

A Man Like None Other Novel

Full Read Online Chapter 5516 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5516

The aura, like a venomous snake, rushed straight towards David.

David snorted coldly, not dodging or evading. With a casual wave of his hand, a tremendous pressure instantly enveloped the two cultivators.

The pressure was like an invisible mountain, suffocating them.

“What?”

The two cultivators’ faces changed drastically. They had not expected David to be so powerful, unable to move with just a single pressure.

Their bodies began to tremble, and their legs buckled involuntarily.

“Who... who are you?”

one of the cultivators asked in horror, his eyes filled with disbelief.

His voice trembled, as if he had witnessed the most terrifying thing in the world.

David did not answer, but walked towards them step by step.

He could sense that the two cultivators’ cultivation levels were around the second level of the Human Immortal Realm, and they were no match for him.

His steps were steady and powerful, and every step he took seemed to step on the hearts of the two monks.

“Tell me, where is the Sixth Hall of the Temple?”

David asked in a cold voice, with unquestionable majesty in his tone.

His voice was like a huge bell, echoing in the strong wind.

The two monks were frightened by David’s momentum, trembling all over, and dared not have the slightest thought of resistance.

“Have mercy! We... We are just ordinary monks of the Sixth Hall, and we don’t know the exact location!”

One of the monks begged for mercy.

There was a hint of crying in his voice, as if he was on the verge of despair.

Another monk followed suit and said, “Yes! We are just here to do our job. Only the higher-ups know the exact location of the Sixth Hall!”

His eyes were full of fear, and his body trembled uncontrollably.

A flicker of displeasure flashed across David’s eyes.

He hadn’t expected the two cultivators to be so low-ranking, as to not even know the exact location of the Sixth Hall of the Divine Temple. He felt a wave of disappointment, wondering if he would have to continue searching in this vast wilderness.

Just then, the captured woman suddenly spoke, “Fellow Daoist, I know where the Sixth Hall of the Divine Temple is!”

David and Hu Mazi both looked at her in surprise.

Their eyes were filled with confusion, wondering how this woman could know the location of the Sixth Hall.

Seeing everyone staring at her, the woman quickly explained, “My name is Lin Yuner, and I’m from the Lin family of Dongxiang County. Many people in Dongxiang County have been sent to the Sixth Hall by the Princess. Just ask our Princess, and she’ll know.”

Her voice was gentle and clear, especially melodious in the gusty wind.

“Oh? Your Princess knows?”

David’s eyes flickered with interest.

Hope reignited in his heart, believing he’d finally found the Sixth Hall of the Divine Temple.

Lin Yuner nodded and said, “Yes, but the Sixth Hall is very hidden, impossible for ordinary people to find.”

“Can you take us to Dongxiang County?” Hu Mazi asked hurriedly.

He was excited, thinking that if he could find the Sixth Hall of the Divine Temple, he might be able to obtain a large amount of immortal stones to help David break through.

Lin Yuner hesitated, then said, "Of course, I can, but...but our princess doesn't allow outsiders to enter. I'm afraid you two will get into trouble."

Her eyes were full of concern, worried that David would be in danger.

David's lips curled into a sneer. "Is your princess powerful? Can she prevent others from entering Dongxiang County?"

In David's view, only a powerful enough person would dare to issue an order to ban outsiders from entering their territory; otherwise, such an order would be a joke.

"That's not the case, but our princess has a good relationship with the Divine Temple, so she has the Temple's support, and generally no one would mess with her,"

Lin Yuner said!

Full Read Online Chapter 5517 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5517

Hearing Lin Yuner's words, David laughed. It seemed the Princess of Dongxiang Commandery was colluding with the Sixth Prince, sending monks to the Sixth Prince in the form of lectures, and the Sixth Prince would surely be rewarding him.

"It's alright. Take us in. If your Princess won't let you in, we won't force you,"

David said.

"Okay, since you've decided, I'll take you there,"

Lin Yuner gritted her teeth and said, "But we have to be careful. Our princess is very suspicious."

"And I suspect our princess has some kind of deal with the temple, and she's constantly sending monks from Dongxiang County to the Sixth Palace. Some of these monks haven't returned, and those who have returned seem to have become demented."

"I've secretly investigated before, but I couldn't find anything. My father was also sent away this time. I wanted to find him, but I didn't expect to run into two monks from the Sixth Palace."

David smiled slightly and said, "You're right. Those monks who were sent there are supposedly giving lectures, but in reality, their souls are being collected. Monks whose souls are collected gradually become demented, and their cultivation stagnates, making it impossible for them to continue practicing."

"Huh? How did you know?" Lin Yuner was surprised that David knew.

"Of course I know, because I just destroyed a Sixth Palace altar used for lectures a few days ago, and the soul urn used to collect souls as well,"

David said with a smile.

Lin Yuner's face was full of disbelief. She didn't expect David to dare to destroy the Sixth Palace's things and openly oppose the Sixth Palace.

After all, in the Seventh Heaven, the Sixth Palace is a branch of the Temple, and no one wants to provoke it.

"Our princess is so abominable. In this case, my father will be in danger too. I will take you to find our princess now."

Lin Yuner gritted her teeth and said angrily.

David nodded, then looked at the two black-robed monks.

These two people knew their purpose, so naturally they could not leave them alive.

A trace of murderous intent flashed in his eyes, like two cold swords.

The two monks seemed to have noticed David's intention, and a look of horror suddenly appeared on their faces.

"Fellow Daoist, spare us! We don't know anything! Please let us go!"

They quickly knelt and begged for mercy, hoping to save their lives.

Their bodies trembled like lambs to the slaughter. But David remained unmoved, a murderous glint in his eyes.

He showed no mercy to the people of the Temple, especially the Sixth Hall. He recalled the various evil deeds the Sixth Hall might have committed and vowed to make them pay for their actions. As for the Fourth Hall Master, that was an exception.

“Since you are from the Temple, then die!”

Before he could finish his words, two jets of black and white flame shot out from David’s fingertips, instantly engulfing the two black-robed monks.

The flames were like two raging dragons, carrying an all-consuming aura.

The two monks didn’t even have time to scream before they were reduced to ash, leaving not a trace behind.

A strong wind blew, and the ashes drifted away, as if they had never existed.

Lin Yuner was stunned by the scene.

They hadn’t expected David to be so decisive and ruthless, killing people without hesitation.

“Senior... you...”

Lin Yuner said with a stutter, looking at David with eyes full of awe and fear.

She wondered what this man had been through to have such powerful strength and decisiveness.

David withdrew his gaze and said calmly, “The people of the Sixth Palace have committed many evil deeds and deserve to die. Let’s go to Dongxiang County.”

Lin Yuner nodded and turned to walk towards Dongxiang County.

Hu Mazi and David hurriedly followed, and the three of them quickly disappeared in the wind and sand of the wasteland.

Full Read Online Chapter 5518 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5518

The wind and sand continued to blow as David and Hu Mazi followed Lin Yuner’s footsteps, heading towards Dongxiang County.

Lin Yuner led the way, her steps light and firm, as if she knew the wasteland like the back of her hand.

“How long is the journey from here to Dongxiang County?” Hu Mazi asked impatiently.

Days of travel had left him somewhat exhausted, and now with a clear goal in mind, he was even more eager to find the location of the Sixth Hall of the Temple.

“Almost there! Just past the sand dunes ahead, we’ll see the walls of Dongxiang County,” Lin Yuner said, pointing ahead.

Sure enough, before long, a majestic city came into view.

The walls of Dongxiang County towered into the clouds, built of massive bluestones that gleamed in the sunlight.

The city walls were filled with guards, their eyes scanning the surroundings warily, as if on guard against something.

“How do we get in?”

Hu Mazi asked.

He knew that most cities had strict entry and exit regulations, let alone a place like this one, colluded with the Sixth Temple.

Lin Yuner thought for a moment and said, “I’m from the Lin family. They should let me in. As for you two, you might need to disguise yourself.”

“Disguise?” Hu Mazi was puzzled.

Lin Yuner nodded. “Yes, I’m afraid they’ll recognize you as outsiders and cause unnecessary trouble.”

David, however, was unconcerned. “No need to bother. We can just go in directly.”

With that, he headed straight for the city gate.

Lin Yuner and Hu Mazi followed helplessly.

Seeing someone trying to enter, the soldiers guarding the city immediately stepped forward to stop them.

“Stop! Who are you?” a soldier demanded sharply.

His eyes darted between David and Hu Mazi, as if he was doubting their identities.

Lin Yuner hurriedly stepped forward and said, “I’m Lin Yuner from the Lin family. These two are my friends. We’re going into the city.” The soldier looked Lin Yun'er up and down, confirming that she was indeed from the Lin family, before saying, "So it's Miss Lin, but these two..."

Before he could finish his words, David stepped forward and released a powerful aura.

That aura was like an invisible mountain, suffocating the soldiers defending the city.

"Get out of the way!" David said coldly.

His voice was filled with unquestionable majesty, causing the soldiers to involuntarily step aside.

David and Hu Mazi swaggered into the city, and Lin Yun'er hurriedly followed.

After entering the city, Hu Mazi asked, somewhat puzzled, "David, why did you release your aura just now? Wouldn't that just attract attention?"

David smiled faintly, "I just wanted them to know we were here, so we could better find the person we were looking for."

Lin Yun'er was also a little worried, "But then the princess would definitely know of our presence, and then we'd be in danger."

"Dangerous?"

David chuckled dismissively. "No one in Dongxiang County has ever made me feel dangerous."

His words were arrogant, but they radiated unquestionable confidence.

Seeing his confidence, Lin Yun'er and Hu Mazi said nothing more and simply followed him silently.

Dongxiang County's streets were spacious and clean, lined with ancient and elegant buildings.

Pedestrians streamed through the streets, and vendors hawked their wares, creating a prosperous scene.

If it weren't for the knowledge that the princess was in collusion with the Sixth Temple, no one would have guessed that this seemingly peaceful city harbored such a profound secret.

"Where are we going now?" Hu Mazi asked.

Lin Yuner thought for a moment and said, "Let's go to the Lin family first. I want to see if my father has returned."

Full Read Online Chapter 5519 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5519

David nodded. "Alright, let's go to the Lin family first and see what's going on."

The three of them soon arrived at the Lin family mansion.

The Lin family mansion covers a large area, with a simple and elegant architectural style. It's clear at a glance that this is a large family with a long history.

Lin Yuner led David and Hu Mazi into the mansion. The servants greeted her respectfully upon seeing her.

"Miss, you're back!" an old housekeeper hurried forward and said.

Lin Yuna nodded. "Butler Zhang, is my father back?"

Butler Zhang said, "The master just returned and is waiting for you in the study."

Lin Yuna's heart skipped a beat. "Really? My father is really back?"

Butler Zhang nodded. "Yes, the master just returned a short time ago."

Lin Yuna hurried to the study, followed by David and Hu Mazi.

Inside, a middle-aged man in a robe sat in a chair. His face was haggard, and his eyes were filled with fatigue.

It was obvious that this man was Lin Yuna's father.

"Father!" Lin Yuna shouted excitedly.

Lin's father looked up and saw Lin Yuna. A smile appeared on his face. "Yun'er, you're back."

But when he saw David and Hu Mazi, his smile froze.

"Who are these two..." Lin's father asked, somewhat puzzled.

Lin Yuner quickly said: "Father, these two are my friends. They are here to help us."

Lin's father thought for a moment, then said: "Help us? Is there anything our Lin family needs help with?"

Lin Yuner's face suddenly became a little ugly: "Father, don't you remember that you went to attend the opening lecture of the Sixth Hall?"

Lin's father's eyes flashed with confusion: "Sixth Hall? Opening lecture? I... I don't remember."

Lin Yuner's heart sank: "Father, how could you not remember? You clearly went to attend the opening lecture of the Sixth Hall!"

Lin's father shook his head .

"I really don't remember. I only remember attending an important meeting, but I can't recall the content of the meeting at all."

Lin Yun'er felt even more uneasy. She knew her father's soul must have been collected by the Sixth Palace, which was why he had lost his memory.

"Father, don't worry," Lin Yun'er reassured her. "We'll find a way to help you recover your memory."

Lin's father nodded, but a look of confusion still lingered in his eyes.

David and Hu Mazi were speechless at this scene.

Lin's father had indeed seen this in Black Wind City. Back then, David had absorbed the souls of these people, turning them into resources for his own cultivation.

Recovering his soul in this situation was simply impossible.

However, David was too embarrassed to tell Lin Yun'er directly.

After all, Lin's father's soul had been absorbed by David.

In that situation, these cultivators were deceived and were ready to attack David. Of course, David would not help them.

"What should we do now?" Hu Mazi asked.

David thought for a moment, then said to Lin Yuner, "Miss Lin, let's go to the Princess's Mansion first. Maybe your Princess has a way."

"Yes, the Princess sent my father there. We must find him."

Lin Yuner's face was full of anger.

The three of them immediately walked towards the Princess's Mansion.

The Princess's Mansion is located in the center of Dongxiang County. It covers an area larger than the Lin Mansion and has a more luxurious architectural style.

Two rows of guards stood in front of the mansion, their eyes vigilantly scanning everyone who came in and out.

"Stop! Who are you?" A guard stopped them.

Lin Yuner stepped forward and said, "I am Lin Yuner from the Lin family. I want to see the Princess."

The guard looked Lin Yuner up and down, then said, "The Princess is handling official business and will not see outsiders."

Full Read Online Chapter 5520 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5520

"Outsider?" Lin Yuner raged. "I'm a member of the Lin family, how can I be considered an outsider?"

The guard remained unmoved. "This is the princess's order, and no one is exempt."

Lin Yuner was about to say something, but David stopped her.

"Get out of the way!" David said coldly.

His voice carried a powerful pressure, causing the guard to involuntarily step aside.

David and Hu Mazi swaggered into the princess's residence, and Lin Yuner hurriedly followed.

The residence was richly decorated, with pavilions and towers arranged in an orderly manner, but David and Hu Mazi had no interest in admiring them.

They knew a storm was about to erupt.

Arriving in the hall, they saw the princess seated in the main seat, clad in a magnificent brocade robe, crowned with a jade crown, her face awe-inspiring.

When he saw Lin Yuner bring in two strangers, a hint of displeasure flashed in his eyes, but he quickly regained his composure.

“Lin Yuner, why did you bring these two strangers to see me?” the princess asked coldly.

Lin Yuner mustered up her courage, looked directly into the princess’s eyes, and said, “Princess, I came here today to ask you something.

Why do you keep sending our Dongxiang County monks to the Sixth Hall of the Temple?

Some of those monks who were sent there never returned, and those who returned became demented. What is going on?”

The princess’s expression changed slightly, but she quickly regained her composure.

He sneered and said, “Lin Yuner, are you questioning me? I sent them to the Sixth Hall so that they could have better training opportunities, improve their strength, and bring honor to Dongxiang County.

As for those who didn’t return or became demented, it was just because they were unlucky or had limited qualifications.”

Lin Yuner sneered and said, “Princess, you’re still quibbling. The Sixth Hall, under the guise of teaching, is actually collecting the souls of cultivators. Those whose souls are collected will naturally become demented and their cultivation stagnate. You colluded with the Sixth Hall, committing such a heinous act, and yet you still refuse to repent?”

A flash of panic crossed the princess’s eyes, but she quickly regained her composure. “I don’t know what you’re talking about. I think you’ve been bewitched.”

“Bewitched?” Lin Yuner wanted to say something else, but David stopped her.

“Princess, we don’t want to waste time on you,”

David said coldly. “We just want to know the location of the Sixth Hall of the Divine Temple. If you know what’s good for you, tell us. Otherwise...”

He didn’t finish his words, but the threat was clear.

The princess’s expression turned grim. He suddenly stood up, pointed at David and shouted, “Who are you? How dare you talk nonsense here! Come, take them down!”

With the princess's command, a group of guards rushed out from all directions and surrounded the three men.

These guards were all strong and powerful, holding weapons, and their eyes were full of ferocity.

Seeing this, Hu Mazi laughed and said, "You think you can take us down with just a bunch of you little minions? You really are overestimating yourselves!"

As he spoke, he took out a few talismans from his pocket and prepared to fight.

But David waved his hand, signaling Hu Mazi not to be impulsive.

He scanned the surrounding guards with a stern gaze, then slowly said, "Princess, do you think these guards can stop us? I advise you to tell me the location of the Sixth Palace, otherwise you will not be able to bear the consequences."

The princess sneered and said, "You? You, an ignorant brat, dare to be so presumptuous in front of me! Go ahead, take them down, and you will be rewarded handsomely!"

Upon hearing the princess's command, the guards brandished their weapons and rushed towards the three men.

David snorted coldly, and his aura instantly erupted, a powerful pressure enveloping the entire hall. The guards felt an invisible force rushing towards them, making it difficult for them to breathe and unable to move.