

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 1438

She pulled her headphones out of her pocket and was about to put them in her ears when she heard the man's deep voice.

"Aren't you going to have dinner with me tonight?"

Ye Wangchuan's voice was gentle and pleasant to the ears.

They were both talking.

She clearly felt that she was not as irritable as before when Qin Si was chattering in her ear. The nerves in her mind that had been tensed up by Qin Si's noise eased. "Okay."

Qiao Nian looked at the time on her phone and raised her head, revealing her exquisite and eye-catching face. She explained, "I don't know when I'll be back, so I won't be eating with you guys."

"Yes, I'll get Gu San to send you there first."

Then, Ye Wangchuan instructed Gu San to go to the sanatorium before returning to Rhine Apartments.

Gu San turned the car around and drove towards the sanatorium.

They arrived at the sanatorium half an hour later.

The black flag stopped steadily at the entrance of the sanatorium. Qiao Nian had already called Old Master Jiang to say that she wanted to visit him.

She got out of the car door and got out as soon as she arrived.

The next second, the man in the car stuck his head out and said, "Come back early. If it's too late, remember to send me a message. I'll come and pick you up."

Qiao Nian was stunned.

Then, she heard his lazy and serious voice say, "Rhine Apartments isn't far from here. Tell me half an hour in advance and I'll come and pick you up. Take your time chatting with Old Master Jiang. I'll wait outside. There's no need to rush."

Listen to him!

This was too showy!

When had Master Wang ever been so humble?

Not only did he want to pick her up, but he also asked Miss Qiao to tell him in advance and he would come over early. He could also wait outside if Miss Qiao hadn't finished talking to Old Master Jiang.

Qin Si, Zhang Yang, and the others were forced to stuff their mouths with dog food. Their feelings were quite complicated.

Only Gu San had his hands on the steering wheel since he was already used to it. His face was numb. Seeing that he usually ate a lot of dog food, he had long cultivated a calm heart. After all, he knew best that Master Wang was a good man!

Qiao Nian paused for a full two seconds. Her raven-black eyelashes came down, and her voice was hoarse. "Okay."

With that, she closed the door, stuffed her uninjured hand in her pocket, and strolled into the sanatorium.

Ye Wangchuan rolled up the car window and lowered his eyes to glance at his phone after the girl entered.

He saw that Jiang Xianrou had sent him another WeChat message.

His long fingertips clicked on it.

[Master Wang, I'm holding a filiation banquet at the Imperial Mansion on September 28th. Do you have time to come? I hope you can.]

Ye Wangchuan's thin lips curled up into a mocking smile.

The light in his eyes flickered. He deleted Jiang Xianrou's WeChat message almost without thinking. Then, he looked up and instructed Gu San, "Go back to Rhine Apartments."

"Alright, Master Wang." Gu San sensed that after Qiao Nian left, the temperature in the car dropped by a degree. Without asking any questions, he turned the car around and drove towards Rhine Apartments.

Ye Wangchuan turned the phone in his hand and narrowed his eyes in thought. He then sent a message to a number that didn't show his phone number.

[Check the Qi family.]

The message was sent quickly and successfully.

Then, Ye Wangchuan skillfully deleted the message.

When he was done, he rolled down the window again and rested his elbow on it, enjoying the cool evening breeze.
