

Chapter 81 Harassed By Her Ex-boyfriend

Right now, there was no one in the corridor.

So, there was no need for Celia to show any courtesy to Alick who was in a higher position than her. She shook off his hand and asked coldly, "What do you want, Alick? I don't have anything to say to you."

Alick shook his head and all of a sudden, he went down on one knee. His face showed remorse as he said, "Celia, I've been regretting breaking up with you every day over the years. It was all Lesly's fault. She seduced me first. At that time, I was deluded into thinking that I had feelings for her. I know I made a wrong decision. I was never happy when I was with her, and I realized how good you had been to me back then.

Since I saw you in that restaurant last time, I couldn't get my mind off you at all. Every day, all I could think of is how happy we were when we were together, and how I shouldn't have done what I did to you. I know I was wrong. I admit my mistake. Can you give me another chance? I promise if you give me a chance, I will take good care of you and I will never let you down again!"

His expression looked sincere as he apologized and begged desperately. However, Celia only felt sick to her stomach.

She chuckled dryly and said, "What's the point of this? We broke up long ago. I am married now, and I love my husband very much. There's no use doing this. Don't bother me anymore."

"Your poor husband doesn't deserve you!" Suddenly, Alick raised his voice as he felt dissatisfied about her refusal towards him. Then, he composed himself as he was proud of himself, continuing, "Look, although I am not from some illustrious family, at least I have money, and I am nothing like your husband. I will take over the family business in the future while he may not be able to even work in a big company all his life, right?"

The more he spoke, the more excited he became. He stood up and grabbed Celia's arm. "As long as you come back to me, I promise to give you the best. I don't even mind the fact that you are married!"

Celia pushed him away and said in disgust, "I think you should go to a shrink. You are not in your right mind. Don't make me sick. If you dare to harass me again, I will let everyone in the company know how shameless you are! I'm not a pushover. So, bring it on if you are so desperate for a fight."

After saying that, she turned around and left.

However, Alick didn't want to give up. He caught up with her and hugged her from behind, trapping her within his arms.

Getting irritated, Celia struggled out of his arms and turned around before directly slapping him across the face.

Alick was stunned. His cheek was burning from the slap.

Celia's indifference towards him irritated him so much that he could no longer keep up his pitiful act. He began to spit, "Shame on you! You really think you are so popular? You are nothing more than a used married woman. You should feel grateful that I am willing to take you back!"

Being insulted like this, Celia was boiling with rage now. She sneered and warned, "If you dare to harass me again, I'll beat you up! I've learned free combat, and I won't hold back. I am sure you are aware of it."

Alick was fuming with fury as he looked down at her and asked angrily, "Have you completely forgotten our past?"

She chuckled. "The past?"

Celia felt as if she had heard the funniest joke in the world.

She retorted, "My feelings for you have been gone since a long time ago. Now, I just feel sick when I see you."

Alick couldn't believe his ears. He didn't believe that Celia could cut off her feelings for him this easily. So, he grabbed her and wanted to say more.

However, at this moment, Derek walked towards them.

He seemed to have sensed the tension between them as he had a strained expression on his face. He bypassed Alick and said to Celia with a smile, "Celia, would you like to have lunch together? It's almost lunch time. I am sure you are hungry by now."

Celia thought that she had found a perfect opportunity to get rid of Alick, so she agreed immediately. "I'd like to."

Then, she left with Derek without sparing even a glance at Alick.

No matter how desperate Alick was, he didn't dare to offend Derek, so he had to stop there.

At the sight of the leaving figures of the two people, he clenched his fists with resentment.

No wonder Celia strongly refused him. It must be because she had been hooking up with Derek!

What a slut!

Gritting his teeth, he cursed in his heart.

If he had known that Celia was this kind of girl, he would have slept with her in college. If he had gotten a taste of her, he wouldn't feel so eager to get her now.

Thinking of this, Alick felt regret once more and he clenched his fists even more tightly.

He must find an opportunity to have her in any way. Once he got her, he would make her life hell. That would be for the humiliation he had suffered today. He had to get his revenge!

