

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 1092

She was still wearing a baseball cap. The brim was not pressed so low that her exquisite and outstanding face could not be seen.

As soon as Qiao Nian arrived outside the Emerald Pavilion, she received a message from Shen Yugui: [I have something on and have to come over later. Can you wait for me with your classmates?]

She got up in the morning and saw the message in the group.

Shen Yugui had mentioned this in the group.

Qiao Nian casually replied, then strode into the Emerald Pavilion.

The Emerald Pavilion was above average. It was definitely incomparable to Lan Pavilion, but it was already considered very high-class in the university city.

Qiao Nian heard an intense argument as soon as she entered.

“We booked that private room first!”

“So what? We came first. First come, first served. Don’t you know?” A girl raised her voice. She wasn’t very likable and said in a domineering tone, “Besides, how many people are there in your Chinese Medicine Faculty? Do you need such a big private room? You can sit at any table in the lobby if you want to have a gathering. Why waste resources?”

“You...”

Qiao Nian walked over and saw a cute girl with a baby face. Her face was flushed red, and her chest was heaving violently. She was obviously so angry that she didn’t know how to retort.

More than ten people were opposite the baby-faced girl. The girl in the lead was tall and arrogant. She didn’t seem to take anyone seriously.

Raising her eyebrows, she tugged at the brim of her cap, took off her headphones, and walked over to ask, her voice quite hoarse, “What happened?”

“Our professor booked a private room first. He said that the freshmen would gather before school started and everyone would have a meal together... In the end, the Clinical Department was also looking for a room when we arrived.”

A boy from the Chinese Medicine Faculty did not seem to have encountered such a situation before. He was at a loss and did not know how to stop the fight.

“... They also wanted a private room, but the private room was long gone. When they saw us, they asked the waiter and insisted that we give up the private room. Song Tian couldn’t stand it and started quarreling with them.”

Speaking of this, he clenched his fists indignantly. "That girl's name is Zhao Ruoqi. She paid the deposit first, and we didn't have any money with us. Now, the restaurant probably wants us to give them our spot!"

It was really quite infuriating to encounter such a thing!

They had booked a private room, but the other party was clearly bullying them.

Especially when there was already a conflict between the Clinical Department and the Chinese Medicine Department. When the other party heard that they were from the Chinese Medicine Department, he kept saying that they were from the Chinese Medicine Department. His tone was filled with disdain and contempt.

They were all from the same school. Even if the Chinese Medicine Faculty was not a popular department, there was no need for the other party to act superior. It was especially annoying!

"I heard that their professor called the manager..." The boy suppressed the youth's anger between his eyebrows. He didn't agree with Liang Lu's actions, but he couldn't say anything because of his 'respect for his teachers' morals.

Initially, they had booked a private room first. However, Zhao Ruoqi and the others from the Clinical Department insisted on snatching it. Not only did the teacher not dissuade them, but she even helped to make a call.

What a bully!

Qiao Nian looked at the manager of the Emerald Pavilion. Ye Wangchuan had brought her here for a meal once before. It was the manager who had received her.

Roughly figuring out what was going on, she raised her hand, pressed the brim of her cap, and walked in the manager's direction.

"Professor Liang just called me. I might as well give this private room to..." The manager of the Emerald Pavilion was speaking to the waiter about this.
