

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 839

The examination hall was extremely quiet.

Only the sound of students writing furiously could be heard. No one cared if they knew the answer or not. In order not to leave any blanks, they basically frowned and smeared anything on the paper. The invigilator walked from the first row to the last row and then back to the first row. Two teachers were arranged in each examination hall. The teachers did not speak to each other, but they communicated a lot with their eyes.

Especially when they passed by Qiao Nian.

They were surprised to see that she was different from other students who started with multiple-choice questions. Instead, she did the opposite and started with the big questions.

However, starting from the first subject, the invigilator at this examination venue had heard of her name.

Qiao Nian was the top student in Qing University's joint examination.

Therefore, despite being surprised, he did not say anything

Half an hour before handing in the paper, the girl who was writing the answer slowly threw the pen into the pencil case on time, picked up her things, and got up to hand in the paper.

Then, she walked out of the examination hall carefreely.

The invigilators for each subject had long become used to her handing in her papers at an accurate time. After she left, they sorted out the papers she had handed in without any surprise and roughly studied them. Anyway, she had basically written everything that they could see.

As for whether it was right or wrong, they didn't dare to make a conclusion before obtaining the standard answer.

Today was the last examination.

Many parents were outside the examination hall waiting to pick up their children. Other than that, many media and reporters were also pointing their cameras at the examination hall, preparing to catch a few students for an interview.

At 4:30 PM, the door to the examination hall opened.

A thin figure was the first to come out. A reporter squeezed up first and held a microphone to attack the girl's face. "Hello, classmate. Did you submit your paper?"

The girl looked at the camera and pulled down her cap to cover her eyes. She hummed in impatience.

The reporter did not see her impatient expression. She even leaned over and asked with a smile, "The last round is over. What do you think of the difficulty of the questions this time?"

"Not bad." Although Qiao Nian was impatient, she still controlled her temper.

However, the reporter was a little greedy. Seeing that the girl was about to walk around her, she blocked her way with the microphone and continued to ask, "Then, how many points do you think you can get?"

This was a tricky question.

After all, the Internet was saying that the comprehensive science questions were very difficult. If she had only given up on this college entrance examination and was thus the first to hand in her paper, it would definitely be awkward for her to answer.

However, Qiao Nian...

The girl raised her exquisite eyebrows. She probably did not expect the reporter to still stand in front of her, looking like she was not going to leave if she did not answer.

She looked up and revealed her extremely eye-catching face. Her eyes were filled with wildness, and her hands were in her pockets. Seeming provoked, she replied arrogantly, "250."

At first, the female reporter did not react and thought that Qiao Nian was scolding her. When she realized that she had said full marks, she had already walked away.

When the Science papers came down, everyone shouted that it was difficult. They were all wondering if they could even get 200 marks. But this girl actually said that she got 250 marks. Full marks???

Was she joking?

In a high-end district in Rao City.

Shen Qiongzhi was talking to Qiao Chen on the phone when she suddenly saw the person on the television from the corner of her eye. The girl was wearing a refreshing sweater, and she exuded a forbidding aura. She didn't need to look carefully to recognize that person.
