

A Man Like None Other Novel

Chapter 5538

The red chains vibrated continuously, sending tremors through the entire space, emitting waves of teeth-grinding metallic friction.

The broken chains seemed to possess a life of their own. Each time David severed them, they would instantly reconnect, becoming even thicker and more resilient.

"No, this isn't going to work!"

David panted, his forehead covered in beads of sweat.

He had attacked nearly a hundred times in a row, but these strange chains seemed endless. No matter how hard he tried, he couldn't completely destroy them.

Hu Mazi, hiding behind David, his face as pale as paper, his lips trembling, said, "David, this formation is too strange. Our attacks are completely ineffective!"

David gritted his teeth, and the Dragon Slaying Sword in his hand burst into a dazzling light again.

He knew this was not the time to retreat. If entangled by these chains, the consequences would be disastrous.

"Try again!"

David shouted, channeling all his remaining immortal energy into the Dragon Slaying Sword.

The sword emitted a humming sound like a dragon's roar, and an even larger dragon-shaped sword shadow flew out from it, sweeping across the chains ahead.

"Bang!"

With a resounding roar, the dragon-shaped sword shadow collided with the chains, erupting in a dazzling burst of light.

This time, David's attack had some effect, completely shattering several chains in front of him, transforming them into a sky full of blood-red dots.

However, before David and Hu Mazi could rejoice, the scattered blood-red dots coalesced in the air, forming more and thinner chains, like a vast blood-red fishing net, enveloping them.

"Not good!"

David's face darkened, and he quickly held the Dragon Slaying Sword across his body, attempting to block the chains' attack.

However, this time, the chains were too numerous, densely packed together, like a swarm of locusts, making it impossible to completely block them.

Several chains broke through David's defense and wrapped around his arms.

"Ah!"

David groaned in agony. The chains seemed to possess life. Once wrapped around him, they began to madly absorb his spiritual energy and vitality.

Seeing this, Hu Mazi, no longer afraid, quickly formed hand seals, and a yellow talisman instantly flew out, striking the chains wrapped around David's arms.

"Break!"

Hu Mazi shouted, and the talisman burst into a dazzling burst of light.

However, the talisman had little effect. The chains only paused slightly before continuing to madly absorb David's power.

"It's useless! Your attacks are nothing compared to my Blood God Soul-Trapping Formation!"

Xue Wuying's voice echoed again from all directions, tinged with both pride and cruelty.

David and Hu Mazi's expressions grew increasingly grim.

They could feel their strength draining at an alarming rate, their stamina rapidly depleting.

If this continued, they would collapse from exhaustion without Xue Wuying's intervention.

"David, what...what should we do?"

Hu Mazi's voice tinged with despair.

David gritted his teeth, resisting the pain of his draining strength. "Don't give up," he said, "we must find a way out!"

Yet, even with these words, a sense of despair crept in.

He could sense that the power of this formation far exceeded his imagination, and it seemed to be growing stronger.

As time ticked by, David and Hu Mazi's physical strength and spiritual energy rapidly depleted.

Their movements grew slower, their breathing heavier.

Finally, after holding out for nearly an hour, David and Hu Mazi were exhausted.
