

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 764

Because all these were things that she made while playing around, she didn't care about them too much and put them on the black market for a while.

Later on, Slim Waist Control informed her that the trojan virus did not make any good impact. The virus could be easily used by people to do bad things, so she removed the code from the internet.

However, after leaving it on the internet for so long, anyone with connections to the Red Alliance would be able to access the virus. Therefore, it was not surprising to see this trojan horse virus in the hands of another person.

"Once you understand the principle behind this virus, you can also crack it by yourself." Qiao Nian thought for a while and raised her eyes. There was an aura of wildness in her eyebrows. She then said, "It's not as difficult as you think."

Liao Xu couldn't control his excitement and thanked her profusely.

Qiao Nian added his WeChat details and made an appointment with him.

On the other hand, Luo Qing was more interested in what she had said. He was stunned for a long time. When he regained his senses, he raised his head with an obscure expression and looked at Ye Wangchuan solemnly. "Master Wang, should we look into this matter?"

The Zhou family could be considered a minor family in Beijing. Furthermore, Zhou Wei's third uncle, Zhou Hengfeng, was the number one hacker in China.

Zhou Wei was also talented and was from Nanjing University. She was considered the top talent within the younger generation in the technical department.

There had always been a shortage of talents like Zhou Wei in China. This meant that there was also a shortage of talent in the Ninth Branch. If this matter had to be investigated and if Zhou Wei was the one behind this matter, she would have to be punished.

He personally preferred to solve things privately.

It was something that definitely had to be investigated, and the person messing around needed to be held responsible. However, if things blew up too big, it would also hurt the Ninth Branch's reputation.

Qiao Nian raised her eyelids and looked at the man not far from her. Only then did she notice that Ye Wangchuan was wearing a formal suit today. It was rare to see him dress so seriously. He wore a classic white shirt with a silver-gray suit on the outside. He had a thin figure and a straight posture. He looked very eye-catching.

She glanced at him and saw the blue cufflinks on his cuffs. The blue diamonds were beautifully polished and set in silver support. They looked like crystals. Only Qiao Nian knew that it was a real diamond. She had asked Yuan Yongqin to make it from the rough stone brought back from the illegal district.

She designed it herself.

This was the only design she made that she did not put her personal mark on.

Qiao Nian slowly retracted her gaze, and her eyebrows were cold. She didn't seem to feel the slightly solemn atmosphere in the conference room as she pulled up the brim of her hoodie and pulled out her cell phone from her pocket. She lowered her eyelids and started to play with her cell phone.

She was only here to take a look at Master Cheng's condition. This matter was the Ninth Branch's internal affair. She didn't care and didn't want to intervene in their affairs.

Ye Wangchuan knew what she was thinking when he saw her take out her phone and start playing with it. She looked indifferent.

He raised his thin and crimson lips. He seemed to be in a good mood.

Luo Qing assumed that he would share his opinion. Luo Qing thought that he would also prefer to settle the investigation privately.

However, his low voice unexpectedly resounded throughout the conference room.

"Tsk. We must check! Why shouldn't we? If this person dared to do this, why would the Ninth Branch not investigate this matter?"

"Master Wang."

Luo Qing raised his head abruptly and looked at him directly.

Looking into Master Wang's deep eyes, his impatience was obvious to see. It was as if someone had poured cold water on him, and his heart was very cold. Luo Qing already understood that this matter was not going to be investigated privately.. If this matter really had something to do with Zhou Wei, she would definitely have to pay the price this time.
