

A Man Like None Other Novel Chapter 5522

Full Read Online Chapter 5522 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5522

Hearing Hu Mazi's mention of sexual needs, Lin Yuner's face instantly flushed, recalling the time when she was naked and seen by Hu Mazi and David.

"Since you two need to deal with men, I can help you..."

Lin Yuner said in a very low voice.

Hu Mazi's eyes lit up when he heard this. "Really? That's great..."

"David, who's going to go first? How about a game of rock-paper-scissors? Whoever wins goes first, and the rest of you will just wash the dishes."

"I don't want to play, you play!" David shook his head.

Although Lin Yuner was not bad looking, David would never do such a thing as forcing someone to have sex with him against their will.

David had slept with at least a battalion of women, but they had all taken the initiative.

Even when they were forced to follow David in dual cultivation for the sake of cultivation, David had been passive.

"Since you don't want to play, I won't be polite..."

Hu Mazi wiped his drool and then looked at Lin Yuner with a lecherous look. "Miss Lin, where shall we play? Pick a comfortable place..."

Lin Yuner was stunned, then blushed and said, "You...what are you thinking? When I said I'd help you, I meant to find you two maids from my Lin family. But don't worry, the maids I find are also very beautiful, and they are all grown-up girls."

"Ah..."

Hu Mazi was stunned. It turned out that Lin Yuner was not offering her body for them to play with, but two maids.

But then he thought, maids are women too, and as long as there are women, it's fine. Hu Mazi nodded and said, "Okay, since David doesn't want to play, give me both maids..."

Lin Yuner nodded. "Then follow me..."

Lin Yuner brought David and Hu Mazi back to the Lin family and asked the housekeeper to find two maids for Hu Mazi to entertain.

Soon, women's screams could be heard from Hu Mazi's room, indicating that Hu Mazi was really holding back.

David stayed in the room he had prepared for himself, planning to rest. Once Hu Mazi had vented his anger, he would go find Liu Dian.

At this moment, Lin Yuner pushed the door open and walked in. Seeing David sitting on the bed, she asked, "Fellow Daoist Chen, are you not interested because you don't like the maid I've prepared?" "

No, I'm just not interested..."

David shook his head.

"Fellow Daoist Chen, you saved my life. I owe you a debt of gratitude. If you're not interested in a maid, I can help you find what you need!"

Lin Yuner said, actively undressing.

However, Lin Yuner cried as she undressed.

Although David was handsome and young, Lin Yuner didn't mind, but she still felt some resistance to offering her body in such an unclear manner.

But after all, David had saved her life, and since she had no way to repay him, she could only offer her own body.

"Miss Lin, you misunderstood. That's not what I meant..."

David quickly stood up and put Lin Yuner's clothes on.

She was already in tears; David couldn't force her.

What's more, David is not short of women. If he really wants to, the worst that can happen is that he can go back to the Sixth Heaven, but there are hundreds of women waiting for him.

When he was in the Sixth Heaven, David was squeezed dry by Ling Yue and hundreds of female disciples of the Medicine King Sect. He will not think about it in the short term .

“Fellow Daoist Chen, do you dislike my ugliness?”

Lin Yuner asked.

Lin Yuner didn't believe it. If she took the initiative to take off her clothes, what man could resist?

“No, no, I... I can't...”

David had no choice but to lie and say that he couldn't.

When Lin Yuner heard it, she was shocked and looked at David in disbelief. After a while, she said: “Fellow Daoist Chen, don't be too pessimistic. It may be that the martial arts you practiced made you lose the ability to be a man. You try to change the martial arts, maybe it will be fine.”

Full Read Online Chapter 5523 of the novel A Man Like None Other

Chapter 5523

“I'll try...”

David nodded! Since

David couldn't do it, Lin Yuner didn't bother about it anymore, so she left David's room.

Seeing Lin Yuner leave, David breathed a sigh of relief.

But just as he sat down on the bed, David felt the Dragon Slaying Sword on his body tremble, followed by a flash of white light.

A woman appeared in front of David.

“Zhongli?”

Seeing this woman, David suddenly became overjoyed, stepped forward and held the other's hand tightly. It turned out that the sword spirit of the Dragon Slaying Sword, Zhongli, had come out. Since Zhongli was injured, he has been recuperating in the Dragon Slaying Sword and has never come out.

Now he suddenly came out, and it seems that his injury has healed.

“Master...” Zhongli smiled at David.

“Are your injuries healed?” David asked.

Zhongli nodded. “All is well. I’ve missed my master terribly lately. I’ve been stuck inside the Dragon Slaying Sword, unable to come out. Watching him favor other women, I’ve been envious.”

Seeing Zhongli’s pitiful eyes, filled with longing, David knew exactly what he wanted.

“I was hoping to rest, but since Zhongli needs it, I have no choice but to give it to him!”

David said, hugging Zhongli and throwing himself on the bed...

... In the Sixth Palace’s ceremony hall.

Xue Wuying sat in a chair with a gloomy expression, facing the Sixth Palace Master, Jin Fu.

“Jinfu, your soul urn is destroyed. Can you still hand over your souls? We at the Evil Path Palace are sincere and have given you a large amount of refined immortal stones?”

Xue Wuying demanded of the Sixth Palace Master, Jin Fu.

“Don’t worry, Elder Xue. I’ve already notified the Third Palace Master of this matter, and he’s already sent the Fifth Palace Master to help me deal with David.”

“As long as you kill David, I’ll hand over his soul to you. This guy’s soul is far stronger than other cultivators’,”

Sixth Palace Master Jin Fu hastily promised.

“Well, you’d better take care of this matter. David is no pushover. Back in the Sixth Heaven, I saw him lead his men against the Soul Devourer, and even experts from the Ninth Heaven came to his aid. If I hadn’t seen the opportunity and fled quickly, I would have been buried in the Sixth Heaven,”

Xue Wuying said.

“Experts from the Ninth Heaven came to their aid?” Sixth Palace Master Jin Fu was stunned, having no idea what had happened in the Sixth Heaven.

“What happened to the Soul Devourer? Was even his soul destroyed?”

Xue Wuying shook his head. “No, he was rescued...”

“By whom?” Sixth Palace Master Jin Fu piqued his interest.

“Don’t ask questions you shouldn’t. They’re all powerful figures in the Ninth Heaven. Even if I tell you, you might not know. Just don’t forget about the soul.”

“As long as we cooperate well, our Evil Path Hall will definitely help the Third Hall Master finally control the entire temple,”

Xue Wuying said.

“Don’t worry, I’ve already ordered people to resume collecting souls,” the Sixth Hall Master assured.

Xue Wuying nodded, then stood up and left. The Sixth Hall Master, Jin Fuchang, breathed a sigh of relief, hoping the Fifth Hall Master would arrive soon.

He had no confidence in dealing with David on his own.

Meanwhile, at the Lin family in Dongxiang County, Hu Mazi had been playing around for three days, nearly killing two maids.

When they left the Lin family, Lin Yuner also wanted to join them in their quest to find the Sixth Hall Master to see if they could retrieve her father’s soul.

However, David disagreed. After all, Lin Yuner was too weak, and he would be a burden to protect her.

But David promised that if Lin Yuner’s father’s soul was still there, he would bring it back.

But David knew that Lin Yuner’s father’s soul was long gone, having been absorbed by David as a resource.

Lin Yuner nodded, and then let David and Hu Mazi leave.

Leaving Dongxiang County, David and Hu Mazi followed the direction given by the county lord.

Chapter 5524

The wind and sand howled like an angry beast, and the wasteland was vast and boundless, seemingly endless.

After leaving Dongxiang County, David and Hu Mazi resolutely headed northwest, heading in the direction the princess had mentioned.

“David, do you think what the princess said is true? Is the Sixth Prince really in the mountains northwest of the wasteland?”

Hu Mazi, somewhat unsure, frowned slightly, and asked with some doubt.

David nodded slightly, his expression calm and resolute. “It should be true. He was trapped in his situation, too afraid to lie.

And judging by his panicked yet deliberately concealed reaction, he’s truly just a puppet being manipulated. The real secret lies with the Sixth Palace.”

Hu Mazi’s eyes lit up upon hearing this. He chuckled, rubbing his fists, and said, “That’s great! When we find the Sixth Palace, we’ll definitely teach those guys a lesson.

They dared to collect the souls of cultivators for cultivation. They’re simply insane and inhumane. I won’t be able to quench my hatred until I tear them to pieces!”

David glanced at him indifferently, his eyes as if seeing through everything, and with an innate superiority.

Then he said slowly, “Don’t worry, their good days are over. Before me, David, any evil heretic is nothing but a piece of shit, vulnerable to a blow.”

The two men headed west, and the more northwest they traveled, the more desolate the surroundings became.

At first, you could still see some sparse vegetation and small animals struggling to survive in the wilderness, but later, even these signs of life completely disappeared, leaving only the yellow sand rolling like a surging tide, and the howling wind was like a sharp blade, cutting people’s faces painfully.

“Is there really anyone living in this damn place? It doesn’t even feel like a place where people can survive.”

Hu Mazi couldn't help but complain, while shielding himself from the wind and sand with his hands.

At this moment, David suddenly stopped. Standing tall and straight like a pine tree, his gaze piercing the sky. He pointed ahead and said, "Look, there's a mountain!" Hu

Mazi followed the direction of David's finger and saw a massive peak rising from the ground on the distant horizon, piercing the sky.

The peak was pitch black, like a sleeping beast, emitting a sinister and terrifying aura that sent shivers down one's spine, as if anyone approached would be devoured by the evil force.

"Is that the mountain where the Sixth Palace is located? It looks so strange, and it feels like it holds countless unspeakable secrets and dangers."

Hu Mazi swallowed, a sense of fear welling up in his heart.

David nodded, his expression stern, like an unshakable iceberg. He said, "That must be it. Look at the aura around the mountain; it's filled with a sinister aura, evidently due to the vast number of souls gathered here.

This kind of evil place is bound to breed the most ruthless and vicious individuals, but in my presence, they are destined to pay a heavy price."

The two quickened their pace, heading towards the peak.

The closer they got to the peak, the thicker the sinister aura grew, as if materializing. Even the air became icy cold, making it difficult to breathe.

"This place is truly eerie! I feel like my cultivation is being suppressed, as if restrained by an invisible hand. My whole body feels uncomfortable,"

Hu Mazi frowned, a look of pain on his face.

David smiled calmly, with a kind of contempt for all evil in that smile, and said: "This is normal. The Sixth Palace has collected so many souls and established a soul gathering formation here.

Ordinary people who come here may not even be able to stand steadily and will be directly swallowed by this evil energy. However, in front of me, any formation and any evil power are nothing but child's play."

As they spoke, the two had already arrived at the foot of the mountain.

Chapter 5525

At the foot of the mountain, a massive cave entrance appeared, engraved with eerie runes. These runes glowed with a faint green light, as if countless pairs of evil eyes were watching them.

Two guards stood before the entrance. They wore black robes, their faces expressionless, their eyes hollow, like two soulless bodies, clearly monks whose spirits had been collected.

“Stop! Who are you?”

a guard shouted, his voice echoing through the eerie valley with a terrifying intensity.

Hu Mazi was about to step forward when David stopped him with a hand. His eyes betrayed an undeniable authority. “Let me do it,” he declared.

He slowly stepped forward, each step akin to treading upon the enemy’s heart. He fixed the two guards with an icy gaze, then spoke in measured tones, “We’re here to take your lives!” As soon as he finished speaking, David unleashed a powerful aura that surged like a tsunami, instantly enveloping the two guards.

The guards didn’t even have time to react. Like ants struck by a mighty wave, they were crushed to pieces by the powerful aura. Without even a scream, they were reduced to a bloody mess.

“Let’s go in,”

David said calmly, as if he had just performed a trivial task. He turned to Hu Mazi and spoke.

The two entered the cave and discovered a long passageway. At intervals on either side, pale green oil lamps flickered, their dim light seeming to flicker as if on the verge of extinguishing at any moment, lending the passage an eerie atmosphere.

At the end of the passage reached the top of a mountain, where a vast hall stood. In the center, a massive stone platform, engraved with strange runes, emanated a sinister glow that sent a chill down one’s spine.

Lying on the platform lay a dozen monks, their eyes closed, their faces pale as paper, their breath barely audible. Their souls had been drained, their lives in imminent danger.

A dozen men in black stood around the hall, chanting strange incantations. The chants were deep and eerie, like a call from hell, as if they were performing some unholy ritual.

“Sure enough, they’re carrying out a sinister ritual here! These ruthless individuals simply don’t care about other people’s lives. Today, I’ll make them pay!”

Hu Mazi declared angrily, his eyes burning with rage.

A sharp, murderous intent flashed in David’s eyes, like an icy blade in the cold of winter, chilling everyone to the bone. He declared coldly, “Today is your day of death! Under my sword, all evil will be slain.”

As soon as he finished speaking, David leaped forward, like a soaring eagle, charging towards the men in black.

His figure traced a sharp arc through the dim hall, carrying an unstoppable momentum.

Seeing this, the men in black turned around, their eyes flashing red, like a group of beasts possessed by the devil, clearly controlled by evil magic and losing their self-awareness.

“Kill them!”

a man in black shouted, his voice sharp and piercing.

More than a dozen men in black rushed towards David at the same time, their movements in perfect unison, like a group of well-trained soldiers, obviously undergoing special training.

But in front of David, these people were like ants, vulnerable.

David punched and kicked, each move imbued with powerful force, as if it could split mountains and crack rocks.

His movements were smooth and seamless, and the men in black were completely unable to resist. They were knocked flying and fell heavily to the ground, the sound of broken bones echoing one after another, and they could never get up again.