

Madness 453

Chapter 453

Back Up Silas had been searching high and low for Donald in Pollerton. He had raised Donald's bounty up to a million and had also seen his photo before. Hence, Silas' had a deep impression of Donald.

"I want to call Mr. Doyle now!" With that said, Henry grabbed his phone to make the call. As he fished out his phone, his phone started to burn unexpectedly. Meanwhile, Donald walked in and ignored him completely.

"Catch him!" Henry roared. The next second, he dashed forward to Donald with eight of his lackeys, and some of them even whipped out their batons. Donald did not turn around and merely tapped his foot on the ground. Instantly, a layer of white waves could be seen. Its impact was huge, and it spread across the place like a surge. About seven to eight men let out a scream as all of them flew backward and smashed against the glass door. Clang! The glass door broke and shattered into shards.

"There's a pool table on the ninth floor. Do you want to have a match later, Mr. Campbell?" Charles and the rest were shocked upon witnessing Donald's move. Nonetheless, he kept his cool and asked in an ingratiating manner. Donald was momentarily stunned.

"Okay." He nodded. Soon, they took the elevator and arrived on the ninth floor. The place was packed with big shots and powerful people. Akio, the president of Pollerton Translations, was also there. At that time, he was playing pool with Silas.

only one table left. The other two tables were occupied by some other players. Thump! Silas hit the ball accurately and successfully pocketed a ball. Seeing that, Akio have great skills, Mr. Doyle!" Silas shot a glance at Jeffery, who was at the table beside him and said, "Mr.

Silas up. In the distance, Holton, Arnaldo, and the rest were sitting by the window while playing with their phones nonchalantly. Ding! Hearing the elevator's sound, Silas halted his movement and looked out of the elevator while Ethan and his men followed closely on Silas' face. Nevertheless, he was startled when he a death wish by coming here? What's the matter? Are you here to narrowed his eyes at Donald. Instant silence filled the room as everyone there watched the situation unfold at the side. However, Jeffery was the only exception.

I find nothing special about Donald. He doesn't have a strong presence, and his aura is pretty

Meanwhile, Charles glanced at him with the cane