

Magic Era 1161

Chapter 1161 Eternal Dark Gold

then, the ground around lin yun's body splitted into cracks and lava spurted out like a fountain.

the patched puppet silently appeared in front of lin yun.

dense runes covered the surface of the patched puppet. chaotic flame spells mixed with lava and instantly covered lin yun's line of sight as they ruthlessly impacted the bone demon's body.

being hit by that forty-meter-thick burning lava within a few dozen meters, the bone armor the bone demon was so proud of rapidly collapsed.

the bone demon angrily roared and held his arms in front of him. layer upon layer of bones surged from his arms to form two bone shields. he was holding his shields, his eyes full of rage.

hung and beaten by lin yun for more than ten minutes, that guy already lost reason. the only thing in his mind was tearing lin yun apart.

and within that flood of lava, a small cannon protruded from the puppet's thigh. four deep crimson cores were inlaid on the surface of that cannon and filled it with chaotic power.

dark red light shone within the cannon, and after three seconds, a terrifying power rushed out of the cannon before transforming into a three-meter-thick dark red light beam. the beam broke through the flood of lava and fire spells to fiercely impact the bone demon's arm shields.

the bone shields' bones kept shattering, only to be replaced by new bones. but when facing this dark red light beam, they instantly vaporized.

the dark red beam pierced the bone demon's arms and melted two huge holes into them before ruthlessly smashing onto the bone demon's face.

the scorching and chaotic light beam used less than an instant to hit the bone demon's head.

in an instant, the lava and flames submerged the bone demon's body, and a blazing power rapidly turned his body into ashes.

lin yun put away the patched puppet and looked back at the shocked birbo.

"are you wondering why my puppet is here? why haven't i died?"

"idiot, i'm a pureblood flame demon now."

after saying that, lin yun extended his hand and a scarlet light shot out from lin yun's hand and hit the lava-wrapped birbo.

in an instant, birbo's horrified shout echoed.

"no... mafa merlin, no, you can't do that..."

dazzling light shone from birbo's body, and within a second, her shadow demon's body exploded in a burst of lava.

lin yun grinned and let out a powerful roar towards the battlefield.

“fools! get rid of anyone who resist, kill them all!”

lin yun didn't need to take action for what came after getting rid of the bone demon. having lost their lord, half of those abyssal lifeforms immediately gave up on fighting. without a lord, there was no meaning in resisting, hurrying to hug the new lord's thigh was even more important.

not long after he had appeared on the battlefield, lin yun had noticed the aura of a shadow spell. unfortunately, there had been no shadow fiend here, only a shadow demon.

shadow demons and shadow fiends were completely different demonic lifeforms. the former were mortal enemies of holy light's followers and used gloom power, while the later used shadow power.

for a shadow demon to be using shadow magic that didn't have abyssal aura, only birbo could accomplish such a feat.

unfortunately, lin yun was a flame demon. even if he found birbo, he wasn't certain that he could get rid of her unless she got close. then, birbo was getting ready to ambush lin yun.

at this time, lin yun was cheerfully waiting for birbo to come and assassinate him. he clearly understood the nature of assassin mages.

and sure enough, birbo first used shadow binding and then appeared behind him to shatter his heart with her weapon.

there was no problem with the tactic in itself, because the shadow power accumulated would bind lin yun for a second, and that was more than enough.

in noscent, any mage caughting in a shadow binding was bound to die.

unfortunately, this was the abyss. noscent's assassination tricks were useless here.

lin yun was a flame demon, a pureblood flame demon was different from an ordinary flame demon. strictly speaking, pureblood flame demons were elemental lifeforms and could be said to have no heart.

pureblood flame demons would never die unless the lava on the surface of their bodies stopped burning. unless the flames burning within their eyes were extinguished, pureblood flame demons would be able to recover from any injury.

a hole being stabbed in their chest wasn't even regarded as an injury.

moreover, pureblood flame demons weren't just capable of casting spells, they were extremely talented.

as an elemental lifeform, he felt no pressure when turning his head around. the lava he spurted out was able to isolate mana, and once someone was covered in their lava, they would not only lose their casting abilities, they would also suffer from constant burning.

after their bodies were covered in the lava of a flame demon, a flame demon's scorching ray would turn any creature into heat-absorbing lava.

everything within the creature's body would turn into lava and their mana would turn into lava power. they would ultimately explode into a burst of lava.

the pathetic birbo was bound to die a miserable death for planning to use human mages' tactics to handle a pureblood flame demon.

he hadn't needed to use the innate ability of pureblood flame demons, nor had he needed to chant in abyssal. he only needed to open his mouth and spit.

the battle was still on-going and the abyssal lifeforms' eyes were crimson red from the killing. even if many of their opponents surrendered, they showed no quarter and killed.

lin yun was standing in the rear, his throat feeling somewhat bad. he kept spitting out spheres of lava. he was still not used to the breath of a flame demon.

it was like accumulating mouthfuls of saliva and spitting them out. he felt like there was always more saliva blocking his throat, it was a terrible feeling;

a red-eyed crawler carelessly stepped on the lava lin yun spat out and its body was instantly covered in flames before being burnt to ashes in less than three seconds.

lin yun kept spitting out spheres of lava and after a few unlucky abyssal lifeforms were turned to ashes, all abyssal lifeforms sensibly decided to remain far from their moody lord.

the war ended soon, and all the participating abyssal armies were gathered. when the armies of both sides finished gathering, the numbers still didn't reach his army's original numbers.

this was the difference between noscent's wars and the abyss' wars. conflict was everywhere in the abyss. every time there was a war, a large number of abyssal lifeforms would serve as cannon fodder. in large-scale wars, even demons might serve as cannon fodder.

a large number of dead abyssal lifeforms would be exempt from consuming the already limited resources of the abyss, while even demon lords would be contributing large numbers of souls.

as for these lifeforms dying in the abyss, most of their souls returned to the greater demon overlord ruling that layer.

whether it was the abyss or hell, souls were always the favorite thing of greater demon overlords and greater devil overlords. especially for greater demon overlords, they were always in a bad mood due to the abyss' resource situation and the only thing that allowed them to keep making progress were lifeforms' souls.

falling into a slumber was their way of reducing their power consumption. when they woke up, the layer would have accumulated souls due to the wars, enough to let the great demon overlord eat his fill. then, if there was no problem, they would go back into a slumber to slowly digest those souls.

and thus, outside the abyss, as long as one knew a greater demon overlord's name and used enough blood and souls as a sacrifice, their query would be answered.

lin yun didn't really pay attention to what happened post-war. he had plenty of pioneers in his army, crazily helping him develop new territories or supervise his current territories.

as the lord of a territory, he only needed to wait for a large amount of precious natural resources to be offered to him as tribute.

he diluted a bottle of mana water a few dozen times and threw the potions to his subordinates before entering the alchemy laboratory that the dark dwarves had rebuilt for the 19th time.

three days later, a drop of lava carelessly fell to the ground and burnt the entire laboratory down because he was unable to control his bursting flames.

lin yun had a dark expression as he silently walked out of the flames. he spat out a mouthful of lava and turned the burning ruins into a plain. like that, it didn't need to be dismantled again.

lin yun turned towards his spare laboratory. by the time he was far away, the scared dwarves silently used their fastest speed to clear up the ruins. they then used already prepared materials to build a laboratory there. even if the materials used were all fire resistant, they weren't very effective and would be burnt into a pile of ruins within a few days.

time rapidly flew by. after occupying a new territory, lin yun's territory was already 5000-kilometer-wide. this range was comparable to the territory of other demon overlords. although this wasn't a fertile area, there weren't many places that could compare to it.

the territories to the west, south and east belonged to demon overlords, but it didn't matter to lin yun when he entered his laboratory. that caught his subordinates, who had had their bloodlines improved or awakened by lin yun's mana water, off guard.

a demon had gone to ask lin yun's opinion after encountering him coming out of a burning laboratory, but he ran out of luck and was burnt to ashes. since then, no one dared to use this kind of trivial matter to disturb lin yun.

but they would obtain the mana water, an impossible existence in the abyss, if they crazily expanded their territory, so how could they stop? these crazy guys then put their sight on the north.

the other three territories belonged to overlords, so they didn't dare to provoke them and kept expanding towards the north, even if the further north they expanded, the more desolate it was. even the goblins, the least picky eaters who could even eat tribesmen, were unwilling to migrate north.

less than two thousand kilometers north was a desert. there was nothing there apart from sand beasts and desert demons foraging the sand and even eating sand to allay their hunger.

the only thing valuable was the ore emerging from the bottom of the desert as sand moved. those dense ores were huge and were also used by demon to construct the foundations of their steel forts.

in order to build a steel fort for their ruler, they had to store up the materials in advance until they had enough to construct the steel fort, thus, frantic development and war kept unfolding.

the huge army kept increasing in numbers, continuously expanding towards the north.

by the time they developed over a thousand kilometers, these ore would be treated as spoils of war and sent to lin yun.

lin yun was stunned as he saw those ore. as the demon kneeling on the group saw that his lord didn't speak, he immediately panicked and hurriedly spoke, "great lord, these ores are very hard, they are for... for constructing the foundations of the steel fort, right, that's what those dark little men said.

"they said that by spreading it under the steel fort, it would guard against the dangers from underground. even the most powerful desert demon would be unable to enter your steel fort from underground..."

lin yun held the ore and the flames within his palm suddenly rose up. the ore wrapped in blazing lava and flames remained heated.

lin yun was already level 38 and the flames and lava flowing on the surface of his body had already reached a terrifying temperature, a drop would turn a crawler to ash within three seconds.

but this ore burnt for more than ten seconds and only a tenth of its impurities had been burnt out, leaving a dark golden metal behind. no matter how bright the flame burnt, it didn't shrink in the slightest.

lin yun scattered the flames and looked at the dark golden ore in his hands with a stunned expression.

eternal dark gold, known as a material to forge shields. after eternal gold essence is added, it would turn into a material immune to elemental power. the more chaotic the power, the stronger the resistance.

the shelter tower would have a layer of eternal dark gold and eternal gold essence in the future, this gave it the power to resist against the void storm.

as for the records of the decaying library, all of noscent's eternal dark gold, as well as some surrounding planes' eternal dark gold, barely managed to form a layer of protection.

and in noscent, apart from some parts of the endless sea which produced some eternal dark gold, no other place on the continent produced it.

it was recorded that the abyss also produced this precious metal, unfortunately, there wasn't a huge amount. at least back then, the powerful mages established a few bases on the 200th layers and above, but they didn't discover much.

on they got into the 400th-500th layers, the powerful mages that ignited their god fires couldn't enter the depths of the abyss and first turned their sight to the castle of a slumbering greater demon overlord and dug up some information regarding his fort.

in fact, those powerful mages that ignited their god fire would only secretly sneak into the depths of the abyss. in places with slumbering great demon overlords, they would carefully restrict their power and definitely wouldn't display power surpassing the heaven rank.

if they started a war with a greater demon overlord in the depths of the abyss, no one aside from god-like guys would be able to flee.

now, he saw eternal dark gold there, in the middle layer of the abyss, and it was actually used as a foundation for steel forts...

lin yun couldn't remain calm.

'damn, if the shelter tower's bricks had all been made of eternal dark gold and eternal essence gold, then the shelter tower would have been able to survive the world's destruction.

"dig! dig hard for me. kill whoever is blocking the path! excavate the entire desert.

"whoever digs a large number of ores bigger than this one will be rewarded with a bottle of bloodline potion!

"let those idiots know. if they want to successfully evolve into demons, they should be excavating this ore!"

lin yun fiercely shouted at that goat-horned demon before throwing a dozen bottles of diluted mana water at that goat-horned demon's face.

the ecstatic goat-horned demon didn't care about his bleeding nose and rushed out with a nasty grin while hugging the pile of potions.

the so-called bloodline potion was just a bottle of mana water that lin yun had diluted in a jar.

that thing wasn't rare at all, but those demons didn't know.

throwing all the eternal dark gold into the demiplane, lin yun ignored his alchemy experiments and personally started inspecting this batch of eternal dark gold.

'damn, those crazy demons are a bunch of idiots. they actually used eternal dark gold for their foundations... f*cking idiots, that's too formidable to be reduced to mere foundations...

'let alone desert demons, even an underground volcanic eruption would be blocked. as long as there are enough, even the attack of the planar source could be resisted.

'the stronger the power, the more resistant the eternal dark gold would be. as long as there was enough eternal dark gold, i would be able to build a defensive array in the demiplane so that even gods within the void would never be able to find my natural demiplane.

'void storm, elemental storm, spacetime storm, these things which could cause a lot of damage to the natural demiplane, would become a joke...

'a lot of uncertain and possible crises would be avoided in advance...'

lin yun anxiously appeared on the frontline battlefield and personally roused the abyssal army. when a dozen abyssal lifeforms awakened their bloodline, they evolved into some lesser demi-demons. as for the rest, lin yun didn't need to take care of it.

the frantic abyssal army became a group of hungry lunatic madmen that pounced towards the northern desert.

a level 35 long ugly earthworm rose out of the desert, and his long toothed maw devoured fifty abyssal lifeforms at once.

but the abyssal lifeforms didn't flee in disarray, several thousand red-eyed abyssal lifeforms stared at the few pieces of eternal dark gold drilling out of the ground alongside it and rushed out as if they went crazy.

an earthworm two-hundred-meter-long was torn into pieces by an army of level 10 to 20 abyssal lifeforms.

Chapter 1162 Allied Armies

This was just to confirm whether there were ores within the belly of the Abyssal Earthworm. Ultimately five pieces of Eternal Dark Gold were discovered.

From that point on, all desert lifeforms would be torn to pieces.

After attacking for a dozen days, the abyssal army already penetrated deep into the desert, making one guy unhappy.

Slythrin had made the firm decision to leave his original place to come to this desert and had already gotten rid of a dozen abyssal lifeforms to vent.

Sitting in an underground palace under the desert, floating yellow sand floated around Slythrin's fingertips. His burning flames and black smoke-covered eyes were filled with frantic malice.

'Damn b*stard, I originally specially reincarnated as a Desert Demon, and I should have been able to rise extremely fast by relying on my quicksand spells, but apart from a desert, there had been only Demon Overlords around.

'I ran over ten thousand kilometers and almost died a few times before finding this suitable region, but who would have thought that that Lesser Demon Overlord would be killed before I even went to war with him.

'Damn, my luck is really bad. I don't remember anyone reincarnating as a pureblood Flame Demon, this must be a descendant of Flame Demon Overlord.

'Those crazy and unreasonable Flame Demon Overlords are a group of lunatics that no one wishes to offend in the Abyss.

'Damn, forget it, since he wants to occupy the desert, I'll let him occupy it. In any case, pureblood Flame Demons don't particularly like deserts. Once he nominally occupies the territory, he won't be doing anything towards the underground.

'At that time he will have to shift his attention to another place. After all, the three Demon Overlords to the south won't wait for the pureblood Flame Demon's territory to slowly expand next to them.'

Slythrin didn't really have a sense of belonging towards the Abyss, he hid under the desert and pretended to be dead, completely ignoring the abyssal army rushing over.

Unfortunately, he didn't know that those crazy abyssal lifeforms only had a simple thought: excavating the desert to trade for Bloodline Potions.

Lin Yun's territory kept expanding and over half of the desert belonged to Lin Yun after a month. This was because the desert's environment was too vile, and the deeper they went in, the more abyssal lifeforms died there.

The losses of the abyssal army was more important than during a war. But that didn't influence those abyssal lifeforms' terrifying enthusiasm.

These idiots were really prepared to excavate the entire desert.

And Slythrin was right, the Demon Overlords in the eastern, western and southern territories already paid attention to this place. They didn't want to let a pureblood Flame Demon wantonly expand towards their side.

Because as time passed, Flame Demons would slowly turn their territory into a zone of volcano and lava. Under the guidance of the pureblood Flame Demon, volcanoes would keep appearing to alter the environment until it was suitable for them.

And this kind of change was irreversible. As long as there was a pureblood Flame Demon, the area would soon turn into a field of volcanoes and lava, and as time passed, the surroundings would slowly turn into a world of flames.

This was the most nasty way Flame Demons expanded their territories. Many Flame Demons dominated the world because there were only flames and lava. Apart from Demons that liked flames and lava, no Demon would be willing to remain in this kind of world filled with sulfur, and without a single drop of water.

The Shade Fiend Overlord east of Lin Yun had already dispatched many Shades to collect information in Lin Yun's territory.

The western territory had just finished a war, the Demon Overlord had been suppressed and a Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord already occupied this territory. Since Lin Yun, a Demon that wasn't an Overlord, was blocking his expansion path, the only thing he could do was starting a war!

As a Demon whose brain wasn't completely filled with lava, the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord dispatched his own mount as a pathfinder.

With wings spanning over a hundred and fifty meters, the Lightning Eagle flew at high altitude in the chaotic Abyss. His eyes flickering with lightning could see everything within a few kilometers.

Indeed, this Lightning Eagle was the pitiful Dubois. His current status was the mount of a Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord. His Overlord was in the middle of a campaign and just killed the Overlord of the territory adjacent to Lin Yun's, and the next territory he planned on plundering was Lin Yun.

Fluttering within the deep black clouds, he kept looking down from the clouds to quickly observe Lin Yun's territory.

The abyssal army didn't know what was hidden above them, and no Demon would care if someone was peeping from the sky.

In any case, the final outcome would be a war, and it would be a melee when the war started, so who would care about someone spying on them.

This wasn't the first time Dubois came to another Demon's territory to spy. His Overlord had been able to plunder the territory west of Lin Yun's so quickly in large part due to Dubois' guidance.

He followed Lin Yun's long and narrow territory before flying towards his steel fort. Just as he was taking a look, he saw a building exploding within the steel fort.

A pureblood Flame Demon covered in blazing lava and flames walked out of the flame-covered building and then turned to spit a glaring bright mouthful of lava.

After a few seconds, the flames dissipated and the originally pitch-black building turned into a pile of ashes and only a remnant of lava remained on the ground.

The pureblood Flame Demon held a piece of dark golden metal and kept using flames to heat it. He then kept spitting out runes on that piece of dark golden metal.

As every rune fell on the dark golden metal, the dark golden metal started emitting a faint halo. Soon, faint halo thoroughly enveloped that piece of dark golden metal.

The pureblood Flame Demon suddenly stopped and looked at the sky. Dubois hurriedly flew up to hide back into that black cloud.

Above that black cloud, Dubois was still in shock.

'Damn, who is that guy? Sh*t, a pureblood Flame Demon understanding alchemy?

'Raphael? No, I remember Raphael reincarnating into a Storm Demon...

'F*ck, that guy is Mafa Merlin!

'He hadn't reincarnated into an ugly Abyssal Magic Bug, he tricked everyone and reincarnated into a pureblood Flame Demon!'

Fluttering above the black cloud, Dubois forgo his plan to fly down and fight.

'No good, I can't fight like this. Mafa Merlin has reincarnated into a pureblood Flame Demon. If he can continue to experiment with alchemy, he might be able to refine some Magic Tools.

'And who knows what other tricks there are in his steel fort? A Demon's steel fort isn't something a Level 37 Lightning Eagle can break through...'

The biggest benefit of having reincarnated as a Lightning Eagle was the ability to fly. After having obtained a large amount of resources, he had recently leveled up to Level 37.

But Mafa Merlin was unexpectedly already Level 38. His leveling speed was terrifyingly fast. It would be a pity if he didn't make use of such a good opportunity to get rid of Mafa Merlin.

'I heard that Mafa Merlin is a very vengeful person. As long as he has the opportunity, he would definitely get rid of me. If he knew I reincarnated as a Lightning Eagle and that I was only Level 37, he would definitely spare no cost to come get rid of me.

In any case, he didn't care how many of those stupid abyssal lifeforms would die within the Abyss.

'No, I have to get rid of him first. That stupid Purple-Eyed Demon's head is filled lava, as long as I instigate him a bit, he'll definitely personally attack Mafa Merlin's territory.

'No, Mafa Merlin is a crafty guy, who knows what he prepared. That Purple-Eyed Demon won't be able to get rid of him.

'If Mafa Merlin doesn't die and learns who I am, then even if I leave the Abyss, I wouldn't be able to live without having to lower my head.

'To have become the mount of a Demon, sh*t, that damned Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord had better die with Merlin.

'It's said that there is a Shade Fiend east of Mafa Merlin, and a Desert Demon to his north.

'Right, I should instigate that Desert Demon and that Shade Fiend to get rid of Mafa Merlin together. Two Demon Overlords and a strange Desert Demon would definitely be able to get rid of Mafa Merlin.

I absolutely can't let him leave the Abyss alive. If that guy has an opportunity, he'll definitely retaliate against me because of what happened before.'

Dubois' gaze flickered as he once again poked his head out of the black cloud to peek at Mafa Merlin in his steel fort. He then immediately flew above the black cloud towards the Purple-Eyed Demon's territory.

After having returned to the territory, Dubois immediately started instigating the Purple-Eyed Demon.

"Lord, there is truly a Level 38 pureblood Flame Demon over there. This must be the plot of a Flame Demon Overlord. I saw an alchemy laboratory over there.

"Damnit, there must be a Demon understanding alchemy within. After all, no Flame Demon understands abyssal alchemy. There must be a huge plot in the making.

"I also saw a large number of abyssal lifeforms dying, there are more deaths than during a war. That pureblood Flame Demon is definitely setting up an altar and using blood and souls to summon a Flame Demon Overlord!

"If he isn't killed, this territory would become a Flame Demon paradise!

"Lord, we should let that Shade Fiend in the east know of this matter, as well as the Desert Demon in the north and the Overlord in the south.

"They definitely won't watch as this happens. After all, if a pureblood Flame Demon Overlord appear here, it wouldn't take long before our territory turn into a zone of lava and volcanoes

"There would be no more sweet fruits, only thick flesh with a heavy smell of sulfur..."

Dubois' words were frightening as he explained that the consequences of not killing Lin Yun were terrifying.

In fact, the crafty Demon had been somewhat doubtful, but he couldn't handle it when he heard about his territory transforming into a field of volcanoes and lava...

It was because this was the infamous method Flame Demons used to expand their territory, this was real.

Moreover, by roping in the other Demon Overlords, he wouldn't be suffering from a potential retaliation of a Flame Demon Overlord on his own.

As long as there was no Flame Demon Overlord in his layer, the so-called retaliation wouldn't be too strong. After all, all Demon Overlords didn't like Flame Demons appearing in a world without a Flame Demon Overlord.

As for the lobbying, it fell onto Dubois' head. The southern Demon Overlord didn't see Dubois because he had already started a war with a Demon Overlord further south, and the battle was already heated as both Overlords were fighting.

As for the eastern Shade Fiend, the lobbying was very easy. The only requirement was to split the territory and cooperate.

As he kept flying towards the northern desert after having convinced one Demon Overlord, he soon saw Slythrin reincarnated as a Desert Demon.

When he saw the sand fluttering around Slythrin's claws, Dubois immediately thought of him. This was Slythrin's habit, he was constantly controlling sand, anytime, anywhere.

"Slythrin?"

'Damn, that's perfect! This Desert Demon is actually Slythrin!

'It was said that Mafa Merlin got rid of the Quicksand Tower's mages within the Raging Flame Battlefield, one of which was Slythrin's nephew.

'Slythrin definitely wants to retaliate against Mafa Merlin. He definitely won't pass up on such a good opportunity!'

Dubois shrunk his body and turned into a two-meter-tall Lightning Eagle before using his magic power to condense a rune. This rune was Dubois' personal runic signature, even if it was only a shape now and didn't possess the mana fluctuations belonging to Dubois.

"Sir Slythrin, I am Dubois. I didn't expect to see you there!"

The sand fluttering within Slythrin's fingers disappeared and his cold eyes gazed upon Dubois.

"Sir Emissary, I think you have made a mistake, the name bestowed upon me by the Abyss is Darwin Dlo."

Dubois was stunned, but he immediately smiled.

"Sir Slythrin, I don't have any evil intent. I think you are still unaware, but the pureblood Flame Demon attacking your territory is Mafa Merlin!"

Slythrin instantly exclaimed.

"What? That damned Flame Demon is Mafa Merlin?"

Slythrin reacted before finishing his sentence, this outburst was admitting his own identity.

Slythrin remained silent while Dubois kept enticing him.

“Sir Slythrin, you don’t need to be so vigilant against me. Don’t you know that I have unforgettable memories with Mafa Merlin?”

“That damned guy acted against my two disciples, one of them was mercilessly killed in front of me, while the other is suppressed somewhere unknown.

“He then forcibly occupied my fort and made me pay a huge humiliating price before returning my fort.

“I really regret not getting rid of him while he was still small and weak. It was too late and I thought there would be no opportunity to get rid of him.

“Now, the opportunity has come, he is only a Flame Demon without the backing of a Flame Demon Overlord. He is only a Level 38 Flame Demon!

“As for our allied armies, we have two Demon Overlords, Sir Slythrin, and I. We can absolutely make Mafa Merlin sink in the Abyss forever.

“You should know that Mafa Merlin is the type of person to hold grudges. As long as we offended him, he would definitely remember it. As long as he has an opportunity, he would frantically retaliate. He is a crazy mad dog, we have to get rid of him.

“By the time he returned, he would definitely look for an opportunity to get rid of us!

“Furthermore, that guy is proficient in alchemy. Even though he has reincarnated as a Flame Demon, he hasn’t given up on alchemy. Who knows what kind of method he’ll come up with.

“Thus, this time, my current Lord and the eastern Shade Fiend would block both sides, with Sir Slythrin, we can surround him and he would absolutely be screwed!”

Dubois kept trying to entice him and even carelessly used Abyssal Language.

Almost all abyssal lifeforms understood Abyssal Language, and it would have a peculiar effect when used.

There would be cursing power when cursing, and when some powerful Demons cursed at weaker abyssal lifeforms, it would quickly bring disaster to those weaker abyssal lifeforms.

And while enticing, the Abyssal Language would have a powerful enticing power. No one could sense it, but it would directly affect soul power.

Slythrin also didn’t notice that Dubois was already using Abyssal Language.

But his heart felt that Dubois’ words were making sense. There would be no opportunity for revenge after leaving the Abyss.

Chapter 1163 Begging for Forgiveness

“alright, sir dubois, you are right. mafa merlin is getting stronger and stronger. he isn’t even a genuine heaven rank powerhouse but his strength is already higher than a 1st rank heaven powerhouse. if that continues, we would never have the opportunity to take revenge.

“when will the war against that hateful mafa merlin start?”

a smile appeared on dubois' face.

"sir slythrin, please rest assured, mafa merlin is definitely going to die. our alliance would be completely assembled within a month and all our forces will be used against mafa merlin.

"remember, when the crimson sun sets for the thirtieth time is when we will be launching an all-out attack against mafa merlin to get rid of that stupid guy!"

dubois left with a satisfied expression. now they were flanking from three sides, their armies added up to several hundred thousand abyssal lifeforms and two demon overlords. this wasn't something a demon lord that had yet to reach level 40 could handle.

slythrin's face turned ice-cold after dubois left.

'that b*stard actually used abyssal language to entice me. idiot, how could i not know what you are trying to pull?

'being attacked by two overlords, mafa merlin would definitely run towards the north. so i would be the one blocking his retreat.

'it would be better for you that i die with mafa merlin so that no one learn what happened to you in the abyss.

'hell, as a heaven rank powerhouse, he actually became the mount of a demon overlord. he definitely will get rid of humans and beastmen that learnt of this, he won't let anyone bring this news back.

'thus, after getting rid of mafa merlin, he'll definitely want to get rid of me...

'stupid guy, do you think i don't know how selfish and cruel demons are? after getting rid of mafa merlin, those so-called allies would immediately become enemies.

'in any case, with two demon overlords, mafa merlin is definitely dead. i just have to hide in this vile desert; as long as i don't come out, those two demon overlords also won't be able to get rid of me.

'i'll slowly wait for time to pass and leave this abyss when i reach level 40. their destroyed world would have nothing to do with me.'

slythrin was determined to watch the show and absolutely wouldn't leave the protection of the vile desert.

time passed, and the speed at which lin yun collected eternal dark gold increased. more and more eternal dark gold was excavated. the deeper in the desert, the purer the excavated eternal dark gold was. there would even be some extremely pure eternal dark gold that had been refined by the desert after half a month, more than half of the surface area of the desert had fallen in lin yun's hands.

and there was an amazing discovery.

in the center of the desert, sand waves kept flowing and were half made of eternal dark gold ores.

in other words, this was a huge mine of eternal dark gold. the sand only needed to be refined with burning flames to remove all of the impurities and leave behind pure eternal dark gold!

after obtaining that news, lin yun personally appeared in the depths of the desert. as for that desert demon who had been hiding under the desert, lin yun completely ignored him. he would do so as long as he stayed out of the way.

now, in the depths of the desert, lin yun summoned syudos.

he hadn't dared to casually summon syudos before because he was afraid that the extraordinary power's fluctuations would be noticed by the greater demon overlord.

at that time, the greater demon overlord might have personally come to take away the book of mantras. after all, an extraordinary magic book conformed to most demons' requirements.

but he later found out that the ruler of this layer had already sunk into a slumber for over ten thousand years. lin yun remembered that the 333th layer's ruler was apparently slumbering. in the future, humans would come here, but that greater demon overlord wouldn't wake up.

a powerhouse surpassing the heaven rank would emit mana fluctuations stronger than an extraordinary magic tool.

then, lin yun had syudos light a fire in the center of the desert.

it was impossible for the eternal dark gold to be burnt down, while sand and magic beasts would be completely burnt into nothingness.

even the other metals within the desert would be burnt into nothingness. eternal dark gold was the only thing needed. in any case, the other materials weren't precious.

a gate covered in flames appeared in the center of the desert and emitted terrifying mana fluctuations.

following the appearance of the flaming gates, the nasty desert environment was suppressed and those sand storms and tornadoes instantly disappeared.

the sand waves were also pressured by this terrifying power.

the aura of extraordinary magic power followed the sand, spread underground and slowly shook an underground palace a few hundred meters deep.

slythrin, hiding within that underground palace, suddenly had a change of expression. he quickly spat out abyssal runes.

as these abyssal runes dissipated, sand rapidly condensed on the surface and converged into a fist-sized demon eye.

as the demon eye was condensed, it looked at the several-dozen-meter tall flaming gates.

it looked like the gates to an ancient shrine. there were pillars on both sides carved with mysterious patterns, and atop the gates was a sphere of fire attentively watching the gates. and within that sphere of fire was an ancient book.

the two doors making up those gates were covered in numerous incantations that slowly roamed about.

then, the gates slowly opened and a world full of boundless flames appeared behind.

in an instant, that terrifying flaming sea was like a flood coming out of a flood gate as it frantically surged out of the gates.

the demon eye slythrin was controlling evaporated from the terrible heat before even coming in contact with the flames.

under the desert, cold sweat kept trickling down slythrin's forehead and his mana fluctuations started becoming chaotic.

'damnit, damnit, mafa merlin discovered me!

'shit, that's a magic tool! it's mafa merlin's magic tool!

'how could he carry his magic tool into the endless abyss?! f*ck! it's actually an extraordinary magic tool! and one with an awakened incarnation!

'that guy definitely discovered me! he is using that extraordinary magic tool to burn the entire desert into nothingness.

'i knew it, mafa merlin is definitely not that easy to kill. that idiot dubois couldn't kill mafa merlin before he had the power of a heaven rank powerhouse and even got his fort snatched.

'now he is definitely not mafa merlin's opponent, yet he wants to take advantage of this opportunity to get rid of mafa merlin?

'impossible! he is screwed...

'two demon overlords wouldn't be enough for mafa merlin to fall. that's an extraordinary magic tool with an incarnation!

'moreover, i remember that mafa merlin seemed to have a peak true spirit magic tool with an incarnation possessing wisdom. damn, these two magic tools are equivalent to two heaven rank powerhouses.

'this is a trap, i remember mafa merlin choosing to reincarnate as an abyssal magic bug. everyone saw that, yet now he is a pureblood flame demon?

'there must be a secret we can't comprehend. damnit, i can't go on like this. if this continues and mafa merlin burns the entire desert into nothingness, then i would definitely die.

'damnit, this kind of unfathomable guy definitely has many powerful cards. i need to go out now...'

slythrin somewhat collapsed the moment he saw lin yun's book of mantras, especially as he felt more and more heat gathering above him. he could clearly feel the desert melting above him and a large amount of sand being melted into nothingness.

those few hundred meters of sand protection were a joke at this moment, because there was no need to reach that far down, overtime, that terrifying heat would end up steaming him alive like a crab.

cold sweat kept dripping from his forehead. the more he thought, the more he felt that this was a huge plot. lin yun was luring them in to get rid of them.

there was no need to ask anything, everyone was only able to enter the abyss as souls and couldn't use a single iota of mana, yet lin yun's extraordinary magic tool went through?

'this is a trap!

'from the start, he kept putting pressure and frantically rushed to the center of the desert. then, he summoned the extraordinary magic tool to burn the center of the desert, and burn all lifeforms living within to death.'

after coming to that conclusion, slythrin no longer hid and controlled layers of sand to cover his body as he rushed towards the surface.

as he was seven to eight meters away from the surface, slythrin felt as if he had jumped into scalding lava. the surrounding sand had already melted into a pile of dense blazing and sticky liquid. and the heat coming from above was even greater.

the sweating slythrin no longer dared to rush upward, the death aura above his head clearly let him know that he would be burnt to ashes within a few seconds if he fell into those flames... no, he wouldn't even leave ashes behind.

after all, he was only a desert demon above level 30. without the power of the heaven rank and without the endless sand to defend himself, he would die very quickly within that sea of flames.

"sir merlin, i surrender, i surrender. please withdraw those terrifying flames..." slythrin shrieked.

his voice pierced through the scalding lava to reach the surface. this made lin yun frown.

he originally thought that there was just an ordinary desert demon below, he hadn't expected it to be someone having reincarnated into a desert demon. moreover, they knew his identity.

ignoring slythrin's shout, lin yun kept having syudos burn the center of the desert. as the flames burned, many pieces of eternal dark gold as small as grains of sand could be seen heating up. as long as everything evaporated, including the lava, all that would be left would be the eternal dark god.

slythrin roared twice, but sensing the flames above his head covering several kilometers not dissipating and instead spreading out further and further, traces of fear slowly made their way onto slythrin's face.

'damnit, that guy really discovered me. no, he might have discovered that stupid dubois' plot and he now came to get rid of me first...

'no good, i can't die a meaningless death. that idiot dubois became the mount of a demon overlord and will definitely plot my death afterwards. why should i even fight mafa merlin to death?

'and how would that be considered a fight. that damned guy possesses an extraordinary magic tool. i don't want to die here...'

"sir merlin, i surrender, please put away your flames. there is no hatred between us. i wasn't that close to my damned nephew, i have no plan to avenge him.

"i warned him long ago to not provoke those he couldn't afford to provoke or he would deserve his death. it's his own fault that he died.

“that treacherous birbo came looking for me before. she wanted to assassinate sir merlin but i flatly refused. it’s true! sir merlin, this really has nothing to do with me.

“ah, right, it’s that lowly b*stard dubois! he now became the mount of a filthy demon overlord, such a disgraceful mount.

“this is his plot, he enticed that stupid purple-eyed demon and that shade fiend to come kill you and snatch your territory in order to let your soul sink into the abyss.

“he also came to persuade me, but i didn’t agree... no, he used abyssal language to entice me so i reluctantly agreed, but it no longer mattered after sobering up.

“it truly has nothing to do with me, sir merlin, we could have a good cooperation without hatred, please believe me. sir merlin...”

slythrin slowly sunk underground. the flames covering the area were like a huge cover falling down. as time passed, the flames transformed into a hemisphere that wrapped the desert within.

everything inside was being burnt into nothingness. slythrin wanted to escape, but he was really panicking.

he fearfully begged for forgiveness and ruthlessly sold out dubois even though he had been planning to watch the show from the start.

slythrin burst in horror as he absolved himself of everything. he even used his own soul to swear that he said the truth.

lin yun stood on the surface, doubtfully scratching his head before finally understanding what was going on.

‘this fool thought i came to get rid of him ahead of time because i discovered their plot?’

lin yun couldn’t help chuckling. slythrin was overthinking, but lin yun didn’t intend to tell him that his coming was unrelated to him and that he only came here to extract the eternal dark gold.

naturally, it wouldn’t matter if he casually killed any demon hidden in the desert.

as time passed, slythrin had no choice but to continue diving towards the depths of the desert. but the further down he dove, the closer he was to death.

the hemisphere formed from flames already pierced a few hundred meters under the ground, and it was continuing downward. the vile underground environment and huge pressure was something a desert demon couldn’t handle.

if he was unlucky and met an underground pulsation, it wouldn’t be impossible for him to die from the pressure.

slythrin was more and more frightened, no one was willing to die, especially such a sullen death. moreover, he would be dying a meaningless death in the abyss, that would be even more sullen.

‘dubois, you shameful mount, you lost all your reputation as a human mage. you are the cause of my death. damn guy, how could mafa merlin know i was here, only a despicable scoundrel like you knew.

'this must be dubois discreetly leaking that information, which made mafa merlin think i was going to act against him. thus he came to get rid of me in advance and burn me to death.

'i definitely can't die. damnit, mafa merlin already can't be provoked, i can't die such an unjust death...'

slythrin's shaking voice kept begging for forgiveness from underground, he kept cursing dubois and swearing that he had no plan on participating in dubois' conspiracy and had at most planned on watching.

as slythrin thoroughly despaired, a passage suddenly opened amidst the flames continuously falling upon him. as he looked at the passage, he didn't dare to think whether it was a trap or not and frantically rushed through this flameless passage.

sensing the golden red hellfire, the ashen gray corrosive fire, and the tangerine high-level elemental flames, slythrin felt as if he was walking on the edge of death. as long as he was ever so slightly infected, he would definitely be screwed.

after he rushed out of the ground, slythrin cautiously followed that passage while shrinking his body to the extreme.

once he left the range of the flames, slythrin looked as if he exhausted all his strength and limply lied down on the ground, rejoicing as if he had gotten a new lease on life after a calamity.

lin yun didn't pay attention to slythrin and had syudos continue to release flames from the book of mantras to burn the ores in the depths of the desert. enderfa was controlling the slowly rotating ten thousand spell wheel and floated behind lin yun.

the few magic gems embedded in the ten thousand spell wheel had been replaced by the purest deep crimson cores. there seemed to be chaotic magic power within the calmness. one thought from enderfa was all that was needed for the ten thousand spell wheel to burst with a terrifying chaotic elemental storm that would tear slythrin apart.

as he saw the ten thousand spell wheel, slythrin became well-behaved and more resolute. he sat on the ground and didn't dare to stand and then anxiously looked at enderfa.

"it's quite suitable for a mage of the quicksand tower, to reincarnate as a desert demon, but i was under the impression that those desert demons were troublesome guys just like pureblood flame demons. how could a desert demon like yourself be in such a miserable state?"

"for you to have such a small desert as territory. any random desert demon overlord could control a numbered layer, not to mention those unnumbered lower planes..."

enderfa ridiculed slythrin, but slythrin remained silent and acted as if he hadn't heard enderfa's three faces mocking him.

Chapter 1164 Altar

a desert demon with a level in the mid-30 facing an incarnation with wisdom controlling a first-rate true spirit magic tool. he wasn't an idiot, he knew that the best course of action was to remain silent and act as if he didn't hear anything.

enderfa laughed at slythrin for a bit before getting bored since he couldn't get any reaction from the mute and deaf slythrin.

slythrin waited on the side and made himself as small as possible as he calmly waited for lin yun to finish burning the desert.

as time passed, slythrin understood that pieces of golden metal were mixed within the burnt desert.

slowly, the amount of lava reduced and more dark golden metal appeared.

this time, slythrin finally understood that lin yun was refining metal and treated the few kilometers range of the desert as a one-time use mine.

but after seeing this, slythrin felt more and more that his decision had been very wise.

'damn, mafa merlin didn't even take the initiative to get rid of me. in his eyes, i might already be unworthy of him doing the job himself.

'the flames released by that extraordinary magic tool actually cover several kilometers. a fire 1st rank heaven mage definitely isn't that powerful, and the flames released by those flaming gates seems almost infinite.

'since mafa merlin can bring his own magic tools, then he definitely has a way to take those extracted magic materials out.

'we can't take away any precious resource of the abyss, so we don't really care. but mafa merlin is different. this kind of dark golden metal must be very precious... it feels like i've seen it somewhere.

'forget it, it doesn't matter. it would really be an unjust death if i got infected by the flames... that idiot dubois is truly courting death if he wants to fight mafa merlin.

'he was really lucky to live to this day after almost killing mafa merlin.

'he should have been grateful that mafa merlin didn't even look for him, yet he actually took the initiative to plot against mafa merlin.

'that stupid idiot deserves to have turned into a filthy demon's mouth. he is really courting death, that stupid idiot's head is definitely full of lava like those demons.

'hmpf, just wait for death. you only have two demon overlords while mafa merlin has a first-rate true spirit magic tool and an extraordinary magic tool. who knows if mafa merlin still has other methods.

'as long as there are more, those two foolish demon overlords bewitched by dubois would definitely suffer a very miserable death.'

the flames coming from the book of mantras' flame world burned for three days within three kilometers and left a huge hole.

on the edge of the hole, the melted sand formed an eight-meter-thick glass wall. looking at it from above, it was like a three-kilometer-wide glass cup had suddenly appeared in the desert.

it was four to five hundred-meter-deep and everything within had been burnt into nothingness. only chunks of eternal dark gold had fallen to the bottom of the hole.

lin yun floated towards the bottom of the hole and opened his demiplane to summon a group of puppets to carry those chunks of eternal dark gold into his demiplane.

after a few minutes, lin yun returned to the surface of the desert. slythrin was still obediently sitting there.

“when the crimson sun sets for the 13th time from today, those two demon overlords will jointly attack your territory.”

lin yun barely arrived that slythrin promptly told him this news.

lin yun attentively stared at slythrin and cold sweat started trickling down the latter’s back.

after no less than ten seconds, lin yun suddenly opened his mouth, “there are a lot of sand-like ores mixed with the sand, can you throw those into this hole?”

after hearing those words, slythrin sighed in relief and promptly nodded.

“there is no problem, desert demons are the most experts at this kind of thing. this desert also has many abyssal lifeforms that are expert at stealthily moving through the desert.”

lin yun nodded and turned to lead enderfa and syudos away.

slythrin’s appearance was an unexpected accident. lin yun was a bit surprised at slythrin’s words, but he didn’t really care.

instead, he was puzzled at how to treat slythrin. this guy had been malicious before, but he changed for some unknown reason, he even sold dubois out.

after thinking for a bit, lin yun understood. if people knew that the arrogant dubois had become the mount of a demon, he would never be able to wash that stain in his life and he would never be able to raise his head in the future.

it wouldn’t be surprising if he was laughed to death by other heaven rank powerhouses.

since slythrin knew of that matter, dubois would definitely get rid of him after the plot is complete.

after lin yun’s magic tool was revealed, slythrin thoroughly defected. retaliation? how could he dare...

this guy surrendered but lin yun couldn’t take him with him. dubois would definitely be alerted if he took him with him. the abyss’ dwellers don’t have a sense of secrecy.

in the end, he remembered that slythrin was a mage of the quicksand tower and was now a desert demon with all the abyssal lifeforms within the area under his control.

‘isn’t he the best miner? i’ll just have this guy lead those abyssal lifeforms to excavate ores from the desert and throw them into that hole. i’ll only have to come and pick them up.’

as for whether slythrin would double-cross him, lin yun simply didn’t care.

because this was the abyss, he wouldn't be able to run before advancing to level 40. slythrin would have to wash his neck and wait for his death if he tried to double-cross him.

obviously, slythrin wasn't the kind of person who would give up his life for dubois...

after returning to his territory, lin yun started thinking on how he should face the two demon overlords.

heaven rank demon overlords weren't something he could get rid of at the moment. he was a level 38 pureblood flame demon. although his bloodline was considered to be a silver bloodline, he wasn't powerful enough to get rid of two demon overlords.

as he thought about it, lin yun quietly appeared at the intersection of the three territories. countless lives had been lost in this battlefield, it was full of bones as the flesh had been licked clean by the greedy and hungry abyssal lifeforms. the earth turned dark red and a foul bloody smell could be felt when approaching.

as he walked around the quiet battlefield, lin yun left burnt black marks on his wake. black smoke curled around those burnt black marks and transformed into abyssal runes that merged within the earth.

lin yun rapidly walked around the battlefield, leaving burnt black runes behind which formed a huge array. but it was actually a relatively simple basic array.

this was a new method of portraying runes that lin yun had researched as a flame demon. holding a pen to write runes was impossible as even steel pens would melt instantly.

condensing the runes under his feet and then imprinting them onto the earth was the fastest method.

he took a trip around this seven-kilometer-big battlefield. those black runes merged with the earth but the entire battlefield didn't look any different.

after leaving the battlefield, lin yun returned to the steel fort and swallowed a few dozen bottles of pure mana water. he used the properties of the abyssal magic bug to rapidly reach level 39. the restriction of the pureblood flame demon's bloodline finally appeared at this level.

pureblood flame demon would reach level 39 when they reached adulthood. if they wanted to advance to level 40 and obtain extraordinary power, they would need a very long accumulation of power and comprehension.

naturally, comprehension didn't exist for demons. there was only war, battle, slaughter. in slaughter and battle, they would be able to find the power allowing them to keep leveling up.

without even thinking twice, lin yun proceeded with the transformation and a pitch-black cocoon appeared once more. even more runes appeared on the surface of the black cocoon, and the surface of each rune seemed to have turned dark golden.

the aura of the pureblood flame demon slowly dissipated, to be replaced by the aura of an even more powerful bloodline.

a large amount of mana water had been poured into a pond by lin yun and that big cocoon was swallowing that pond's mana water, speeding up the process a few times.

ten days passed and dubois sent a smaller lightning eagle to the desert.

“desert demon, when the sun disappears two more times from the sky is when we will launch an attack. your mission is to stop that pureblood flame demon. if you can't block him, then you'll have to suffer our overlord's fury!”

the domineering lightning eagle said his words before leaving, completely ignoring slythrin.

slythrin had a dark expression as he stood on the ground, the sand revolving around his hand dissipated and he dispelled the idea to kill that lightning eagle.

‘damned dubois, you are but a mere demon's mount, yet you dare to send a stupid abyssal lifeform to humiliate me instead of notifying me yourself?

‘f*ck, fortunately i already saw mafa merlin. mafa merlin didn't react much these days. he knows that this isn't something he can ignore. arrogant demon overlords, stupid dubois, you'll definitely pay a disastrous price.

‘is mafa merlin someone easy to push around?

‘that unpredictable guy's soul entered the abyss, yet he was still able to summon his magic tools. he is really frightening. moreover, that guy's strength isn't limited to casting abilities, he might be able to summon an army...

‘no, i wouldn't be surprised if that guy suddenly summoned a heaven rank powerhouse...

‘i'll just sincerely help mafa merlin collect the ores here. although i don't know what use he has for those ores, i won't be able to bring those ores back when i return to my body anyway. in any case, no matter what happens, i won't bother mafa merlin. no matter how they fight, this has nothing to do with me.

on another side, in the purple-eyed demon overlord's territory, dubois was loudly praising his “lord”.

“my lord, that stupid pureblood flame demon is definitely screwed. we have already gathered over forty thousand people in our army. and aside from my invincible lord, we have over forty powerful demon above level 35

“that flame demon's plot is bound to be destroyed in the lord's hands. that stupid shade fiend isn't weak either, but after the victory, that guy's territory would belong to lord.

“maybe lord will advance and become a black iron overlord soon. i believe that when the greater demon overlord awakens, he would definitely praise lord for his contribution.”

dubois has almost become accustomed to being an abyssal lifeform, he was continuously boot-licking in abyssal language and it invisibly carried enticing power, making that purple-eyed overlord with purple flames around his eyes continuously laugh.

how could those uncultured demons understand flattery, they didn't have much resistance against it. some unsubtle vulgar flattery even seemed to produce better effects.

dubois changed his way of flattering and had now become the favorite existence of that purple-eyed overlord, even if his status was still that of a mount.

the army got on the move and the crazy abyssal lifeforms rushed towards the battlefield between the three territories. this was the custom of demons' wars, territories had to be invaded little by little.

this custom would undoubtedly make the deaths and injuries of abyssal lifeforms even more disastrous, but those idiots would never go extinct. there was so much cannon fodder that demon overlord just didn't care.

instead, the huge amount of souls that arose were necessary sacrifices to stronger demon overlords.

the territories of existences like abyssal devil kings, which had an even greater longing for souls, were always at war. the wars wouldn't stop even when they were slumbering.

dubois flew at a high altitude and coldly watched the battlefield with a sneer.

'mafa merlin, let's see what you can do now. stupid guy, no matter what you do, you are bound to be torn apart by two demon overlords, your soul will sink in the abyss for all eternity.

'hateful guy, you were lucky last time, but you can't escape your fate this time. i have to get rid of you this time, i want to watch you die.'

on this huge bloody battlefield, a large army of abyssal lifeforms rushed from the three sides. over a million abyssal lifeforms ended up converging on this bloody battlefield according to the abyss' customs, this kind of war had to be carried out on the border between their three territories, and there was only one region that bordered all three territories, this bloody battlefield.

abyssal lifeforms rushed into this battlefield and immediately started a chaotic slaughter. the abyssal battlefield, this life grinding tool, was once again operating. every second, a few hundred abyssal lifeforms died in there.

those dead abyssal lifeforms' bodies were torn apart for the most part and blood irrigated the earth, before following the earth and seeping underground.

in the depths of the earth, abyssal runes forming a circle lit up one after another after being irrigated by blood. the blood on the floor started permeating the earth.

the souls of the dead abyssal lifeforms were also torn apart under the earth, and a faint layer of black red fog appeared on the battlefield. those originally crazily abyssal lifeforms became even more crazy.

within a day, two to three hundred thousand abyssal lifeforms would die on this bloody battlefield, soon to be replenished.

within three days, the losses of the three forces reached over a million abyssal lifeforms.

those lifeforms' blood, lives, and souls were completely torn apart onto the earth. and 330 meter underground, a blood-colored bone altar appeared.

the bones that made up the altar came from all kinds of creatures, and each of them had a painfully roaring abyssal lifeform's soul attached to them.

souls and blood kept pouring onto the altar from above.

it was an abyssal sacrifice, and it was a kind of huge sacrifice.

unfortunately, no one knew of the altar's existence under the battlefield.

after three days, the powerful demons started joining the battlefield and the war became even more cruel. abyssal lifeforms above level 30 became cannon fodder while the level 35 and above demons led the war.

as more and more demons fell, their blood, lives, and souls were thrown into the sacrificial altar under the battlefield, rapidly increasing the speed of the sacrifice.

a terrifying existence's shadow could faintly be seen atop the altar, and following the appearance of that shadow, the blood-colored bones making up the altar shuddered. those demons' souls within the bones also remained silent, apparently terrified and not daring to make a single noise.

lin yun had yet to appear on the battlefield after three days, and even the demon overlords waiting on the edge of the battlefield were becoming impatient.

but the most anxious person was dubois. according to the abyss' customs, cannon fodder would be thrown in the battlefield first, then, more powerful lifeforms would slowly be joining the fight until the ruler ultimately joined.

the previous day should have been the day the demon overlords joined the fight, but unfortunately, they had yet to see any trace of lin yun.

dubois was still circling in the sky, even flying towards lin yun's territory to probe, despite the customs, but he still didn't find a trace of lin yun.

'damned b*stard, mafa merlin actually fled. f*ck, he actually threw his territory away and fled.

'i miscalculated, i forgot that he wasn't a true demon and wouldn't care about the demons' customs. he fled, what now?

'b*stard, those two arrogant and stupid demon overlords definitely won't go against the abyss' customs, they definitely won't abandon the battlefield. they will kill their way into mafa merlin's territory, chasing after him for the sake of victory, and slowly taking over his territory, little by little.

'no good, i can't let this continue, mafa merlin might thoroughly escape if we wait any longer...'

dubois rushed back to the battlefield and immediately looked for the purple-eyed demon.

Chapter 1165 Time to Return

"my lord, this isn't good, that damned pureblood flame demon is a coward and doesn't dare to appear on the battlefield. he must have already escaped, we can't keep delaying.

"we have to occupy his territory as soon as possible and hunt down that pureblood flame demon. he might be seeking a flame demon overlord's help, we definitely can't let him escape.

"if he escapes, those unreasonable pureblood flame demons would definitely retaliate..."

dubois was speaking very solemnly about the consequences, he was enticing him, while threatening him. and sure enough, the purple-eyed demon blew up when he heard this matter. his body expanded to over a hundred meters and he loudly roared.

“damn pureblood flame demon, coward! shameful abyssal magic bug! you actually fled from a war!”

as he roared, the purple-eyed demon personally stepped onto the battlefield while dubois flew to the other side, to threaten the shade fiend with even more alarming words.

the shade fiend instantly exploded. pureblood flame demons could be said to be an existence shade fiend had to eliminate. blazing bright lava filled the underground of pureblood flame demons' territories and shade fiends simply couldn't approach.

now that he heard that a pureblood flame demon overlord might be brought over here, the shade fiend panicked and hurriedly stormed the battlefield.

they planned on quickly finishing the war and killing their way into lin yun's territory.

with the two demon overlords personally entering the battlefield, lin yun's demon army was unable to resist and kept retreating. but something happened when the demon overlords joined the battlefield.

the faint bloody mist and black smoke covering the battlefield transformed into a faint mist. it was as if a demon overlord suddenly awakened. in less than three seconds, the entire bloody battlefield was covered in a thick dark blood fog.

the large number of cannon fodder within were less than level 20, or barely above level 20, and they instantly became crazy after being enveloped by the dense fog.

each and every one of them burst with their most powerful spells and attacks towards the people next to them.

a hundred thousand abyssal lifeforms were torn apart within a few seconds, this plunged the entire battlefield into chaos. that didn't have much effect on the level 30 and above demons, but they were forced to fight.

after killing a few crazy abyssal lifeforms, these demons also became crazy. then, these lesser demon overlords were drawn into the chaotic slaughter.

in less than thirty seconds, the two demon overlords and dubois started being attacked by a large number of crazy demons.

the purple-eyed demon used those purple flaming eyes to observe the surroundings, before rapidly discovering something fishy.

the dead abyssal lifeforms' blood, flesh, life aura, and souls were all torn apart and flowed under the earth.

the shade fiend next to him transformed into a shadow and tried to break through that dense fog that made him uneasy, but he was unable to escape.

seeing the blood converging into a small river flowing towards the depths of the earth, as well as the dead demons rapidly transforming into ashes, the shade demon quickly let out a frightened screech.

“damnit, sacrifice! f*cker, someone is conducting a sacrifice to an overlord!

“no good, that damned guy is actually going to sacrifice the two of us. this is a sacrifice to a gold bloodline demon!

“let’s quickly get out of here, that madman... there is a demon of the ten great gold bloodlines watching this place!”

the shade fiend was losing his mind and wanted to escape the bloody battlefield’s dense fog. as for the purple-eyed demon, he also immediately summoned a shift gate to escape. but just as the halo appeared above his head, it was torn into pieces by the chaotic energies within this space.

the purple demon overlord and the shade fiend no longer cared about getting rid of lin yun, they were both madly charging in a direction to escape this bloody battlefield.

but just as the purple-eyed demon reached the edge of the battlefield, a patched puppet blocked his path.

deep crimson rays of light roamed around the surface of the patched puppet. those thick rays of light then transformed into a chaotic flood of spells that ruthlessly pressured the purple-eyed demon’s body back into the bloody battlefield.

on the other side, the shade fiend hadn’t managed to reach the end of the battlefield before a several-dozen-meter-tall flame gates opened before him. all kinds of flames converged into a flood of flames that wrapped around the shade fiend, and the impact of that flood of flames sent the demon overlord back to the bloody battlefield.

as for dubois, he immediately flew up to flee after hearing the conversation between the two demon overlords, as well as seeing their frantic escape.

but in the sky, enderfa’s three faces laughed eerily as the spell wheel slowly rotated and emitted dense mana fluctuations.

following some slight fluctuations that appeared in the dense fog, dubois managed to extend his head out of the thick fog and a fearful yet joyful expression could be seen on his face.

enderfa laughed heartily as he controlled the ten thousand spell wheel to release over a hundred-meter-thick elemental storm.

“idiot, those that want to kill merlin end up being killed by merlin, do you still think you can escape?”

before enderfa could release the elemental storm, he still needed to release spells of the four elements and have them collide against each other to make the spell matrices collapse in order to create chaotic elemental power and form an elemental storm.

it was very troublesome and its power wasn’t as great as a real elemental storm, but now all the magic gems of the spell wheel aside from its power source had been replaced by the most berserk deep crimson cores. as long as he burst out with spells of the four elements, it would inevitably create the most berserk elemental storm.

the elemental storm pressured dubois back into the bloody battlefield.

“no, mafa merlin, you can’t do this. damnit, i am dubois, i’m not a demon, let me go, quick...”

dubois fell back to the bloody battlefield and was immediately approached by a dozen crazy lesser demon overlords. dubois’ wings were torn to shreds, and within a dozen seconds, his body was torn into a dozen pieces.

the light within his eyes slowly dissipated as his blood and soul sunk in the ground, bound to the altar’s surface.

the altar slowly rose up and appeared on the surface.

the sacrificial altar emitting a terrifying aura was now on the surface and the bloody battlefield’s abyssal armies had already disappeared.

a rope made of countless blood-colored bones restricted the two demon overlords’ bodies.

as more and more blood-colored bones appeared, the two demon overlords were no longer able to struggle free and they looked at the center of the altar with despair.

“no, you can’t do that! it’s a rule established by sir greater overlord, you can’t sacrifice an overlord, you can’t sacrifice us. damnit, you’ll suffer punishment, your soul will be suppressed and thrown into the lowest layer of the abyss, you’ll be tortured in that sea of corrosive souls for countless years...”

the purple-eyed demon loudly cursed, but unconcealable fear could be seen in his eyes.

the shade fiend also shrieked in fear, his body unable to turn back into shadow and his body continuously shrinking, his flesh, life aura, and magic power were continuously drained.

“forgive me, i swear on my true name to pledge allegiance to you, great existence. please forgive me...”

the aura being emitted from the altar, even if it was unclear, it made the two demons know that it was a member of a gold bloodline, and a pureblooded one!

ordinary demons were no different from abyssal lifeforms to pureblooded members of the ten gold bloodlines. if they wanted to kill, they would just kill. this was the reason why the two overlords were so frightened.

because even if they were killed by an overlord of the ten gold bloodlines and the greater demon overlord of this plane awakened, he still wouldn’t pay attention to it. whoever had the bigger fists made the rules, and the rules of the abyss were drawn by the ten major gold bloodlines.

if ordinary demons died, they died, even if they were overlords...

the abstract shadow on the altar slowly condensed and a demon burning with golden red flames was now standing on the altar.

dubois, who was bound to the surface of the altar, shouted in startled and angry, “damn b*stard, mafa merlin, it’s you! you daring guy, you actually offered a sacrifice to yourself! aside from the demons with gold bloodline, anyone offering a sacrifice to themselves would be courting death!”

lin yun indifferently glanced at dubois’ soul and crushed his soul by stomping on it.

“idiot, who told you that i wasn’t the one with the pureblood gold bloodline?”

as for that purple-eyed demon overlord, he was already thoroughly despairing.

“flame demon monarch, f*ck, who told me this was the territory of a pureblood flame demon. damnit, it’s actually someone with a gold bloodline, a pureblood flame demon monarch.

“it’s over, it’s thoroughly over. even if the greater demon overlord was watching this place, he wouldn’t intervene. offending a young flame demon monarch in its infancy for the two of us isn’t worth at all...”

the shade fiend fearfully begged for forgiveness, but the flames were restricting him too tightly and he ended up turning into ashes and dissipating. after more than ten seconds, the purple-eyed demon overlord’s body also transformed into ashes and dissipated.

the power of the two demon overlords converged onto the altar. the power of those cannon fodder had only been used to handle these two demon overlords, what he really needed was these two demon overlords!

after finding out that these two demon overlords came to attack him, lin yun had suddenly thought of a problem that had previously been on his mind.

the other heaven rank powerhouses had reached the heaven rank before reincarnating, they had controlled extraordinary power, comprehended extraordinary power, and had experience controlling extraordinary power.

even if they had become demons, many things on the path to power were universal and they would be able to quickly grasp those.

the pressure to advance to the heaven rank would be minimal, but it was different for lin yun.

he hadn’t advanced to the heaven rank and had no direct experience controlling extraordinary power, so there would inevitably be some inaccuracy.

it would take longer to advance to the heaven rank and the chances would decrease. but by using the properties of the abyssal magic bug, he can continuously transform and break through the restriction to his demonic bloodline. advancing to level 40 would be very easy.

this was the reason why lin yun originally chose the abyssal magic bug. it was because that would greatly shorten the time needed to return, while also increasing his opportunity to advance to the heaven rank.

but he had another problem. he could reach the heaven rank in the abyss, but lin yun himself hadn’t reached the heaven rank.

this time, the feeling and experience of breaking through the heaven rank would involuntarily form an awareness, which would make it very easy for lin yun to advance again, but it would also make his magic path imperfect, or cause a deviation.

the most perfect solution was returning to the raging flame plane without advancing to the heaven rank.

when he learnt about the two demon overlords planning to attack him, lin yun put this plan in motion and immediately started his next transformation.

because only a pureblood demon of one of the ten gold bloodlines could offer sacrifices to themselves.

by sacrificing two demon overlords, he obtained the power to make himself, who hadn't advanced to the heaven rank, return to the raging flame plane and take back his own body.

he once again transformed. there was only one possibility among the golden bloodline going forward, the flame demon monarch.

the master of all flames within the abyss. all demons and abyssal lifeforms related to flames were attached to this demon race. with that identity, he could do anything he wanted. most importantly, he could sacrifice two demon overlords to his sacrifice while not having advanced to the heaven rank.

as the two demon overlords dissipated, a sphere emitting extraordinary power took shape in the middle. lin yun swallowed that orb and the altar under his feet dissipated into ashes.

a trace of extraordinary power fluctuations appeared on lin yun's body. he could even faintly feel that after that orb of extraordinary power burst out, his soul would be able to go back and take back his body.

similarly, it seemed that this flame demon monarch's body wouldn't collapse and dissipate, but go into slumber.

after thinking for a bit, lin yun smiled.

other heaven rank powerhouses would have to break through to the heaven rank first, before releasing all of their extraordinary power at once in a self-detonation manner. life and mana would be consumed in a split second.

to demons, this meant giving up their own lives.

their souls would return, and after taking back their own bodies, the bodies they used in the abyss would disappear, not leaving anything behind.

but lin yun wasn't using his own power, he was offering a sacrifice to himself. after that power was consumed, lin yun's soul would be able to take back his own body while the flame demon monarch's would fall into a slumber, waiting for the next awakening.

that was an unexpected harvest. a flame demon monarch's body was like a planar coordinate in itself. after leaving this place, he would have a way to return without passing through the abyss' upper layers.

he put back syodos, enderfa, and the patch puppet into the demiplane and rushed towards the desert once again.

slythrin was controlling the desert's lifeforms to mine the ores within the desert. all of the ore was thrown into that huge crystal hole.

within a dozen days, the bigger pieces of ore had been dug out, while the remaining were small sand-like pieces mixed with the grains of sand of the flowing desert. this was taking too much time and they simply wouldn't be able to gather everything within a short time.

lin yun appeared once again and slythrin displayed a "sure enough, i was so wise" kind of expression.

'mafa merlin seems even more powerful. damn, there are actually extraordinary power fluctuations. it's over, there is no need to think about it. those two arrogant and stupid demon overlords definitely died. dubois must have died too.

'i was smarter and didn't provoke that terrifying mafa merlin or my fate would have been no different from dubois and those two stupid demon overlords.'

"sir merlin, these ores are all that we have collected. the rest is sand. those stupid abyssal lifeforms still can't completely distinguish which ones are ore fragments and which ones are grains of sand. this might take a while..."

lin yun nodded and gathered the eternal dark gold ore at the bottom of the hole before flying up again and telling slythrin, "i'm already ready to leave the abyss. after i leave, you'll be in charge of the territory. you can use any resource that can help you level up.

"but some of the minerals and special products of the abyss will be in bajiao's charge. after i return, i can help you find your body and make sure that nothing untowards happens to it."

slythrin was overjoyed, what he had been most afraid of was that sending his soul back would have no effect as his body would have been destroyed upon his return.

with lin yun's promise, slythrin promptly showed his loyalty.

"sir merlin, rest assured, i'll definitely help you oversee your territory. i'll give what you need to bajiao."

slythrin smartly didn't ask lin yun how he was planning on taking these resources out of the abyss, nor did he care why lin yun wanted these things.

lin yun nodded with satisfaction. he had previously felt that slythrin was like the mages of the quicksand tower, hiding in the dark until the crucial time, but that guy was clearly craven and cowardly.

lin yun didn't care what slythrin would do, after all, apart from the special resources of the abyss, there was nothing worthy of attention in the abyss.

after leaving the desert, lin yun appeared on the bloody battlefield where the three territories overlapped. lin yun had gotten rid of an additional two demon overlords and had gotten their territories, so he would naturally take over them. moreover, a large number of demons came to show their loyalty.

in front of these demons, lin yun flew up and kept chanting in the sinister abyssal language.

after finishing his long incantation, the earth under him started shivering and cracks started appearing on the earth, as if a huge monster was about to emerge from underground.

“rumble...”

Chapter 1166 Waking Up

in the sky, a large number of abyssal spells converged into black clouds, which revolved to form a vortex. a thick pillar of black smoke fell in that vortex, in the center of the bloody battlefield.

thick black lightning followed the black smoke and fell onto the ground. the earth split open and a huge volcanic crater appeared. following the appearance of that huge volcanic crater, the boundless abyssal power in the sky transformed into black smoke that poured into this volcanic crater.

the volcano was like a monster coming from underground. it rapidly emerged, and within a few minutes, it turned into a several-kilometer-wide and three-kilometer-tall huge volcano.

loud rumbling sounds echoed as the volcano erupted.

endless lava and flames spread out of the volcano, and the black clouds condensed from the abyssal power also converged there.

small volcanoes also started to appear in the surroundings of that huge volcano. it took less than an hour, for that ten-kilometer-wide area to be filled with volcanoes.

scorching heat filled the volcanoes seeing this scene, the demons who came to pledge allegiance were thoroughly terrified. they all knelt on the ground and didn't dare to raise their heads.

the bloodline pressure emitted by the flame demon monarch made these demons afraid of having any other thoughts. they all pledged their eternal loyalty to the flame demon monarch.

after shocking these demons, who were kowtowing so sincerely that their spine could be seen, lin yun felt that he should return.

an altar was built in the demiplane, and then a sacrificial altar was built into the volcanic range. that way, bajiao, who had already awakened his evil bone demon bloodline, could offer the resources lin yun needed as an offering through the sacrificial altar, and the resources would end up being receptioned in lin yun's demiplane.

that receiving sacrificial altar had an abyssal rune made out of lin yun's own blood, which could be treated as lin yun personally receptioning the offerings.

moreover, with the large amount of eternal dark gold, defenses were building around the demiplane, and there was no need to worry that someone would find the demiplane because of the sacrificial altar's array.

he let his subordinates know that their great overlord was going into slumber and that they had to carefully guard his territory and not disturb him regardless of what happens. then, lin yun jumped into that biggest volcano.

he roused that sacrificial power and felt a huge power wrapping around his soul as it rushed out of the abyss.

in that radiant tunnel, lin yun sailed against the flow while that power was continuously being consumed.

after rushing out of that abyssal gate, lin yun's soul guided him back to his own body. as he entered his body, wisps of mana slowly flickered on the surface of his body. life aura and soul fluctuations also slowly appeared.

in the abyss, cross was the fastest to break through to the heaven rank as a former peak 3rd rank heaven powerhouse. if not for lin yun leaving the abyss before advancing, the first person to return should have been cross.

his huge demonic body thoroughly burst and all of his life and power were used to deliver his soul back. a demon overlord had fallen.

on another side, clombton, who seemed to have fallen in the nastiest place, had no choice but to start using his demonic body to comprehend the law of shadow. cross had left for less than a month when clombton unhesitantly exploded his own body to send his soul back to the raging flame plane.

as for the others, they almost all advanced to level 39. morgan was the luckiest one and used the underground's resources to quickly advance to the heaven rank.

he was followed by slythrin, who had obtained lin yun's territory.

in less than a year, regardless of how smooth it had been, almost all the humans and beastmen heaven rank powerhouses advanced their demonic body to the heaven rank.

but they had exploded their demonic bodies, using the life and power of their bodies to deliver their souls back to the raging flame plane.

within that thick fog of rebirth, the corpse-like bodies began emitting mana fluctuations and life fluctuations one after another.

aside from the pitiful souls that fell in the abyss, everyone slowly regained consciousness.

the flow of time in the abyss and the raging flame plane was apparently different, or it might have been because the fog of rebirth weakened the river of time.

within three days, the people who had fallen asleep within the fog of rebirth awakened one after another.

lin yun was the first to regain consciousness. after awakening, the power of the fog of rebirth that seemed to cover his perception and soul power seemed to have disappeared. it looked like only a thin layer of fog remained in the air.

within the fog of rebirth, the bodies of the heaven rank powerhouses seemed to have sunk into a self-protection state and shields had been raised. lin yun found slythrin's body, as per their agreement and dragged him a fair distance away.

after all, humans and beastmen weren't especially friendly towards one another, just like how the hatred between sky city and the blood bone beastmen was deeper than their hatred of other forces.

it didn't matter if they were cooperating now, if there was an opportunity, they would unhesitantly get rid of others unnoticed.

lin yun pushed the sandball containing slythrin to one side, and after thinking for a bit, he gathered the bodies of the other human beings within the fog of rebirth. as for the beastmen, the separated ones were also kicked together.

after all, this was a critical time in the raging flame plane. others might not know, but lin yun was clearly aware of the course of history. the raging flame plane's power would be thoroughly devoured by the ancient god and the raging flame plane would be thoroughly destroyed.

if history repeated itself, then heaven rank powerhouses would have definitely come here, but there definitely wouldn't have been that many.

they might have already been annihilated before reaching the depths of the holy mountain. after all, the previous demon overlords and the fog of rebirth wasn't something a few heaven rank powerhouses would be able to deal with. if there had only been ten heaven rank powerhouses, then they would have already been annihilated.

as time passed, the humans and beastmen's heaven rank powerhouses slowly regained consciousness, but after three days, there were still six heaven rank powerhouses that had yet to regain consciousness within the fog of rebirth.

on the human side, aside from birbo and dubois, there was also one of the new heaven rank powerhouses. as for the beastmen, there was bronze beastman steer, as well as a black iron beastman, and a blood fang beastman.

from those that didn't wake up, dubois and birbo's life aura were continuously dropping and their mana was slowly dissipating. everyone could see with a single glance that it was because their souls had already been destroyed. even if their bodies had the protection of the fog of rebirth, it couldn't continue supporting them.

as for the remaining people, their bodies no longer had any mind fluctuation and their autonomous defenses were already dissipating. their life aura was fading away.

this meant that their reincarnation in the abyss had already died and their souls had fallen in the abyss, passing into oblivion, unless they met a kind greater demon overlord that personally saved them from their fate and sent them back.

but, everyone knew that if the soul of a heaven rank beastman or human fell in the abyss, the kindest demon would at most not devour their souls right away.

the power of the six bodies was clearly dissipating. once their power thoroughly dissipated, they would transform into ashes, disappearing forever.

"the abyss is indeed dangerous. i hadn't expected so many people to have fallen. thankfully i was lucky and reincarnated underground. there was only a slumbering black dragon overlord there..."

“these unlucky guys might have died soon after reincarnating, so pitiful. their souls were destroyed, but it’s always better than falling into the abyss. it’s always better than encountering a disgusting abyssal devil king.

“wanting to die would be impossible, and they would have to suffer millennia of painful torture before they could die.”

morgan sighed with apprehension, fear still visible on his face.

as for the others, their expressions weren’t so good either. clombton’s complexion was the most unsightly. as a holy light mage, falling into the abyss was no different than a holy light angel falling into the abyss, even if it had only been his soul.

he had to go against his principles as a holy light mage and practice shadow power, that degenerated power in the eyes of holy light mages.

“sir clombton, there is no need to brood over it. the holy light’s radiance would forever shine onto you. this was part of the ancient god’s plot after all.

“the body in the abyss has already turned to ashes and your soul hasn’t been contaminated or corrupted...”

butler comforted clombton from the side. he had comprehended the light law, but holy light mages imposed even stricter requirements upon themselves.

many ordinary light mages only felt that shadow was just another facet of light and that there was no big deal.

with butler’s comfort, clombton’s complexion became a lot better than earlier, even if he still couldn’t accept that conclusion.

“eh, i feel that my power has strengthened. it might not take long before i can advance to the 2nd rank!”

after comforting clombton, butler suddenly discovered this and loudly exclaimed.

after hearing this, the others immediately sensed their own bodies and everyone felt that they had become stronger.

“that’s true, i also feel stronger. my mana hasn’t grown much, but my understanding of the laws greatly improved. i’m a lot more powerful than before...”

“right, my understanding of the law has stagnated for a dozen years, but it now increased a bit. my strength increased by at least 10%...”

“i’m already at the peak of the 1st rank. i might reach the 2nd rank within a few years!”

lin yun didn’t speak, he also felt that his own understanding of the laws had increased quite a bit, just not as much as these people.

it was because these people were heaven rank powerhouses, they had advanced to the heaven rank once again within the abyss and their understanding of the laws had deepened.

but from the start, lin yun hadn't advanced to the heaven rank. although he had some gains, it wasn't as much as the others.

but lin yun had gotten even better benefits. the constant wars and battles of the abyss not only didn't pollute his soul, it instead vented the negative thoughts and impurities within his soul.

these would benefit his breakthrough and simply couldn't be put into words. because even when noscent developed to its peak, the mages were unable to use formulas to make these benefits clear.

but that concept was a fact. when advancing to the heaven rank, the purer one's soul was, the more benefits one would gain down the line. and those were invisible, the higher the rank, the greater the influence. reportedly, the soul was the main influence in taking one more step at the peak of the heaven rank.

what's more, lin yun had yet to destroy that flame demon monarch's body in the abyss and had even constructed a sacrificial altar.

in the future, the special products produced within his territory would be delivered to the altar in lin yun's demiplane through the sacrificial altar.

that mine of eternal dark gold would be enough to reinforce the entire demiplane. moreover, the demiplane was still maturing and the eternal dark gold would thoroughly merge with the demiplane as it grew.

at this time, no eternal dark gold could be found and its defensive abilities would instead fuse with the growing demiplane.

from that point on, it would be impossible for the natural demiplane to be disturbed by spacetime storms, void storms, elemental storms, and other external threats.

along with the steady flow of natural resources from the abyss, many of those special products were low level materials in the abyss that could be traded for a large amount of precious materials in noscent.

they weren't just a few dozen times more expensive, it was a few hundred times. it was a lot more profitable than the golden transformation potion.

lin yun didn't pay attention to the others and calmly looked to the side.

the experience in the abyss made many people gain some benefits. after all, after reaching the heaven rank, progress wasn't just a matter of mana. although the mana requirement was scary high, this could be reached overtime. one just had to spend all their energy into gathering mana, and their mana would keep on increasing.

but the comprehension of laws wasn't something that would deepen overtime. every old heaven rank was stuck because of the comprehension of laws.

especially clombton, this peak 3rd rank heaven powerhouse. comprehension of laws was more important to him. it looked like he might advance any time, but if he made no progress in his law comprehension, he would never be able to reach the 4th rank.

the bottleneck of the 4th rank wasn't easy to cross.

the increase in strength took everyone's minds off their experiences in the abyss.

but suddenly, birbo's body seemed to have experienced countless years of decay and dissipated into ashes.

three humans heaven rank powerhouses and three beastman heaven rank powerhouses turned to ashes and dissipated...

everyone turned silent. they had previously faced the holy mountain incarnation and two dozen demon overlords with armies of tens of thousands abyssal lifeforms.

yet not a single heaven rank powerhouse had died then. but now, they had just entered the fog of rebirth, that ancient god hadn't made a move, nor had any demon overlord, but they lost six heaven rank powerhouses!

morgan looked at birbo's corpse dissipating and sneered.

"that kind of rat that only knows how to assassinate should have been targeting the weakest opponent after entering the abyss.

"serves you right. stupid filthy woman. she deserved to have been eliminated by demons!"

the surrounding people didn't speak. the reputation of the shadow tower wasn't very good, but they didn't dare to offend extremely powerful forces and powerhouses, so the major forces didn't feel like paying attention to them.

these guys' survival abilities were very powerful. they hadn't even been eradicated after being surrounded and pressured twice. it was only later that some paid attention to them. but everyone would only feel joy upon the death of a shadow tower's mage, no one would take the initiative to help them out.

the abyss was filled with chaos and war. even the souls of heaven rank powerhouses could be killed by a small demons right of the bat after entering.

it was very normal for them to be eliminated if they were unlucky. it was normal for a heaven rank powerhouse's soul without the power of the heaven rank to die.

no one felt anything strange about their deaths, they only felt that they had run out of luck. even if they had the feeling that something happened, they didn't wish to investigate.

everyone felt that these guys must have been killed by allies, but no one cared. they had already died after all, and it had been in the abyss.

morgan sneered and glanced at slythrin. the latter had a very strange expression.

'birbo and that bronze beastman called steer apparently plotted against sir merlin before, unfortunately, they failed. now, they both died in the abyss.

'but is that related to sir merlin?

'and that guy called dubois seemed to have almost killed sir merlin before, and his fort had been occupied by sir merlin. this was a huge loss of reputation. i heard that he previously said that he would make sir merlin pay the price.

'that guy also died in the abyss? had he also been eliminated by sir merlin?

'but... how come that slythrin didn't die? i heard that he wanted to avenge his nephew who had been buried in the endless desert.

'just now, sir merlin was the first to awaken and our bodies should have been gathered together by sir merlin, including slythrin's.

'he didn't silently silence slythrin? was i wrong?

'did that rat's death have nothing to do with sir merlin? did that lightning mage and the bronze beastman accidentally die in the abyss?'

Chapter 1167 Two Souls

Morgan was puzzled, but he wasn't the only one. The others had the same thought process as Morgan and didn't think that Lin Yun had killed the few of them.

After all, in the Abyss, strength was directly related to the Demon they had reincarnated as. Whether they were powerful or weak depended on their Demonic Bloodline. Although this wasn't absolute, it was the most important factor.

Since Lin Yun could help Slythrin protect his body, then that meant that he definitely didn't care about their previous grudge, or at the very least, he took the big picture into consideration. Birbo and the others must have died in the Abyss due to terrible luck.

Clombton occasionally looked at Lin Yun with an admiring gaze, and even Cross felt that Lin Yun was a lot more pleasing to the eyes.

No one doubted Lin Yun aside from Slythrin who knew the truth, but he stayed hidden within the group.

In any case, the mages of the Quicksand Tower were like that to begin with. They felt disinclined to speak when there were many people.

Slythrin looked at Morgan approaching Lin Yun and saying that it was a shame that he hadn't taken advantage of the Abyss to get rid of the few people that would make a move against their own allies. He would never have the opportunity to avenge himself if their souls were destroyed.

Morgan had lowered his voice, but Slythrin had definitely heard his words and cold sweat was slowly trickling down his forehead. Fortunately, his robe was covering his face and his body was still covered in a layer of sand, so no one noticed.

'Damn it, that simple-minded Morgan. Sh*t, he would have still been a puny Archmage that wouldn't have advanced within a few decades if he hadn't been hugging Mafa Merlin's thigh.

'Mafa Merlin didn't kill them?

'What a joke, how could those guys call themselves Heaven Rank powerhouses then? Even as a weak Demon, they should still have the ability to escape from danger. It's not like a Demon Overlord was waiting for them as they awakened.

'Apart from a terrifying guy like Mafa Merlin, could those greedy, brutal, selfish, and afraid of death Demons be able to kill those capable Heaven Rank powerhouses?

'Of those poor unfortunate souls, three of them were Mafa Merlin's enemies. Their falls are definitely related to Mafa Merlin!

'Dubois lost his reputation as a mage and became the mount of a Demon before being eliminated by Mafa Merlin. As for Birbo and that Bronze Beastman, although it's unclear, it must have been related to Mafa Merlin.

'I was able to live because I lowered my head and didn't recklessly provoke Mafa Merlin like these idiots.

'Is Mafa Merlin that simple? Those stupid guys didn't even think whether Mafa Merlin would initiate a deadly counterattack.

'I heard that he could already burst out with the strength of a Heaven Rank powerhouse as an 8th Rank Archmage... And he is already a Peak 9th Rank Archmage able to step into the Heaven Rank at any time.

'Once this guy steps into the Heaven Rank, 1st Rank Heaven Mages would be like harmless babies in front of him, he would only need to use a little bit of strength to get rid of them.

'Moreover, he was able to summon his Magic Tools with his soul in the Abyss. Damn, how did that come about? I've yet to figure out.

'But who cares. In any case, Mafa Merlin already let me off, so I need to have a very good relationship with him in the future. Who knows what path this terrifying guy would take in the future.

'My nephew, who I hadn't seen for so many years, must have taken the initiative to provoke Mafa Merlin, otherwise he wouldn't have been killed.

'Whatever, I have no idea anyway. I managed to survive and those guys deserved to die...'

With Slythrin alive, no one thought that the deaths of those people had been caused by Lin Yun. Lin Yun had a chance to kill Slythrin but hadn't done so, helping everyone instead.

The fall of six Heaven Rank powerhouses didn't really decrease their group's strength. Instead, the fourteen Heaven Rank powerhouses were brimming with power and their overall power might have been stronger than their previous team of 20.

These guys' fighting strength increased by at least 10%, so with the fourteen of them, their group was definitely stronger than before.

Especially Clombton and Cross, these two showed some faint signs of being on the verge of advancing to the 4th Rank. And they could already completely crush their previous selves as they are.

After all, after entering the Heaven Rank, a little gap would make the balance between victory and defeat tilt towards one side.

The Fog of Rebirth had lost its effect towards them. Or it might be better to say that as long as their souls didn't take the initiative to come in contact with the Fog of Rebirth, then this place would only be a foggy area.

They continued towards the depths of the Holy Mountain and didn't walk far before they faintly heard two voices quarrelling.

Those two voices apparently had a hint of the Laws and ignored everyone's defenses as they spread and directly pierced their bodies, pouring into everyone's souls.

Faintly, it felt as if souls were mumbling beside their own souls. Every quiet voice seemed to be containing terrifying Laws that they couldn't understand. It seemed that the words they spoke represented the Laws!

Everyone was alarmed, Lin Yun was also surprised

They promptly sped up and rushed out of the Fog of Rebirth. Once they were out, they reached the deepest part of the Holy Mountain. This place had once been filled with the most powerful power of the Raging Flame Plane and was the closest place to the origin of the Raging Flame plane, it had been filled with abundant mana.

There was a huge ancient temple there. The Raging Flame Beastmen had been willing to use plenty of previous metals and materials to construct this temple and a bunch of great shrines in the depths of the Holy Mountain.

But this place had completely changed. Those great shrines had disappeared, and that biggest temple also disappeared.

The surroundings seemed to have turned into a vast starry sky and a huge throne stood there. The throne was at least a kilometer in height and three to four kilometers in width.

When looking closely at the materials used to construct the throne, the remains of many shrines could be seen.

The shrines and the temple had been destroyed and converged into an incomparably huge throne filled with a dense sinister power. The remains of the temples were chaotically assembled, and if one were to carefully look, they would discover a hard to comprehend terrifying power within.

It seemed to be an extremely complex rune, and there was an even stronger power. Lin Yun carefully looked at the throne, but didn't dare to throw a second look. He even caught a faint aura which nearly made the Magic Array explode from its own computing ability.

This wasn't the most frightening part, the most frightening aura came from the huge shadow sitting on the throne.

A lofty six-kilometer-tall figure was sitting on the throne, his height made it impossible for everyone to look above his chest as his head seemed to have already pierced through the endless void. A part of the void was enveloping that area and it looked like he had no head.

His skin was ashen black and it looked like he had been sitting there since the river of time started flowing, as the dust covering his body had turned into solid rock.

Black smoke curled around most parts of his body. He was just sitting there, calmly towering above the world.

Everyone felt very small as they looked at his body, and this feeling became more and more intense as time passed. An indescribable despair and sense of powerlessness flooded their souls.

‘God!

‘That’s the Ancient God! The body of an Ancient God that had been slumbering for who knows how many years!

‘The body of the 73rd God!’

Lin Yun glanced at the 73rd God’s body and couldn’t help moving his gaze away, not daring to keep looking.

There was almost no power leakage coming from the God’s body, but it was already so powerful that he didn’t have the qualifications to look upon the God’s appearance.

It wasn’t that the 73rd God’s head was squeezed into the endless void, but rather, the 73rd God’s power was too powerful and their eyes simply couldn’t see through the faint power released by the God to see his appearance.

Lin Yun’s mind shook.

He used to think about how powerful the Gods had been, but now, the body of an Ancient God was in front of them. Even if it had only been slumbering for countless years and barely emitted any power, he still didn’t have the qualifications to gaze upon his appearance.

This God’s body was only a body without the most important soul. To a living God, facing this body was the same as facing an ordinary magic beast.

But it was already powerful to that extent.

After looking at this God’s body, everyone, including Clombton and Cross who were only a step away from the 4th rank, already gave up on destroying the God’s body.

How ignorant had they been to want to destroy a God’s body. It was like ants wanting to destroy the Holy Mountain. This was a huge joke.

The God’s body was here, but who would have thought that they would be unable to destroy this God’s body. This was simply impossible.

The fourteen most powerful Heaven Rank powerhouses of the Raging Flame Plane stood at the entrance of this seemingly boundless starry sky-like world, foolishly looking at the body of the Ancient God.

Up until an angry shout roused them up.

“Enough! You have already gone insane! How could you think of destroying the world!”

A voice full of dignity exploded within the space, or it could be said to be exploding within everyone’s souls. No one could make the difference.

But following that voice, a sinister voice full of madness and wickedness echoed.

“Why can’t the world be destroyed? I’m only destroying this loathsome world, this is what we should be doing.

“We could have been born smoothly, but we ended up like that because of this damned world. Destroy it, we have to destroy it. Only by destroying it will I be able to get free.

“Destroy, must destroy, destroy it, destroy it...”

The wicked voice full of madness crazily echoed, and that voice revolved against that huge God’s body, and it was filled with boundless power.

The space surrounding the God’s body was like a mirror being shattered, bursting into countless fragments as an aura of destruction surrounded the God’s body.

A large void space was now surrounding the God’s body, but the shattering space simply couldn’t harm the God’s body. And because of the pressure of the God’s body, the shattered space could only revolve around the God’s body, no power leaked.

From outside, it was like all the destruction power was forcibly tearing the God’s body apart and the God’s body was bearing all that power.

Cold sweat slowly trickled down Lin Yun’s forehead as he sized up that boundless starry sky-like void world.

‘God Nation, this place is that damned 73rd God’s God Nation!

‘Everything here was birthed because of that God and that 73rd God is equivalent to the only celestial body in this boundless starry sky.

‘His huge body might be a lot bigger than we think. Everything here, even the space, seems to have been attracted by his body. The huge gravitational force suppressed everything and made the space here unshatterable!’

No one dared to say anything after entering this place. They were all pale and calmly stood at the edge of the starry sky, calmly waiting for those two voices carrying endless power to continue speaking.

“Have you forgotten what happened to us? Damn guy, why are you still not dead?! Damn it, damn it, damn it...”

The sinister and crazy voice kept shouting as the black smoke covering the surface of his body transformed into terrifying and malevolent demonic heads that let out crazy roars.

The restored space around the God’s body collapsed once again and those malevolent hundred-meter-big demonic heads containing terrifying power were shattered into fragments alongside the restored space.

The power that was capable of tearing Heaven Rank powerhouses to pieces was instantly suppressed by the God’s body and fell onto the God’s body, but that power was like a gust of wind falling onto steel.

The dust accumulated onto the God’s body hadn’t fluctuated at all.

The sinister and crazy voice finished venting when that voice full of dignity and wisdom echoed once again.

“How could I forget, we were the last God to be born. We still hadn’t been born into the world up until the end of the golden age.

“You should be rejoicing that we were born after that disaster. If we had been born before the disaster, we might have already fallen...”

The dignified voice had yet to finish his answer before the wicked and crazy voice rudely interrupted him.

“It’s all nonsense, filthy and stinky quibble. I would have rather been born before that disaster, I would have rather perished, look at what happened now.

“Look at what that damned disaster, that damned Noscent brought up.

“Souls, two souls. It made you, that guy who shouldn’t have appeared, appear. If not for you, if not for that damned world, how could I end up like this?

“Damnit, damn it all. Everything has to be destroyed...”

The dignified voice didn’t get angry about being interrupted and coldly continued, “No, Del Rovana, you should clearly understand that we were originally a whole, and that it was only because of the effect of the disaster that we ended up being born with two souls, none of us is superfluous.

“This was only an accident.

“We came to the Raging Flame Plane and fell asleep here, hoping to rely on the power of time to recover from the accident that birthed both of us.

“But you got ambitious and wanted to control this body alone, still fighting to obtain the strongest power of the past.

“Just look at what you are doing. In order to kill me and gain the sole ownership of this body, you didn’t spare a thought at borrowing the power of the Abyss. That sinister power has already polluted the body and even transformed you into those arrogant, crazy, sinister, and cruel Demons. You have already lost yourself

“In order to control the body, you even abandoned yourself and reincarnated in the Abyss to become a filthy Demon.

“Am I wrong? Del Rovana.”

As he heard that name, the cloud shrouding Lin Yun’s mind cleared up.

‘Damn, Del Rovana... It turned out to be like this. No wonder the Abyssal Gate opened to the 333rd layer.

‘No wonder Greater Demon Overlord Del Rovana was so famous in the Abyss and even an Abyss’ world was named after her.

'Damn, it turned out to be like this, she was the 73rd God...

'The 73rd God was already being nurtured during the Mythological Era, but it was nurtured successfully as the disaster descended and was born after the end of the Era of Gods.

'It seems that if not for that disaster, the 73rd God might have been the most powerful God since it needed such a long time to be nurtured.

'No wonder there was no trace or news of the 73rd God after the God Era, it was because it had been affected by the disaster and was born with two souls.

'After its birth, it immediately sank into a slumber in the Raging Flame Plane.

'But the two souls started fighting over the control of their body in order to restore the former glory of the Gods.

'One of the souls even reincarnated in the Abyss and became the Greater Overlord of a vast territory intimidating other Greater Demon Overlords. But it reincarnated as a female.

'Greater Demon Overlord Del Rovana. No wonder this slumbering Great Demon Overlord didn't wake up when a powerhouse above the Heaven Rank fell into her layer.

'Even in the history of the Abyss, this Greater Demon Overlord never awakened after sinking into slumber, even when Noscent was being destroyed.

'It turned out that she was a Demon reincarnated from one of the souls of the 73rd God. After Del Rovana's soul left the Abyss, her Greater Demon Overlord's body fell into a deep slumber, or might have dissipated forever.

'Del Rovana' was famous in the Abyss for the savage methods she used to get rid of a Greater Demon Overlord and plunder his 333rd layer, as well as for getting rid of two Greater Demon Overlords, and an unknown number of Demon Overlords.

'If not for her fame, her layer would have already been invaded by other Greater Demon Overlords.'

Chapter 1168 Del Rovana

Unfortunately, no one confirmed Del Rovana's death as no one dared to provoke her. Even if Del Rovana never showed up again, no Demon would dare to do something like that.

Lin Yun was stunned by the news and felt that there seemed to be some special information hidden within.

But before Lin Yun could understand it, the wicked and crazy voice echoed once again.

"Norrick! You b*stard, if not for you stopping me, I would have already been in control of the body and regained the glory of the old days, letting the radiance of the Gods shine once again on Noscent.

"No, I would have already destroyed that damned world and buried everything along with it. Everything would have been destroyed, everything would have been over.

“But it’s because of you. For the sake of stopping me, you actually cut off spacetime and banished me there while you had no choice but to reincarnate into a filthy ugly Beastman. Unfortunately for you, you can’t stop me this time.

“A puny Beastman doesn’t have the qualifications to be my opponent. What can you do now, Norrick?”

‘Norrick...

‘The Raging Flame Emperor!’

Lin Yun was a bit stunned.

‘Damn, the Raging Flame Emperor is the reincarnation of one of the souls of the 73rd God?’

‘What the hell is going on... How could those expert grave diggers not discover this in the future?’

‘Sh*t, it’s actually the Raging Flame Emperor...

‘No wonder the Raging Flame Emperor used the fastest time to unify the entire Raging Flame Plane after being born.

‘Red Beard definitely didn’t know this information, he most certainly wasn’t aware that the Raging Flame Emperor was one of the souls of the 73rd God.

‘As for Constance, maybe he also didn’t know. No...

‘Constance might have already known, he definitely hadn’t chosen the Raging Flame Plane carelessly.

‘This place had definitely been hiding some secrets, but what was it?’

‘Damn, I don’t understand, the more I think about it, the more chaotic this is.

‘I’d been puzzled, the Greater Demon Overlord wreaked havoc until an old Beastman severed spacetime and used the souls of all the warriors to seal the Greater Demon Overlord within that severed spacetime.

‘But the 73rd God was another matter... The Raging Flame Plane had no records of this, only the source of the Raging Flame Plane has some vague cryptic information.

‘The power to sever spacetime and banish that spacetime had a lot higher requirements than barely sealing that Greater Demon Overlord...

‘Now I understand. It was the Raging Flame Emperor...

‘The other soul of the 73rd God reincarnated was the Raging Flame Emperor!

‘Only the Raging Flame Emperor had this kind of power... Or it could be said that only he could accomplish this feat, because the one he was banishing was himself.’

The large amount of information was analyzed by Lin Yun, but it terrified the others.

Cross was foolishly looking at the void starry sky world.

The name of the Greater Demon Lord of the 333rd layer might be something that Beastmen didn't know.

Moreover, in the 333rd layer, the name of that Greater Demon Overlord was taboo. Even when the name of that layer was mentioned, only Greater Demon Overlords would dare to say that name.

As for other Demon Overlords, they didn't dare to say that name, who knew whether the Greater Demon Overlord would notice them and throw an Extraordinary Spell at them in a bad mood.

But the name Norrick was a name known to all Beastmen.

The Raging Flame Emperor, the greatest sovereign of the Raging Flame Plane, the only one that unified the Raging Flame. Up until now, the Raging Flame Beastmen had already been split several times, and the originally powerful Raging Flame Beastman Tribe had already been extinguished. Only the eight Tribes remained, and they weren't worshipping the Raging Flame Emperor.

After learning that the Raging Flame Emperor had been the reincarnation of one of the souls of the Ancient God, the few Beastmen were stunned.

"Del Rovana, I said that as long as I was still alive, I wouldn't let you succeed!"

The Raging Flame Emperor's dignified and sage voice sounded resolute.

Those words made Del Rovana's wicked and crazy voice go even more insane.

She kept cursing and shrieking, causing the space in the surroundings of the God's body to collapse. It seemed as if the surroundings of the God were filled with black glass shards, which kept being attracted by the God's body.

Terrifying power raged around the God's body. The power of the two voices lingered on the surface of the God's body and the frantic clashes of the two terrifying powers made the entire world shake. It seemed like the God was awakening.

A battle on this level wasn't something Lin Yun and the others could join. The fourteen Heaven rank powerhouses were standing at the edge of the world and looked like children who saw mages for the first time. Their mouths were wide open, but they were horrified.

"Sh*t, such terrifying power. So this is the power of a God?"

Morgan's legs were shivering and he was as pale as a corpse. He even started stuttering.

And on the side, the strongest Clombton was also pale. He couldn't help setting up his Holy Light Shield. Numerous law runes were flickering on the surface of the shield.

This wasn't an attack, but Clombton already couldn't remain calm.

The Raging Flame Emperor and Del Rovana's fight was limited to the surface of the God's body and no fluctuation spread out. But just seeing that scene let everyone know that if they entered that area, the aftermath alone would tear everyone apart and their souls wouldn't even be left behind.

"Stupid Norrick, don't try to stop me. No one can stop me! This time, I'll definitely be able to destroy this world, no, all planes.

“Everyone, everything would be buried with us, everything...”

“Del Rovana, this is our shared body. You think you can use the power of that body to defeat me? It’ll never be possible.

“I said that as long as I was alive, you would never have your way. You have already gone crazy, you are no longer the Del Rovana I knew. I’ll stop you, not just for you, but for us.”

The Raging Flame Emperor’s voice was still resolute.

The powers revolving around the God’s body clashed even more fiercely. The God’s body could no longer be seen clearly, it was completely covered in spatial fragments and berserk power.

The equilibrium still remained after over half an hour of fighting.

The God’s power belonged to the Raging Flame Emperor, but it also belonged to Del Rovana. They were using their own power to deal with themselves. And the two souls were still fighting over the destruction of the world, there was no end to it.

Suddenly, boundless black smoke flew out of the body of the Ancient God. The dense black smoke quickly gathered outside the gravitational pull of the God’s body and condensed into a huge completely pitch-black Demon.

After the huge demonic body condensed, the boundless black smoke poured into that body like a flood.

The originally several-dozen-meter-tall pitch-black Demon rapidly grew taller. After a few seconds, it reached over a kilometer in height.

She had two curled horns and pitch-black eyes. Ink-like black flames curled around her body covered in black scales and sharp spikes could be seen at her joints.

The two demonic wings spreading behind her were like two curtains hiding the starry sky, and space rippled with every sweep of her long tail.

A storm of malice and madness flooded the entire world and everyone standing on the edge felt the terrifying pressure. Even Clombton and Cross had solemn expressions as they released their shields and aura to resist. As for the others, the pressure they felt was even greater, it seemed that their souls were suppressed by the aura.

“Norrick, I don’t need the power of the body to destroy this damned world. Let me see how you plan on stopping me!”

Del Rovana shouted crazily and turned, as if she was about to leave this world.

Suddenly, the other power separated itself from the God’s body and condensed in midair. The red-colored radiance converged and the silhouette of the Raging Flame Emperor appeared in the air.

As he appeared, the Raging Flame Emperor chased Del Rovana. He extended his hands and a golden red greatsword appeared in his hands.

The Raging Flame Emperor held the hundred-meter-long greatsword as if it was as light as a stick and he ruthlessly slashed towards Del Rovana’s back.

But Del Rovana instantly turned and pitch-black demonic claws appeared beside the greatsword and slapped away the Raging Flame Emperor's greatsword, before another several-dozen-meter-big claws fell upon the Raging Flame Emperor's body.

A golden red radiance blossomed in front of Del Rovana's claws and blocked her premeditated blow, but Norrick was still sent flying.

The golden red radiance transformed into a several-dozen-meter-big sphere of light. The golden red greatsword pierced through the light and instantly pierced Del Rovana's claws several hundred meters away.

Sparks instantly flew out, it was as if two sharp blades were colliding against each other. Sharp sounds echoed and created ripples in the air. The pitch-black smoke and the golden red radiance were instantly turned into pieces by these ripples.

Del Rovana let out a sharp crazy laugh.

"Norrick, you are still holding onto your feelings. You knew this was a trap, yet you unhesitantly jumped head first.

"Stupid, idiot!

"Next to the body you can borrow its power to block me, but have you forgotten that after you lose the power of the body, you are merely a lowly weak Beastman, a vermin that used to be treated as a slave.

"You want to stop me by relying on that power?

"Wrong choice. Norrick, you are already dead. I've forgotten how many years it has been, but I can finally kill you now.

"After killing you, no one would be able to stop me. Idiot, stupid Beastman. Drop dead..."

Del Rovana swung her claws and boundless black smoke transformed into demonic heads spheres covered in black flames and dragging long trails behind. They fell onto the Raging Flame Emperor like rain.

A terrifying aura shrouded the surroundings, thoroughly enveloping the Raging Flame Emperor. A faint angry look could be seen on the Raging Flame Emperor's face and the hundred-meter-long greatsword in Norrick's hands turned into an afterimage.

Golden red rays of light flashed and the dozen demonic heads burning with flames were turned into pieces by the slash. But there was really too many of those sinisters demonic heads.

Del Rovana used her demonic casting abilities to frantically suppress the Raging Flame Emperor, and her huge demonic body was rapidly approaching the Raging Flame Emperor.

Her huge claws stretched into the pitch-black rain and ruthlessly slapped the body of the Raging Flame Emperor.

In the air, a golden red trail spread across a few dozen kilometers with the body of the Raging Flame Emperor appearing at the end.

As he appeared visible the greatsword the Raging Flame Emperor had condensed thoroughly collapsed and his body was covered in blood.

The direct hit wounded the Raging Flame Emperor and he lost his evenly matched control over the God's body. The Raging Flame Emperor simply wasn't Del Rovana's match.

Del Rovana laughed crazily. Dense black smoke was covering her body and even more black smoke poured in from the void.

That was the power from the Abyss. The power from the Abyssal layers she controlled could be borrowed, not to mention forcibly extracted. Her power was boundless and kept on increasing.

As for the Raging Flame Emperor, he was unable to borrow the power of the Raging Flame Plane. He had once been the ruler of the Raging Flame Plane and the only person in control, but now, the Raging Flame Plane's source was already dwindling and no external force could draw support from it.

He could only use his own power to withstand Del Rovana. Not to mention, the Raging Flame Emperor had been asleep for a few dozen millenia. Who knew what happened to him, but his power wasn't equal to Del Rovana.

If this continued, it wouldn't take long before the Raging Flame Emperor was pressured into death by Del Rovana.

Seeing this scene, Lin Yun started recalling the course of history. The current situation should have happened a lot later. Humans didn't defeat the Raging Flame Beastmen that quickly.

At that time, the losses on both sides were relatively great, and it was simply impossible for powerhouses to enter the Holy Mountain to check. They would have died before reaching the depths.

The only one that could stop Del Rovana was the Raging Flame Emperor. But clearly, the Raging Flame Emperor didn't have a way to suppress this crazy Demon.

Ultimately, the Raging Flame Emperor would be pressured to death and Del Rovana would smoothly devour the mana of the entire Raging Flame Plane, turning the Raging Flame into a dead world.

The golden red radiance and endless black smoke clashed in the air. No matter if it was the Raging Flame Emperor, or Del Rovana, either of them could get rid of everyone here.

Everyone could see that Del Rovana and the Raging Flame Emperor's bodies were flickering from time to time as they clashed.

A loud sound echoed, it sounded as if a bubble was popped. The golden red radiance transformed into a sphere that instantly expanded to four hundred meters. The black smoke transformed into extremely fierce sinister tentacles that firmly coiled around that golden red light sphere.

After a few seconds, the Raging Flame Emperor let out a deep suppressed roar, while Del Rovana let out a triumphant roar. The sphere the golden red radiance had turned into rapidly exploded, and the surrounding space started slowly collapsing.

That pure golden red radiance was like a crystal shattering into pieces. The ugly tentacles on the surface of the pure golden colored sphere of light also collapsed back into black smoke.

After all the fragments shattered, they started collapsing towards the center. Apparently, there was a passage leading to the endless void and everything was forcibly torn apart.

The radiant fragment and thick black smoke were all drawn into that lightless pitch-black passage. Even if Del Rovana relied on the power of the Abyss to form that flood of black smoke, she still couldn't struggle free of that pitch-black passage's pressure.

"Del Rovana, I can no longer suppress you, but I can still banish you. Even if you can't die, I can still drag you down for a few millennia."

The Raging Flame Emperor sounded exhausted. Within the black smoke, Del Rovana let out an angry roar mixed with laughter.

"Norrick, you are underestimating me too much. I'm no longer my former self, I've already absorbed the Raging Flame Plane's source power. I've already devoured this place's mana. Do you think I don't know what you want to do?"

"This is just like your majestic kindness, what a joke, a complete joke..."

Amidst the crazy laughter, black smoke rapidly condensed out of that surge of abyssal power from the void. It seemed like a terrifying monster was hiding inside the black smoke.

Fierce and ugly tentacles covered in some sort of thick sticky liquid came out of the black smoke. They were several-dozen-meter-thick and several-kilometer-long and rushed towards that shattered space one after another.

A spatial fragment tore one apart, but even more tentacles proceeded to enter that darkness.

After a few seconds, the space started fiercely shaking, and the shattered space slowly recovered under the God Nation's power.

In midair, only a kilometer-big black hole calmly floated there as all power was devoured by that black hole.

Moreover, there were still several dozen thick tentacles stretching towards the inside of the black hole. Del Rovana's huge demonic body was slowly being pulled out.

These tentacles were stretched taut, but they were unable to bear with the black hole's devouring power and kept collapsing. However, more and more tentacles appeared.

Del Rovana was slowly being pulled out of the black hole and the black flames burning within her eyes rapidly rose.

"Idiot, Norrick, I'll help you succeed in your goal. I'll make you forever sink into nothingness, to endless pain and suffering..."

Del Rovana extended both hands and a crazy and evil power transformed into sinister screaming demonic heads that fell towards the black hole like meteors.

Chapter 1169 A Terrifying Battle

The demonic heads kept exploding and the originally not too stable passage became even more unstable. The black hole slowly twisted and then distorted. The speed at which it was collapsing kept increasing and it wouldn't take more than a few seconds before it thoroughly collapsed.

Del Rovana laughed crazily. She even whipped at the crumbling passage to disperse the golden red light emerging from it, sealing away any chance the Raging Flame Emperor could have had to escape.

At that time, a several-kilometer-long huge tentacle whipped at the passage that had already transformed into a whirlpool. Those golden red lights grabbed onto it as if it was a rope and rushed out of that passage with the help of that tentacle. It was as if a golden red bridge of light flew out of the shattered space.

The bridge of light spread over several kilometers and the silhouette of the Raging Flame Emperor could be seen at the end. As for Del Rovana's tentacle, it was torn apart within the collapsed passage, almost pulling Del Rovana in.

The Raging Flame Emperor was pale, and his shabby armor had become dilapidated. His body was covered in blood. He was like a warrior taking his last stand, powerful and tragic.

As for Del Rovana, she was covered in black smoke and only her eyes burning with black flames could be seen shining through the black smoke.

The fierce battle was extremely fast. The conclusion could be determined every single second. Who had the upper hand and who was at a disadvantage kept switching. But now, everyone could see that the Raging Flame Emperor couldn't continue fighting. If no other power joined the fight, the Raging Flame Emperor would inevitably be defeated.

Lin Yun and the others were standing at the edge of the battlefield, their complexion extremely pale. The earlier black hole was a passage leading into nothingness. There the space was pitch-black and there was no light, no sound, no air, no mana.

Even the feeling of time passing couldn't be felt there, it was an endless void. If they fell there, their fate would be even more terrifying than death. It was a never-ending torture derived from loneliness and the pitch-black darkness, it would never end.

That was the place Demons were most frightened of, yet, a kilometer-long passage to that place had been opened and maintained for more than ten seconds!

The most frightening part was that these two guys managed to escape after falling into that passage.

This wasn't a power that Low Rank Heaven powerhouses could deal with.

As the battle between the Raging Flame Emperor and Del Rovana continued, Lin Yun suddenly spoke out.

"Are you going to keep watching?"

Lin Yun's calm voice made everyone look at him. The Beastmen all had pale complexions. One of them opened his mouth as he was about to mock Lin Yun, but for some reason, he couldn't say a word.

Morgan looked at that inhuman battle with shaking legs before looking at Lin Yun with disbelief and shock.

'Damn, is Sir Merlin crazy? The battle between these two guys isn't something we can handle, when they are next to the God's body, their strength definitely exceeds the Heaven Rank.

'Even now, they are incomparably stronger than Cross and Clombton, the strongest among us. We are merely weaklings that have just advanced to the Heaven Rank, how could we interfere in this kind of battle?

'This must be a joke, just one of those tentacles is over a hundred meters in thickness and several-hundred-meter long. That's the tentacle of Greater Demon Overlord!?

'Roaming in the void of the endless Abyss, feeding on the remnants of some huge creatures, or even devouring some newly birthed planes. A tentacle of that kind of monster would shatter our shields and end our lives with one lash.

'You still want to join the battle?'

No one spoke. Clombton held his staff, the holy light power surrounding his body was stirred, but he didn't make a decision. As for Cross, his eyes had turned red, but he remained silent.

After all, those two were clearly too powerful.

"The Raging Flame Emperor might be able to kill the other one. The other side might be stronger, but she also turned crazy..." A Beastman hesitantly said, and the others didn't refute this.

But Lin Yun knew the course of history. Even if it somewhat changed, there wouldn't be a huge difference. At least, if the power behind the changes wasn't great enough, the ending was foreordained.

And in history, Del Rovana ended up devouring the entire Raging Flame Plane. Without any external help, the Raging Flame Emperor would inevitably be defeated.

Unfortunately, he couldn't explain this to the others.

Lin Yun took a step forward and took out his Draconic Staff. The Book of Death was in his left hand. Enderfa and the Spell Wheel floated on Lin Yun's right while the Book of Mantras and Syudos floated on Lin Yun's left.

Fierce mana gushed out of Lin Yun's body like a berserk tide. It transformed into ripples that kept spreading towards the surroundings. Droplets floated around Lin Yun, those were liquefied dense mana. He spared no mana, and the mana was pure enough to take shape.

"The Raging Flame Emperor is very powerful, and he is also wise. But the wager is the Raging Flame Plane. As long as the Raging Flame Emperor is defeated, the Raging Flame Plane and all lives here would die.

"Even if that crazy woman leaves this place, what will happen to Noscent is a foregone conclusion. That lunatic definitely won't let Noscent off.

“Don’t rely on the hope that she won’t be able to find Noscent’s coordinates, they are the souls of the 73rd God born in Noscent.”

After indifferently saying those words, Lin Yun flew towards the Raging Flame Emperor.

As for the others, their complexion thoroughly changed. No one dared to think that Lin Yun was just scaring them off.

Because Del Rovana had said those words herself, no one dared to keep watching the fighting, they didn’t dare to gamble.

The price for losing the gamble would be the Raging Flame Plane and Noscent. No one doubted that this lunatic woman would do as she said.

“Damn it, get rid of her! If we have to die sooner or later, then I’d rather stake it all! Fight her! I want her to remember my name!”

Morgan gnashed his teeth and stomped his foot. He then summoned his Darkness Elemental God and followed behind Lin Yun.

“The radiance of the holy light does not show concern for any mage scared of evil. All evils have to be banished and cleansed.”

Clombton took out his holy light staff and followed behind them, Butler behind him. As for the other humans, they could no longer hesitate and flew out.

As the seven human Heaven Rank powerhouses made their move, Cross’ eyes turned red and he used his finger to cut his cheek and smear blood on the golden greatsword in his hands.

“Beastmen never surrender! Remember our precept! The Raging Flame Plane is our homeland, are we planning to rely on the despicable humans to save our homeland?”

“F*ck, I’d rather die than be known as a coward!”

Cross flew out with red eyes. As for the other Beastmen, they imitated Cross and cut their own cheek and smeared blood on their weapons before flying out.

This was a Beastman ritual conducted when they were about to fight to the death. Their weapons would bear the weight of their souls, and when they returned to the earth, some of their power would be inherited by the weapons and they would become a kind of totem to be passed down.

The fourteen Heaven Rank powerhouses burst with their strongest might as they flew over. The Raging Flame Emperor looked over and a complex and gratified expression flashed in his eyes.

Beastmen never surrender, this was the belief that the Raging Flame Emperor had spread when conquering the Raging Flame Plane.

“A group of repulsive insects wants to shake a great God’s toe? Insects, you should obediently lie down on the ground and tremble!”

Del Rovana shouted in anger. Her berserk power turned into black smoke and burst out. The black smoke condensed into demonic heads, and thick tentacles condensed under those demonic heads before they flew towards everyone.

Even more abyssal power transformed into a powerful pressure that pressed down on everyone.

Everyone instantly felt as if they had been hit by a Medusa's Petrification. They all went stiff and kept floating in the air. They could now feel how terrifying Del Rovana's pressure was.

Her aura alone could suppress them and keep them at bay. Let alone fight, they could only stare blankly as that terrifying tsunami of black smoke forced its way towards them.

Del Rovana angrily roared, but a faint golden red light pierced through the tide of black smoke and ruthlessly attacked Del Rovana's body, leaving behind a ten-meter-big hole in Del Rovana's chest. The Raging Flame Emperor was floating in the air, coldly looking at her.

"Del Rovana, you still have the power to take care of others while fighting against me? It looks like your intelligence has greatly suffered."

The Raging Flame Emperor roared and a hundred-meter-long golden red greatsword once again condensed in his hands. His body transformed into a ray of light and appeared before Del Rovana.

The scattered power and aura simply couldn't defend against the Raging Flame Emperor. The golden red greatsword cut through Del Rovana's defenses like a heated knife through butter.

The greatsword severed Del Rovana's head, left shoulder, and left arm.

The cut demonic arm rapidly dissipated in black smoke, as for the wound in her left shoulder, a black oily thick sticky liquid squirted out of it. Flames burnt on that black oily liquid and it rapidly condensed into the shape of an arm. After congealing, Del Rovana's arm was recovered.

But during this process, everyone could feel that Del Rovana's power had stopped crazily increasing, it even showed signs of weakening.

With an arm being chopped off, Del Rovana became cautious and no longer dared to scatter her power, she also no longer paid attention to Lin Yun and the others and focused all her power to fight the Raging Flame Emperor.

Being able to move again, everyone was a bit pale. This had been scary, only when they really faced her did they discover how terrifying the other side was.

But now that the pressure was no longer suppressing them, everyone instead became more resolute in helping the Raging Flame Emperor get rid of this crazy Demon.

"This lunatic has to be killed, we won't be able to stop her if we lose the back up of the Raging Flame Emperor. This is our only opportunity!"

Cross' eyes were crimson red, the aura covering his body looked like golden crimson flames.

This was Cross igniting his Aura. The ignited Aura would disappear permanently, but the burst power would be twice as strong as usual.

If the battle wasn't over by the time his Aura was completely ignited, then his vitality and soul would be next.

This was the supreme skill of Heaven Rank warriors, only when they planned on giving up their lives would they ignite their own aura.

Clombton raised his holy light staff and a Demiplane suddenly appeared behind him. A small Angel came out of it and cooperated with Clombton to raise a Holy Light Shield in front of everyone. Possessing the power to deal against evil and similar spells made the Holy Light Shield the most suitable spell with its defensive power and endurance.

That Demiplane shadow slowly dissipated and ultimately, only holy light surged from behind him. The terrifying holy light power condensed into a pair of white wings and made Clombton look like an Archangel descended from the Holy Light Plane.

Clombton's expression was calm and resolute, and a wisp of surprise flashed in Lin Yun's eyes.

Holy Light Wings, the trump card of holy light mages, the life threatening spell kept hidden. After releasing that spell, the holy light mage would have to fight until all his power is exhausted or until he got rid of his opponent, that was the only way to dispel this spell.

Once that spell was dispelled, the holy light might be weakened for a very long time, their strength would be weakened to its minimum.

That spell was of the same nature as the Aura igniting of the Heaven Rank warriors, it was used to stake one's life.

Cross and Clombton releasing their life-threatening abilities erased the hesitation the Beastmen had. They ignited their Auras one after another.

They were ready to die, because if they couldn't get rid of that sinister and crazy monster, the entire Raging Flame Plane would perish.

As for the human Heaven Rank Mages, they staked everything in this fight.

This crazy monster was one of the two souls of the Ancient God, they couldn't imagine what she could do. Even if she couldn't use the power of a God, she was terrifyingly powerful.

Dedale controlled his three flaming spheres and his body was slowly covered in flames before it ultimately transformed into a long burning draconic head elemental lifeform.

Slythrin controlled the Endless Sand to rapidly divide until the Endless Sand covered Slythrin and turned him into an earthen yellow monster.

Butler turned into a radiant body, his entire body turned translucent and rays of light curled around him like fairies.

Morgan controlled his Darkness Elemental God and threw a large amount of buffs onto the Darkness Elemental God, making its body expand to seven meters and strands of ink-like power curled around its body.

As for Lin Yun, he roused the power of the Equilibrium Law and a scales' shadow appeared under his body. Lin Yun was like the cursor in the center of the scales. Enderfa controlled the Spell Wheel on one tray, while Syudos controlled the Book of Mantras on the other.

In an instant, the Spell Wheel and the Book of Mantras disappeared, replaced by the huge furnace of the Void Forge furnace and the four-colored radiance of the Elemental Heart.

The scales started tilting, but a huge power was rapidly and forcibly borrowed from the void. The power fell onto the Spell Wheel and made the Ten Thousand Spell Wheel reach the power of an Extraordinary Magic Tool, on par with the Book of Ten Thousand Mantras.

At this time, a several-dozen-meter-big wheel appeared in the air. Enderfa was in the middle of the wheel, his three faces filled with excitement.

"Damn, it's only at this time that I feel like I can display a bit of power, work harder Merlin!"

They all burst with their strongest power, and of the fourteen of them, two were a step away from the 4th Rank. The bursting power they could display when they staked their lives was really terrifying.

The aura emitted by the group's burst power was impressive and Del Rovana couldn't help glancing over there.

Unfortunately, the Raging Flame Emperor wouldn't let go of this opportunity. At this time, Del Rovana was stronger than the Raging Flame Emperor, but it was limited and couldn't suppress him. As long as she scattered a bit of her power, her power wouldn't be able to fully condense back together. To the Raging Flame Emperor, Del Rovana's power would decrease by 30% to 40%.

The enraged pitch-black Demon could only use that boundless abyssal power to condense pitch-black Demons and form a demonic army to deal with the humans and Beastmen.

This little bit of distraction and scattered power allowed the Raging Flame Emperor to equalize the score. As long as he got an opportunity, he would be able to fiercely hit that irascible Demon and her Demon's body would be cut piece by piece. Unfortunately, that body was only condensed and wasn't her main body.

As long as she still had power, Del Rovana would be able to quickly restore her body.

The Raging Flame Emperor and Del Rovana were in a deadlock. And on the other side, the allied forces were facing several dozen hundred-meter-tall pitch-black brainless and crazy Demons with burning eyes.

These pitch-black Demons all had the power of a Demon Overlord but didn't possess wisdom. She was purely using numbers against them, but they were all at the Heaven Rank.

There were still pitch-black Demons coming out of the long river of black smoke one after another, and they were all crazily attacking everyone.

Chapter 1170 Holy Sunligh

Cross was the first to launch his attack. It seemed as if his flaming golden Aura transformed into a tide of flames.

Three hundred-meter-tall pitch-black Demons were directly torn apart and exploded in a burst of black ashes. They even lost the ability to transform back into abyssal power.

The tide of golden flames flowed for a few dozen meters before slowly dissipating. Apart from the initial impact, the remnants of the power were no different from a sea wave meeting a reef, they simply couldn't break through these pitch-black Demons' bodies.

As for the spells and Aura Slashes of the other mages and Beastmen Heaven powerhouses, they were like ordinary flames falling onto a piece of pitch-black Magic Iron, only the sound of metal could be heard as they simply couldn't break through their defenses.

Lin Yun frowned as he looked at these pitch-black Demons, apparently thinking of something. He then used the Andlusa Kingdom's dialect to tell something to Clombton.

"Sir Clombton, can you use a large-scale channelled Holy Sunlight? We don't need to take care of that monster, we only need to chip at the source of Del Rovana's power. This is our only chance."

Clombton was stunned for a moment, the others were also stunned. It was because no one used their dialect when chatting, that kind of language didn't help mages at all.

When discussing, mages would usually use the Common Language of the 3rd Dynasty. This was the most commonly used language when mages used Low Tier Spells or ordinary spells.

Just like the ancient Elves and Dragons' Nesser Language, or the Gods' Divine Language, that Language contained a huge power, and whenever mages discussed magic, they would always use this kind of language. It was because it was the least prone to errors when describing magic. Some of the meaning would be lost when translated into a lesser language.

Clombton froze, before immediately understanding. Lin Yun didn't want the crazy Demon to understand. It was because every powerful magic language would let out faint mana fluctuations. And even if those faint mana fluctuations could be disregarded, it always transmitted the meaning.

As the soul of an Ancient God, that crazy Demon would definitely understand.

Unfortunately for her, the only God who could understand the dialect of the Andlusa Kingdom would be the God of Mind and Soul.

After understanding Lin Yun's meaning, Clombton's brain became extremely active. Although he wasn't too clear about it, he did as Lin Yun said.

Clombton rushed to the front and flapped the pair of wings on his back. It was like a rift was torn into the sky and boundless holy light shone from within. The gentle radiance shone upon those pitch-black Demons' bodies and it was like a powerful acid splashed onto them.

The surface of the Demons' bodies became mottled from the corrosion. It looked like their skins were suffering corrosive burns from the light and exposed the black smoke hiding under.

These Demons could completely disregard this kind of injury, but because they were burnt by the Holy Light, they became even more crazy.

Hundreds of pitch-black Demon Overlords frantically rushed forward, their combined aura seemingly stronger than Del Rovana herself... At least in everyone's eyes.

"Damnit, Mafa Merlin! What have you said to Clombton?! Clombton, have you gone crazy?! You actually attacked all of them at once and made these brainless guys berserk?!"

"That's a few hundred Demon Overlords! Heavens, you are really crazy, you don't care if we die..." Cross let out, terrified.

The others clearly didn't figure out the reason behind it, but Lin Yun was already going all-out.

Enderfa controlled the Spell Wheel. The circles of the several-dozen-meter-big wheel shadow were revolving at different speeds.

The different positions brought out different spells, and a crazy flood of spells started. The surface of the Ten Thousand Spell Wheel was filled with powerful elemental powers.

The berserk elemental powers instantly burst out and transformed into a revolving hundred-meter-thick elemental storm that instantly flew through the army of crazy pitch-black Demon Overlords.

Then, the failure everyone expected didn't happen and the three pitch-black Demons were drawn into the Elemental Storm. These three Demons' bodies instantly shattered like black porcelain.

The storm kept going forward and killed six pitch-black Demon Overlords before its power was exhausted.

On the other side, Syudos controlled the Book of Mantras and a several-dozen-meter-tall flame gates slowly opened. The flood of flames crazily rushed out and ruthlessly impacted the three pitch-black Demon Overlords' bodies.

The flames followed the surface of those pitch-black Demon Overlords and entered their bodies through the corroded holes. It took a few seconds before endless flames spurted out of their bodies and turned them to ashes. The flames then continued forward.

As for Lin Yun, he was holding the Draconic Staff in his right hand and the radiant Book of Death in his left hand as he condensed a three-meter-big Runic Bomb.

The frantically revolving Runic Bomb flew out and pierced a pitch-black Demon's chest just like a drill. Sparks spread everywhere as the pitch-black Demon's chest was like steel meeting a diamond drill bit, it twisted and shattered before a big hole was left behind by the explosion.

There was only a two-meter-big hole on the chest of the pitch-black Demon, but there was a several-dozen-meter-big hole on his back.

The glaring radiance emitted by the revolving bomb pierced two pitch-black Demons in a row, and the pitch-black Demons who had their bodies pierced let out angry roars before their bodies disintegrated like sand.

When the revolving Runic Bomb reached the body of the 3rd Demon, it lost its piercing power and exploded from the impact.

That pitch-black Demon's body instantly disappeared.

A huge sphere full of destructive power rapidly expanded and spread over three hundred meters before suddenly dissipating.

And following the dissipation of this destructive sphere, the three pitch-black Demon within that range instantly disappeared.

In less than three seconds, eighteen pitch-black Demon Overlords disappeared!

Everyone was startled.

Morgan almost forgot that it was a race against time and that he was going all-out. His mouth was wide open and saliva was trickling down.

'Damn, Sir Merlin is really powerful. No, he is inconceivably powerful. He is a lot more powerful than Clombton and that arrogant Gold Beastman.

'Sh*t, those were Demon Overlords, eighteen Demon Overlords. They were instantly killed like a group of chicken ready to be slaughtered. That's terrifying.'

And it wasn't just Morgan, Cross was also terrified, 'Eighteen Demon Overlords in less than three seconds?

'This must be a joke, he couldn't have done that... Let alone eighteen, even eight should be impossible. If eighteen Demon Overlords surrounded him, he would have to pay a disastrous price, tearing them to shreds should be impossible.'

After Lin Yun attacked, he noticed everyone being frozen.

This made him frown and he hurriedly shouted, "if you keep on wasting time, the opportunity won't be there anymore!"

Cross quickly reacted at those words and promptly slashed down at those pitch-black Demon Overlords.

But this attack felt completely different from his last attack. This ignited Aura Slash tore over twenty pitch-black Demon Overlords to pieces. Some of them were unable to dissipate into smoke and thoroughly turned to ashes.

At this time, everyone seemed to understand what was going on and they all attacked together. The large number of spells mixed together into a chaotic spell storm that swept through the Demon Overlords at the forefront.

As for the Beastmen's Aura Slashes, it was like countless swords were raining down on the pitch-black Demons and ripped through the areas hit by the storm and tore all Demons to pieces.

Understanding flashed on Clombton's face, as well as a wisp of excitement.

He finally understood why Lin Yun made him release a large-scale Holy Sunlight.

Holy Sunlight was most suitable when it came to facing a large number of low level Undeads.

Holy Sunlight was only an illumination spell that contained holy power, it didn't have any effect on an ordinary person.

Even high level Undeads would only be slightly weakened by the radiance of Holy Sunlight and their defenses would become slightly weaker.

But the effect wasn't that powerful. When this spell was used to deal with low level Undeads, the bones of the Undeads illuminated by the Holy Light would become brittle.

Simply put, even Level 1 Undeads couldn't be killed by the Holy Sunlight, but it would alter the Undeads' defense to the point where an ordinary farmer could break through their hard bodies.

Holy Sunlight's defense weakening was the strongest against some undead elemental lifeforms.

As for the army of pitch-black Demon with the power of Demon Overlords, weren't they a group of elemental lifeforms condensed from pure abyssal power?

Moreover, their strongest defense was the metallic-like skin on the surface of their bodies. Attacks of 1st Rank Heaven powerhouses couldn't break through their skins, and they had the power of Demon Overlords, so if a few of them surrounded a Heaven powerhouse, they would easily tear him to shreds.

Unfortunately, their bodies had gone through the Low Tier Holy Sunlight. It was a confrontation of evil against holy.

Clombton's holy spell could barely tear through their skins, but that was more than enough.

It looked like it wasn't a big injury, but these Demons' skins were brittle against the Heaven powerhouses' power.

As long as they used Extraordinary Power, they could easily pierce through their skins.

With Clombton taking the lead with his Holy Sunlight, Cross charged at the forefront and tore a hole through the army of Demons and led the Heaven powerhouses forward.

Following the path shown by the Holy Sunlight, they didn't kill their way towards Del Rovana, they instead killed their way towards the place where the pitch-black smoke was surging out of the void.

That black smoke was forming a longer river from which the pitch-black Demons were surging out. Unfortunately, they could no longer stop them.

After less than half a minute, everyone already crossed half of the path, they weren't far from the source.

Del Rovana suddenly reacted. The humans and Beastmen Heaven Rank powerhouses weren't targeting her.

She wouldn't have cared if she had been the target. With her power rivalling the Raging Flame Emperor, the Raging Flame Emperor wouldn't be able to kill her. How could these inferior Heaven Rank powerhouses injure her?

Del Rovana only spared a bit of energy because her prestige had been provoked by insects and she intended to casually crush them.

But now, she clearly understood that they wanted to sever the source of her power.

After the Raging Flame Emperor cut off Del Rovana's body several times, he clearly understood that unless the source of her power was severed, defeating Del Rovana would be impossible. Unfortunately, he was entangled with her and couldn't go attack her source of power.

The enraged Del Rovana turned around in order to personally kill the dozen Heaven Rank powerhouses, regardless of the presence of the Raging Flame Emperor.

The berserk pressure felt like the entire world was pressuring them. They were a dozen kilometers away, but everyone was instantly suppressed.

Everyone felt like they were carrying a world on their back. Their souls felt as if they were grabbed by the neck and just a bit more strength was needed to crush it and shatter them.

Clombton's Holy Sunlight was forcibly interrupted. No longer being weakened by the Holy Sunlight, those pitch-black Demons with corroded skin recovered within a couple seconds.

They transformed from brittle brainless Demon Overlords, to just brainless Demon Overlords.

That instant clearly decided their life and death.

Del Rovana stepped through the void, only needing one step to cross over a kilometer in a few seconds. She was about to personally crush that group of Heaven Rank powerhouses like ants.

After a second, a similar terrifying power that looked like a huge greatsword cut through the world and cut through Del Rovana's pressure.

The golden red radiance fell as the Raging Flame Emperor appeared before Del Rovana.

"You are too arrogant Del Rovana, I'm your opponent."

The Raging Flame Emperor was holding his greatsword, and on the opposite side, golden radiance slowly dissipated from Del Rovana's head. Her head had been cut in two by the Raging Flame Emperor and tiny pitch-black tentacles extended out of her wound to rapidly merge the two halves back together.

And for this small amount of time, Del Rovana was thoroughly blocked by the Raging Flame Emperor. In a clash of this level, a distraction couldn't be tolerated.

Even if Del Rovana was stronger!

After being blocked, Del Rovana went thoroughly insane and crazily charged at the Raging Flame Emperor. At the same time, a layer of flames started burning on the greatsword in the Raging Flame Emperor's hands. This was the strongest burst power of the Raging Flame Emperor, this showed that he was staking everything in this clash.

By abandoning the battle of endurance and bursting with all of his power within a short time, even the crazy Del Rovana couldn't break through the Raging Flame Emperor's defenses.

The golden red radiance and the pitch-black power frantically collided. The both of them raged within the void, but it was clear that none of them would be able to do anything in the short term.

But on another side, the Heaven Rank powerhouses that had lost Del Rovana's pressure could fight once again. Clombton immediately released his Holy Sunlight.

Those brainless beast-like pitch-black Demon Overlords frantically roared, their skin shining with metallic luster darkened once again and becoming mottled again.

Cross swung his greatsword and tore apart the Demon Overlords at the forefront.

The fourteen Heaven powerhouses kept bursting with all their strength, forming an irresistible flood of power that sailed towards the black smoke long river.

After twenty seconds, everyone reached the end of the black smoke river. This was the source of the river and the start of the void.

The power of these fourteen Heaven Rank powerhouses fully burst against the void!

Cross swung his flaming golden greatsword. This was his strongest attack. The burning Aura Slash burst with the strongest energy he could muster.

The other Beastmen did just like Cross, their entire bodies burst out with Aura and launched the strongest blow of their entire lives.

Blood-colored Aura, black Aura, scarlet Aura, golden Aura...

All the Auras converged onto that void.

The powerful attack made the space distort and the long river of black smoke started fluctuating. From a distance, it looked like a huge black python continuously distorting.

As for the humans, Morgan clenched his teeth and kept buffing his Darkness Elemental God before ultimately using Berserk to make the Darkness Elemental God's become berserk and unstable.

The Darkness Elemental God transformed into a shadow that drilled into the void and exploded.

Dedale chanted a few simple words and then his incarnation of a Dragon's head opened his mouth and a one-meter-big fireball appeared.

As the fireball appeared, the surrounding space was twisted by the terrifying heat and the fireball was thrown into the void.

Butler chanted an incantation and a luminous silhouette appeared on his body. He then recovered to normal, but his mana was greatly weakened.

The radiant silhouette transformed into a light that rushed into the long river of black smoke within the void and transformed into a ravaging blossoming light.

As for Slythrin, he seemed to hesitate, before the sand covering his body rapidly dissipated and boundless grains of sands appeared within his hand as he threw half of the Endless Sand in that void. A moment later, the power of the Endless Sand activated uncontrollably.

Waves of Endless Sand expanded and burst out there. It was as if a piece of dry land appeared out of nowhere and the chaotic power merged with the void.

As for Lin Yun, he used the power of the Equilibrium Law to its limits while Enderfa controlled the Spell Wheel to throw out endless runes and Syodos released flames from the Book of Mantras to fuse with those runes.

With the power of the Equilibrium Law, these formidable powers seemed to reach a perfect balance and simply couldn't collapse.