

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 1515

After Qiao Nian entered, she saw the technician sitting in front of the computer, staring blankly at the screen. It was obvious that there was no progress.

She walked over and spoke calmly. "Let me see."

The technician was still trying to figure out how to locate him when he turned around and saw a young girl standing behind him. Bo Zheng and the others had also entered.

!!

He was stunned for a moment before looking in Bo Zheng's direction. "Captain Bo?"

What was wrong with the people outside? Why did they let everyone in?

Even a girl was allowed in!

What the hell? This wasn't a market!

Deputy Captain Luo walked over, walked past Bo Zheng, and urged the technician, "Give up your position for Miss Qiao to use the computer."

"?" For a moment the technician wondered if he'd heard correctly.

He then looked at Qiao Nian.

The girl in front of him did not look old. She was wearing a baseball cap, so he couldn't see her face clearly. However, she looked quite ordinary. There was nothing special about her.

Luo Ming was more impatient than anyone else and urged him again. "What are you doing? Why are you in a daze? Give up your computer and let Miss Qiao try."

Luo Ming was famous for his hot temper. He was direct with everyone.

Only Bo Zheng could suppress him.

However, Luo Ming had always been impartial and rarely gave anyone face when it came to serious matters.

He didn't even treat Bo Zheng so respectfully. Suddenly, he treated an ordinary girl like a god, making the technicians look at each other in confusion.

The technician he was urging gave up his seat. However, he didn't want Qiao Nian to touch his computer. "There's a code on my computer. Don't play around."

Qiao Nian ignored him and pulled out a chair to sit down. She took out a small tablet from her shoulder bag. He had no idea how she did it.

The small tablet became a small laptop within a few moments. She connected to the Wi-Fi, her thin white hand tapping out a few code symbols on the editor...

After a while, a map of Shuangjiang City appeared on her computer. Green lines covered the entire Shuangjiang City like a dense net.

The technicians behind her were stunned by Qiao Nian's actions.

Before he could speak, the girl pulled on her cap and rested her hand on the keyboard. Her eyes were quite delicate as she looked up and asked, "Can someone assist me?"

Assist was a hacking word in a location search. It meant helping with odd jobs and providing big data analysis.

The technicians in the room were either stunned or did not react. For a moment, no one spoke.

Qiao Nian probably felt that it would be better to find someone else to help her.

She didn't ask further. She picked up her phone and logged into the Red Alliance's exclusive software, then sent a message to Slim Waist Control.

[Sun: Get back to me online. I need your help with something.]

She had sent the message only seconds ago, but Slim Waist Control was already calling.

Qiao Nian would never have accepted it in the past.

However, she had already met with him in the illegal zone last time. Coupled with the special circumstances this time, she hesitated for only a second before answering casually.

"Hello."

...

Bo Zheng, Qin Si, and the others were waiting for the results beside her.

Qiao Nian was on the phone with someone, and she skillfully typed out an incomprehensible code based on the data provided by the other party.

He was extremely fast!

He couldn't help but be curious. He turned to ask Qin Si, "Is Miss Qiao's friend also a computer genius?"