

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 940

It was still Zhang Yang who broke the silence and said quickly, "Young Master Qin, I think the people in the group are saying that Miss Jiang will treat her guests to a meal later at Lan Pavilion. Are you going?"

Qin Si held his head and glanced at him sideways. He couldn't be bothered to reply. "What do you think?"

Everyone in the industry knew what Jiang Xianrou was thinking.

He looked at the man who was still meticulously boiling the beef for the girl and smacked his lips. He wanted to take a photo of it for the idiots in the group to see what a treasure Master Wang had hidden in his heart.

They were still foolishly trying to lick Jiang Xianrou's boots.

However...

Qin Si turned back to look at him and was quite surprised. "She took third place and yet wants to treat us to a meal?"

Zhang Yang knew that he didn't understand when he saw his reaction. He put down his phone and smiled slightly. "The medical competition is very professional. Usually, only those who study this specialization pay more attention. The news on the Internet will not especially report who is first... Didn't we get first place in the country's medical industry this year?"

He didn't finish his sentence straightforwardly. However, Qin Si had been in the top circles since he was young. Even if he didn't care about these twists and turns usually, he was no fool. When he understood, he instantly felt like he had eaten a fly and was extremely disgusted by Jiang Xianrou's actions.

He didn't say anything and only looked at Qiao Nian.

Ye Wangchuan was just about to boil the beef. He picked it up from the girl's bowl and saw that she was still leaning back in her chair casually, playing with her phone as if she was replying to a message.

He asked her, "What's wrong? Who's looking for you?"

Qiao Nian had just replied to a message when she looked up. Her dark eyes met his, and she instantly moved her gaze away. She hummed and replied lazily, "No one. My teacher."

She paused for another second and put away her phone, saying slowly, "He asked me if I wanted to enter the Medical Association."

Originally, a large group of people had gathered around to eat hot pot. Although they said they were eating hot pot, Tang Ning and the others mostly watched them eat. They sat there nervously, afraid that now they finally had the chance to enter Qin Si and the others' circle, they would say something stupid or do something wrong and waste this opportunity. If they went to eat at Lan Pavilion like fools and try to curry favor, they might be squeezed out of the circle one day.

For people like Qin Si and Ye Wangchuan, there was no need to say who they wanted to ostracize. Often, with one look, people would attack them one after another. It wasn't for anything else but to curry favor with the circle at the top of the pyramid.

Therefore, even if it was a hot pot meal at noon, everyone was tense and careful.

Hearing the girl mention the Medical Association, even though Tang Ning and the others had already heard about the medical competition from Zhang Yang, they still looked at Qiao Nian in shock.

It wasn't easy to enter the National Medical Association!

With her status in the industry and Liang Lu as her mentor, Jiang Xianrou was qualified to enter the Medical Association in her third year.

How old was Qiao Nian this year?

She was going to enter the Medical Association before school started?

Everyone was shocked, but no one dared to ask.

Qiao Nian didn't care about their reactions. Her eyes remained dark as she picked up her chopsticks and continued to speak to Ye Wangchuan. "Also, he sent a message asking if I'm free. He wants to treat us to a meal and introduce me to others."
