

Magic Era 1411

Chapter 1411: Impersonation

Lin Yun glanced at the serpent, which, being dozens of meters thick, was like a baby in the Dynson Clan. However, the fact that it had grown so big suggested that it might carry the Dynson Clan's bloodline.

As far as Lin Yun remembered, the survivors of the Dynson Clan were all in the Plane of the Undead, which was the only ultimate plane that was big enough to allow them to stretch their bodies.

The Dynson Clan was known by mages as the Golden Crown Snakes. The Dynson was a more respectful title for them. Whoever called them Golden Crown Snakes in their face would be committing suicide.

Calling them Golden Crown Snakes was treating them as beasts. The Dynson Clan was their name as an intelligent race.

The way that Geoconie addressed the Dynson Clan suggested that Jophany respected them. He certainly had to. If the black serpent carried the Dynson Clan's bloodline, Jophany certainly wouldn't use their demeaning name unless he was stupid.

Thinking about that, Lin Yun remembered Rikk, the Golden Crown Snake he had met earlier. The guy had informed him of his name, and in doing so acknowledged him as a friend. He wondered how Rikk was doing in the Plane of the Undead.

Even the King of the Undead didn't dare to mess up with such an ancient race. The undead creatures' strategy didn't work on the Golden Crown Snakes at all. They could easily kill tens of millions of undead creatures just by rolling around. If they were cornered, they could even destroy an entire plane.

A plane was actually just a nest for the Golden Crown Snakes. They were born as void beasts, and somehow grew fond of resting in planes, treating them as nests. However, because they benefited planes, and they weren't really ferocious, nobody really wanted to kick them out. Of course, the main reason was that few people were capable of kicking them away.

While Lin Yun considered the matter, the bone car had already landed outside the castle. An old vampire, who looked nobler than a human noble, stood in front of the gate, and looked at Geoconie with a smile.

"Master Geoconie, the ancestor is waiting for you."

The old vampire didn't seem too surprised when he saw Lin Yun, and he kept smiling, but his eyes shivered uncontrollably when he saw the bloody scythe of death on Lin Yun's back.

It was quite remarkable that the level-45 old vampire remained calm in the presence of a scythe of death that was made by sacrificing a vampire ancestor.

The scythe of death was befitting even of a level-49 skeleton king. Also, it naturally suppressed vampires. It wouldn't be surprising if this vampire was killed by one slash...

Geoconie was quite excited. He carefully glanced at Lin Yun, and put on a cold smile. He led Lin Yun into the castle. Lin Yun was even more casual. He only wished that those vampires would do something.

There was definitely a trap here. However, only four of the 13 vampire ancestors were still alive and in the Plane of the Undead. Two of them couldn't possibly be here. They were either asleep or occupied with other matters.

The only vampire ancestors Lin Yun could see in the Plane of the Undead were Jophany and another one who was also level-47. Lin Yun might have hesitated to fight them before his advancement and before he acquired the bloody scythe of death, but he was fearless at this moment.

Even if he couldn't kill the vampire ancestors, they would still be half dead.

There was none of the tension he expected in the castle. All sorts of vampires came out to greet him. They looked like old human nobles. A level-47 vampire who wore a tuxedo stood in the center. Had it not been for his pale face and his bloody aura, nobody would've recognized him as a vampire.

"Welcome to visit my humble abode, Sir Buddy. It's lucky for my child to follow you..."

Jophany was wearing a warm smile, not caring whether Lin Yun could see it at all as a skeleton king...

Lin Yun didn't know what to do. If the guy had declared war on him, then it would've been simpler. However, the guy treated him warmly as a host. He couldn't find anything wrong with his manners. What more could he ask?

Lin Yun mused, and didn't burst into fury immediately. He wasn't here to kill Jophany, anyway, but to capture him alive. It would be better to ask Jophany to cooperate. After all, even if he caught Jophany, he would have to confine him to a place that had fixed coordinates and a fixed gate. Jophany couldn't be used as a landmark unless he laid his hand on the gate.

If he were to capture Jophany using violence, it was possible that the guy might flee with his other abilities after he entered the Kingdom of Nightmares. If Jophany did escape, then he would never be able to leave the Kingdom of Nightmares...

Remembering what he speculated earlier, Lin Yun abandoned the idea of capturing Jophany forcefully.

"Sir Jophany, I've come to you at the request of His Majesty Fogus. I'm going to enter the Kingdom of Nightmares."

Jophany was shocked at what he heard. He glanced at Geoconie, only to find that his son was just as confused as he was.

Jophany didn't dare to be reckless now that the King of the Undead was mentioned. He thought that the guy was a troublemaker, but seeing that Geoconie was at a loss, he put on a gloomy expression.

Exactly at this moment, waves spread out in the space, and Heaven Rank vampires and dark beasts emerged and surrounded this place. Arcane spells were echoing continuously. At the gate, a black serpent dozens of meters thick craned its head and stared at Lin Yun.

Lin Yun looked around, and showed no reaction. Jophany, however, panicked. Seeing how confused Geoconie was, he kicked him away.

Damn it, what an idiot. He said that it's a lone, exiled skeleton king. Why hasn't his stupidity killed him yet?

That bloody scythe of death is clearly two levels higher than the skeleton king, yet it acknowledges him as a master. Does he really look like a skeleton king who has been exiled after losing a battle?

He must be King Fogus' guardian. Nobody except King Fogus could've let the weird scythe of death acknowledge a level-47 skeleton king as a master.

Geoconie is so stupid. I almost made a horrible mistake because of him. If I killed King Fogus' guardian, all vampires would be torn to shreds by him.

Jophany's eyes were shivering. He was so frightened that he couldn't even control his power. He kicked Geoconie so brutally that Geoconie hit the castle wall, and had more than 20 broken bones. He almost died.

After kicking Geoconie away in fury, Jophany hurriedly waved at the ambushers, and asked them to back off.

Although his subordinates who were ambushing didn't understand what was going on, they obediently backed off. Looking at the skeleton king, who seemed to have trouble figuring out the situation, he was greatly relieved.

I'm really lucky. I bet he's never been surrounded like that before. He didn't realize it was a trap. He must be King Fogus' favorite guardian. It's said that King Fogus loves skeleton kings the most. That seems true. It's possible that this slim guy is a new-generation skeleton king that King Fogus raised. He's so slim, yet he's already level-47. It's possible that he's not even 1,000 years old yet.

If King Fogus has personally trained him, then he must be very strong...

After Jophany was relieved, Lin Yun suddenly turned around, and walked to the black serpent behind him. The black serpent didn't follow Jophany's order, and continued staring at him.

Lin Yun rose to the ceiling, and stopped in front of the black serpent, sending out soul waves...

"Are you Rikk's descendant? Do you know where he is? I haven't seen him in a long time since he came to the Plane of the Undead..."

After Lin Yun's casual soul wave remark spread out, the black serpent's expression changed. His cold eyes became gentle. He even lowered his head a little bit obediently.

"I didn't know you were Sir Rikk's friend. Forgive me for my impudence. I don't know where Sir Rikk is right now. I'm not qualified to go to the Golden Ocean..." the black serpent replied to Lin Yun respectfully with his head lowered. He didn't suspect Lin Yun at all.

There were very few members of the Dynson Clan that carried pure bloodlines. It was great news that Rikk returned to the Plane of the Undead. The other guys who carried the Dynson Clan's bloodline benefited a lot from his return too.

Because of the bloodline suppression, even a level-48 bloodline descendant had to behave obediently in front of Rikk...

It was big news that Rikk returned to the Dynson Clan, but his name was never spread out. Even inside the Dynson Clan, only the members who were familiar with Rikk knew his full name. Except for the Dynson Clan and their offspring, no outsiders possibly knew his name.

Chapter 1412: Trickery

Lin Yun's one short sentence had subdued the black serpent, who lay on the ground obediently as if he had met a senior.

Jophany became even paler. He looked at Geoconie, who had just relocated his broken bones, and was waiting for them to recover, with flames bursting out of his eyes.

What an idiot. Why didn't I kill this stupid son? This skeleton king has definitely been trained by King Fogus himself. He's even very close to the Dynson Clan. We're screwed. We're all going to get killed because of Geoconie...

Geoconie was still at a loss. He had been kicked away by his father the moment Lin Yun mentioned the King of the Undead. He had more than 20 broken bones, and was nearly killed by his father. Just as he rose back to his feet, his father appeared in front of him before he could say anything, and dragged him into the castle as if he were prey.

While Lin Yun and the black serpent were catching up, Jophany took Geoconie into a secret chamber in the castle, and stared at him gloomily.

"Tell me everything that has happened exactly as it is, idiot. If you want to get killed, that's fine, but don't involve me or our clan!"

After saying that, Jophany couldn't hold back any longer. He quickly broke Geoconie's bones that had just recovered.

Geoconie opened his mouth and screamed. He did not dare to argue. He could only scream.

When his screams were mostly over, Jophany finally slapped Geoconie in the face, breaking one of his fangs.

"Idiot, spill it out!"

Geoconie fell on the ground like a dead dog, with question marks all over his head. He didn't know why his father beat him up instead of the stranger, even though he had delivered a message despite all the trouble.

However, seeing the fury in Jophany's eyes, Geoconie didn't dare to ask any longer. He obediently and truthfully explained what happened.

He told his father how he found Lin Yun, how Lin Yun annihilated his army easily, and how Lin Yun forced him to lead him here...

As he talked, Geoconie saw that real bloody flames were erupting from Jophany's eyes. The flames quickly enshrouded Geoconie. Although they didn't cause any physical damage, Geoconie seemed to be enduring excruciating pain. His eyes were almost popping out.

Jophany glared at Geoconie, who was screaming. He turned around and closed the gate.

“Idiot, for the disaster that you almost caused, you’ll be burnt in flames for 500 years!”

Jophany walked out, and saw that Lin Yun and the black serpent were still talking.

Lin Yun took out a tiny bit of the Golden Crown and the heart blood that Rikk offered. Rikk had only given him one drop of blood, but that was according to Rikk’s standard. He had developed the plant he needed, and the rest of the blood was no longer useful. He could give some of it to the black serpent to prove his identity.

According to Lin Yun’s standard, he was giving away 10 drops of heart blood, which was negligible compared to what he got before. However, feeling the aura in the heart blood, the black serpent was so excited that his scales were standing.

He knew that the heart blood belonged to a pure-blood member of the Dynson Clan. It could’ve only been given away voluntarily, and couldn’t have been stolen. The heart blood that was robbed didn’t carry such a powerful aura of blood. For black serpents, it was 10,000 times more valuable than a level-49 soul fire.

The black serpent lay on the ground, and opened his mouth, accepting Lin Yun’s gift respectfully. He swallowed the heart blood, which was a catalyst that could help him strengthen his bloodline. Without the catalyst, it would be useless no matter how hard he tried.

The heart blood and the tiny bit of Golden Crow was enough for the black serpent to rise by one level. For the descendants of the Dynson Clan, the bloodline was everything, and the level was just for reverence.

This black serpent was level-47, and when he met Rikk, the latter was only level-46, but in a real battle, the black serpent would’ve been killed by Rikk easily.

The scene that Jophany saw after he came out made his expression even more awful. As the black serpent’s friend, he certainly knew the Dynson Clan very well. After seeing the heart blood and the Golden Crown, he realized that Lin Yun was even closer to the Dynson Clan than Jophany was to the black serpent...

Having received the gift from Lin Yun, the black serpent lay down obediently, and waited like a lackey. When he looked at Jophany, he sent a lot of information.

Receiving all the information, Jophany almost couldn’t stop himself from turning around and killing Geoconie.

His old friend, whom he had known for thousands of years, just warned him that he shouldn’t have any inappropriate thoughts...

“Sir Buddy, are you here because King Fogus needs me?” Jophany asked obediently. He knew how insensitive undead creatures were about the passage of time. They had all the time in the world anyway. Why the rush?

Lin Yun turned around. Seeing how cautious Jophany was, he realized that he had already tricked Jophany. That old guy had existed countless years. Although he had spent most of his time in the Plane of the Undead, he certainly should be shrewd and experienced.

Besides the bloody scythe of death that was far beyond his level, Lin Yun also proved his identity by taking out Rikk's heart blood. Jophany did not suspect him at all.

Nobody except the King of the Undead was capable of doing that, so Lin Yun had to be the King of the Undead's most trusted skeleton king...

Both Jophany and the black serpent treated him with utmost respect...

Even if someone came to Lin Yun for trouble at this moment, the two of them would surely go out and defend him.

Lin Yun smiled inwardly. Things had been going pretty well. He had come up with the plan the moment he saw the black serpent. He pretended to be a senior, and offered some of Rikk's blood casually, so Jophany would certainly be convinced whomever Lin Yun claimed himself to be...

"Sir Jophany, you must know that the Plane of the Undead has recently collided with a plane. King Fogus has fixed his eyes upon that plane. So, we must ensure that the Plane of the Undead swallows it.

"You were asked to set up a trap and lure the powerful human beings into the Kingdom of Nightmares. However, something happened. One of them is so strong that King Fogus doesn't think the trap is good enough. We must enter the Kingdom of Nightmares to ensure our victory.

"Also, seven brave vampire ancestors never returned from the Kingdom of Nightmares. The only one who came back died. King Fogus wants to know what happened, so he sent me to the Kingdom of Nightmares."

Lin Yun's story actually had a lot of loopholes. The greatest one was that something unexpected had to have happened because none of the seven vampire ancestors returned from the Kingdom of Nightmares.

Vampire ancestors were the only creatures that could freely access the Kingdom of Nightmares. Any of the vampire ancestors there had a higher level than Lin Yun's.

Would the King of the Undead send a level-47 skeleton king there under such circumstances?

What a joke.

But Jophany had already dropped all his suspicions. He didn't dare to question the King of the Undead's decision. It never occurred to him that Lin Yun was going to rescue the human beings.

Undead creatures and human beings were different. Human beings might defect, but undead creatures would never do that. They simply would never do that.

Jophany didn't suspect Lin Yun. There was worry on his face.

There was a connection among vampire ancestors. He had detected the passing of two vampire ancestors in the last year. He immediately believed what Lin Yun said.

He could tell that the other seven vampire ancestors hadn't died yet, but they weren't in their best shape. Also, the connection wasn't as clear as before. It all happened not a long time earlier.

Everything matched what Lin Yun said. His brother had told him earlier that they were summoned by the King of the Undead for a mission. He didn't know the details of the mission.

Now that Lin Yun brought it up, Jophany couldn't help but feel worried.

"Sir Buddy, let me go there. I've been to the Kingdom of Nightmares before. I think I should be safe as long as I stay in the periphery..."

All the seven vampire ancestors were stronger than him, but none had returned from the Kingdom of Nightmares yet, which meant that they didn't just stay in the periphery of the Kingdom of Nightmares.

After the King of Nightmares died, his kingdom went out of control, and the laws became chaotic. His laws became the laws of that world. Nobody could change the laws, unless they were as strong as the King of Nightmares, and had a deep understanding of his laws...

Lin Yun glanced at Jophany. If he had been a real skeleton king, he would've asked Jophany to explore for him. Unfortunately, he was here to rescue Agalon and the others, and Jophany could only be used as a landmark.

If Jophany was lost in the Kingdom of Nightmares, then he would be screwed. One more landmark would be trapped there. It wouldn't be so easy to find another vampire ancestor that could be tricked so easily...

Chapter 1413: Mythical Creatures

"Sir Jophany, King Fogus has had everything planned out. There's a whole plan. I can escape from the Kingdom of Nightmares even if I'm not a vampire ancestor.

"However, I'm going to need your help, Sir Jophany..."

Lin Yun was wondering how he could trick Jophany when Jophany already nodded, and accepted the arrangement. He tested the guy a few times cautiously, and finally confirmed that the guy had been so fooled that he'd believe anything Lin Yun said...

Of course, he had to believe what Lin Yun said.

Besides the blood of the Dynson Clan and the scythe of death, Lin Yun also had the way to enter and leave the Kingdom of Nightmares that wasn't just for vampire ancestors to use.

Who else could've done that except the King of the Undead, who was omnipotent to most undead creatures and dark creatures in the Plane of the Undead?

At this moment, unless the King of the Undead jumped out and denied it in person, nobody could convince Jophany that Lin Yun was fake.

Everything went on well. The exit was in the most heavily guarded chamber in Jophany's castle. Lin Yun took out a gate that he had prepared in advance, and embedded it into the wall. The gate was made in undead style, and nobody suspected it...

The gate looked like one made of countless undead creatures reduced in size. It was enshrouded in an unbelievably pure and abundant aura of death. There were also countless confusing runes and engravings on it.

On the surface of the gate that was five meters tall and three meters wide, there was a skeleton whose arms were crossed in front of its chest, and whose mouth was wide open. There was even a shivering soul fire in its skull.

The intensity of the shivering suggested that he had certainly encountered something horrifying. He had been caught in a nightmare...

Jophany was scared the moment he saw the weird gate. He didn't dare to get too close to the gate at all, as if something horrifying was waiting for him on the other side of the gate.

Lin Yun was quite lost for words about the gate he made. After all, it didn't seem appropriate if he made a gate that wasn't in the style of the Plane of the Undead.

He knew a dozen methods to enter the Kingdom of Nightmares, and three of them involved the Plane of the Undead. This was the only one that could let him get into the place and come back.

He put an undead creature into a nightmare with a spell, and then linked it to the Kingdom of Nightmares with the power of nightmares. If he opened the gate, he would simply enter the Kingdom of Nightmares.

But it wasn't so easy to get out. This undead creature would be gone after being used for once. To come out, he would need something more powerful as coordinates.

If he only visited the periphery of the Kingdom of Nightmares, he could just make use of an undead creature who had bad dreams. However, Agalon and the others certainly wouldn't be just in the periphery.

So, the vampire ancestor was needed as coordinates to make sure that he could escape no matter how deep he was.

Standing at the gate, Lin Yun looked back at Jophany, who seemed scared.

"Sir Jophany, when you see that the gate change, lay your hand on it. Then, I'll be able to open it from the other side."

After that, Lin Yun opened the gate.

The gate had been embedded into the wall like a painting. Behind it was the solid wall. However, when Lin Yun opened the gate, he saw mist behind it. There was no land. He couldn't see anything. It looked like a void that was enshrouded in the mist.

Lin Yun stepped into the mist, and disappeared. The bone gate quickly closed, as if everything were just an illusion.

Jophany obediently waited in front of the bone gate. He commanded his army to surround the castle and protect it. Even the black serpent had crawled out and coiled around the castle, defending it.

On the other side, after Lin Yun stepped into the mist, he couldn't hear anything, and there was no solid ground underneath his feet. There was no air around him, either. He simply floated in the mist. Direction didn't mean anything to him.

After a long time, the mist around him finally faded away, and he felt the land underneath his feet. Chirps of birds and insects could be heard too. Some beasts were even roaring in the distance.

When the sounds came, it felt as if a real world had appeared from the boundless void.

He vividly felt the wet mud and grass underneath his feet. After the mist dispersed, Lin Yun was finally able to see the environment clearly.

The gravity here was at least three times that of Noscent, but the trees here were even taller than those in Noscent.

Every tree was over 100 meters tall. Some were even 500 meters tall and dozens of meters thick. Even the grass on the ground was taller than Lin Yun.

Lin Yun remained in the form of the skeleton king, and found his way through the exuberant grasses. After he advanced only 10 meters, a man-eating flower pushed the grass aside, and charged at him. Its mouth that was full of sharp teeth and sticky fluids bit at Lin Yun brutally, as if it was going to swallow him.

Lin Yun waved the scythe of death, covering it with abundant power of death. A gray crescent aura flew out, and cut the flower apart. The slashed flower was quickly corrupted by the power of death. In only one second, it had lost all its colors and turned gray. Then, it exploded and turned into ashes.

Lin Yun observed the environment and frowned. He examined the laws, and found that they were slightly different from the normal ones, but the difference wasn't too big. The laws here seemed more powerful and clearer.

He slowly rose from the ground to the altitude of a kilometer. He looked back at the ground, and saw a forest of tall trees. There was also a mountain that stabbed into the sky. It was more than ten kilometers tall, and part of its top was hidden in the clouds.

A couple of kilometers away, the trees were shivering. There seemed to be some sort of behemoths fighting in the woods.

Lin Yun concealed his aura, and flew to the battlefield. He was completely shocked when he arrived.

On the ground in the forest, there was a beast that had two heads and looked like a lion and another beast that carried an enormous shell which had three hollow pillars. It also had two pointy horns.

Both of the beasts were 100 meters long and dozens of meters tall. They were fighting exactly the same as Lin Yun remembered.

The beast, which had two lion heads and a stone body, was quite agile. It jumped continuously among the trees. The trees were extremely sturdy. When they were hit by such a formidable beast, they only shivered, and didn't collapse.

On the back of the other beast which seemed to be carrying a turtle shield, the three hollow pillars were erupting with ice balls, which hit the surface of a tree that was at least 30 meters thick. Immediately, the terrifying power of ice spread out, and froze the tree that was 800 meters tall in only three seconds.

The two-headed stone lion was so agile that the other beast couldn't hit it at all, but the two-headed stone lion couldn't break the turtle shell with its claws, either.

After fighting for an hour, the two-headed stone lion seemed to be out of patience, and stopped dodging. It rushed to the other beast, and roared with both mouths, launching visible blasts to the shell beast's head. The shell beast was instantly stunned.

The two-headed stone lion seized the opportunity to cut apart one of the three hollow pillars on its back. It was the one that had been launching ice balls.

Unfortunately, after the two-headed stone lion cut apart one of the pillars, another pillar suddenly erupted with a stream of plasma that hit one of the lion's heads. Dazzling lightning enshrouded the head, and didn't disperse at all. It simply tied up one of the lion's heads.

A painful roar echoed in the forest. The shell beast raised its head, and bit one of the lion's legs. On its back, the last hollow pillar erupted light towards the sky.

Three seconds later, a pillar of light that was full of the power of lightning and ice fell from the sky, and hit the other head of the lion.

Immediately, the battle came to an end.

The shell beast walked forward unhurriedly, and bit off the lion's head that was still covered in dazzling lightning. A few seconds later, it ate the other head that had been frozen.

Having lost both heads, the necks of the lion erupted with blood like geysers, and the heavy stench of blood spread in the woods.

After the shell beast ate half of the stone lion's body, roars echoed in the forest, as if some other beasts were approaching. Even the ground seemed to be shivering.

The shell beast decisively abandoned the remaining half of the prey, and escaped. On its back, the hollow pillar that was cut apart had half recovered.

Lin Yun watched in silence. He activated the Chapter of the Dead, and reverted to human form.

After he turned back into a human being, his visuals of an undead creature were gone, but he was able to catch more information, including the smell of blood and the aura of ancient magic power.

He landed, and collected some of the materials from the two-headed stone lion with tools.. Then, he quickly soared, and hid on the top of a tree.

Chapter 1414: Unexpected Destruction

In no more than 10 minutes, a lot of beasts, which were a dozen meters tall and looked like monkeys except for the grass on their back, ran out of the woods. It took them only three minutes to tear apart and swallow the two-headed stone lion's remains.

Then, another beast that looked like an Earth Dragon emerged from the woods. It was more than 100 meters tall, and swallowed one of the strange monkeys. After five of the monkeys were swallowed, the rest of the monkeys all shrieked and escaped. The behemoth then followed them.

Because of the stench of blood, the entire forest seemed enlivened. Countless beasts were fighting and mauling each other. Then, all of a sudden, they seemed to have detected something terrifying, and all fled into the distance.

A swarm of strange birds, which had three heads and a wingspan of more than 30 meters, shrieked, and flew out of the trees. 1,000 of them flew out of the forest, and escaped like a black cloud.

Even more creatures that Lin Yun hadn't detected yet seemed to come to life. A tree that was more than 800 meters tall suddenly turned into an enormous treant, and it slowly fled with all the beasts.

Lin Yun also detected a terrifying aura that was getting closer and closer, but he didn't see anything in a radius of 30 kilometers, at least not anything that carried that sort of terrifying aura.

Suddenly, Lin Yun raised his head. The sky became dark all of a sudden. An enormous shadow appeared in the sky, and covered a wider and wider range. It was shockingly fast.

Lin Yun was quite appalled. Without thinking, he unfolded his Fusion Shield. Crystal Scale, a level-8 spell that had been copied on the Sage Chapter, was cast by him too.

A crystal scale that was only half a meter tall appeared above Lin Yun's head, and enshrouded Lin Yun in its dazzling brilliance.

In the next second, the shadow in the sky fell five kilometers away. It turned out to be an enormous hoof that was at least a kilometer in diameter. Looking up from the hoof, there was a thick leg that rose from the ground to the clouds like a pillar.

Lin Yun only had the time for one quick glance. Then, he didn't have a chance anymore. When the hoof fell on the ground, a terrifying blast spread out like an explosion.

The trees that weren't really damaged in the battles of level-40 beasts were instantly torn into countless pieces in the terrifying blast like vulnerable, rotten stakes.

Observing from the distance, it seemed that a terrifying sandstorm had arisen on the flat land. It quickly rose a kilometer in height, and spread out crazily as if it was going to destroy everything.

The flying beasts that didn't have enough time to escape disappeared after they were caught in the sandstorm. Miserable screams came to an end one after another.

The behemoths on the ground also disappeared after they were caught in the sandstorm...

Seeing how easily the trees were torn into pieces, Lin Yun knew that the seemingly horrifying beasts had all been instantly killed...

He knew that he didn't have a chance to escape. The blast was too fast for him to dodge. He could only try his best to weather it.

The blast spread out like a sandstorm. Countless hard pieces were rolling in the sandstorm, which looked like a gigantic mincer. Anything that was caught in it would be torn apart.

The crystal scale was a level-8 spell. Supposedly, its protection wouldn't disappear as long as it wasn't completely tipped to one side.

After being enhanced by the Sage Chapter, it advanced to a level-10 spell, and the protection it provided at the same cost of mana was much more incredible than before.

As long as Lin Yun provided enough mana, the protection of the crystal scale would never be ripped apart.

Lin Yun's mana dispersed like flowing water. He took out the mana water he had prepared in advance. Having no time to drink it, he simply poured it on the crystal scale.

The left side of the scale represented defense, and the right side represented the blast it was enduring. The right side of the scale was falling. As the mana water filled in, it gradually regained balance.

After three bottles of mana water were consumed in three minutes, the terrifying blast finally ebbed.

The most terrifying sandstorm seemed to have broken out. He couldn't see anything three meters away. Also, the pure outburst of power had disrupted all the detection spells. He couldn't even send out his mana. He could only wait...

Gradually, the sandstorm blast vanished, and the mana and air, which had been pushed away, gradually collapsed to the center of the explosion.

Colorful light appeared like chaotic auroras, and flew towards the center from all directions.

Several kilometers away, the exuberant forest was gone, replaced by an enormous hoof mark that was dozens of meters deep. It was an utter mess within a dozen kilometers of the hoof. All the trees had been destroyed, leaving only the pieces of the trees and dead bodies on the ground...

The hoof that had just fallen from the sky disappeared. There was no telling where it went.

Lin Yun watched everything in silence with glittering eyes. He had confirmed his finding.

This was Noscent in the age of gods. The two fighting beasts he saw at first, the swarm of flying beasts that appeared later, and all the creatures that ran for their life in the end were unique creatures during the age of gods.

More importantly, the enormous hoof that fell from the sky was as powerful as a massive level-9 spell just by hitting the ground. It was even one of the most powerful level-9 spells. Even if someone in the peak of the Heaven Rank had stood in the center, they would've been killed...

Gods...

Only gods had such great power and such an enormous body.

The bloody hoof was one of the characteristics of the Lord of War, who looked like a tall and terrifying minotaur. In the age of gods, all minotaurs followed the Lord of War's command. The minotaur berserkers received their ability from the Lord of War.

The Lord of War was a war maniac, and often fought other gods even when there was no war. He died when the war of gods was in the most heated phase. He wasn't killed when his body was cut into six pieces, but continued fighting with his broken body until his body was completely torn apart, and each of the pieces was banished to a different place so that he was completely killed.

After seeing the thigh, Lin Yun began to consider whether it was true or just an illusion...

This Noscent in the age of gods had to be fake. He had already entered the Kingdom of Nightmares. Everything he met here was fake. It was just a terrible dream.

But whoever regarded this place as a dreamland would die quickly. In the Kingdom of Nightmares, the King of Nightmares made the rules. Fake dreams were the reality in this place.

Anyone who died here would be truly dead...

Looking at the boundless tall forest ahead of him from the sky, Lin Yun heaved a sigh.

He was just at the edge of the King of Nightmares. All the dreamlands here belonged to the King of Nightmares, and were founded on his laws.

This forest covered thousands of kilometers. If the periphery of the Kingdom of Nightmares was already as big as Noscent in the age of gods, then it would be a problem. It would take him a lot of time to find a path inside. He didn't know if time flowed at the normal speed in this place...

After the hoof's falling, the forest became surprisingly quiet. All creatures had run away. They wouldn't stop even if they had left the area. They would go as far away as possible.

Seeing this, Lin Yun realized why vampire ancestors were reluctant to come to the Kingdom of Nightmares even though they were capable of visiting it.

He had thought that vampire ancestors could've established their nests at the periphery of the Kingdom of Nightmares. If they were caught in a crisis, they could just hide and sleep here. No enemies could possibly track them down and kill them.

But he realized that the odds of being killed uncannily while sleeping here were too high. Even though vampire ancestors were soulless and sturdy, and had various lifesaving abilities, they would've been killed easily if the hoof had stomped on them.

If they built a castle here, and had a nice sleep in it, they might get killed before they could realize it when the hoof fell from the sky.

Flying in midair, Lin Yun concealed all his aura and traces. He examined all directions, and flew to the place which contained more powerful auras.

In three hours, he had flown across more than 5,000 kilometers, yet he was still in the forest. When he observed it with Eagle Eyes from the sky, he found that the forest stretched at least another 5,000 kilometers on the horizon..

Chapter 1415: Leopard Tail Worm

While Lin Yun was trying to tell the direction, a dangerous aura fell from the sky. The thick clouds seemed to be exploding, and an enormous furry tail that was more than 700 meters long fell.

The tail was so fast that there was no effect on the clouds at all. It was not until the tail almost hit Lin Yun's head that a gigantic hole appeared in the clouds.

Lin Yun instantly disappeared. The enormous tail slapped down where he had been standing, causing feeble ripples in space. The force of the tail hit the ground, and initiated continuous explosions.

It almost seemed as if countless magic bombs had been buried underground. A lot of gigantic stones were thrown to the heights of the tree crowns in explosions, and many trees were torn to pieces. The explosions stretched out in a straight line thousands of meters long on the ground. After the dust settled, an empty area eight kilometers long and hundreds of meters wide appeared in the forest.

After the strike, the thing that assaulted Lin Yun from the sky revealed itself. He took out the Draconic Staff, and held the Book of Death in his left hand. The chains on the surface of the Book of Death crumbled, sending out a terrifying power of death. The crystal phoenix craned its head from the page, but immediately ducked it down upon seeing the monster.

Lin Yun had no time to care about the phoenix's cowardice. He stared at the monster above his head, and realized what it was.

Its torso looked like a green caterpillar that was a dozen meters long. There was one weird horn on its head and three claws that had webs underneath its body. Behind its back was an enormous leopard tail hundreds of meters long.

Its body was only a dozen meters long, but its tail was hundreds of meters long. It only had a mouth, but no nose or ears. It looked quite strange.

Lin Yun had been wondering why he was suddenly assaulted even though he had been hiding perfectly, and few creatures spotted him. He figured out why.

The Leopard Tail Worm was probably the only thing that had been confirmed real in the Kingdom of Nightmares.

Not everything in the Kingdom of Nightmares was fake. This forest could be real. The beasts from the age of gods could be real too.

But nobody knew that for sure. Lin Yun was not certain that they were real even though he had collected materials from them.

The only thing that he knew for sure was real and not created by the power of the Kingdom of Nightmares was this Leopard Tail Worm.

It was said that the worm was a parasite to the Kingdom of Nightmares, or rather living on the body of the King of Nightmares. It would eat everything that wasn't supposed to exist in the Kingdom of Nightmares.

Anyone who had a soul would cause influence after they entered the Kingdom of Nightmares. Such influence couldn't be controlled, at least not by those who were weaker than the King of Nightmares.

Feeling the influence, the Leopard Tail Worm would come and swallow the souls that jeopardized dreams. Vampire ancestors were free to visit this place because they were soulless.

The Leopard Tail Worm wouldn't care no matter what they did. The worm was only interested in souls.

Lin Yun was quite solemn. After recognizing the Leopard Tail Worm, he instantly activated the Chapter of the Dead, and turned into a skeleton king. Leopard Tail Worms didn't really have levels. They would always be on the same level as their opponents when they appeared. The Leopard Tail Worm Kings could even be two levels stronger than their opponents.

If any Leopard Tail Worm Kings found Agalon, the latter would have to run too. Two levels above him meant that the worm would be beyond the Heaven Rank. Lin Yun would have to run off too if he encountered a level-49 monster...

This was different from when his level was low. When he was an Archmage, Lin Yun was fearless even in the presence of other Archmages who were five levels stronger. However, the gap between level 7 and level 9 of the Heaven Rank couldn't be crossed. It was even greater than that between level 7 of the Heaven Rank and a Great Mage.

Fortunately, he was only facing an ordinary level-47 Leopard Tail Worm. But Lin Yun wasn't really in level 47.

He had reached level 47 by swallowing a pure soul fire with the ability of the Chapter of the Dead. Only his understanding of the law of darkness was in level 47. His understanding of other laws wasn't quite there yet. He was the strongest only when he transformed into the skeleton king with the bloody scythe of death.

He turned into the skeleton king, and took out the bloody scythe of death. Instantly, he looked much more intimidating, and the Leopard Tail Worm's pressure was significantly reduced.

The thick furry leopard tail slapped at him again, and Lin Yun waved the bloody scythe of death and slashed it.

The skull on the scythe of death opened its mouth and screamed. A lot of dark and desolate runes surfaced on it, and the edge of the scythe was enshrouded in the brilliance of blood. The power that could cut souls expanded 10 times. It was as if the blade was sharpened all of a sudden.

As Lin Yun swung it, the bloody scythe of death instantly turned 100 meters long, with the illusion of an enormous skeleton appearing on its body. The skeleton wore a ragged cloak and a hood on its head. There were vortexes of death in its eyes as it held the scythe of death and slashed.

The illusionary skeleton cut the Leopard Tail Worm's tail. It seemed unscathed, but the Leopard Tail Worm stopped attacking, and screamed so miserably as if countless banshees were shrieking right next to Lin Yun's years.

Everything he saw was twisted, and turned into an abstract painting.

He blinked, and the picture he saw was back to normal. He saw that a vague shadow floated out of the Leopard Tail Worm's tail. It seemed to be the part that had been cut off.

The moment the shadow appeared, the skull on the scythe of death opened its mouth and swallowed it.

Instantly, the latter half of the Leopard Tail Worm's tail turned gray, and lost all its colors and vigor. It looked like a lifeless stone.

The Leopard Tail Worm screamed loudly in the sky, and tried to swing its tail again, only to discover that it could only command the part that hadn't turned gray. The gray part was weighing on its tail like a heavy stone.

After swallowing part of the Leopard Tail Worm's tail, the bloody scythe of death seemed even more powerful, and adapted to the laws of this place.

Lin Yun soared and waved the scythe of death again. Unwilling to give in, the Leopard Tail Worm opened its mouth, and spurted a mouthful of black fluid, which stained the space as if it were an oil painting. As the black fluid flowed down, the space was riddled with holes and falling apart.

Unfortunately, it didn't work on the scythe of death's shadow at all. The scythe of death slashed again, and cut off the remaining half of the Leopard Tail Worm's tail. The skull on the scythe swallowed the shadow from the other half of the tail. Then, the Leopard Tail Worm seemed to have lost all its power, and fell from the sky.

Holding the scythe of death, Lin Yun landed aggressively. Then, a human face appeared on the Leopard Tail Worm's face, and looked at Lin Yun in fright.

"Don't kill me. Don't kill me. This is my first time. I've never carried out a mission on myself yet..."

The Leopard Tail Worm sounded like a terrified kid. Without the tail, its level had plummeted by more than 10. Its childish face was full of horror. It was trembling with fear when it looked at the skull on the scythe of death.

It had every reason to be terrified. The Leopard Tail Worms could hardly be killed, especially in the Kingdom of Nightmares, where they could make use of the power of the King of Nightmares and become as strong as their opponents.

It didn't expect that it would be crippled so easily. Even the shadow of its soul had been cut apart. If it was slashed again, its soul would be cut apart, and it would be completely dead.

If its soul remained, it would revive in the Kingdom of Nightmares even if it died, even though it might take a while. But if its soul was killed and swallowed, there was no way that it could come back to life.

The Leopard Tail Worm shrieked and trembled with fear on the ground.

Lin Yun's soul fire was shivering as he listened.

"Shut up. You'll talk when I let you talk. I'll kill you if you keep screaming."

Lin Yun's cold soul waves spread out, and the Leopard Tail Worm closed its mouth, and looked at Lin Yun pitifully.

“Your face is upside down. Reverse it.”

Hearing that, the Leopard Tail Worm instantly reversed its mouth upside down. Previously, its mouth had been above its eyes. It looked much more agreeable at this moment. It must’ve transformed into this chubby kid when it detected some of Lin Yun’s soul waves.

The fat kid lay on the ground, unable to move. It was dragging a gray tail that was hundreds of meters long when its body was only a dozen meters long. The tail was already a burden for it.

It stared at Lin Yun pitifully. It wanted to say something, but didn’t dare to.. It could only wait in silence.

Chapter 1416: Interrogation

Lin Yun was not in a hurry to talk to the fat kid. He observed the bloody scythe of death for a long time. He was pretty sure that it shouldn’t have been capable of knocking the soul out of the body.

A creature’s soul was complete. Human beings’ souls were in their heads. The undead creatures’ souls were their soul fires. They were not shadows that overlapped with bodies.

Even the slightest injury of the soul would be very serious. If some of it was cut off, it would surely mean death, except for the strongest creatures.

Although the Leopard Tail Worm was special, it was certainly not special in that aspect. Lin Yun detected vividly that the scythe of death didn’t cause much injury to its soul when it cut off part thereof. It seemed that the scythe only disabled that part of the soul.

When the fat kid’s tail was cut off, it became a burden. The tail became as good as nothing. However, the kid’s soul was not badly damaged. It only hurt for a moment.

The whole thing was quite complicated. Lin Yun wasn’t sure what happened, but surely the scythe of death shouldn’t have that ability.

The illusion that appeared just now left Lin Yun with the impression that he was the very first skeleton king in legends. He was not the respected skeleton king in the Plane of the Undead, but a god.

The Lord of Death looked just like that, with a ragged cloak, a hood, and vortexes of death that could swallow death in his eyes. His feet were much bigger than those of normal skeletons, and he looked like a Bigfoot skeleton.

But the Lord of Death was already as dead as could be. His weapon had been shattered and scattered across the Plane of the Undead. The broken pieces of the weapon, combined with the laws of the Plane of the Undead, turned into other scythes of death. The first skeleton to pick up one of them and win its approval became the first skeleton king.

Nevertheless, the newer skeleton kings and scythes of death didn’t have much to do with the Lord of Death anymore. They were created by the laws of the Plane of the Undead.

Lin Yun looked at the scythe of death in his hand with confusion. Was it possible at all that this scythe of death was transformed from a piece of the Lord of Death’s weapon?

Also, a soulless vampire ancestor had been sacrificed to the scythe of death, turning it red. Lin Yun somehow found the scythe's ability unclear.

Nothing related to gods was ever good. Besides, this was about the weird Lord of Death. Lin Yun was quite worried that his illusion just showed up.

Gods' methods were utterly unpredictable. They might not be omnipotent, but it was true that they could never be killed completely.

Take the 73rd God for example. A catastrophe happened even before she was born, but she didn't die. Her soul split up again and again. Even though her plan of resurrection was disrupted, she was only reborn as Marianna, and didn't completely die.

It was possible that the remaining soul or body pieces of other gods would try to find an opportunity to turn into something else, or just revive. They could live on even without the power from the past.

He might have accidentally gotten something important, and summoned the illusion of the Lord of Death, which could be troublesome...

Lin Yun shook his head, and looked at the skull on the scythe of death, feeling that it was developing consciousness. He thought it was a good thing in the past, but it might not be so.

Putting away the scythe of death, Lin Yun covered himself in gray mist, and instantly transformed into a human being. The fat kid was quite stunned to see that. Even though it had been staying in the Kingdom of Nightmares, it knew how unbelievable it was for an undead creature to transform into a living human being.

It might have had other plans, but it gave up all of them, and lay on the ground obediently, waiting for Lin Yun's instruction.

"Tell me about it. What happened here?"

After Lin Yun asked the question, the fat kid divulged what he knew truthfully.

"This is the periphery of the Kingdom of Nightmares. Since the King of Nightmares perished, the periphery has been fixated as the world he knew. My tribe has been living here.

"Earlier, a few experts and annoying vampires came in. Many adults in my tribe were killed. They're waiting for resurrection. Then, their battles brought terrible influences.

"The chief feared that this place would be destroyed in their battle, so he lured them into the depths of the kingdom. I don't know where they are right now, or what the depths look like. Right now, the experts of my tribe are all waiting for resurrection. Some of them have damaged souls, so their resurrection will take a lot longer. As a result, I was asked to carry out missions..."

Lin Yun realized that just as he expected, all the people who had come in earlier had fallen into the depths of the Kingdom of Nightmares, including the vampire ancestors.

The periphery was a fixed world, because the King of Nightmares had died. This place was essentially the King of Nightmares' dream. Naturally, it was the world that the King of Nightmares lived in when he was alive.

There were also laws of the King of Nightmares. Everything here was as real as Noscent in the age of gods. It was even possible that what happened here had happened in the age of gods in the past.

The vampire ancestors fell into the depths of the world, and none had returned yet, which warned Lin Yun just how dangerous it was.

To rescue his allies from that place could be a huge problem. Other than anything else, it was troublesome enough to find the entrance to the deeper world.

The greater problem was to survive in this age of gods first...

Lin Yun furrowed his brows, and the fat kid waited pitifully. It had been essentially disabled after its tail was cut off. It was so weak at this moment that it would rather stay obedient instead of getting killed.

“Are you aware of the entrance to the deeper world?”

Lin Yun considered for a while, and couldn't come up with a solution. Things were even more difficult than he expected. The Kingdom of Nightmares was 1,000 times more challenging than he knew.

In the future records, the Kingdom of Nightmares was almost a spot for vacation for many mages who wanted to feel the laws of this place and build a Demiplane that was a copy of this place. The land here was purged more than 10 times. It was quite a miracle that the Kingdom of Nightmares didn't collapse under all the bombardments.

So, what kind of power could possibly remain? It certainly should've been impossible to see the hoof falling from the sky.

Although Lin Yun had expected that the Kingdom of Nightmares might be more challenging than he knew, he didn't expect to see a god's limb here.

Hearing Lin Yun's question, the fat kid quickly nodded. He wanted Lin Yun to go to the deeper world of the Kingdom of Nightmares immediately and spare him.

“I do. I know the entrance to the deeper world, but it's pretty far away. I've never been there. That place is very dangerous. Many terrifying creatures, and even illusions of gods, often appear there.

“Some gods were fighting a while back, and destroyed many places. Those places haven't recovered yet. The chief warned us not to visit the deeper world. Some disobedient people went to the deeper world in spite of his warning, but they never returned. The chief said that they were all dead...”

The fat kid didn't seem to be lying. It was probably the first time that he had left his tribe. The reproduction of Leopard Tail Worms was quite troublesome. It was quite remarkable that new Leopard Tail Worms were born after the death of the King of Nightmares.

The fat kid was apparently inexperienced, even though it was much smarter than normal Leopard Tail Worms. He quoted his chief all the time, probably because he hadn't seen anything yet.

The Leopard Tail Worms that entered the deeper world were never seen again. The place was not just dangerous, but almost deadly. 10,000 years later, the deeper part of the Kingdom of Nightmares was the best lab for powerful mages to test their speculations. It was not dangerous at all.

It seemed that the remaining power of the Kingdom of Nightmares would be exhausted in the following 10,000 years. If it had 10,000 energy points at this moment, it would only have a 100 ten millennia later, so it wouldn't be dangerous at all. But at this moment, it still was.

The exhaustion was not just quantity, but also about quality. In the future, nobody would be killed here even if any accident happened, but at this moment, exploring the place was like dancing on the tip of a blade. One could easily be killed if one lost balance.

Lin Yun felt a strong headache as he thought about it.

"Has none of the creatures that entered the deeper world ever returned?" Lin Yun asked casually, but the fat kid was dumbfounded and frightened.

If I give a negative answer, this terrifying guy will surely kill me. He'll be dead for sure if no creatures have ever returned alive. If I say that he's dead for sure, he certainly won't go there. He's not as dumb as those three-legged birds anyway.

In that case, I'll be useless. If I'm useless, I'll surely be killed. The chief said that all the people from the outside world were terrifying, and would kill anyone that was useless.

No.. I need to think about it. I need to think about it carefully...

Chapter 1417: Confession

Lin Yun was rather confused, wondering why the fat kid was trembling in fear as if he were going to be killed.

"Fat kid, I asked you a question. What are you scared of?"

The fat kid was so terrified that he was stammering.

"Give me a minute. I'll surely think of it. The chief mentioned it. I remember that he mentioned a creature that entered the deeper world and escaped, but I don't quite remember what it was..."

Lin Yun held his forehead. He would've killed the fat kid if he hadn't been so stupid that he didn't know how to lie.

Leopard Tail Worms were his best source of information at this moment, and none was more suitable than this fat kid. Other Leopard Tail Worms might not be so silly and innocent.

"Just take your time. If someone escaped from the deeper world in the past, it's surely possible to do that right now. That world must've been even more challenging in the past..."

He examined his Natural Demiplane, and found that he couldn't open it, even though they were still perfectly connected to each other. He couldn't fetch anything from the Natural Demiplane.

It was like he was in an actual dream. Opening his Natural Demiplane was certainly impossible in a dream.

He wanted to ask Marianna if she knew anything, or maybe he could ask Enderfa, who had always been mysterious. Lin Yun didn't know what he was even to this day. However, the guy had followed him for a long time, and Lin Yun knew that the guy was not malicious. Otherwise, the guy wouldn't have chosen to permanently stay as the Ten Thousand Spell Wheel's Magic Tool Incarnation.

Enderfa knew the previous ages much better than Lin Yun, as if he had personally lived through them.

But Enderfa didn't appear after the Ten Thousand Spell Wheel was summoned, as if he didn't exist in the Ten Thousand Spell Wheel at all.

The fat kid's face was twisted as he searched his memories arduously. Lin Yun shook his head, and experimented on the materials he collected earlier with shabby alchemy devices.

He experimented on all the materials, and confirmed that they were real and not illusions, which gave him a headache. Even the broken pieces destroyed by the hoof were real too.

The trees, the beasts, the plants, and the ores were all real. Then was it possible that the leg was real too?

One of the Lord of War's legs was sealed in the Kingdom of Nightmares. Lin Yun put on an awful expression at the thought of that. The Lord of War was a terrifying god that could still fight after being cut apart. His soul was different from others in that it had been completely melted into his body. Even his finger could fight on its own.

He'd better not catch the attention of that leg, or he might die a miserable death. Even if the leg was not real, the destruction that it caused certainly was...

Lin Yun waited for the fat kid for an hour. He thought for a moment, and took out some of the pastries in his space ring. He had prepared them for Xiusi and Marianna, but then Xiusi developed an interest in meat, and Marianna wasn't interested in sweets, either, so the pastries had been left alone.

He offered a piece of cake to the fat kid. The sweet fragrance of the cake instantly stunned the fat kid who was having trouble remembering.

Not considering whether or not the food was poisonous at all, he simply grabbed the cake with his webbed claw, and chewed it.

After swallowing the cake, the fat kid grinned in delight, and didn't seem as troubled as before.

"I remember! I remember! The chief mentioned that a guy entered the deeper world and escaped. He disappeared after he escaped. The chief said that he was an undead creature, and only had half of his body left after he escaped.

"The chief chased him, but was unable to catch him. The chief said that he just went missing. Then, the Lord of War's leg fell down. After that, the undead creature was gone. The chief said that the leg killed him..."

Hearing what the fat kid said, Lin Yun was suddenly interested. An undead creature?

An undead creature that escaped after entering the deeper world? How could an undead creature be so smart?

Losing half of the body was nothing for an undead creature. As long as their soul fire wasn't damaged, they wouldn't die even if they only had their head left. They could switch to another body, even though it would weaken them for some time.

Still, Lin Yun was slightly reassured that some creature had escaped from the deeper world. However, the mention of an undead creature reminded Lin Yun of something, but he couldn't quite think it through.

Was the undead creature the King of the Undead? That was probably the only undead creature capable of such a feat.

The event that the fat kid described had to be from a long time in the past. It was possible that it happened soon after the King of Nightmares died in the Plane of the Undead, and his kingdom melted into it.

Lin Yun had a strong headache as he pondered, but he couldn't figure out anything just yet. He might not be able to escape even if he had the key to the Kingdom of Nightmares.

He was in the middle of an emergency. Given enough time, Agalon could surely escape on his own, but there was no time. If a few decades were wasted here, the Leviathan Plane would be conquered, and the scourge of the undead might reach Noscent.

The fat kid had dutifully answered every question he was asked. Also, he completely told Lin Yun what he heard, which was quite informative for him.

Having answered most of the questions, the fat kid looked at Lin Yun pitifully.

"I've told you everything. You won't kill me, right? The chief said that no outsiders are trustworthy..."

The fat kid was too scared to continue as he talked.

Amused, Lin Yun patted the fat kid's head, and took out a contract. He left his seal on the contract, and handed it over to the fat kid.

"Don't worry. Sign this contract so that I won't be hunted by your compatriots. You'll be free after I leave the Kingdom of Nightmares."

The fat kid didn't dare to argue. He obediently opened his mouth, and stuck out three tongues, which rolled and left a seal on the contract.

Instantly, the contract glittered and disappeared. Lin Yun felt that the instinctive rejection of this world was gone. He fitted into this world.

It was just a simple temporary contract, but the content of the contract wasn't simple. While the contract was effective, the fat kid had to try his best to help Lin Yun, and Lin Yun couldn't kill him.

With this contract, Lin Yun wouldn't be rejected while he stayed in the Kingdom of Nightmares.

The outsiders that didn't belong to the Kingdom of Nightmares would surely be rejected, because they would cause influence on the Kingdom of Nightmares and affect balance. The Leopard Tail Worms were meant to solve the problem. At the beginning, the King of Nightmares took them here. After the King of Nightmares died, they carried on with their responsibility.

The outsiders would inevitably affect the balance. They might bring bad influence even if they just stood there and did something.

Supposedly, the easiest way to mitigate the influence was to kill a Leopard Tail Worm, and create an amulet with the horn on its head. Then, the rejection would be neutralized.

But that was not the best solution. There were fewer and fewer Leopard Tail Worms. Without the King of Nightmares, their reproduction was much slower than the speed of their getting killed.

Besides, if other Leopard Tail Worms detected the horn, they would chase him relentlessly. If he killed some of them, stronger ones would come. There was also the Leopard Tail Worm King, which was always two levels stronger than its opponent in the Kingdom of Nightmares

So, signing a temporary contract was the best solution and compromise. It also ensured that he wouldn't be killed by Leopard Tail Worms while he was here.

After signing the contract, Lin Yun cut off the fat kid's lifeless tail that had turned gray. Without the tail as a burden, the fat kid was at least able to move. Its body that was a dozen meters long shrank to the size of a hand. It looked like a green caterpillar that had three duck paws.

Still, he had an amusing chubby face, though he seemed quite upset.

Lin Yun took out another piece of cake, and gave it to the fat kid.

"Don't worry. I'm just here to save someone. I'll leave after I accomplish the task. If they stay here, they'll destroy this place sooner or later. I'm helping you too. If you help me find them, we'll leave this place, and your home will be safe. It will benefit both of us.

"You'll be free after I leave."

The fat kid squatted on Lin Yun's shoulder, bummed. He ate the cake until his face was full of cream. After a few bites, he was so delighted that he didn't care about the situation anymore.

Lin Yun had a direction now that the fat kid led the way for him. He didn't have to look for the targets on his own, which would save him a lot of time. He knew how to find them, but it would take him a tremendous amount of time to get to the right place.

The periphery of the Kingdom of Nightmares was no smaller than Noscent in the age of gods. It was much bigger than normal planes. To find an entrance in this place could be quite time-consuming.

Lin Yun concealed himself, and moved in the direction that the fat kid pointed out.. After a few hours, he finally flew out of the range of the forest, and found himself above a lake, which was so huge that it almost looked like an ocean.

Chapter 1418: Diving

Currently, the lake was already nowhere to be seen. Noscent didn't have such a huge ocean at this moment. Floating at the edge of the ocean, and looking at the tides in the distance, Lin Yun wondered whether he should circumvent it. The ocean didn't seem very peaceful. The waves he saw were almost 800 meters tall.

However, the gravity here was much greater than that of Noscent. The waves had already died down before they reached the edge of the lake.

"How long will it take for us to circumvent this lake?"

After hearing Lin Yun's question, the fat kid calculated for half a minute with a painful expression before he finally replied uncertainly, "It will take three times longer, probably. However, the chief said that we must cross this lake to reach the deeper world. We won't be able to make it there if we circumvent the lake..."

Lin Yun's eyelids twitched, and he almost slapped the fat kid. Damn it. He was going to the entrance of the deeper world. If he had to cross the lake, why bother calculating?

Some places had their own laws, just like the Kingdom of Nightmares. This lake was exactly one of the fixated paths. It would be impossible to reach the destination if they deviated from the path.

However, the lake was obviously not very peaceful. Lin Yun began to fly towards the depths thereof.

"Has this lake always been so turbulent? There seems to be some behemoths fighting underneath the water..."

Crouching on Lin Yun's shoulder, the fat kid looked at the depths of the lake, at a loss.

"I don't know. The chief said that the King of Nightmares domesticated some sea beasts here. Those were the captives that the King of Nightmares caught while fighting the Lord of Seas. I don't know the details, but they were likely gardeners for the King of Nightmares..."

Lin Yun rolled his eyes, not convinced at all. However stupid the King of Nightmares had been, he wouldn't have caught a bunch of sea beasts to do gardening for him. However, the mention of gardening reminded Lin Yun of something.

It seemed that the kings of sea beasts could grow special plants that could help soul entities in the deep sea. Such plants looked like normal flowers, but would emit a special fragrance that could help condense soul power.

The King of Nightmares was a god anyway. The sea beasts he caught had surely been kings in the past. If they were asked to do gardening, then the flowers they grew had to have been the Deep Sea Soul Flowers.

While he considered the questions, he had flown more than 100 kilometers. Here, the waves were a lot fiercer and higher. Also, the deeper they got into the ocean, the higher the waves became.

The magic power of this place was extremely chaotic. The water elements were as abundant and active as those in the elemental plane.

In the sky, he vaguely saw a blue water elemental that was a dozen meters tall arise on the water, raising tides that were 100 meters tall, and surged towards the shore. The water elemental stood on the top of the tides, and charged at the shore.

After the first water elemental appeared, a chain reaction seemed to occur. When every new wave surged, a deep blue water elemental would emerge from underneath the surface of the sea. They would then charge at the shore.

In a dozen seconds, countless water elementals had appeared on the surface of the sea. Deep blue water elementals moved in the same direction as if they were fleeing.

Lin Yun's expression changed when he saw the tremendous number of deep blue water elementals on the sea.

They were all elemental creatures that seemed to be made of deep blue seawater. They had two arms, and their lower body was just seawater. They didn't have legs or a face. The seawater gathered into the shape of an elephant nose on their faces.

Their body structure seemed simple. It was just a silhouette. Their bodies were transparent, with nothing inside.

However, the water elementals could be terrifyingly strong in the deep sea, where they were much faster than on the surface of the sea. They were guardians and warriors for the kings of sea beasts.

More importantly, the water elementals' combat ability would plummet after they appeared on the surface of the sea. It would affect their bodies too.

None of the water elementals below Lin Yun's feet were lower than level 30. There were even 100 level-40 water elementals. Yet, they were all marching towards the shore. The closer they were to the shore, the weaker they would be. They might even die on the shore.

Those water elementals would never have moved towards the shore collectively unless they had been faced with a deadly crisis.

The first thing that Lin Yun thought of was the thick bull leg. Nothing else could've possibly cornered the water elementals into such desperation that they had to flee.

Although the leg was far away from the head, there had to be part of the god's soul in it. Would it bully a bunch of water elementals?

That was impossible. Even if only the last piece of the god's soul was left, and it lost all its wisdom, it should know better than bullying the water elementals in the deep sea...

Then what was going on? Were there some horrifying beasts fighting hard in the deep sea?

Confused, Lin Yun stopped flying, and examined the environment with the Magic Array in the sky, but he didn't catch anything special. It was just chaos. The deeper he entered the lake, the more chaotic it was.

"Fat kid, has the hoof ever appeared in the lake?"

This time, the fat kid shook his head without hesitation.

“My chief never mentioned that. The terrifying hoof only appears once in a very long time. The chief said that we should just ignore it, and keep our distance from it.”

Lin Yun frowned.

“Are you sure? We’ve signed a contract. If I die, you’ll die too...”

Now that his life was at risk, the fat kid immediately hesitated.

“I’m not sure...”

Lin Yun shook his head, and fell from the sky to the surface of the sea. He unfolded a shield, and dived down.

After he dived down, he saw an even more spectacular scene. All the creatures underneath the surface of the sea, including fish and enormous sea beasts, moved towards the shore just like the water elementals.

He continued diving down, and encountered more behemoths. He even saw a few four-armed nagas that were moving towards the shore too.

He moved further down. The light gradually faded away, replaced by darkness, which was not an obstacle for Lin Yun at all. He continued diving.

After he was four kilometers down the surface, there were fewer currents in the seawater. The deeper he went, the more peaceful it was.

After he reached the bottom of the sea that was 10 kilometers deep, he found himself in a peaceful world where the seawater was extremely slow. Very few creatures lived here. When he did encounter any of them, they simply moved towards the shore without bothering to look at Lin Yun.

Crossing 1,000 kilometers on the bottom of the sea, he finally found a city of the sea clan. The buildings at the bottom of the sea were so shabby that they looked like ancient ruins.

Many mermen and mermaids that had human upper halves and fish tails swam out of the buildings. When they saw Lin Yun, they opened their mouths that were full of sharp teeth, and yelled at Lin Yun threateningly.

But after threatening Lin Yun, the merman in the lead left the city with his companions, and disappeared into the darkness in only a dozen seconds.

Lin Yun put on a solemn expression. He had seen a special mark on the foreheads of a lot of the mermen and mermaids, who were essentially nobles in their clan.

He wandered above the city, only to discover that there was not a living soul in the buildings within the radius of eight kilometers. Also, most buildings were empty, and only some buildings were not. It meant that those mermen and mermaids wouldn’t come back anytime soon.

When Lin Yun approached the biggest building in the center of the city, he suddenly smelled a vague fragrance.

He didn’t smell it; he just felt it!

He stopped and continued examining the fragrance. Soon, he felt that all his exhaustion was gone. It was not a relief on his body, but one on his soul.

His soul had smelled the fragrance.

The Deep Sea Soul Flower!

Following the fragrance, Lin Yun soon found a flower that emitted vague bluish light in the biggest building. The flower was very small, and looked just like a normal flower.

Everything in the room had been taken away except the sapling of this Deep Sea Soul Flower. The traces around the sapling suggested that there had been another two Deep Sea Soul Flowers that were mature.

Immature Deep Sea Soul Flowers weren't really effective. Also, they wouldn't be able to survive if they weren't replanted soon after they were dug out.

Were the mermen and mermaids in such a hurry that they didn't even have the time to take away the sapling of the Deep Sea Soul Flower?

Lin Yun put on an awful expression. He took out a bottle of mana water, and carefully preserved the sapling in the water so that it could be kept alive for a long time.

Digging out the Deep Sea Soul Flower's sapling, Lin Yun left in a hurry, and didn't overstay. Even the masters of the sea didn't think it was safe to stay here. If he dawdled, he might be caught in danger.

After all, he would not be as strong as he was on the surface of the sea in this place.

He moved towards the surface of the sea quickly. The higher he went, the more turbulent the undercurrents became.. There were still a tremendous number of sea creatures that were running crazily in the same direction.

Chapter 1419: Collision

After Lin Yun flew out of the surface of the sea, a terrifying wave hit his shield, and smashed the duo away. He raised his head, only to discover that the wave was just the vanguard of a tsunami that was a kilometer tall.

A lot of sea creatures could be seen in the tsunami. There was even a sea beast that was 300 meters tall. It was being rolled in the tsunami without being able to resist at all.

The currents in the tsunami were like horrifying water blades that brought forth terrifying pressure and force. The creatures that were caught in them seemed to be embraced by a storm of blades. No, more terrible than that.

All the sea beasts were squeezed and crumbled into pieces. They were not simply cut apart...

"Run! Run! We're going to die! We're going to die!"

Holding onto Lin Yun's shoulder, the fat kid screamed in fear.

Lin Yun's expression changed. He unfolded his Fusion Shield, and quickly rose against the tempest.

After he rose for 500 meters, he suddenly discovered that there was an even higher and greater tsunami behind the first one.

He couldn't find out how high the tsunami was despite using Hawk Eye, but it was at least two kilometers tall. It was almost raising the force of an entire world.

That force was too terrifying to be resisted by any creature. He had been too close to the first tsunami, and he didn't notice the second one at all.

He rose to an altitude of more than three kilometers, where magical elements were chaotic. The wind was so strong as if countless super spells were being cast here.

Wind elements were blowing like blades...

As the terrifying tsunami approached, Lin Yun felt a lot of pressure. Although it seemed like a normal tsunami, it was even more powerful than a massive level-10 spell when it approached.

The pressure didn't decline at all even though he had flown four kilometers high. He had to use the Elemental Spirit King Embodiment to resist the pressure.

After he used the Elemental Spirit King Embodiment, the violent elemental power became docile. At the very least, it could no longer break apart Lin Yun's defense or wash him away.

Watching the tsunami charging towards the shoreline as if it would tear anything in its way apart, Lin Yun had cold sweat.

There was indeed a level-10 spell that could raise a tsunami, but it couldn't possibly be so powerful or massive. This tsunami was at least 1,000 kilometers wide and more than three kilometers high. Also, the gravity here was obviously multiple times greater than that in Noscent, so there shouldn't have been such a powerful tsunami.

In Noscent, the same tsunami would've been at least 10 times more powerful. It would've surely destroyed most of the shoreline. The area within several thousand kilometers of the shoreline would've been bulldozed. Facing such a powerful spell, any creature would be ripped apart if it were caught in it.

The tsunami was moving fast on the surface of the sea. Obviously, the water below the surface was disturbed too. No wonder all the creatures were running for life, whether they were strong or weak.

A lot of undersea catastrophes would be weakened as they approached the shoreline, because the water would be shallower and shallower, and the reefs and terrain on the bottom of the sea would reduce their power. If the creatures ran to the shore, they would be able to survive.

Lin Yun floated in the sky, and watched the tsunami below his feet pass. There were also smaller waves that gathered into smaller tsunamis and followed it. They looked like normal waves from a distance.

The interior of the lake seemed to be chaotic and twisted. The disturbed elements were almost gathering into a storm. At this moment, Lin Yun vaguely detected that some people seemed to be fighting in the depths.

He examined the waves around him, and found that they were stabler than before. The violent elements were supposed to be tricky, but they couldn't cause any trouble to Lin Yun who was using the Elemental Spirit King Embodiment at all. He didn't even have to unfold his shield.

As a matter of fact, the violent elements were automatically soothed when they were within 10 meters from Lin Yun. They appeared around Lin Yun as normal elements.

The air was full of all sorts of elements anytime, but those stable elements were harmless, and didn't need one to be worried about them at all.

Seeing that Lin Yun was going to fly forward, the fat kid clutched his robe tightly on his shoulder, and cried miserably with nothing but fear left on his face.

"I'm going to die, I'm going to die. I don't want to die. Let's run for life..." the fat kid shouted miserably at the loudest of his voice, just like a terrified boy. Lin Yun covered his ears and gently patted the fat kid, but the fat kid simply continued shrieking.

Lin Yun exerted more strength, and smacked the fat kid, whose caterpillar-like body was flattened. Even his eyeballs almost popped out. He was almost killed, and his shrieking came to an abrupt halt.

Lin Yun loosened his hand, and the fat kid's body was back to normal. He seemed to be back to himself, and he trembled, holding on to Lin Yun's robe.

Lin Yun was rather helpless. He finally realized that the fat kid had been too terrified to make any sound earlier, and that it was not until the air became peaceful again that he gained the courage to scream.

"Don't go any further. We'll die. We'll surely die. This place was peaceful for a long time. The chief said that everything will die if they visit this place when it's not peaceful..."

Crying, the fat kid shivered, and tried to persuade Lin Yun to stop moving forward.

Floating in the sky, Lin Yun examined the occasional battle waves up ahead, and frowned. As far as he could tell, the battlefield was at least thousands of kilometers away. The aftermath of the battle had left such a huge influence in this place even though they were so far away. Whoever was fighting had to be above the Heaven Rank.

Even Lin Yun might be accidentally killed if he got involved in a battle of such a level. He didn't dare to move any closer.

"Are there often battles in this place? How did those people who came earlier cross this inland sea?"

Lin Yun had to be careful. Even though he knew that many things here in the Kingdom of Nightmares were just illusions, he would truly die if he got killed. At the very least, nothing was fake while he was here. Everything was real according to the laws of the Kingdom of Nightmares.

The fat kid was still sobbing and crying.

"The chief said that this place had been peaceful until the external human beings and obnoxious vampires came. None of the sea creatures liked to show up on the surface or fight one another.

“However, the chief mentioned that a battle has happened here once in a while since a long time ago. Nobody dares to approach this place at all whenever a battle takes place...”

Countless runes circulated in Lin Yun’s eyes. He fully activated the Magic Array too. All of a sudden, the Magic Array hopped, and caught something special. It functioned 10 times faster, allowing Lin Yun to see things more clearly.

In the distance, two enormous shadows were colliding and dodging. Their battlefield covered a radius of 1,000 kilometers right above the lake. The water, suppressed by the terrifying aftermath of the collisions, had enormous dents that were expanding and shrinking as if it were breathing. Dreadful waves were spreading out. Everything under the surface of the sea was torn apart by the horrifying power.

However, the moment he saw the vague scene, the Magic Array was restored to its normal ability, as if he had just seen an illusion.

Lin Yun was quite solemn. The vague scene he saw made him realize that it was impossible to just go forward. However, in order to enter the deeper world, he had to cross the lake. It was the path dictated by laws.

It was impossible to circumvent it. The two enormous shadows were fighting right in the center of the lake. Circumventing the area was not an option. It was possible that he would be torn into shreds when he approached the edge of the battlefield.

“Fat kid, how long will the battle last? When will they stop?”

The fat kid watched everything pitifully on the shoulder of Lin Yun. He was going to say something else, but Lin Yun glared at him, and he had to confess the truth.

“I don’t know. The chief said that they shatter the sea every time. Then, the pieces of the sea will gather together. After a while, they’ll show up and break the sea again...”

The fat kid’s voice became lower and lower, and Lin Yun put on an awful expression.

They broke the inland sea that was at least 10,000 kilometers in diameter?

Before the fat kid finished, Lin Yun had known that he couldn’t afford any more waiting. The two guys who were fighting were undoubtedly stronger than the Heaven Rank. They were probably no weaker than gods.

Considering the battle waves he saw, it would take them years before they shattered this sea. But he didn’t have years of time at all. If he were to return several years later, he would see nothing but countless undead creatures.

What the fat kid suggested was that this place would be renewed every once in a while.

Chapter 1420: Moving On

But for the Leopard Tail Worms, the length of the time didn't matter at all. They didn't care about wasting time. In the Kingdom of Nightmares, they were immortal. They would never be completely killed unless their souls were destroyed.

This was just one of the King of Nightmares' dreams and memories from the age of gods. It was just played repeatedly.

The dream of a god could easily last hundreds of years. Lin Yun never thought that he would be so unlucky as to encounter the beginning of a new cycle.

The visitors who came earlier didn't encounter this, but when he arrived, it was the beginning of the battle. He didn't think he should be so unlucky.

Lin Yun thought for a moment, and felt that something was wrong, but he couldn't figure out what it was. He could only blame it on bad luck, or maybe the previous outsiders had caused special changes in the King of Nightmares' dream.

Knowing that he had no time to waste, Lin Yun flew towards the depths of the inland sea. There was still a long time to go until the sea was shattered in the battle. The fight had just started, so it was his best opportunity. When the clash became too fierce, then it would be impossible for him to pass.

The fat kid trembled with fear, and wanted to run off. But in this place, he would've been torn into shreds without Lin Yun's protection or his tail. He didn't dare to jump off Lin Yun's shoulder, which would surely kill him, at all.

If he followed Lin Yun, maybe he would be able to live a while longer...

Lin Yun moved inwardly for 1,000 kilometers, and the elements became more and more chaotic. Those elements were as violent as the inside of an elemental storm. They were even expanding, with their coverage rising from 100 square kilometers to 600.

The more massive an elemental storm was, the more powerful it would be. In this place, other level-7 Heaven Rank experts would be exhausted in 10 seconds, and killed in half an hour at most.

That was why elemental storms were hard to resist. They contained the purest elemental power. There were no spells, no curses, and no fancy tricks at all. Whoever couldn't endure it would be torn to shreds. It was just a direct competition of magic power.

There was infinite power in an elemental storm. However strong a mage was, his mana would be exhausted sooner or later, and when it was exhausted, he would be ripped apart.

It wouldn't matter at all whether the mage was in level 7 of the Heaven Rank or level 9.

The only people who could emerge unscathed from the most powerful elemental storms were the Elemental Spirit Kings, who contained the purest elemental power that prevented them from getting hurt.

They were the only exceptions. The others would have to weather elemental storms on their own.

There was a reason why Elemental Embodiment would be known as the most powerful spell that all mages had to learn in the future. When one fully grasped Fire Element Embodiment, a normal spell, it might evolve into an extreme spell that was the Fire Elemental Spirit Embodiment.

When one fully grasped the embodiments of all the four elements, and laid a foundation of laws with the four elements, one would be able to use the Elemental Spirit King Embodiment.

That was the most powerful embodiment spell. Many special materials were only available in the enormous elemental storms in the void. To enter those elemental storms, one had to know how to use the Elemental Spirit King Embodiment first.

When Lin Yun used the Elemental Spirit King Embodiment, even though it was exhausting, his mana wouldn't be drained in three seconds as what happened to him in the beginning. He was able to survive by replenishing his mana once every 10 minutes.

He flew onward for more than 1,000 kilometers, and found himself in an area that could almost compare to a chaotic elemental storm. There was no distinction between up and down. The gravity was twisted. It was too big in some places and slanted elsewhere. He would've lost his direction if the gravity here weren't multiple times greater than that in Noscent.

"Sir, I'm begging you, please don't go any further. We'll die. We'll truly die. The chief said certain places are forbidden, and whoever goes there will die, even including himself. We'll really die if we get any closer..." the fat kid screamed loudly. His round face had been deformed because of fear.

Lin Yun frowned and slapped the fat kid, twisting his body again. After Lin Yun moved his hand back, his body was restored, and he screamed again.

"Shut up. If you keep screaming, you may catch their attention and get both of us killed."

Lin Yun was quite solemn. He even regretted bringing this fat kid. Admittedly, the fat kid was a local, and knew many things well, but he was too much of a coward. He was just like a kid who had never left home. He knew a lot of things, but hadn't experienced any of them.

He was almost killed on his very first trip, and even his tail was cut off. He was so terrified that he realized that the world out there wasn't the same as it was in the stories.

Lin Yun angrily yelled at the fat kid, and finally calmed him down. The fat kid was not stupid. He knew that he might have a chance to survive if he kept quiet, and that if he continued shrieking, he might catch the attention of the horrifying experts, who could easily kill them with the aftermath of their battle.

The Leopard Tail Worms were capable of mimicking their opponents' levels in the Kingdom of Nightmares, but their ability had limits. When they faced a level-49 expert, they could turn into level-50, but that was just a level. They wouldn't really have the greatest abilities that corresponded with that level.

Take the two experts who were fighting in the center of the sea for example. Even a Leopard Tail Worm King would be killed by them. They were too strong to be dealt with by any special abilities.

Lin Yun continued moving forward. The battle's aftermath became more and more powerful. Lin Yun could tell that the Magic Array had a lot of weird changes too.

The Magic Array would suddenly become 10 times more powerful, gaining abilities that far exceeded Lin Yun's current level. The Magic Array was itself a combination of countless parts as a special magic conducting rune. It was a magic tool in a way.

Most magic conducting runes, such as Hand of Time and Spring of Mana, were independent, and only had one ability, but the Magic Array was different. It was more like a combination of magic runes that could assemble into various abilities. It boasted the most powerful computational ability.

These days, the Magic Array would suddenly become 10 times more powerful, which lasted longer and longer. At the beginning, the empowerment only appeared briefly, but then it could last a couple of seconds. Lin Yun was not sure what was going on.

No similar things had ever been recorded. There was not even anything that was remotely related...

Lin Yun stopped and hesitated for a moment. This situation was not within his control. It was extremely weird. The Magic Array was his greatest reliance. If anything was wrong with that, then it would be troublesome.

Through his calculation, he found that it was possible to cross the battlefield through the edge despite the intensifying battle waves. At the very least, he wouldn't deviate from the destined path. In another dozen minutes, the battle waves would cover the path, and make it impossible for him to cross.

Gritting his teeth, Lin Yun flew onward, and swallowed a bottle of mana water every couple of minutes during the flight. Here, the elements were even more violent. They came within 10 meters of him even though he was using the Elemental Spirit King Embodiment.

But those elements were negligible as the elements couldn't hurt him at all no matter how violent they were as long as they were pure. Still, as he approached the battlefield, there were a lot more powers in the blast, and they were not pure elements.

The world in front of his eyes looked like a combination of a sandstorm and a rainstorm. Dust was rising, and raindrops were smacking his face. The two incompatible storms had somehow been mixed. He couldn't detect anything with magic power anymore. Only the Magic Array was still usable.

He flew onward for another 1,000 kilometers. Then, he seemed to have crossed a border, and the horrifying storm was left behind as an enormous wall.

Having no time to examine the new situation, Lin Yun fell to the surface of the sea from the sky, with a heavy pressure on his soul. There even seemed to be an invisible mountain above his head, which stopped Lin Yun from floating in the sky, and forced him to descend.

It was not until he almost crashed in the sea that he finally fended off the pressure. The fat kid had been pressed into a round green pie on Lin Yun's shoulder. His chubby, round face had been completely deformed..
