

A Man Like None Other Novel

Full Read Online Chapter 5196 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5196

David patted Hu Mazi on the shoulder, signaling him to calm down, and then looked at the old man: “Does the ancient book say that those men in black have any special characteristics? Or what special skills do they use?”

The old man shook his head: “The records are very brief, only saying that those men in black are powerful, ruthless, and extremely secretive, and did not leave any clues afterwards. At that time, the major forces in the Fourth Heaven also investigated the matter, but to no avail.”

David frowned slightly and fell into deep thought.

Unknown forces? Men in black? The revenge of genocide?

Behind this, there seems to be some unknown secrets hidden.

Youyue looked at the painful Hu Mazi, then looked at the thoughtful David, and said softly: “It seems that what you said is true.

Jiupan Mountain was indeed the ancestral land of your Hu family.”

She paused, and continued: “In this case, according to the previous promise, my Black Evil Demon Palace is willing to give you an explanation to the Hu family.

If you want to rebuild the Hu family, I can set aside a part of the area for you.

If you want to investigate the truth of the genocide that year, my Black Evil Demon Palace can also provide some help.”

Hu Mazi raised his head, his eyes were bloodshot, and he said in a hoarse voice: “I just want to know who exterminated my Hu family back then! I, Hu Mazi, swear not to be a human being until this hatred is avenged!”

His voice was not loud, but it carried a resolute hatred, echoing in the empty hall, making people look sideways.

Youyue smiled slightly: "But for what I said, you need to do me a favor."

"What favor?"

"Help me get something." Youyue's eyes were deep, "Deep in Jiupan Mountain, there is an ancient relic called 'Demon Burial Abyss'.

There is a treasure that is vital to my demon clan, but there are many restrictions there, and it is difficult for my clan to enter. Pinshu.com <https://www.fastla5100.xyz>

If you can help me get it, I will not only return the territory, but also agree to one of your conditions."

Hu Mazi frowned and looked at David. David said indifferently: "Demon Burial Abyss? It doesn't sound like a good place."

Youyue chuckled: "It may be a dead end for others, but for you... it may be an opportunity."

David and Hu Mazi looked at each other, each with their own thoughts.

David tapped his fingertips lightly on the stone table, his eyes fell on Youyue's face with a faint smile.

This witch seemed to be honest, but in fact, every word she said was full of calculations. If the Burial Demon Abyss was really that easy to enter, how could the demons have been unable to get in for so long?

"Witch Youyue is good at picking people."

David suddenly chuckled, "Are you sure we can get in?"

Youyue put down the teacup, and a strange color flashed in her eyes: "Youyue has seen the methods of Brother Chen Daoyou, and Jiupan Mountain is the ancestral land of the Hu family. Brother Hu may have marks left by his ancestors on his body, which is enough to avoid the outer restrictions."

Hu Mazi clenched his fists. His mind was full of the truth about the extermination of the clan. As long as he could find clues, let alone the Burial Demon Abyss, he would dare to go through mountains of swords and seas of fire.

"David, I promise her!"

David glanced at Hu Mazi, and seeing his resolute eyes, he no longer hesitated: "Okay. But we need the map of the Burial Demon Abyss, and all the records of your clan about it.

In addition, if we encounter unsolvable dangers on the way, we can withdraw at any time, you can't force it."

"That's natural."

Youyue immediately asked someone to bring a roll of animal skin map and a few thin books. "The map marks the approximate range of the Burial Demon Abyss, but the restrictions inside are changeable, and the specific situation still needs you to explore on your own.

These books are sporadic records left by our ancestors, and they may come in handy."

David took the map and unfolded it. He saw that the terrain of Jiupan Mountain was outlined with dark red ink. In the depths, there was an area shrouded in black fog, marked with the three words "Burial Demon Abyss".

Full Read Online Chapter 5197 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5197

There were also several twisted symbols drawn next to it, like some kind of warning.

The handwriting in the booklet was sloppy, mostly about the concentration of demonic energy and the distribution of demonic beasts. One page mentioned that "there are remnant souls of ancient demons at the bottom of the abyss, which are good at controlling people's minds", which made him frown slightly.

"When do we set off?" Hu Mazi couldn't hold back.

"Three days later." David put away the map, "We need to prepare."

Youyue had no objection to this, and arranged a place for them to stay, and sent two demon monks to be on standby at any time, which was actually surveillance.

Back at his residence, Hu Mazi immediately locked himself in the room, flipping through the booklets again and again, trying to find clues related to the Hu family.

David stood alone by the window, looking at the outline of Jiupan Mountain shrouded in demonic energy in the distance. His spiritual consciousness spread quietly, sorting out the current situation.

The water in the Black Demon Palace is too deep, and the hidden strongmen are definitely not ordinary people. Youyue dared to let them go to the Demon Abyss to bury the demons. I am afraid that it is not only for the treasure, but also to kill people with a borrowed knife, so that they can test the real danger at the bottom of the abyss.

But now that things have come to this, they have no way out. Hu Mazi needs the truth, and David himself has become somewhat interested in the so-called “chance”.

Three days later, in the early morning, David and Hu Mazi met Youyue at the gate of the Demon Palace.

Youyue was still dressed in purple, followed by ten demon monks with condensed auras, each carrying a black package.

“These are the resources and elixirs prepared for you. Although they are not top-notch, they are enough to deal with the erosion of the demonic energy at the bottom of the abyss.”

Youyue signaled his men to hand over the package. “The entrance is in the rift in the middle of Jiupan Mountain. I’ll have someone take you there.”

David took the package and opened it. Inside were several jade pendants engraved with exorcism patterns and a bottle of dark green elixirs, which exuded a faint herbal fragrance, but not as pungent as the cup of tea before.

He casually distributed the jade pendant to Hu Mazi, but put away the elixir. His Condensation Heart Technique could absorb demonic energy by itself, so these elixirs might not be useful.

Following the demon monks who led the way through the dense forest outside Jiupan Mountain, the deeper they went, the thicker the demonic energy in the air became. The trees became twisted and black, and huge animal bones could occasionally be seen on the ground, which were obviously gnawed by powerful monsters.

“The rift is ahead.”

The monk who led the way pointed to a bottomless gully ahead. Gray-black miasma rolled in the rift, and one could faintly hear ghost-like howling sounds coming from it.

Hu Mazi stood at the edge of the rift, and suddenly his whole body was shocked. He took out a broken jade pendant from his arms. The jade pendant was emitting a faint white light at this moment, resonating with a certain breath in the rift.

“This is... an ancestral jade pendant of my Hu family. It hadn’t responded before, but I didn’t expect it to move here!”

David looked at the jade pendant, and saw that it was engraved with symbols similar to those on the animal skin map. He understood in his heart: “It seems that your ancestor has indeed been here. This jade pendant may be the key to unlock the outer restrictions.”

He took out the map to confirm again, pointing to a relatively narrow area on the left side of the rift: “Go down from here, as shown on the map, there will be a stone staircase after passing through the miasma layer.”

Hu Mazi held the jade pendant tightly in his hand and took a deep breath: “David, I’ll go down and explore first.”

“Let’s go together.”

David pressed his shoulders, and the spiritual power in his body circulated, forming a light golden protective shield to cover the two of them. “This miasma is poisonous, so be careful.”

The two jumped into the rift, and the miasma wrapped around them like sticky mud, and the fishy smell penetrated into their ears and noses. If it weren’t for the spiritual power shield to isolate them, they would probably feel dizzy in an instant.

The jade pendant in Hu Mazi’s hand glowed brighter and brighter, and the miasma in front of him automatically separated to both sides, revealing a passage that was only wide enough for one person to pass through.

Full Read Online Chapter 5198 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5198

“It really works!”

Hu Mazi was surprised and happy, and he increased his speed of descent.

After falling for an unknown period of time, he finally stepped on the solid ground.

David looked up and saw that the miasma above had closed again, like a thick curtain that completely blocked out the sunlight.

It was pitch black all around, with only the jade pendant in Hu Mazi’s hand emitting a faint white light, illuminating the stone steps under his feet.

The stone steps meandered downwards, and the rock walls on both sides were covered with dark red lines. Looking closely, it looked like countless tiny runes were wriggling.

David reached out to touch the rock wall, and a biting chill came from his fingertips. The moment his spiritual consciousness probed into it, it was bounced back by a cold force.

“Be careful, there is something wrong with these runes.”

David warned in a deep voice, “They can devour spiritual consciousness. If you come into contact with them for a long time, you may be infected by the devil’s energy.”

Hu Mazi quickly retracted his gaze and raised the jade pendant higher. The range of the white light expanded, and he could vaguely see a broken stone door at the end of the stone steps. On the door were three ancient characters “Demon Burial Abyss”. The stone door was ajar, and there were gusts of wind coming from inside, mixed with vague whispers, as if countless wronged souls were wailing in it.

Hu Mazi clenched the short knife at his waist, and his heartbeat accelerated involuntarily: “David, inside...”

“Go in and take a look and you will know.”

David pushed open the door, and a stronger devil’s energy rushed towards him. The golden light on the shield flickered violently for several times before it stabilized.

Behind the door was a long corridor, and the stone walls on both sides were inlaid with glowing ghost crystals, which illuminated the corridor like daylight.

But this light was a strange green, and it felt cold when it shone on my face.

The ground of the corridor was covered with skeletons, some of which were human, some of which were demons, and even some of which were giant beasts that had never been seen before. It was obvious that a fierce battle had taken place here.

“These skeletons are very old, at least tens of thousands of years old.”

David squatted down to check a relatively complete skeleton of the demon clan. He saw a smooth hole on its skull, and there were traces of burning on the edge. “He died under a sharp weapon, and was killed by one blow.”

Hu Mazi also picked up a human arm bone, which was engraved with the mark of half a talisman, which was somewhat similar to the symbol on his jade pendant: “This is the talisman mark of my Hu family! Could it be that my ancestors also participated in the battle here?”

David stood up and swept his eyes across the depths of the corridor: “No matter who left it, it means that there are not only restrictions here, but also more dangerous things. Keep going forward and stay alert.”

The two walked along the corridor. The further they went in, the colder the air became, and the whispers became clearer and clearer.

Those voices were like countless people whispering in his ears, telling of pain and resentment. People with weaker willpower would have lost their minds long ago.

Hu Mazi felt his scalp tingling, and he quickly used the meager spiritual power in his body to resist, but those voices drilled into his ears like maggots attached to his bones, making his eyes black.

At this moment, David suddenly shouted in a low voice: “Concentrate and calm down!”

A stream of pure spiritual power was injected into Hu Mazi’s body, like thunder exploding in his mind, and those whispers disappeared instantly.

Hu Mazi was sweating profusely and gasping for breath: “fu, I almost...”

“It was the devil’s sound filling my ears.”

David’s eyes were solemn, “The remnant souls of the ancient demons at the bottom of the abyss are causing trouble. They can’t attack us directly, so they use this method to disturb our minds. Hold the jade pendant tightly, its breath can suppress these remnant souls.”

Hu Mazi quickly put the jade pendant on his chest, and he really felt a lot more at ease.

The two continued to move forward, and a fork in the road appeared at the end of the corridor. The passage on the left was filled with a faint smell of blood, and the sound of running water came from the right.

David checked the map and found that it only marked the location of the stone gate, and there was a blank after the fork in the road.

Full Read Online Chapter 5199 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5199

“It seems that we can only rely on ourselves to explore the way back.” He looked at the passage on the left, “The smell of blood is too strong, I’m afraid there are living things, let’s go to the right first.”

The passage on the right is relatively dry, and the ground is covered with gravel. After walking for about an incense stick of time, the front suddenly opened up and a huge cave appeared. There is a pool of dark green water in the center of the cave, with white mist floating on the water, exuding a faint fragrance.

“This is...”

Hu Mazi approached the pool and was about to reach out to touch it, but was pulled by David.

“Don’t touch it! There is something wrong with this water.”

David pointed to the mist floating in the pool, “It looks fragrant, but it is actually highly poisonous. Once inhaled into the body, the meridians will be eroded by the magic energy.”

He took out a porcelain bottle from the package, poured out a pill, crushed it, and sprinkled the powder into the pool.

The moment the powder fell into the water, it made a “sizzling” sound, bubbles appeared on the dark green water surface, and the white mist quickly dissipated like ice and snow encountering a raging fire.

“It’s poisonous indeed.”

David retracted his hand, “This pool of water should be used to isolate something, let’s go around it.”

The two walked carefully along the edge of the pool. The rock wall of the cave was inlaid with more ghost crystals, and the light became brighter and brighter. They could vaguely see a stone platform on the other side of the pool, and there seemed to be something on it.

At this moment, a huge wave suddenly rose in the pool, and a black tentacle as thick as a bucket suddenly jumped out of the water and whipped towards Hu Mazi’s back!

“Be careful!”

David reacted very quickly, pushing Hu Mazi away, and at the same time offering the Dragon Slaying Sword, the golden sword energy swept out, cutting the tentacle into two pieces.

Black blood spurted out with a pungent smell, and fell on the ground and corroded small pits.

A sharp roar came from the pool, and countless black tentacles emerged from the water, like dancing pythons, and attacked the two people frantically.

"It's a demon dragon!"

Hu Mazi recognized the monster. "It's recorded in ancient books that there is a guardian beast in the Burial Demon Abyss, which feeds on poisonous water. I didn't expect it to be hidden in this pool of water!"

David's eyes condensed, and the Immortal Sword in his hand turned into a stream of light, constantly slashing at the attacking tentacles.

But these tentacles seemed endless. When one was cut off, another one immediately grew out, and the speed was getting faster and faster, forcing the two to retreat again and again.

"This is not a solution. We have to find its body!"

David shouted, and the spiritual power in his body burst out without reservation. The golden shield expanded and shook off all the attacking tentacles. "Master Hu, try with your jade pendant!"

Hu Mazi immediately raised the jade pendant above his head, and the white light suddenly surged, illuminating the entire cave like a small sun.

The monster in the pool seemed to be extremely afraid of this light, and the roar became painful, and the attack of the tentacles also slowed down.

"It works!"

Hu Mazi was refreshed and walked towards the center of the pool holding the jade pendant.

Wherever the white light passed, the black tentacles retracted into the water, and the dark green water began to roll, as if something was about to come out from the bottom of the water.

David seized the opportunity, and his figure flashed to the edge of the pool. His spiritual consciousness burst out with all his strength, and finally locked onto a huge figure at the bottom of the pool.

It was a black giant dragon that was dozens of feet long, with a pair of curved horns on its head, and its eyes were like two blood-red lanterns, staring fiercely at the two people on the shore.

"Evil beast, you are looking for death!"

David snorted coldly, and the Dragon Slaying Sword drew a golden arc in the air, slashing towards the pool with the momentum of destroying the world.

The sword energy fell into the water, stirring up huge waves, and the pool water parted to both sides like a piece of cloth being split, revealing the huge body of the demon dragon covered with scales.

The demon dragon roared angrily, opened its huge mouth and sprayed a stream of black venom, sweeping towards David.

Full Read Online Chapter 5200 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5200

David tiptoed, dodging the poison like a ghost. At the same time, he formed a spell with his left hand, and the Concentration Heart Technique in his body was running. A light golden beam of light shot out from his palm and accurately hit the head of the demon dragon.

“Ah—“

The demon dragon let out a shrill scream, and its huge body rolled wildly in the pool, splashing water that wet the entire cave. Hu

Mazi took the opportunity to stimulate the light of the jade pendant to the extreme, and the white light pierced into the eyes of the demon dragon like a sharp sword.

The demon dragon closed its eyes in pain, and its huge body lost balance and crashed towards the shore.

“Now!”

David’s eyes flashed, and the Immortal Sword turned into a stream of light, instantly piercing the seven-inch vital point of the demon dragon.

Black blood gushed out like a fountain, and the body of the demon dragon twitched a few times on the ground, and finally stopped moving.

The two of them breathed a sigh of relief and sat on the ground gasping for air.

“The strength of this demon dragon is comparable to that of a third-grade cultivator in the Earthly Immortal Realm.”

Hu Mazi looked at the corpse on the ground with lingering fear, “The Burial Demon Abyss has just begun, and there is such a strong guardian beast. I’m afraid it will be more dangerous later.”

David stood up, walked to the body of the demon dragon, reached out and fumbled on its head for a while, and took out a black inner pill.

The inner pill exuded a strong demonic energy, but the energy contained in it was extremely pure.

“This inner pill may be useful.”

David put the inner pill away, “Although the demonic energy is overbearing, it can be refined and can also become a helper to improve strength. Let’s take a rest first, recover our strength and continue to move forward.”

He looked at the stone platform on the other side of the pond. The light there seemed to be brighter than the surroundings, and there must be something hidden there.
Pinshu.com <https://www.fastla5100.xyz>

And this demon dragon is probably the guardian of the stone platform.

The water in the cave gradually returned to calm after the demon dragon died, but the originally dark green water surface now had a faint black color and emitted a stronger stench.

David meditated by the pond and regulated his breathing, practicing the Concentration Heart Technique to absorb the surrounding demonic energy to restore his lost spiritual power. Hu Mazi walked to the stone platform on the other side curiously.

The stone platform was covered with a thick layer of dust, and a bronze box was placed on it. The surface of the box was engraved with the same runes as those on Hu Mazi’s jade pendant, but more complex and precise.

He was about to reach out to take it when David stopped him: “Don’t move! There is a ban on the box.”

David walked over and carefully observed the runes on the bronze box, frowning slightly: “This is the seal array of the Hu family. It seems that this box is indeed related to your family.”

“My family left it?” Hu Mazi was surprised and happy, “What could be inside?”

“It’s hard to say.”

David gathered a trace of spiritual power on his fingertips and gently touched the runes on the surface of the box. "This array looks simple, but it actually hides mysteries. Once it is forcibly opened, it may trigger a counterattack. Have you seen a similar array?"

Hu Mazi squatted down and placed the jade pendant next to the box. The white light on the jade pendant echoed with the runes on the box and began to rotate slowly.

"This rune... I have seen it in the illustrations of the ancient books of the family. It seems to be a blood verification array. Only the blood of the Hu family can unlock it."

He dripped the blood from his fingertips on the jade pendant according to the method recorded in the ancient books. The jade pendant instantly burst into a dazzling light and merged into the bronze box.

The runes on the box seemed to come alive, flowing along the path of light, making a light "click" sound, and slowly opened.

There was no gold, silver or jewelry in the box, only a roll of yellowed animal skin and a black token.

A few lines of ancient characters were written in dark red ink on the animal skin, and the token was engraved with the word "Hu". The edge was inlaid with tiny crystals, emitting weak spiritual power fluctuations.