

The Mafia Bosses Broken Queen

chapter 8

Brett's POV

After our little talk at breakfast, I went to my room to change into my swim trunks. I had noticed that Kaycie wasn't stealing glances at Darryn like normal. On our way home from the club, we had talked about what happened between Darryn and Reighly. I actually agreed with how he handled her.

Reighly was a complete bitch and she needed someone to tell her that. I did get a text from Davina after Reighly told her what happened. Well, her version of what happened. I told Brett's POV

After our little talk at breakfast, I went to my room to change into my swim trunks. I had noticed that Kaycie wasn't stealing glances at Darryn like normal. On our way home from the club, we had talked about what happened between Darryn and Reighly. I actually agreed with how he handled her.

Reighly was a complete bitch and she needed someone to tell her that. I did get a text from Davina after Reighly told her what happened. Well, her version of what happened. I told Davina what Darryn had told us and she knew that Reighly was lying about what happened to make her and Sammy feel sorry for her.

I told her about going out on the boat but both she and Sammy already have plans. I told her next time and she agreed but I told her not to bring Reighly. She agreed. We packed up Ryan's SUV and I watched as Kaycie climbed into the passenger's seat. I saw Darryn's smile fall. I have a bad feeling that Kaycie saw what happened between Darryn and Reighly last night at the club and thinks that they are together. I can tell she is trying to stay away but not completely ignore him.

I had to laugh when Ryan jumped off the boat with Kaycie in his arms. I heard her let out a scream and when they both came to the surface if looks could kill Ryan would be ash by now. I was surprised when she swam over to use and walked onto the sandbar. I can honestly say my cousin is smoking hot. I glanced over and Darryn was totally checking her out. I watched as she turned her eyes

from him to me and saw his smile fall. We all hung out on the sandbar for a while.

Kaycie swam back to the boat and resumed tanning on the nose of the boat. We four decided to swim around. I swam over to Darryn as he was floating on his back. I knew this whole situation was eating at him.

“Hey bud, you ok?” I ask him. “I don’t know.” He replies.

“Hey, I know you like her,” I tell him.

He looks at me shocked. I just laugh at his expression. I tell him I don’t care and that I know him and when he actually likes a girl. I mean we have been best friends since we were in kindergarten. He gives me a sigh and goes quiet.

“I think she saw what happened between you and Reighly at the club,” I tell him. “Fuck!” He says.

We spend a few more hours at the lake. We pack Ryan’s SUV and I hop into the passenger’s seat. I see Kaycie climb in the back and I give Felipe a look so he will let Darryn get in next to her. I watch in the rearview mirror as she realizes who is sitting next to her. She gives me a dirty look and turns to look out the window. I let out a sigh and shook my head.
