Chapter 1001 - The Strongest Influence in the Animus Universe! I

Conquest!

The mere word caused Noah's heart to beat faster as he found his path towards the Universal Rank.

It also coincided with what he had to do if he wanted to stand against Ambrose and the others, and whatever plans they had within these 9 Universes that they carried out the Universal Amalgamation.

Noah would go to these Universes as the targets of Conquest, obtaining Vassals within them as he raised strong enough forces to possibly break apart the Universal Constructs that Hegemonies were protecting!

If he himself broke into the Universal Realm, would beings like Ambrose be able to stop him?

At a rank where he would have obtained 50 Billion Dao Galaxies that he could even use to elevate a Grand Dao to a Cosmic one?!

The truly powerful enemy he saw was the mysterious Chronos that could utilize the terrifying Daos of Reincarnation and Chronos, but as long as he used Protagonist's Bookmark and obtained these Daos himself, what was to stop him from being able to stand against such an opponent?

THRUM!

His main body in the Dark Universe had swirling fortune and destiny raging all around him as Noah finalized his thoughts, the Primordial Ruination Clone in the Animus Universe moving across the rivers of blood his Summons and subordinates created as he moved to end the Universal War.

"Blood debts were repaid by blood."

RUMBLE!

His voice reverberated out of the bloody chaotic void as the forces of the 5 Bloodline Races felt their hearts turn cold.

His words also stopped the movements of the Animus Summons that were fused with his clones, their gazes cold as they locked on to the billions of creatures still filling up the legions of the Bloodline Races!

"Unless something changes...this cycle of bloodshed will continue as by the end of it, you will all face annihilation!"

WAAA!

"You followed the aims of Hegemonies as all it led was for the glorious Bloodline Races to fracture, bright Rulers being unjustly taken down as entire races became enslaved. At this point...you all failed! You chose the wrong being to follow. You need direction. You need discipline and true leadership"

...!

As he spoke, the figure of the Tyrant Dragon let out waves of oppressive power that caused the few remaining enemy paragons to quake, none of them moving forward as his gaze domineering waved over the billions of Monarchs, Great Sages, Sages, and Entities that made up their Legions.

"True leadership...."

As Noah said these words, the essence of a certain Dao began to fill up the body of the Primordial Ruination Clone as he prepared for it to be released onto the region with billions of beings wildly.

It was, of course, the Dao of Fealty!

"To stop all this bloodshed, you all...will pledge Fealty to a single being!"

The hearts of those that had already become Vassals among the 4 allied Bloodline Races buzzed as the hearts of the 5 enemy bloodline races shook.

They sensed a unique dao beginning to wrap around them with the words of the Tyrant Dragon, his gaze utterly cold as he continued with his words!

"You will pledge Fealty...or face Annihilation!"

WAA!

Mana wildly erupted from Noah as the essence of the Dao of Fealty spread throughout.

In front of the eyes of all beings floating amidst the rivers of blood near the Draconic Holy Lands, a prompt appeared.

[In exchange for a portion of his power, bind a portion of your soul to Noah Osmont and become his Vassal. Do you wish to swear Fealty to the Tyrannical Emperor?]

Noah didn't even bother hiding his name at this point.

He gave them the same prompt that he gave Valentina, all of the billions of powerful creatures of the bloodline races seeing this prompt appear brightly in front of them as they reached a point of no return for their long lives!

The 10 Animus Summons that Noah controlled lined up behind him as their bodies released horrendous waves of power, the essence of Cosmic Daos leaking from every single one of them.

The wrathful Queen Dowager whose body was bathed by blood for the retribution of her race.

The cerulean crowned boy who held a smile but had eyes filled with a hidden pain as the last being of his race.

The Twin Draconic Serpents that had just joined Noah's ranks.

The luminous Golden Crow with flames scorching the chaotic void, the Galaxy Devouring Serpent, Colossal Helios Leviathan, the kingly Calamity Bear, the vibrant Obsidian Panther, and the star sized Oculothorax carrying out deadly rays of soul destroying light!

All of these beings let out horrendous waves of power as they floated in front of the billions of creatures of the Bloodline Races.

With such a force behind him, Noah's figure of the Tyrant Dragon was filled with regality and majesty as he called out grandly once more.

"Fealty...or Annihilation."

Essence began to dance in waves.

The hearts of the fearful Bloodline Races that had seen this singular being survive even attacks of Paragons wavered and shook.

Within their minds, they voiced out.

"I Swear Fealty...!"

With their mouths, they called out.

"I Swear Fealty...!"

With their actions, they contributed to the birth of a terrifying being.

THRUUUM!

Each of the billions that had begun to pledge Fealty felt mana fill them to the brim as Noah got his first feeling of what Conquest would be like at this moment.

Past the boundary of the Animus Universe, Valentina watched this scene with a sharp light as Oathkeeper and the others watched on with intense gazes!

In the Dark Universe where Noah's main body was, his starry eyes gazed all around him as rivers of Universal Fortune began to form!

The glimmers of gold and wonder raged around him, Marks of Antiquity forming in the hundreds of thousands every second as rainbow colored Dao Galaxies began to light up in his Origin.

It was the boon of Conquest, and it was just a small test of it!

Chapter 1002 - The Strongest Influence in the Animus Universe! II

The gazes of the Hegemonies still using their power to observe from a large distance turned somber.

They saw the scenes in the chaotic void near the Holy Draconic Lands that was filled with the rivers of blood- they saw the scene where a single being told billions of creatures that before him, they would either have Annihilation...or Fealty!

They all chose fealty as seconds later, the auras of these beings began to crazily rise up as their eyes that were filled with despair and fear a second ago turned into those of shock, and when they looked up towards the figure of the Tyrant Dragon once more, their eyes had a fervent light aside from the fears.

This was because of the power they felt coursing through their bodies!

Yet...the gazes of the Hegemonies were still somber.

This was because they remembered this scene from not too long ago.

The eyes of Oathkeeper and others turned towards Valentina.

They realized the answer to their question of just who she had pledged Fealty to that caused her situation to entirely change as she turned the tables against 2 Hegemonies!

Valentina felt her face heat up at the questioning gazes of the Hegemonies, her figure beginning to waver as she spoke out.

"I have to go into seclusion and heal. Let me know how we decide to deal with these guys!"

WAP!

Without another word, she disappeared from the eyes of the Hegemonies as she didn't stay to answer their questions!

Their eyes had to turn back towards the incredulous scene of the Tyrant Dragon as at this moment, the many watching Hegemonies placed him on their watchlist as an important existence to keep track of.

This was because at this moment, he was directly placing his influence on an entire Universe at a rate even Hegemonies didn't dare or had the capabilities to- and these knowledgeable beings knew that when such an existence broke through to the Universal Realm, their Universal Fortune must be great as they would quickly rise in power!

But even these Hegemonies could never expect that Noah's fortune was already more massive than many Hegemonies, the number of Marks of Antiquity he had collected being something that many of them could only ever dream of.

WAA!

The scene at the bloody chaotic void of the area near the Draconic Holy Land turned quiet as Noah's eyes gazed at all the Billions of beings with the Legions of both sides.

Both the allied 4 Bloodline Races and the 5 Bloodline Races that were enemies.

All the forces of these Bloodline Races that had participated in the Universal War had pledged Fealty under his words of Fealty of Annihilation!

His fortune and destiny were swirling crazily around his main body in the Dark Universe, but the eyes of his clone remained utterly cold as with the wild power it showed, a command released from it once more.

"The strongest of your Races have pledged Fealty...but their Trillions more back in your Holy lands that need to do the same. Only with this path can peace be achieved."

"Set off and spread the word. You've tested the wonders of pledging Fealty...let all your people do the same!"

The hearts of many beings trembled as they couldn't help but nod, the Legions of many creatures beginning to move as the cluster of forces around Noah began to spread to different directions.

8 Animus Summons shot towards the cluster of 8 Bloodline Races, each of them being Noah's representatives as they would spread Noah's influence to the trillions of creatures spread out across the Holy Lands of these Bloodline Races!

Noah's Tyrant Dragon figure, Tiamat, and the Blue Slime remained in the chaotic void as their eyes turned towards the Draconic Holy Land not too far from them, Noah's command ringing out as the Dragons that were watching this scene in a stupor like many others began to move.

Paragon Quinnie's heart was still shaking as she watched her husband move towards the Serpentine Holy Land with Noah's Galaxy Devouring Serpent in the lead, her gaze turning back towards the Draconic Holy Land that all dragons were heading to as it was time.

Time for them to reclaim the homes stolen from them long ago!

The Queen Dowager was leading the procession of Dragons as a fantastical scene of rows of majestic Dragons making their way towards their Holy Land played out, the figures of the bloodline races that had remained behind within these lands feeling a shocking force come towards them as they would soon begin quaking where they stood.

Tiamat's goal of revenge and reclamation of her home after over a hundred thousand years...Noah would achieve it for her merely days after he arrived in the Animus Universe!

It wasn't the two Hegemonies that were fighting for influence over the last tens of thousands of years...but a Paragon that had risen up in mere days taking the seat of the most influential creature within this Universe!

Waves of change continued to spread out from this moment as many powerful beings moved to understand exactly what had occurred, even more on them focusing on a few figures they had to pay attention to.

Near the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Clusters where a Universal Construct stood.

Chronos watched as the figures of Oathkeeper and a few others faded away, leaving behind only a few clones from the Hegemonies that had cloning abilities as they kept watch over the events within the Animus Universe.

Chronos stared at Ambrose and the other Hegemonies around him with eyes shining with ancient lights as he spoke, the aura he emanated making these powerful beings all turn towards him as he was the center of attention.

"Assess the status of all the other Universes and how the rate of Accumulation is proceeding. We need to get a timeline of when everything will come together...and when the Antiquity will be born!"

RUMBLE!

With a gaze full of relentless might, Chronos forged forward with an unknown goal that the powerhouses of the Primordial Cosmos were currently moving to stop!

Chapter 1003 - A Universal Banquet! I

Within the Dark Universe.

Noah's main body remained floating amidst the fields of verdant gold greenery while all around him, rivers of fortune and destiny were swirling around brightly, his hands gradually plucking off strings of destiny as he tried to understand his path forward.

At the same time, spatial fluctuations began to erupt not too far from him as his languid eyes turned towards this direction, the appearance of one of his clones coming to fruition as with him...was the slender figure of a captivating woman!

A woman whose aura alone caused the space around her to shake, her dark eyes that could draw in the souls of weak men opening as her aura spread out all around her- her gaze becoming that of increasing shock before her eyes focused on a particular being that was wantonly releasing the Fortune and Destiny he wielded!

Noah's clone faded away as it achieved the task of bringing a powerful Hegemony into the Dark Universe, this Hegemony herself locking her gaze towards Noah as her eyes shone like bright lanterns.

"This...isn't the Primordial Cosmos!"

THRUM!

This powerful being sensed it right away, looking towards Noah with shock as the implications of what she found were truly grand!

Amidst the golden rivers of fortune and destiny, Noah smiled lightly as he nodded.

"Yes. It is the Lost Universe that was fractured from the Primordial Cosmos some time ago, the Dark Universe that is currently under my control."

The eyes of Valentina constricted into slits at these calm yet boastful words as she brought herself to purely focus on Noah at this moment.

Truth be told, she didn't even know how to interact with this being as the situation surrounding him was just too special. She had her status as a powerful Hegemony, yet this being in front of her was a mere Paragon...and at the same time the one that she had pledged fealty to and become a Vassal!

'Well, at least that is even bigger than before.'

She tried to simplify her thoughts as she focused on Noah's vast fortune that had become rivers about to form into seas at this moment, her body moving faster than light as she appeared in front of him an instant later and locked eyes with him from a few inches away.

She saw his calm eyes that didn't even flutter, eyes that seemed to show no fear even in front of a Hegemony as he merely looked towards her with a smile! Valentina sighed in defeat as she stared at this being and spoke out.

"I cannot see through you. What exactly is it that you want? What is driving you to do everything you're doing right now?"

She tried to understand the being she had pledged her Fealty to at this moment as she wondered what would happen in the future, and she watched as Noah ignored her question and wave his hands to the verdant golden greenery below them, Fruits filled with the essence of laws being plucked and rising towards them a second later as Noah offered her some.

His gaze seemed far away as he thought about her question before he replied.

"I actually can't give a proper answer to that as my goals have constantly changed over the weeks..."

Valentina raised her eyes at this as she expected someone to at least say their goals had changed over the years, but she said nothing as she continued to listen!

"In the past, I moved for the sake of securing my safety, and I later moved for the sake of others where even my entrance in the Animus Universe was for Tiamat. But..."

A myriad of thoughts crossed Noah's mind as Valentina's question had made him reflective! He thought about the Apocalypses he got past and against the enemies he found, even his current goals where he planned to go on the Conquest of multiple universes!

He might say it was to try and stop the actions of the terrifying Hegemonies following Chronos and whatever they were trying to bring to fruition within the Primordial Cosmos but...even though this was something he wanted to do, he saw it as part of what drove him to make the goal of Universal Conquest.

The even larger part that caused his heart to blaze with ambition...was Antiquity!

It was power!

As he thought about this, he found himself coming up with too many answers as he merely shook his head while looking towards Valentina.

"Well, it doesn't really matter what my past goals were. For now and in the coming future...my goal is the Conquest of the Universes affected by the Universal Amalgamation that Ambrose and the others carried out, it is to increase my influence at a scale that even Hegemonies could not even dream of as in a matter of weeks or months...I will form my Universal Seed and rip apart whatever plans these beings have."

"...!"

RUMBLE!

Valentina's eyes shook as she saw the rivers of Fortune above this being churn at just his words- words that were so domineering that even this Hegemony found herself taking a step back!

A claim of conquering Universes as he achieved the Rank of a Hegemony within months.

Not the hundreds of thousands of years it took others, but within weeks or months!

Valentina wanted to call this claim a mere dream but she couldn't bring herself to, gathering herself as she recalled how this being had jumped from Great Sage to Paragon in seconds.

She looked at him seriously as she didn't refute his words and merely nodded. With such a vast fortune swirling around him, who was to say what he could and could not do?!

"On the way here, Oathkeeper sent a message that in three days, a Universal Banquet will be held in the Elysian Universe to discuss the events surrounding Chronos and the others, as well as the gathering of information on what to do about it!"

RUMBLE!

Noah's eyes shone brightly at these words as he looked towards the gorgeous figure of Valentina that was looking at him with bright eyes.

" It will be nearly all of the Hegemonies within the Primordial Cosmos, including many beings that weren't present during the events that occurred today. Among those attending, the invitation was extended to the Tyrant Dragon Paragon that was moving around in the midst of Hegemonies like nothing today."

Chapter 1004 - A Universal Banquet! II

"...Among those attending, the invitation was extended to the Tyrant Dragon Paragon that was moving around in the midst of Hegemonies like nothing today."

RUMBLE!

These words caused Noah's eyes to shine brightly, the idea of meeting even more powerful existences being something he was not averse to!

After all, they would just be lining themselves up for who would be next in line for Protagonist's Bookmark in the coming future.

"We'll go see what solutions others can come up with, but first...let's power you up a bit before anything else!"

Valentina raised her eyes at Noah's words as he only gave her a light smile while moving his hands to cause their figures to shift away.

This Hegemony that had lived for a great deal of years was curious how the strength of someone of her level could be further increased, not yet knowing how Noah held an entire library of vast amounts of skills and Skill Trees, few of them being spectacular skills he designed himself as even a Hegemony was about to enjoy the boosts of Noah's System!

As this scene of an introduction of a Hegemony under Noah getting shown around the Dark Universe took place, the events in the Animus Universe were concluding in a spectacular fashion.

Currently, Tiamat was standing on the highest mountain peak of the Draconic Holy Land- a mountain peak that was called the Holy Dragon Mountain that she used to reside on as it was located on the highest galaxy within the many galaxy clusters, all her subordinates climbing towards it whenever they wanted to pay respect!

The Holy Dragon Mountain was shaped in a manner as if it had the jaws of a dragon sharply closing towards the very peak, the area around it filled with an overabundance of essence that nearly formed into thick rivers as this area was one of the many unique locations across the Animus Universe that was at a point where a large amount of essence condensed continuously.

Verdant greenery could be seen all around it as this was the most respected peak any being could ever stand a chance of climbing in the Draconic Holy Lands!

Paragon Quinnie was standing right behind Tiamat atop the mountain as her gaze contained a great deal of memories, never thinking the reclamation of their home land would happen this fast or in this manner.

The eyes of Quinnie were locked onto the single figure that made it all possible, the Tyrant Dragon that had actually turned into a human form as was currently leaning against Tiamat's glistening scales as he took in the spectacular scenery of the Holy Dragon Mountain.

Beside him, Tiamat's eyes were red with emotions as she voiced out towards him.

"Thank you, not just for keeping your promise but for everything else."

The Progenitor of Dragons humbled herself down as she gave thanks to the being that had taken her from Entity to Paragon in a matter of less than 3 months, and he had now given her back her home along with all the retribution she could want!

Something out of her wildest dreams- this being made possible. Yet to all this...Noah just smiled as he patted the scales of Tiamat.

If one wanted to look at the biggest winners of this Universal War and the whole venture into the Animus Universe, there was no bigger winner than him!

He had thundered into the Draconic Holy Land with them and ripped apart any creatures of the Bloodline Races that resisted, the trillions upon trillions that had not participated in the Universal War being given the same option of Annihilation or Fealty!

At the majesty of the Tyrant Dragon as well as seeing a vast number of their own Paragons and Monarchs that had already become Vassals under Noah, the wills of these creatures shattered as they bent the knee soon after.

This meant that among the most clustered locations of the Animus Universe, Noah had already brought the entirety of the Draconic Holy Lands under his heel- his Animus Summons that made their way to other Holy Lands of the Bloodline Races only needing some more time before such a scene repeated itself in the homes of the other Bloodline Races.

After that...with the majority of the powerful creatures within the Animus Universe as his Vassals, it would be another Universe that Noah heavily influenced as his rewards from it were many times over compared to the Dark Universe!

The increased Universal Fortune and Destiny...the explosively forming Marks of Antiquity!

Days passed as a new reality settled into the Primordial Cosmos, with many more Hegemonies that were in the far reaches of the Cosmos or had secluded themselves finding out about the actions that Chronos and a few other Hegemonies had taken.

The new reality of 9 Universes was made clear as the Universal Constructs within each of them continuously pulsed with an eerie red light, gathering the very essence of the Universes while reinforcing the tight restrictions it placed on them!

Such scenes caused many Hegemonies to turn somber, and the auras of many Hegemonies could be felt clustering around the Elysian Universe as Oathkeeper had called forth a Universal Banquet to gather information and look for solutions to these recent actions!

Today was the day of this fantastical Universal Banquet, many beings making their preparations and making their way over to the Elysian Universe as a mixture of powerful beings was about to occur.

Within the Dark Universe, Valentina was shaking her head at the incredulous sight in front of her as she truly saw tens of thousands of Marks of Antiquity constantly forming around Noah every second, the events of the Animus Universe continuing to follow their conclusion as many beings became his Vassals and his influence stretched throughout the Universe!

He had kept the forming Marks of Antiquity hidden these past three days as he didn't want to show off, but Valentina had asked him about it before they set off for the Elysian Universe as he decided to reveal it.

When the Hegemony saw such a scene, a deep blow was dealt to her psyche as she saw this being make the progress she made in years in a matter of hours!

The confidence of a Hegemony that considered herself a one of a kind genius who could even birth a unique Dao was shattered on this day in front of the sight of the existence that was Noah Osmont!

Chapter 1005 - Just Some Random Hegemonies!

The flowing Marks of Antiquity died down as Noah made them invisible, even the rivers of Fortune that were turning into seas around him fading away as he opened his eyes.

With the recent events of the Animus Universe, he was able to bring his total number of Dao Galaxies from the 40 plus million to over 400 Million- a factor of over 10 times within a short time span as the Animus Universe held significantly more beings than the Dark Universe, and ones with even greater levels of power!

One also couldn't forget Noah's influence in the sequence of events of Universal Amalgamation, this also contributing to the amount of Marks of Ruination he was able to condense and then fuse them into him to form the Dao Galaxies.

His strength felt boundless at this moment as he shook away the feeling and focused on what was at hand. He looked at those around him- at the beings that would be accompanying him to the Universal Banquet occurring in the Elysian Universe!

The prideful Hegemony of Summoning that had her psyche shaken as she saw things she shouldn't have, her identity as a Universal Realm Hegemony of course granting her entrance into the esteemed banquet.

Noah himself could bring a plus one as among the many beings he could take with him...the figure of a blue haired Ice Queen stood near Valentina with calm eyes and a smile that was enough to shake the kingdoms of men!

Adelaide had a reserved expression as even with a Hegemony nearby, she didn't feel an ounce of fear or apprehension as her eyes seemed to only focus on Noah.

There had been a furious battle in the past three days for the position of who would accompany Noah to a meeting with powerful existences of the Primordial Cosmos, Barbatos and Anna threatening war before they were calmed down, the figures of Elena and Athena being seen around the Universal Core with depressed expressions as they sighed endlessly for being left behind!

It was the reserved Adelaide Belmont who took the spot as at this moment, the Realm of this alluring woman was elevated to a PARAGON after being pumped heavily with the Cores of this rank that Noah had looted in abundance and then duplicated from the Universal War.

PARAGON!

She didn't even care what level her Realm reached as her goal was to always just be near Noah, but he made her enter a Time Space and absorb the cores so that there wouldn't be any mocking or any events where powerful Hegemonies would focus on her as a being that was only at the level of a Great Sage.

"Everything is ready?"

Noah's voice rang out light as his main body remained still, his Primordial Ruination Clone appearing in front of Adelaide as he took her hand, Valentina coming to stand beside them with a sigh while steel reeling from her destroyed pride.

The body of the Primordial Ruination Clone was meant to be a dragon in human form, Noah utilizing the Dao of Subterfuge to still release the aura of the Tyrant Dragon while taking on the form of a devilishly handsome man in his 20s, not taking the form of his actual face as he didn't know whether a being like the Cerulean Hegemony he had fought with in the Dark Universe would be one of the beings to make his way into this Banquet.

The bodies of Adelaide and Valentina were both clones as Noah also had this Hegemony learn the Blood Lord Skill Tree, the route of survival and preservation being taken to the extreme as even on an event like this Universal Banquet, clones were sent forth!

Mana began to bubble around their three figures.

The essence of a Cosmic Dao descended down as Noah used the feature of his Cosmic Treasure to wrap its essence around their bodies with their target being a direct teleportation to the Elysian Universe.

WAA!

With a burst of light, their figures disappeared as only their main bodies were left behind in the Dark Universe, their clones shuttling through space as within seconds, they were teleported into the Elysian Universe!

The bright and beautiful Universe where even the chaotic void shimmered gold, the essence of laws around the environment abundant as the mere void of this Universe made one feel they were somewhere special.

"I'll take it from here."

Valentina spoke out lightly as another light of teleportation wrapped around them, taking them from the area Noah brought them to and bringing them closer to a certain location.

It was a bright glimmering galaxy that was surrounded with enormous Golden Chains, looking extremely holy and majestic as even Chronos was not granted entrance into this Galaxy when he came over to the Elysian Universe last time!

When the three of them appeared, a golden light shone from the Galaxy as it seemingly scanned them, a door being created seconds later where they could pass through and enter the galaxy as they were granted an audience.

Their three figures pushed on forward as Adelaide remained tightly close to Noah, Valentina floating in front of them with a serious expression as they stepped into the galaxy that was the birthplace of the special being known as Oathkeeper- it was the Astraesus Galaxy!

It was a planet that was known as the Hallowed Astral Star, a glorious planetary body with incandescent beauty that Noah could see even from afar!

The auras of a ridiculous amount of Universal Experts could be felt on this Planet as behind them, Noah felt an aura of a Hegemony near and pass them as the figure turned around to curiously observe Valentina and then the auras of 2 Paragons behind her before he continued forward onto the Hallowed Astral Star.

Valentina spoke lightly at this scene as they also made their way forward.

"Many of the Hegemonies you meet are beings that have lived for hundreds of thousands if not millions of years. They have a high level of pride about themselves that Paragons or even those below do not even come into their eyes. I would tell you to be careful in conducting yourself...but I really don't know what you'll do!"

Valentina felt like she was only getting to know Noah after the past few days, but even she wasn't sure how he would act when he faced the powerful identities of the Hegemonies that were coming from all corners of the Primordial Cosmos.

At her words, Noah only smiled as he spoke lightly.

"It's just some random Hegemonies we've never even heard of. We don't need to put them in our eyes if they don't put us in theirs!"

RUMBLE!

His shocking words caused Adelaide to laugh as she looked at him with even more loving eyes, Valentina only shaking her head at the crazy words as they floated towards the Hallowed Astral Star where they could feel the auras of many Hegemonies already there.

Chapter 1006 - A Meeting of Distinguished Existences! I

Within the Hallowed Astral Star.

It was a paradisiacal scene as a lush golden forest filled with mystical vegetation and harmless creatures flew about.

The atmospheric essence within this planet was extremely dense as rivers of essence could occasionally be seen flowing in the bright skies!

Within the skies of this golden planet, an enormous chunk of earth was freely floating as on top of it, the auras of a great deal of Hegemonies could currently be felt.

Many were discussing with each other as the mood was somewhat somber, but there were unique creatures flying about carrying foods and remarkably shimmering drinks that made the mood into one that fit a banquet more.

These creatures held bright gold wings on their back as they were only about a meter in size, commonly known within the Elysian Universe as the Race of Halcyon Fairies!

Their eyes bubbled with joy as they filled the long stretches of tables on top of the floating landmass of the Hallowed Astral Star with appetizing foods, occasionally tending to the Hegemonies that called onto them for specific things.

Within this floating landmass that was a few miles long, Hegemonies from all corners of the Primordial Cosmos were continuing to fly in as many became reacquainted with old friends, other even meeting enemies they had bad memories of as it was a mix of many beings!

Existences at the Universal Realm rarely stepped out of their Universes, being more worried about their own strength and power as they strove to influence many beings in any way they can while collecting marks of Ruination and finding the way forward.

An example was a particular Hegemony we had come to know before, a being letting out a powerful aura as he shone bright blue from head to toe- a cerulean blue crown rotating majestically atop his head.

With an expression filled with dissatisfaction, the Cerulean Hegemony looked around at all the Hegemonies as not a single one seemed to enter his eyes!

The only thing he paid attention to were the conversations, a particular one nearby catching his attention and managing to bring up bad memories.

"I respect Oathkeeper, but what use is there in gathering us all here? We just need to break the authority protecting those Universes and we can solve all of this!"

A Hegemony that looked entirely transparent as glass spoke to a humanoid Hegemony as its body trembled with unknown power. The humanoid hegemony only shook his head at the words, replying soon after with a calm tone.

"I don't think it's just this. There was also the death of the Lost Universe not too long as our Cosmos lost a part of itself, and these actions by Chronos and the others that deal with isolating other Universes...its something even I cannot fathom no matter how much I peer into destiny!"

RUMBLE!

The reply of this Hegemony made many beings turn to look in his direction, but it caused the Cerulean Hegemony's mood to turn even more sour as he remembered a particularly detestable creature that had stood before him not too long ago and took away his chance to gain a Cosmic Treasure!

The arrival shouldn't have been different than any of the others, but they caught the eyes of the Cerulean Hegemony and multiple other Hegemonies the moment they appeared as within the sea of powerful Universal Realm Hegemonies, they actually saw two Paragons being escorted by a Hegemony.

Paragons!

The figures of the bewitching Valentina and Adelaide walking with Noah's confident and tyrannical demeanor caught many eyes, these three beings landing on the floating landmass as the buzzing of conversation stopped to stare at them.

Noah took in all these gazes with a smile as Valentina's expression became annoyed, pulling Noah and Adelaide towards the food as with her identity as a newly rising Hegemony, she didn't have too many connections here!

"...I didn't think they let any tom, d??k, and harry come to such important events like this."

RUMBLE!

The voice of the Cerulean Hegemony rang out clearly as Noah turned his eyes towards him, looking towards this being that didn't see through him with great surprise as his eyes scanned him up and down.

The being that had tried to fight with him for a Cosmic Treasure! The being that had briefly crossed the Sea of Ruination and survived...the being that he had planned to rip apart whenever he gained enough power and time to do so.

Noah didn't think it would be this same being that would find trouble with him!

Valentina turned her head towards the direction of the Cerulean Hegemony as she was already in an annoyed mood today after having her genius shattered by Noah, gazing coldly towards the glimmering blue Cerulean Crown as she spoke dismissively.

"I didn't think so either, but here you are."

WAA!

The eyes of many Hegemonies constricted at the fiery reply, the Cerulean Hegemony's face becoming cloudy as power began to emanate from his body in droves. He didn't think any random Hegemony would even dare to reply to him like so, much less when it came to 2 mere Paragons!

The surroundings turned icy cold as the Halcyon Fairies surviving food began to tremble, Valentina's eyes sparking powerfully when she felt the essence the Cerulean Hegemony had begun to release as she seemed fearless.

When it seemed like things were about to boil over and erupt...

"Alright, let's settle down and get things started. Many of us are already here."

THRUM!

Beside Oathkeeper, another being descended with him as this being received just as much attention- and this was because it was another heavy weight at the same level as Oathkeeper and Chronos!

One of the most powerful beings of the Primordial Cosmos!

This existence was an archaic creature that was born with a unique physique that was made up entirely of the essence of chaos, his entire figure looking like a dark elemental that drew in any surrounding light. Wings that palpated with chaos and destruction unfurled freely behind him as his face was a black hole that could suck in the souls of weak beings if they stared for too long.

It was an archaic Hegemony that had lived far longer than many other Hegemonies- even preceding Oathkeeper himself. The creature that was the first to comprehend the Cosmic Dao of Extinction, the Universal expert that was known as The Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos!

Chapter 1007 - A Meeting of Distinguished Existences! II

The history of the Primordial Cosmos was something that was known by very few beings.

If there ever existed a being that could give you a thorough history of the millions of years that had passed within the Primordial Cosmos, that being would be the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos!

A creature born with the unique physique of the very essence of chaos as his figure was a pulsating mass in a humanoid form, vibrant obsidian wings inlaid with archaic runic circles as his head was a swirling black hole.

Such a being had entered along with Oathkeeper as it brought all conversations to a halt!

OOOM!

The surroundings palpated as Noah looked over at this being with sharp eyes.

Even while using Eyes of Truth, this being only had an overabundance of question marks as he couldn't find out much, but he was able to see the Daos this being held that he could use as a target for Protagonist's Bookmark if he wished!

The Cosmic Dao of Extinction, The Cosmic Dao of Chronos, Annihilation...this being was stacked with powerful Daos as he was no lesser than Oathkeeper, possibly even being more powerful in some areas as all the eyes of powerful beings collected themselves around these two figures.

They stood amidst everyone calmly as Oathkeeper was the first to speak.

"Time is of consequence, so I will not waste yours or mine."

The eyes of Oathkeeper shone with a light of power and conviction as he continued, speaking towards tens of Universal Experts that stemmed from many regions of the Primordial Cosmos

"I called this Universal Banquet here because of the actions of Chronos and multiple other Hegemonies that worked with him to hatch machinations that even now we do not fully understand. One of the purposes of this Banquet is to share information...the other will become apparent after the first is accomplished!"

Cryptic words left Oathkeeper as his eyes focused on all Hegemonies, eventually coming to land on Noah's calm figure that was one of the only 2 Paragons amongst the sea of Hegemonies!

At this moment, Noah was ridiculously not focused on the discussion that was being carried out, the eyes of many beings coming to land on him only to see him finish putting the savory foods lying on the long tables around them on his plate as he seemed more intent on eating!

"..."

Oathkeeper ignored all this as he spoke towards Noah.

"You were at the center of this when it began. You'll be the first to share."

THRUM!

While being stared down by the gazes of these powerful beings, this Paragon didn't sweat one bit as he began to talk..while taking bites of the glimmering golden foods on his plate! Valentina and Adelaide stood beside him with a somber expression as the recounting of the events in the Animus Universe occurred.

Minutes passed as Noah gave out the information he could without compromising any of his information, finally finishing up after nearly 15 minutes as he even put his plate down to give his closing words!

"All in all, the activated Universal Constructs that have linked together the 9 Universes through Amalgamation are currently drawing in immense reserves of Universal Essence, their goal being a form of unification or...a summoning ritual!"

RUMBLE

A summoning ritual!

Such words caused the minds of all those listening to buzz as when these aged existences thought about what such a summoning could entail, and their guesses were horrendous, to say the least.

After Noah, Valentina was given the spot light next as she talked about Ambrose and how she nearly destroyed one of the Universal Constructs, more and more information being released on the Universal Amalgamation that had occurred within the 9 Universes as after her, Oathkeeper called upon multiple other Hegemonies that had gone to observe the changes within the Liberated Universe, Necrotic, Microbial, Automaton, Chthonian, Euthenia, Omicron, and the Abyssal Universes.

The discussion lasted for more than 2 hours as the gazes of many Hegemonies were somber at the end of it!

This was when the atmosphere of the banquet changed as everyone's gazes landed on Oathkeeper.

Now what?

WAA!

The pressure Oathkeeper released became even greater as he looked at the powerful Existences around him, his gaze also landing on the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos that was standing behind him.

"We have to proceed forward, but before we do so, we have to realize that Chronos, Ambrose, Dark Shadow...all of these were Hegemonies we thought did not know or even ?ssociate with each other- and yet they carried out this plan together."

"It means that there is a very real possibility of there being more allies of Chronos and the others in our midst!"

RUMBLE!

"What?!"

Essence vibrated dangerously as the golden sky trembled, the gazes of many Hegemonies turning chilling as Oathkeeper kept his calm and commanding expression.

"This was the other reason I called you all here...it is because it is time for another Oath! An Oath that lets us know we can trust each other to be on the same side in the future to come...an oath that will tell us if there are any enemies among us that we have to look out for!"

Many eyes shined brightly as even Noah nodded his head in commendation at such an action!

"We gathered once before to swear an Oath that gave order to our Primordial Cosmos...we are gathered here again to do the same thing. This time, It will be an oath that is judged based on truth...where as the creator of the Dao of the Oath Keeper, I will know whether you truthfully stand with us or if you are within the camp of Chronos!"

RUMBLE!

"We will find out here and now if there are any other beings hiddenly working behind our backs, and only then can we move forwards with a solution."

An oath!

The purpose of the Universal Banquet was actually to swear an oath and see who among them were traitors and who stood with them!

Chapter 1008 - The Book of Oaths!

A buzz of discussions broke out the moment that Oathkeeper finished his words, many Hegemonies having differing opinions about this!

THRUM!

Yet the figure of the Oathkeeper released a terrifying pressure at this moment as his body shone with gorgeous splendor, his voice ringing out again.

"The Oath is very simple as there is no harm in it and we all only benefit from the security knowing there are no enemies among us. Any Hegemony who shows unwillingness towards this...has something to hide and will be labeled an enemy to be killed with extreme prejudice!"

WAA!

...!

Overbearing!

Dominant!

The Oathkeeper let out such an aura as all discussions stopped!

He effectively told them that either they agree and make the Oath, or they would be labeled an enemy.

What an awe inspiring sense of power!

This was something that only Hegemonies at the level of Oathkeeper, Chronos, and the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos would be able to do. It was restricted to beings that controlled unique Cosmic Laws that others couldn't even dream of.

OOOM!

Mana overflowed from the Oathkeeper's body as in front of him, a golden book materialized as it swirled with a unique dao.

The appearance of this book caused the eyes of many beings to turn reminiscent as it reminded them of years long gone, when many of them broke into the Universal Realm at the moment of their ascension, Oathkeeper appeared in front of them soon after as they swore an Oath with the very same book they were seeing right now!

The process of connecting all of the Galaxies within one's Origin and birthing a Universal Seed was a magnificent affair, the aura of every newly appearing Universal Realm Hegemony when they bloomed their Universal Seed being an event that was sensed across nearby Universes.

Now, this book had appeared in front of the Hegemonies once more!

This was the Book of Oaths that kept all the Oaths under the Dao of the Oath Keeper, a book that had a simple mechanism of requiring a being to place their hand on a single page as they swore an Oath.

The eyes of the Oathkeeper shone with power and might as he glanced at the direction of the nearest Hegemonies, his voice ringing out majestically as his golden hair and bright wings vibrated powerfully.

"Make the Oath."

RUMBLE!

It wasn't a request anymore as it even seemed like a command, yet the common Hegemonies nearby could not deny as they began to step forward!

The first ones were the Hegemonies that were close allies with the Oathkeeper to begin with, beings that he had called upon when the chase with Dark Shadow first began. They stepped forward as the first one placed their hands on a page of the book, calling out loudly.

"I am not an enemy of the Primordial Cosmos, nor am I colluding with Chronos!"

THRUM!

Like a procession of beings, every single Hegemony went towards the Book of Oaths and made an oath that they weren't enemies or colluding with Chronos and his group!

"I am not an enemy of the Primordial Cosmos, nor am I colluding with Chronos!"

WAA!

All the Hegemonies nearby had gone as Noah and Valentina's party was up next, Valentina had a sharp light crossing through her eyes before she went forward and placed her palm on the floating book in front of the Oathkeeper.

Her words were light.

...

The page shone gold. The Oathkeeper nodded his head as Valentina stepped aside. The gaze of this domineering being that even commanded Hegemonies then landed on the figures of Noah and Adelaide.

Noah had a light smile as the gaze of this terrifying being focused on him, walking forward with light steps while holding on to Adelaide's hand. The pair of figures looked more at peace than even the hegemonies here, as if they were merely a couple on a sightseeing trip!

And it was actually so for Adelaide as she didn't put any of the powerful beings aside from her man in her eyes, her fair hand being the first to land on the Book of Oaths as she would actually be the first existence at the level of a Paragon to lay their hand on this book.

"I am not an enemy of the Primordial Cosmos, nor am I colluding with Chronos."

The book shone gold as the same Oath that was said by everyone else rang out from Adelaide, her figure stepping back as Noah stepped forward while staring at the glimmering golden book. His eyes glimmered with an unknown light as even he was curious how this would turn out!

Adelaide had no care for the events of the Primordial Cosmos as she didn't even know who Chronos was, so he wasn't worried about her.

What about him though? What about the holder of the Cosmic Dao of Ruination that directly opposed the nature of the Primordial Cosmos?!

'Let's see'

With an expectant gaze, Noah's palm landed on the Book of Oaths.

...

A second passed.

RUMBLE!

The eyes of many Hegemonies constricted as the body of Oathkeeper began to tremble with immense might!

The golden skies suddenly turned oppressive as the attention of everyone focused on Noah at this very moment. Among the groups of Hegemonies that had not yet sworn an oath, their eyes flashed with unknown lights as they seemed to hold confusion.

A change had occurred in those swearing Oaths for the first time today!

Chapter 1009 - Ah! A Cosmic Treasure! I

While the pages of everyone that swore an oath shone with a golden light, Noah's Oath was blank as it caused changes to appear on the expressions of many!

Valentina's eyes turned somber as she slowly began to step forward in case something happened.

Noah's eyes remained on the book as his palm sank even further into it, his heart calm as he repeated again!

"I am not an enemy of the Primordial Cosmos, nor am I colluding with Chronos!"

WAA!

The words rang out for a second time as it was only after a second passed did the book seemingly believe him, shining golden like it had for everyone else before!

"..."

The pressure emanating from Oathkeeper died down as his gaze locked onto Noah. Noah's eyes also turned up as he stared at the mountainous figure of the being in front of him as he seemed to have drawn even more attention to himself.

He gave a light smile as he nodded while stepping back, leading Adelaide back to where Valentina was. The Hegemonies in the surroundings sucked in their breaths at this scene as the Oathkeeper's eyes returned placid.

Any time the Book of Oaths shone gold, it meant that the being swearing the Oath was uttering the complete truth! White was undecided, and a crimson light meant they were enemies!

"Continue."

His voice was unhurried as he called for the process to continue. Among the Hegemonies that had yet to go, one in the back seemed to have decided something after watching the scene of Noah, this being stepping out as his eyes flashed with an intense light!

His steps were unhurried as he came in front of the book and placed his hand while calling out.

"I am not an enemy of the Primordial Cosmos, nor am I colludi-"

RUMBLE!

Before his words even finished, a terrifying crimson light shot forth from the Book of Oaths!

The face of the confident Hegemony rapidly deteriorated and changed!

The golden skies became tinged with red.

The eyes of Oathkeeper became filled with utter coldness as his essence flew out and descended down like tides.

"Hold on...!"

BOOOM!

Essence exploded from the Hegemony that had caused a crimson light to rush out of the Book of Oaths before his oath even finished, his body erupted with the essence of many grand daos as he began to move back!

Yet!!!

WAA!

A golden clock appeared in the skies above them as its light focused on him, his figure coming to a halt right after as he couldn't even move.

"Hegemony Firespark."

Oathkeeper's voice rumbled out like an archaic creature bellowing out to lesser beings full of anger, his gaze on Hegemony Firespark being filled with immense coldness and disappointment as the golden Clock in the skies released an intense light to wrap around this being tightly, the Hegemony not even being able to his strength to defend!

"For colluding with Chronos and holding malicious intentions towards the Primordial Cosmos, only death awaits you!"

RUMBLE!

...!

"He shall be held in a Time Prison for interrogation while this procession continues!"

WAA!

The dominating voice of the terrifying Hegemony that had been able to overwhelm another Universal expert in mere seconds rang out as it shook everyone out of their stupor.

This was the power of the Hegemony that was renowned in the Primordial Cosmos!

One of The Three- beings of utmost power that had the most chance to reach Antiquity!

Chronos, Oathkeeper, and the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos.

Even Noah's eyes shined brightly at the scene that played out as aside from the Dao of Chronos and a myriad of other Daos that Oathkeeper had just utilized to render a Universal expert defenseless, he sensed another Dao that he couldn't identify.

A dao that even he couldn't see when he looked in the details of Oathkeeper under the Eyes of Truth!

Such a shocking possibility caused Noah to focus greatly on the next set of events as there seemed to be much more than what meets the eye when it came to this terrifying being!

When Oathkeeper raised his eyes again to stare at the remaining Hegemonies that had yet to swear their oaths, his eyes were filled with a deadly light that caused the bodies of the Hegemonies to tremble fearfully, especially those that had hidden intentions.

After seeing a Hegemony being so helpless in front of the power of Oathkeeper, the remaining beings didn't step forward as a particular Hegemony shining cerulean blue crown holding a cloudy expression couldn't help but speak out!

"Oathkeeper, you know we all respect your strength, but what if you are wrong? The light didn't activate for the paragon before as something happened, and now a red one shone from Hegemony Firespark as you acted without even hearing him out, where the fates of those of us who cannot resist you will be doomed if the Oath is mistakenly incorrect!"

THRUM!

The Cerulean Hegemony's words got the agreement of the remaining Hegemonies that held apprehension after seeing the Oathkeeper's decisive actions, but his words only made the gaze of this terrifying being even colder as it focused on him.

Yet the Cerulean Hegemony seemed relentless as his eyes shone brightly, continuing to speak out.

"Those of us that do not stand on the same level as you cannot resist even if you are wrong, why don't you have someone of your level swear the Oath next?!"

RUMBLE

The existence with a swirling black hole as a head, his humanoid form seemingly made of a Sea of chaos as his sheer presence palpated with power!

The eyes of all beings turned towards the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos.

The gaze of the Oathkeeper seemed Impartial as while focusing his gaze on the Cerulean Hegemony, he spoke out.

"The Order of who swears the Oath matters not. Goliath, pacify them and have your Oath done next!"

OOOM!

To Oathkeeper, it truly didn't matter who went first or last as long as everyone here swore an Oath and they knew who their allies and enemies were!

So the eyes of all beings focused as they waited to see whether the last two times were mistakes, wanting to see exactly what color would shine from a being as terrifying as Oathkeeper swearing an Oath.

Noah's eyes also landed on the terrifying personage with a black hole for a head as an instant later, his colorful eyes shook as the immense fortune and destiny he carried told him something, a light of shock coursing through him!

Oathkeeper had turned around as the Book of Oaths was ready to accept another palm, everyone expectant on the Goliath to step forward!

RUMBLE!

Seconds passed.

The Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos did not take a step forward.

The black hole atop his head seemed to vibrate greatly, a discernible light of Extinction coursing through it as this powerful existence did not take a single step!

Next, an ancient sigh could be heard.

Oathkeeper's strong expression that had never faltered all this time actually changed, an expression of shock and then anger soon entering his eyes as he stared at the non moving figure of a being that had even preceded him in age!

Thereafter....all hell broke loose!

Chapter 1010 - Ah! A Cosmic Treasure! II

A sigh that came from an ancient being!

The sigh seemed to be filled with melancholy, holding a great deal of age and vicissitude as the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos lit up with colorfully enticing lights.

The many Universal experts felt their hearts shaking at such a scene, their expressions turning from incredulous to utter shock in the next second as a scene they never would have expected in their wildest dreams began to play out!

The enticing lights that had formed around the Goliath were of course, the lights that represented the essence of Extinction.

Extinction!

Just what did a being need to do to comprehend such a Cosmic Dao?

How stars, Realms, or galaxies did they have to bring to extinction just to gain minor accomplishments within this Dao? What more did they have to do to achieve full comprehension?!

Over the millions of years, just how many civilizations had fallen under the hands of this unique being to bring him where he was today?! The answer was unknown!

But the essence of this being erupted out fully as the moment he chose not to step towards the Book of Oaths, a shocking reality was revealed that even the Oathkeeper couldn't believe.

"Preposterous! You...you...!"

Disbelief.

Doubt.

Incredulity!

Even the Oathkeeper was in disbelief as out of everyone within the Primordial Cosmos, the being he least expected to be involved with Chronos and doing something that harmfully affected the Cosmos was the Goliath in front of him.

Yet reality proved different as this shocking scene came to life!

Why? Just why would someone of his caliber move like so? Just what was Chronos doing that he even pulled in a being such as this?!

The events about to play out happened nearly instantaneously when one truly understood the strength that Universal Experts could wield, that in the next seconds the positions of Hegemonies vastly shifted as the scene became clear.

The figure of the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos was stretching out its chaotic hand towards the Oathkeeper, the horrendous essence of Extinction palpating dreadfully as it threatened to wipe out whatever it touched.

But this wasn't all!

Behind the back of the turned Oathkeeper that was looking towards the Goliath with unbridled surprise and wrath, there was also something else occurring that others barely noticed until it fully played out!

It was the figure of the Cerulean Hegemony that had challenged the Oathkeeper and actually called for the Goliath to next, bringing this whole situation to fruition.

It was the figure of Noah's old enemy that had spent 100,000 years to try and obtain a Cosmic Treasure and the Cosmic Dao of Ruination, happening to fail at the last moment due to a native with ridiculous abilities.

The cerulean blue crown atop this Hegemony shimmered as it undulated on his body, his mouth opening unnaturally wide while he grew to become over 10 meters tall instantly!

His opened mouth gushed out large waves of water as from this passage, the aura of a single shocking being stepped on the raging blue waves, his arms outstretched as a purple clock had already formed in front of him, his figure entirely coming out of the mouth of the Cerulean Hegemony as it was....Chronos!

He wasn't given entrance into the Astraeus Galaxy as this time around, he snuck in with the invited Hegemonies as a unique ability of the Cerulean Hegemony was utilized to hide his aura until now.

Oathkeeper had called this Universal Banquet to quell out those he couldn't trust, while Chronos was using it as an opportunity to get rid of the being he considered the biggest enemy to the succession of his plans.

Just who would come out the victor at the end of it all?

THRUUM!

The essence of Extinction was striking at him from the front as the chaotic hand of the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos had nearly reached him. A pulsing purple clock behind him as the Dao of Chronos was filled with a killing light behind him.

All of it...thundering towards a single Oathkeeper as his eyes were currently filled with wrath! His closest allies were looking at this scene with incredulity as their essence coursed through their bodies, already shooting towards the enemies surrounding the Oathkeeper as they hoped to be able to provide some support!

But...

"PREPOSTEROUS!"

BOOOOOOM!

The golden skies shook and sundered.

Such immense and palpable wrath coursed through him that even those glancing at his figure didn't even bother looking for too long, but they couldn't turn their eyes away!

This was because a terrifying aura far superseding that of the Goliath and Chronos appeared at this very moment.

This was because on top of the skies above Oathkeeper, a pristine white disk had appeared.

A hollow disk that looked like a ring of light, shining with immense pure white light as from it, every single creature could feel a type of essence they only came in contact with when they underwent the process of Purification.

It was the Primordial Essence that very few got a chance to come in contact with, and yet this disk was overflowing with it as its intense light washed down on the Oathkeeper and everyone around him, nearly everything coming to a halt!

Many beings looked to the skies in shock as Noah was the one to receive the most shock with his eyes honing in on the enormous white disk.

"Ah...!"

This was because he was reminded of an aura of a certain treasure his main body had reforged not too long ago, and this white disk reminded him of it greatly as it was a treasure that stood directly opposite to it in nature!

"A Cosmic Treasure!"

Noah unconsciously uttered the words as the incredulous minds of many of the Hegemonies that didn't even know what was happening shook.

As an assassination was about to be carried out, a Cosmic Treasure appeared in the golden skies of the Hallowed Astral Star!
