certain Tyson is responsible for the accident? Have you found out the truth of what has happened?"

Although Tyson did not grow up around her, Gretchen felt he wasn't a petty person based on the information she gathered from Hosworth. She reasoned someone with a bad character wouldn't have been able to establish the Semshy Group and achieve such great success.

Moses pretended to express helplessness and let out a sigh. "Yes, I've conducted an investigation, and the results are almost identical to what was reported in the news."

Honestly, I didn't anticipate Tyson was this type of person. I assumed he had a long-term perspective that aimed to contribute to the success of the Semshy Group. It's disappointing."

Moses chose not to continue speaking, but Gretchen was already disenchanted with Tyson based on what they'd discussed.

Gretchen made a suggestion to Moses after thinking about the situation for a while. "Regardless, he is still a member of the Shaw family. I don't want our relationship with your brother to be strained because of him. If feasible, you could attempt to leverage our connections and try to gain his release."

Moses acted helpless once more. "I already made an attempt to intervene, as you suggested. When the incident occurred, I immediately sought out ways to help him. I learned the situation is not as simple as we thought. The most significant issue is Tyson has resorted to bribery, and this scandal has raised concerns among those in power. As a result, we cannot secure his release at this time."
