

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 998

Not long after, Gu San returned with a laptop and handed it to her. "Miss Qiao, do you think this laptop is enough? I borrowed it from the doctor next door. He uses it for work."

"Let me see." Qiao Nian took the silver laptop from him. It was not light. Normally, laptops were too heavy and the configuration was average.

She raised her eyebrows, but she didn't care much. She held the laptop and walked to a seat, then switched it on and went online.

Qiao Nian was skilled, so she completed it in one go. Then, she checked the laptop's configuration.

Gu San had said from the beginning that this laptop was office supplies. Anyone who knew the configuration of office supplies knew that it was enough as long as they could go online.

The desktop was clean. Other than a browser icon, there were only a few neatly arranged papers.

She glanced at the icons and then clicked into 'My Computer.'

There was relevant configuration information inside.

Although Qiao Nian was already mentally prepared, when she saw the information on the configuration of this laptop Gu San had found for her, the corners of her mouth still twitched.

"How is it, Miss Qiao?" Gu San stood at the side and asked uneasily, "That doctor said that he hasn't used this laptop for a long time. Is it impossible? If it is, I'll find another one."

Qiao Nian downloaded a cleaning system and began to clean and kill the poison in the laptop. As she looked up, she placed her hand on the brim of her cap and pulled it arrogantly. "There's no need. It's enough. Wait for three minutes for me to get rid of viruses."

Ye Wangchuan had never been worried about Qiao Nian's computer skills.

As the Red Alliance's SUN, it was just a matter of raising her finger to investigate Qiao Chen's post.

As expected.

Three minutes later, the laptop sped up under Qiao Nian's modification.

She didn't waste any time.

Her hands flew across the keyboard, her fingers well-proportioned and strong.

In less than ten minutes, the thread Shen Hui had deleted had been restored.

Qiao Nian knew Qiao Chen's character. She wouldn't give up even if she was on her death bed. She might as well find out the IP address of the person who had posted the thread.

"Done."

During this process, Shen Jingyan, Wei Ling, and the others' hearts were in their throats.

Especially when Shen Jingyan saw Qiao Nian's familiarity with operating the laptop. Her posture was comparable to a top hacker. His originally tense back tightened even more, and his eyes shone with a hint of uncertainty.

The Zhou family collapsed some time ago.

Zhou Wei was imprisoned.

The Zhou family had fallen overnight. Even Zhou Hengfeng, who had been glorious in Beijing for ten years, had become a peripheral figure. Even now, he was still hiding his tail.

With such a big thing happening in Beijing, he definitely had to find some connections to investigate the inside story.

At that time, Shen Jingyan had searched for a lot of connections. In the end, he only obtained a few scattered clues from a few related people. What Zhou Wei did in the Ninth Branch had almost ruined an important scientific research exchange! It was all thanks to a girl that the losses were salvaged. Otherwise, the Ninth Branch would have lost face because of Zhou Wei.

He had heard someone describe that girl. They only said that she was young, but her hacking skills were even better than Zhou Wei's.

Qiao Nian's posture...

Shen Jingyan restrained the light in his eyes and frowned in frustration. He recalled what Wei Ling had said earlier. She had said something about the audio clip from Qiao Nian's phone to Mr. Steven, like the Zhui Guang's piece she had heard online some time ago.
