

Madam Winters 131

Chapter 131 After he parted ways with Adina, George went to the hospital. Dew was bedridden, and she looked extremely dispirited.

Only after she saw George walking in that her expression improved slightly. "George, I know you're a good boy. I'm really happy to see you visiting me in the hospital. The luckiest thing

She held George's hand and kept caressing it.

George felt uncomfortable. He calmly moved out of her grip and indifferently said, "Mom, please don't think about the company. Just rest well."

"How can she not think about it?" Ruby said coldly as she sat by the bed. "George, your mother has been kicked out of the Board of Directors, and Adina has successfully joined the company. In a few days, Daugherty Corporation will become Adina's property. Once that happens, it will be meaningless no matter what we do! It wasn't easy for her to give birth to you after a ten-month pregnancy. She has been terribly wronged, so you can't just watch with folded arms."

George clenched his jaw before he apathetically said, "Mom, you've been the general manager for four years in Daugherty Corporation, but you've never made any big contributions to Daugherty Corporation. It's sufficient that you don't have the talent in doing business. Since that's the case, why don't you just quit Daugherty Corporation..." "How dare you?!" Ruby said angrily. "B*stard, are you taking that b*tch's side?" Dew bit her bottom lip and cried, "George, I'm really not as smart as you, but I'm the heiress of Daugherty Corporation, and I'll have to take over the company one day. If I just leave the company in a dejected manner, the company will belong to Adina. When she becomes the general manager, what... What will I do?" "You still have me," George calmly said. "I'm here, so nobody dares to look down on you." "But nobody knows that you're my son!" Dew lost control and yelled. "I can quit Daugherty Corporation, but the condition is, the Winters family has to make my status known!"

If everyone in Sea City knew that she was the biological mother of the Winters family's young masters, it would be fine for her to give up the position of Daugherty Corporation's general manager!

George shook his head indifferently. "Dad will not tell the world about me and Harold."

The Winters family had too many enemies. If his father announced that he had two sons, he and Harold would become targets of their family's enemies.

Despite that, his mother did not seem to care about his and Harold's safety.

George clenched his fists and coldly said, "I'll think of a solution for the Daugherty family. Please rest well, Mom. Don't overthink things."

When Dew saw his uncaring face, she knew that it would be impossible to achieve her purpose.

She covered her face and started crying.

"I should've aborted you and Harold five years ago. I shouldn't have given birth to you. If it weren't for you, I would still be the innocent Ms. Daugherty, and I could marry a good man. But now? Because of you and Harold, I dare not marry any man!"

“Your father refuses to marry me, and I can’t marry someone else either because I’ve given birth to two sons. My only support is the Daugherty family, but Adina is going to take over the Daugherty family at this rate. Why should I still be alive?” Ruby sat by the bed while she wiped her tears. “My poor daughter! You gave birth to two sons for the Winters family, but you’ve gained nothing at all. If I and known this, I would’ve forced you to go through with the abortion back then. Dew, my poor Dew! We really can’t live anymore.” George frowned. When he saw Dew crying, he did not feel sorry for her at all. He just felt annoyed and irritated.

He hated having a mother like her the most.

He would rather he had never been born.

However, this was his reality. How could he change it?

He closed his eyes and slowly opened them again after a few seconds. “Mom, do you really want to marry into the Winters family?”
