

Chapter 86 The Truth

Tyson was not surprised to hear the information Briar had found out, because from the very beginning, his intuition told him that the woman he married was not the real Cerissa Kane.

Briar continued to report all the information he had found out. "The president of the Kane Group has two daughters. The elder daughter is called Celia Kane, and the younger one, Cerissa Kane.

I looked into their backgrounds and found that Celia and Cerissa are actually half-sisters. The mother of Celia is Jenifer Mitchell, the first wife of Adrien, and the mother of Cerissa is his second wife, Mabel Brooks.

Jenifer died of illness a few years ago. Not long after, Adrien took Mabel and her daughter into the Kane family. On the other hand, Celia was forced to move out of the Kane family and live alone. She had a hard time, struggling alone all this time. While Jenifer was alive, Mabel was Adrien's mistress, which means Cerissa was an illegitimate daughter. After Jenifer's death, Cerissa moved into the Kane family's residence with her mother.

The moment Celia moved out a few years ago, she was practically forgotten by others, and Adrien has never even mentioned her since then. Thus, outsiders always think that he has only one daughter."

The more Tyson listened to Celia's past, the more distressed he felt. He clenched his fists tightly.

He finally understood why Celia always seemed to be short of money despite being a member of the Kane family. It turned out that she had been abandoned by the Kane family! Subsequently, he understood why she married him. The Kane family looked down upon him who was 'disfigured and sick'. They must have forced Celia, the abandoned daughter, to marry him in place of her sister.

Briar continued to report, "Besides, Adrien is the only son of his parents. He doesn't have any brother or sister, so Miss Kane doesn't have a cousin."

With his jaw clenched, Tyson's eyes were as cold as ice.

He thought of the day in Davina when a woman, who claimed to be Celia's cousin, made trouble for Celia.

He suspected that woman to be the real Cerissa!

She was not a cousin, but a half-sister who harbored hatred towards Celia!

Thinking of this, he looked up at Briar and asked, "Do you have any photos of Adrien's two daughters?"

Briar was prepared in advance. As soon as Tyson finished his words, he took out the photos and handed them to Tyson.

At a glance, Tyson recognized the woman in the left photo. It was his wife, Celia. The woman in the other photo was Cerissa.

It was exactly the person who made things difficult for Celia in Davina that day.

Once Tyson confirmed his guess, his face turned even more gloomy.

Briar glanced at his boss's expression before continuing, "Also, I've shown the photos to the bodyguard and the driver I detained before. It has been confirmed that the 'Miss Kane' who hired them is this younger daughter, Cerissa Kane."

Tyson scoffed, his expression worsening. He suppressed his anger and said to Briar, "Well done."

Briar immediately bowed respectfully and asked, "Mr. CEO, do you have any other instructions?"

Stroking a corner of the document, Tyson seemed to be thinking about something. After a while, he ordered coldly, "Investigate the current financial crisis in the Kane Group. I want to know how much money the Shaw family has secretly given to the Kane Group."

Tyson couldn't restrain his anger at the thought that Celia had suffered so much, and yet her own family ruthlessly turned their backs on her.

The only thing he could think about was that he must seek justice for his woman.

Briar acknowledged the task before asking, "Do you have any plan to take over the Kane Group?"

Tyson shook his head in disgust. "The Kane Group is just a small clothing group. I don't like it. But I will make them pay a big price since Adrien and Cerissa have hurt my woman."

"Got it."

Briar nodded, turned around and left the office.

Tyson picked up the photo of Celia and looked at it affectionately. His eyes were full of tenderness and sympathy as he caressed it.

Even though he had found out everything now, he didn't intend to expose the identity of Celia. After all, he also had a secret of his own.

Moreover, knowing her personality, he knew that she wasn't a pushover. There must be other reasons for her to agree to the Kane family's request to marry him in place of her sister.

Although Tyson was curious, he didn't want to force her to tell him the truth. He would wait until Celia took the initiative to confess everything to him.

Thinking of this, he suddenly found himself missing Celia. He didn't hesitate as he picked up his phone and sent a message to her.

"Cece, what are you doing? Is everything okay with your work?"

He suddenly felt the urge to know what Celia was doing, even though he saw her working hard half an hour ago.

Tyson felt like they had suffered from similar pasts and pity engulfed him.

He began to think that it was such a blessing for him to have Celia with him.

This was God giving him an opportunity to redeem himself by avenging his wife.

Their fates were so similar. The most bizarre thing fate had done was sending her to him. Whatever the reason was, this encounter was a blissful matter for him, and he wanted to take care of her for the rest of his life.
