

Mana 1011

Chapter 1011 - Unbridled Might!

A Cosmic Treasure!

Noah stared at the shocking treasure that had eclipsed the skies, the pure white disk pulsing with the purest Primordial Essence as it washed down in droves towards the Oathkeeper.

Towards the outstretched hands of the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos and the deadly shimmering purple clock that Chronos put forward, there was just an explosion of white light!

Pure, unadulterated white light that represented the essence of the Primordial Dao as it smashed against both Chronos and the Goliath!

BOOOOOM!

A horrendous sound occurred as normally, space would have torn and shattered as everything became chaotic, but with the appearance of the rivers of Primordial Essence...space was as stable as it could be as this essence that made the Primordial Cosmos truly had shocking effects.

WAA!

Two powerful auras were pushed back from the droves of Primordial Essence rushing down the pristine white disk, crashing onto the bodies of the Goliath and Chronos hundreds of times in the tenth of a second as their own bodies pulsed with the essence of many Daos just to push back the singular Primordial Dao!

When the scene cleared, only Oathkeeper remained standing, his gaze showing immense wrath and disappointment!

His golden hair waved in the sea of white Essence as his golden wings pulsed, his image this time striking itself into the hearts of all beings as he looked too damn dominating.

"Why?"

THRUM!

He spoke with unbridled wrath and might as the white disk descended down, beginning to spin crazily as many beings felt like the very air was squeezing around them.

Amidst all of this power, even Noah felt like a leaf just following the deadly winds constantly raging about, his current level of power not being able to do anything about it!

This was the type of effect one could portray when they utilized the might of a Cosmic Treasure to its fullest!

Even against 2 beings at the same stage as him, he was still able to bounce them off!

The figures of Chronos and the Goliath were heavily pushed back as their bodies felt the strain from the shocking Primordial Essence constricting around them, Oathkeeper's eyes focusing on the Goliath.

"Why?!"

RUMBLE!

The surroundings only quaked more as the Oathkeeper continued to ask, the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos letting out an aged sigh as he spoke out, the essence of the Daos of Extinction and Chronos weaving around his body swiftly at the same time as he fought back against the Primordial Essence.

"For Antiquity."

....!

THRUM!

It was all for Antiquity!

Even the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos had sided with Chronos due to this as this old being also wanted to grasp Antiquity.

"I see."

The eyes of the Oathkeeper shimmered with an intense lustre as he spoke.

"Then...you can die for Antiquity. [Primordial Enclosure]!"

WAAA!

Essence wildly raged as shockingly, a phenomenon occurred not on this Hallowed Astral Star where the shocking set of events was occurring, but the Astraeus Galaxy itself!

The golden chains that surrounded the Astraeus Galaxy all this time disappeared.

They disappeared as they materialized around the Hallowed Astral Star, their golden exterior shaking and falling off as if it were false gold, a pristine white being seen underneath as it let off intense waves of Primordial Essence!

At this sight, the faces of Chronos and the Goliath changed as Chronos could be seen letting out a sigh.

It was a sigh of melancholy, of a being that had tried to get their way so many times but they still couldn't!

This was actually true as Chronos had lived through multiple lives where he got to this point...and not once had he been able to achieve his goal of taking out the terrifying Oathkeeper and having him out of the equation.

Now in this life, even with him getting the Cerulean Hegemony on top of the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos to side with him and bring this opportune scene into a reality, it still didn't change anything!

The first few times when he came to this point in history, his body and soul were ripped apart purely with Oathkeeper's power alone.

A few times after that, he comprehended many more Daos as he became more proficient in the Dao of Chronos, and his power had just barely been able to cause the Oathkeeper to release his Cosmic Treasure to deal with him.

This was how he ridiculously found out that Oathkeeper was in possession of a Cosmic Treasure!

Now, multiple lives later, he was trying a different path as he got past the point that Oathkeeper summoned the Cosmic Treasure and destroyed all enemies, the power of the Goliath proving to be a tough one as for the first time in all his lives, he saw a new phenomenon where after the Cosmic Treasure appeared, the Golden chains that were tightly wrapping around the Astreous Galaxy were actually long chains of condensed Primordial Essence.

THRUM!

"Since you are chasing Antiquity with such fervor, you can die for it! Primordial Disk....reduce them to cinders!"

...!

WAA!

Immense power and might rumbled out as Chronos sighed even more, the light of Extinction around the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos only increasing as he received a message from his compatriot.

'Oathkeeper is just too much. We have failed and shouldn't stay here for too much longer!'

"..."

The Goliath heard these words as a sharp light crossed through his eyes.

They were all of the same levels. So why?... Why was the gap between Oathkeeper and him so large?

No answer could be found as Chronos appeared beside the Goliath with somber eyes. Since they couldn't win against the terrifying Cosmic Treasure and the white chains that threatened to keep them here, they had to retreat!

They then spoke at the same time.

[Extinction Tree of the End Times].

...!

RUMBLE!

A tree with boundless strength of Extinction and the abstruse concept of Chronos began to erupt out and spread its trunk and branches wildly.

It bounced off the pristine chains of Primordial Essence as they dug through the Hallowed Astral Star and stretched towards the space above it, threatening to drown everything out in the decimation of time and Extinction as Oathkeeper would have to focus on this ever growing tree!

Just to make their retreat, Chronos and the Goliath had actually used a fused skill that combined the essence of two shocking Daos!

Chapter 1012 - A Dreadful New Reality!

In the vast Primordial Cosmos, there were many things that remained a mystery.

One of these mysteries was the concept of the Cosmic Dao of Ruination that one needed if ever they wanted to traverse outside of the Cosmos.

Something that very few thought about though, was the type of essence that birthed the Primordial Cosmos- the essence that purified every single one of the beings within it when they began achieving high enough levels!

There was a Dao of Ruination, and naturally there was the Primordial Dao!

A Dao of utter regality and majesty that as of this moment, the only person to comprehend it within the Primordial Cosmos was the dominant Oathkeeper.

The only reason he did so was because he got his hands on a Cosmic Treasure...on the Primordial Disk that currently covered the skies and sent its pressure down on every living thing within the Hallowed Astral Star!

Even two of the most powerful Hegemonies could not stand against him as they utilized a fusion skill of truly powerful Daos that caused the eruption of the [Extinction Tree of the End Times].

The tree dug through the Hallowed Astral Star the moment it bloomed, beginning to spread out towards the space of the Astraeus Galaxy soon after as it threatened to spread the light of extinction on everything it touched while the light of Chronos threatened to cause everything to fall to the vicissitudes of time as they deteriorated!

It was an attack of wanton destruction as the golden hair of the Oathkeeper flowed calmly, his eyes capturing everything that the moment this tree began budding, he commanded the Primordial Essence to wrap and protect all the guests of the Hallowed Astral Star, his eyes then gazing at the ever growing Extinction Tree as his Cosmic Treasure pulsed to release even more Primordial Essence to wrap around and contain it.

Around this time, the figures of a few Hegemonies began to silently disappear as the Chronos was first, followed by the Cerulean Hegemony and three others as the last to leave while the Oathkeeper was containing the wanted damage of Chronos and Extinction was...the Goliath!

The swirling black hole this being had for a head vibrated with power as he released another sigh, his figure fading away soon after.

RUMBLE!

Essence wildly spread out as a few seconds passed before the shocking growth of the Extinction Tree of the End Times was stopped by the Primordial Essence, this pulsing tree having entirely torn the Hallowed Astral Star in half as its length alone stretched out tens of thousands of miles!

It was a skill cast to bring immense and wanton destruction, but the Oathkeeper that could wield the Primordial Disk and command the essence of the Primordial Dao had an impassive expression as after he contained the growth of the Tree by wrapping it with Primordial Essence, he began to grind it down and cause it to disintegrate at a very rapid pace as tens of thousands of miles of length were eradicated in a second.

An instant later, the Extinction Tree disappeared entirely!

When the Hegemonies looked around in shock and incredulousness, they only saw the shattered Hallowed Astral Star around them as the figures of multiple Hegemonies were missing along with the Goliath and Chronos.

They had many traitors among them it seemed, but they had all been uprooted from this single event as the power of the Oathkeeper was reinforced as the strongest in the Primordial Cosmos!

His power was about to be expressed even more as with a flutter of his hands, it felt like time was moving in reverse as droves of Primordial Essence wrapped around the shattered Hallowed Astral Star, its pieces beginning to come back together as Noah and the other Hegemonies that were still wrapped in a protective light of Primordial Essence watched this same shocking essence weave around a destroyed planet and put it back together as if it was never shattered!

THRUM!

It was a scene of utter majesty and power as within seconds, it was like pieces of a puzzle were coming together as the torn apart pieces of the planet they were on came back together, the golden chains that had become white disappearing as they returned to wrap around the Astraeus Galaxy once more.

"..."

Noah looked at this scene with shining eyes as Adelaide grasped onto his hand tightly.

Valentina and the other Hegemonies looked towards the Oathkeeper with slight apprehension and awe at his show of power as the wings of this being vibrated with power, Primordial Essence swirling around him as the scene of him calling the Primordial Disk to reduce in size and fall into his palm was inscribed in the minds of every single being!

Surrounded by a sea of Primordial Essence, he looked like an archaic being from ancient times as with his command, everything was brought back to calmness.

"..."

Not a single being spoke as they saw the eyes of the Oathkeeper open, a tremendous amount of pain and wrath hidden within as at this moment, this being felt like the weight he carried on his shoulders had just increased by an even larger amount.

A being he even looked up to and considered a friend...a being even older than him had sided with the enemy side as at this moment, he felt alone!

Yet...he wielded tremendous power as even they could not do a thing against him, not while he was in this Astraeus Galaxy anyways.

Not while he had the chains of Primordial Essence wrapping around this galaxy, the very same weapon that had caused the plans of Chronos to miss once more in this lifetime as they had to run.

But the end of today's events made one thing clear.

The power shift in the Primordial Cosmos had rapidly changed, and they now entered the reality where everyone knew the strongest being of the Cosmos wielded an unstoppable Cosmic Treasure, while the 2 strongest beings that followed him were chasing after Antiquity as they used 9 Universes as sacrificial lambs for something yet to come!

Chapter 1013 - The Start of a Universal Conquest! I

A new reality was upon them all as Noah was one of the first to witness it, the gazes of all Hegemonies still looking towards Oathkeeper as this being seemed to come out of his melancholy and look at all of them.

"That is the threat we face."

RUMBLE!

"False dreams being chased by Chronos as even Goliath was pulled into them! Their chase of Antiquity will most likely just call forth a terrifying force that will not even grant them what they want, but merely cause us all destruction!"

WAA!

"That...is what we have to stop!"

"..."

The hearts of all those listening trembled as their eyes were somber, the Oathkeeper continuing with his words as he waved his hands to call forth the Book of Oaths once more.

"Let's finish this first, and then we can have a brief intermission as I prepare some things."

The process of swearing the Oaths continued as there were no traitors after beings like the Cerulean Hegemony disappeared with Chronos, the few remaining Hegemonies all having a golden light shining when they made the oath as it finished just minutes later.

OOOM!

Golden lights of destiny and fate weaved around as this was finished, the Book of Oaths closing and disappearing as a bright golden light began to erupt from Oathkeeper to cover everyone.

"A change in setting for the allies around us, enjoy the amenities and abodes. We shall resume after a day."

The golden light that erupted from him and covered Noah and all the Hegemonies in the surrounding carried with it a spatial light, these beings trusting the Oathkeeper immensely after all this as they let the spatial light carry them to another destination!

When they opened their eyes, they found themselves in the skies of a breathtaking place, a hazy color of golden clouds floating in the skies above them as ambrosial golden mountains stretched out below them.

Upon these mountains were exquisitely designed castles, each of the Hegemonies appeared near one of these castles as the voice of Oathkeeper rang out.

"This is my Elysian Realm. Choose an abode and relax in here for a bit while I prepare some things. We shall resume tomorrow!"

The shocking aura of Oathkeeper then disappeared as the Hegemonies looked at each other with different expressions before they shot down towards nearby castles. Many of them had to think about a myriad of things as this paradisiacal environment was as good a place as any, and a few of them felt their hearts needed rest after undergoing such a shocking set of events!

Amidst all this, Noah had a domineering thought that would cause commotion if others ever heard it!

'Well, it's only slightly better than some areas of my Universal Core...'

WAA!

Auspicious essence shone around them as Noah took in the sights while thinking of the shocking set of events that just happened. As if his thoughts could be read, the Cosmic Treasure that was connected to him and had seen the things his Primordial Ruination Clone saw voiced out in his mind.

[That's a portion of what someone at the Universal Realm can do with a Cosmic Treasure. But of course, if one simply goes by its name...it's a treasure to be truly used by beings at the Cosmic Realm!]

A Cosmic Treasure could naturally only be fully utilized by a being in the Cosmic Realm! A being that had become an Antiquity as the might they could display was something unimaginable.

"Ah...!"

The breathtaking action of a Cosmic Treasure they just experienced! The paradisiacal Elysian Realm that they just entered!

All of it caused Noah's heart to tremble with excitement as he thought of the future and the fact that he had a night to spend, he looked at Adelaide beside him as he quickly carried the Ice Queen in a princess carry while flying down to the golden castle that was designated as their abode below them.

"Ah...!"

Adelaide let out a surprised shout as her cheeks turned rosy, the Ice Queen not expecting Noah to be so bold, even ignoring the fact that Valentina was still around them also enjoying the paradisiacal sights of the Elysian Realm.

The Hegemony of Summoning had her attention taken from the sights as she saw this scene, her face becoming surprised when she saw the eyes of the carried Adelaide look towards her while beckoning for her to also come!

Her!

A Hegemony!

The Ice Queen didn't even leave room for misunderstandings as a second later, she sent a mental message to Valentina before her and Noah's figure disappeared into the golden castle.

"Come over and join us, there should be nothing better to do in this paradisiacal realm other than this..."

...!

The powerful figure of the Universal Realm existence stood floating in the skies in a stupor after this, the images of Noah carrying the alluring Adelaide into the castle playing in her mind as she...

After the brief respite from the shocking events, the night in the Elysian Realm that was the home of Oathkeeper was that of peace as when morning came, the meeting resumed!

The Hegemonies left the golden castles they were cooped in as from one particular castle, the figures of two magnificent women flew out while Noah followed from behind.

Adelaide had a light smile as Valentina maintained her regal expression, while Noah had a smile of a man that seemed to be at the top of the world!

This was a smile that was being portrayed by a normal clone that had arrived within the castle at some point in the night, the figure of the Primordial Ruination Clone having actually left the Elysian Universe entirely as at this moment, it had teleported into another Universe.

Not the Animus or Dark Universe, but another Universe entirely as at this moment, the light of Conquest was brilliantly shining in the eyes of the Primordial Ruination Clone as he arrived in the Necrotic Universe!

Chapter 1014 - The Start of a Universal Conquest! II

As the meeting resumed in the Elysian Universe, Noah was already moving forward as the Primordial Ruination Clone was sent into the Necrotic Universe to begin the mission of Universal Conquest.

He was moving relentlessly for his goals as the Hegemonies of the Primordial Cosmos proposed their own methods to battle the risen group of Chronos and the Goliath that were chasing Antiquity!

Oathkeeper reappeared in front of them as he handed out a unique object, this being the item he was preparing the past hours. It was a golden set of wings that fit in the palm of one's hands, a unique type of item that had a shocking usage.

[Wings of Primordial Destiny] :: A Ultimate Dao Weapon forged with the essence of the Primordial Dao as the base, a myriad of other Dao Essences completing it thereafter. It has a communication function of sending an instant message to all other holders of a similarly forged Wings of Primordial Destiny, as well as a spatial function that allows for the instantaneous Teleportation of a few specified beings.

...!

An Ultimate Do Weapon...and Oathkeeper had forged hundreds of them in the span of a single night as he handed them to all the Hegemonies that were now considered allies, as well as Noah and all others that had sworn the Oath.

It was for the purpose of quickly sharing information while being able to call for aid at any moment that one came in contact with the forces working with Chronos!

The mission that everyone left the Universal Banquet with after that...was to gather information on the 9 affected Universes as they looked for methods to enter and find a way to destroy the 9 Universal Constructs that were currently the fulcrums on the continuing Universal Amalgamation.

As for Noah...his plan was to gather a crazy amount of Marks of Ruination through the conquest of the affected Universes, forming his own Universal Seed as when this point came...he could boldly be like Oathkeeper and reveal his Cosmic Treasure, overpowering the shockingly powerful beings like Chronos and the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos!

But...this was thinking too far ahead as at this moment, Noah's Primordial Ruination Clone stood floating in a corner of the Necrotic Universe.

It was dreary and cold in the chaotic void of this Universe, the aura of the law of Death being abundant as this entire universe was an endless land of death!

Terrifying Liches, Abyssal Undead, Ghouls, Galactic Zombies...a terrifying amount of undead permeated throughout as this was a Universe that didn't have any organization, quintillions upon quintillions of Undead spread out across the expansive Universe as very few regions held any organizations.

These were the areas where powerful Lich Emperors or the existences that had stepped on the path of the Cosmic Dao of Necromancy made their homes, causing for clusters of trillions of powerful Undead to crown on Galaxy Clusters and Dead Star Systems.

The Hegemonies of this Universe who comprehended the Cosmic Dao of Necromancy couldn't touch him due to the restrictions of the Universal Constructs...so all his enemies were just the myriad of Undead Paragons spread throughout the Necrotic Universe!

He had to subjugate all of them and make the forces below them pledge fealty, causing the number of his Marks of Ruination to spill over a Billion as at this moment, he was infinitely close.

The trillions more beings in the Animus Universe that had sworn fealty after the battle had ended and his clones and Animus Summons helped spread his influence to the far reaches of the Holy Lands of all the Bloodline Races, the number of the Marks of Ruination had exploded even more as he nearly achieved 1 Billion at this moment!

Nearly 2% of his 50 Billion Marks of Ruination that he could use to forge Dao Galaxies and form enough connections to birth a Universal Seed!

His body vibrated with power as he thought about all this, this figure of the Tyrant Dragon changing as an aura of death began to spread from Noah, his skeletal outline changing as he gradually changed to become a titanous crimson skeleton that had golden flames burning in his sockets.

An obsidian robe draped over him an instant later as a crimson skull staff appeared in his hands- Noah looking like a massive Undead Lich Emperor at this moment as his crimson staff smashed on the deathly chaotic void.

DING!

A ringing of a bell that seemed to be inviting something, and it was the calling of the Nether Lich Emperor under Noah's command, this terrifying Lich rising from the chaotic void as it released a horrendous aura of death, its rise only followed by the auras of millions more of undead beginning to emerge from the void!

KEKEKE!

It released the dreadful aura of a Paragon as its obsidian flames bowed reverentially towards Noah, its staff glowing brilliantly with the essence of two Cosmic Daos that Noah infused this skill with as this Nether Lich utilized [Sagely Necrolords] to call forth 100 beings below its level.

This meant that in the next few seconds, the auras of 100 Abyssal Undead Monarchs of various types began to rise up, the numbers of undead continuing to balloon up as gradually, a vast legion was forming!

But this wasn't all.

For this instance, Noah had prepared himself to utilize some of his Billions of Skill Points on a truly special tree that would be suited for the conquest of a Universe filled with Undead.

A skill tree that Noah designed just for the conquest of a single Universe!

Chapter 1015 - The Rise of the Tyrannical Lich Emperor! I

A skill tree that cost 12 Billion Skill points- and one that held a skill that seemed to make it possible for Noah to call forth more than 1 Lich Emperor.

But was it truly so?!

...Yes! It was so!

The mere descriptions of the skills within the [Tyrannical Lich Emperor] skill tree were absurd, to say the least.

Summon Lich Emperors(ACTIVE):: The user is capable of calling forth a maximum of 5 Lich Emperors at the same stage, their Parameters increased to be 200% of the caster's maximum power.

Undead of Ruination (PASSIVE):: All of the summoned Undead the Tyrannical Lich Emperor are branded with an Undead Ruination Aura. The Undead Ruination Aura grants +100,000% Ruination Damage, +100,000% Poison and Vitality Decay Damage, +100,000% Increased Resistance to All Laws and Daos, 20% of All Damage is Converted to Health, and it allows for the collective bearing of all damage dealt to be distributed to the entire Legion.

Unstable Necrotic Ring of Death (PASSIVE):: A constantly swirling ring of death filled with the essence of the Daos of Ruination, Annihilation, Decadence, Destruction...and the Dao of Withering begins to rotate around any Undead Legion that the Tyrannical Lich Emperor called forth. The greater and more powerful the number of Undead, the more potent and deadly the Necrotic Ring of Death will be.

Endless Torment(PASSIVE):: Any poor soul that manages to fall within the bounds of the Unstable Necrotic Ring of Death is burned to fuel the power of the Ring of Death even more, every additional being that dies within it adding 10% Increased Damage and area of effect for upto a maximum of 1,000,000% for 60 seconds.

A gorgeous skill tree!

A single Active Skill with the rest of them being Passive, one that didn't just give Noah the capability to call forth 5 more PARAGON Level Lich Emperors- but also brought to life something that Noah considered a method that would put to shame most killing machines.

Without a delay, he started by casting [Summon Lich Emperors].

THRUM!

KEKEKEKE!

Eerie sounds began to permeate throughout, Noah waving his staff madly as he lost himself in the wonders of playing with fearsome Undead creatures, constantly pouring his mana out as after the Lich Emperors at the level of Paragons rose up, their bodies lit up with the glorious light of death as they smashed their staff into the chaotic void- causing the auras of 100 Monarchs to rise from each of them and below them, thousands of Abyssal Undead Great Sages and tens of thousands of Undead Sages began to rise.

It was the grand Symphony of Death ringing loudly once more as Abyssal Skeleton Kings, Dullahans, Undead Dragon Emperors, Unholy Phoenixes...a myriad of Undead rose from the newly summoned 5 Lich Emperors and the initial one that stemmed from the skill tree of the Nether Lich Emperor!

Hundreds of thousands turned to millions as very soon, millions turned into hundreds of millions as a truly large number of undead permeated around Noah as he cackled wildly.

This was because as the Legions of Undead formed, the skill of [Unstable Necrotic Ring of Death] passively came online as a storm of essence containing coagulated forms of blood and bones rose around the Undead Legions like a rotating cloud of death!

It truly and majestically was a Necrotic Ring of Death forming, the essence of all of Noah's currently comprehended Daos beginning to swirl in a circular motion as with the dense aura of death, bones and skulls could be seen within the swirling ring of death that threatened to drown out any enemy it touched.

"Ah...!"

Noah's heart felt fulfilled as he looked at such a scene- as if he had fully accomplished a skill that could grind down any enemies he touched the moment they even came across his Legions of Undead!

THRUM

"Move out and lay Devastation...any fallen enemies will only elevate the strength of the Legion!"

OOOOOH!

The jaws of an innumerable number of undead vibrated as the Lich Emperors let out gleeful cackles.

KEKEKE!

The Lich Emperors burned with a light of death and ambition as they waved their skull staffs forward, bellowing out grandly as their voices reverberated across the chaotic void.

"Spread the glorious light of death!"

WAA!

"For the will of the Tyrannical Lich Emperor!"

OOOOH!

"For death and destruction!"

OOOOH!

"For the Legion!"

RUMBLE!

...!

With a Legion capable of swallowing and decimating entire star systems just from the Necrotic Ring of Death swirling around nearby miles, Noah advanced forward as he led them all at the forefront.

He was ready.

He was ready to give the offer of eternal Death to the Undead of the Necrotic Universe...or the choice of Fealty!

Hidden within the folds of space within the Necrotic Universe, the Hegemony of Necromancy that was the terrifying Lich who attacked Valentina along with Ambrose not too long ago was watching the appearance of a single Lich that multiplied to become more than 6 Paragon Undead Emperor Liches, a horrendous Undead Legion of ridiculous size forming as the collective pressure it released was something even the Hegemony of Necromancy had not come across before.

It's terrifying sockets burned with wrathful flames as it was currently situated next to the Galaxy Cluster that the Universal Construct of this Universe was anchored to, continuing to watch the movements of a certain being that had become one of the centers of focus that he and the people he worked with had to look out for!

It was the being that had become the most influential existence within the Animus Universe in the span of a few days, establishing his dominance over the Supreme Bloodline Races as at this moment, all the forces of the Universe would be consolidated by him in due time.

Chronos had told them to pay more attention to this being if ever he moved within the Universes they protected, and the Hegemony of Necromancy had picked up on the aura of the Tyrant Dragon seconds after its arrival as he watched this creature transform into a genuine Lich Emperor as soon after, entire Legions of terrifying Undead surrounded him!

"Dangerous!"

Yes! This was the word that came into the Hegemony's mind when he saw this being that was just a Paragon.

The prowess and mystery surrounding him was too eerie as even when Dark Shadow had moved against him, this creature still did not die!

And they could not even personally move against him due to the restrictions they themselves laid down with the Universal Constructs, so all they had to utilize at hand...were the most powerful Paragons of their Universes.

The essence of Necromancy pulsed from the Hegemony dangerously as a raspy voice came from it.

"Don't let this force make a landfall in the Necrotic Universe. Gather all the Abyssal Undead and Ancient Undead near the Death Void Valley region and stop them before they even begin to spread!"

RUMBLE!

The essence of Death ran rampant as a Hegemony stood far above every existence within the Necrotic Universe, and they were currently moving many pieces as they played a game of chess with a Tyrannical being that was known to simply mess up all the rules of the board!

Chapter 1016 - The Rise of the Tyrannical Lich Emperor! II

Important Author Note- Revised the ability of [Endless Torment] to have a cap of +1,000,000%. Thanks to a reader for pointing it out!

Across the uncountable number of Galaxies in the Necrotic Universe, the Death Void Valley was a region that held hundreds of barren Galaxies structured to form an ascending Valley across the deathly chaotic void.

Across this Death Void Valley, a unique clan of Ancient Undead Titans was the ruling class- these powerful and gigantic Undead commanding power and awe among all the Undead occupying the Galaxies of the Death Void Valley!

At this moment, the Legions of the Ancient Undead Titans formed an uncountable number of lines as they occupied large regions of the chaotic void, moving outward from the Death Void Valley as they led all the other Undead Clans within this region under the command of the Hegemony of Necromancy.

OOOOM!

The essence of death and decadence permeated throughout the billions of Undead clustering together to form the Legions, but it was the thickest around 10 areas- and this was where the Paragons that led the clans of Undead were at!

Among these 10, the densest area of death surrounded an Ancient Undead Titan PARAGON that sat on a throne of regal purple bones, his figure being over a few miles long as he was truly enormous!

His body was filled with tout steel like muscles that wrapped around his entire skeletons, his skull being the only thing showing its obsidian bones as a purple crown of bones gracefully floated atop it.

The other Undead Titans behind him were of slightly less similar stature, their Legion looking extremely imposing as it was the largest out of all those here. This being sitting atop the floating throne of bones was Lich Emperor Agobo, and he had been born in death...and molded by it!

He knew death so well that he very easily assimilated the Dao of Decadence in a short period of time, and at this moment he was already speedily advancing in the Dao of Necromancy, but he had yet to see death in the form that he was currently observing.

Even when he put aside the overpowering auras that the Paragons within the enemy forces were releasing, what was most distressing was the fact that in the surrounding miles of the enemy Legions, there was a dense and destructive cloud of essence and bones rotating dangerously.

It seemed like this cloud would be destructive for anyone even coming across it, but the Lich Emperor Agobo did not know exactly by how much!

But...

"It matters not."

RUMBLE

"At the end, death shall consume all."

OOOOOH!

The aura of the Lich Emperor Titan flew out wildly as the Legion before him bellowed, other Undead Legions following as billions of Undead that formed mountains began to move forward in the chaotic void.

To their relentless advancement, the enemy responded by sending forward one of terrifying Undead Paragons, a Lich Emperor burning with golden flames in its sockets as its expression was that of pure arrogance!

Even with no facial muscles, the domineering stature of the being that sat on the multicolored throne had developed could instinctively be felt as he teleported from hundreds of miles away, coming a few miles away from the Legions that Lich Emperor Agobo led as he voiced out.

"Before we begin I shall tell you all...that you can avoid eternal Death by bending the knee at this moment and pledging Fealty to me, not some Hegemony that cannot even do a thing with this Universe!"

...!

"This is a way out from you following the words of a selfish being bent on searching for Antiquity that will bring destruction to us all."

RUMBLE

The aura of the Undead Paragon spread out majestically as the essence of a Cosmic Dao pervaded throughout.

Lich Emperor Agobo looked at this as he stood up from his regal throne of bones, his ancient voice ringing out flatly as his eyes began to shine with a powerful purple light!

"There is no need for words between the Dead. Let us simply fight to see which side is more proficient in death!"

WAA!

At such words, Noah laughed brilliantly as he tapped his skeletal hands on the throne, the Undead Legions behind him moving forward with fervor!

When they moved, the swirling Necrotic Ring of Death moved with them as Noah teleported back into their ranks, keen to see the results of the wondrous skill tree.

The words of the Lich Emperor Agobo rang out in his mind as he was given a lesson for the Undead- all that mattered was who would be more proficient in death.

And when it came to this...

He really thought nobody could match him!

THRUM!

The hundreds of miles were quickly covered as the forces were about to clash, Agobo's hand thrusting out along with multiple other Paragons as their essence flew out powerfully to wrap around the edges of the Ring of Death before the contact between the two sides happened.

But...

They began to experience the ridiculousness of the Tyrannical Lich Emperor first hand as the over 1 mile Necrotic Ring of Death that surrounded the now billions of Undead Noah led come in contact with the forces of Undead under Agobo seamlessly, the essence they threw out not being able to hinder it!

They ranged from Entities and all the way to Monarchs and Paragons, and they saw how the essence of Agobo and others meant to stop the cloud of death from enveloping them was useless, simply passing through the swirling ring of death as if it wasn't even there, the swirling ring covering over 100,000 Undead a second later.

The scene that occurred thereafter was extremely crucial to understand.

It dealt with the particular ability of Endless Torment that was just freshly created!

Endless Torment(PASSIVE):: Any poor soul that manages to fall within the bounds of the Unstable Necrotic Ring of Death is burned to fuel the power of the Ring of Death even more, every additional being that dies within it adding 10% Increased Damage and Area of Effect for up to a maximum of 1,000,000% for 60 seconds.

The skill of [Endless Torment] granted +10% Increased Damage and Area of Effect for every creature that died within it for up to a maximum of 1 million percent. 1 million!

The Necrotic Ring of Death was already deadly enough as no Entities or Sages could withstand the constantly rotating cluster of all the Daos Noah comprehended- which included two Cosmic Daos!

When the Ring of Death covered just a few tens of thousands of Undead, the first Undead Entity to fall granted the 10% increase in Damage and Area of Effect. Instantaneously, the Ring of Death became larger as it expanded to cover a slightly wider area.

Then the second...third...one hundredth...

Within the span of milliseconds, over a thousand Undead fell from the terrifying cluster of sharply rotating flesh and bones mixed with the Essence of too many Daos!

AOE!

The area of effect was also increased by 10,000% as it covered over a hundred miles instantly and continued to expand, every single death causing it to propel outwards at a ridiculous pace as over one fourth of the Legions that the Lich Emperor Agobo led become covered in the Necrotic Ring of Death instantly!

A millisecond later, it had covered such a large region that the numbers dead bloomed to millions!

THRUUUUUM!

The deathly chaotic void began to tremble as a shocking phenomenon was about to take place- all of it due to the fact that in just a second, the 1,000,000% cap of Increased Damage and Area of Effect of the Necrotic Ring of Death was reached!

Chapter 1017 - Billions Dead in Seconds!

It truly happened too fast that even Noah was caught off guard by it.

The mountains of Undead that the Lich Emperor Agobo covered tens of thousands of miles as if one were to look at from a far distance, they would almost mistake the mass of creatures for moving planetary bodies!

All of these beings numbered in the billions and over ten Paragons and hundreds of Monarchs were among them.

When the Necrotic Ring of Death spread out, it bloomed beautifully as the chain reaction of deaths and expansion of the area of effect caused it to hit 1,000,000% in a few seconds, and this 1 million was enough for the circular dreadful Ring of Death to occupy over a million miles...covering the entire Legions of Billions of Undead!

...!

Lich Emperor Agobo trembled as he felt the swirling tide of death instantly spread out to even reach him, his purple throne of bones becoming decimated an instant later as he felt a heart rending pain from the swirling Daos within the rotating Ring of Death.

"OOOOOHH!"

He bellowed out painfully as his body lit up with a gorgeous obsidian purple ?uster, this essence covering his body protectively as he could do nothing else but focus on defending!

Mind you, the +1,000,000% was also an increase in All Damage. If Paragons were having trouble dealing with it as they fought for their lives...

Agobo b?r?ly raised his titanous body as his flaming eye sockets looked around, the flames within flickering incredulously as he saw the Monarchs that were beside him were already turned into nothingness!

The Great Sages...just a pile of bones that joined the Necrotic Ring of Death!

The Sages and Entities...were even the first to die as they helped bring this terrifying reality to fruition.

When one pulled really far back and looked at the area where the Legions of Undead that Lich Emperor Agobo led, they would only be able to find a terrifying swirling mass of bones and Dao Essences destroying everything within over 1 Million miles of the chaotic void!

The only thing visible was 10 PARAGONS that were b?r?ly hanging by as every passing second the cloud of swirling death tore apart their defenses, the light of protection seeming like a flicker in the night as it could go away at any second.

So out of the billions of Undead that formed the Legions Agobo led with the command of the Hegemony of Necromancy...only 10 Paragons remained alive.

"..."

Silence.

Stupor!

Horror!

RUMBLE!

Billions were dead in an instant.

Entire Legions of Undead!

The watching Hegemony of Necromancy that was getting ready to observe a long and drawn out battle to better understand this enemy that Chronos and the others couldn't figure out found his skeletal jaw nearly falling off.

The newly summoned Lich Emperors that Noah called forth who were about to lead their forces to attack...even they were silent as the flames in their eyes stared towards the being that had summoned them in shock!

Mind you...none of the Undead from Noah's Legions had even attacked their enemies, they only came within a mile of them before the Necrotic Ring of Death met the first enemies and then expanded to cover over a million miles just seconds later.

But it wasn't just the Hegemony of Necromancy and Lich Emperors that were shocked, even the caster and the creator of the skills that brought everything to fruition...even Noah had no words as he watched this shocking scene!

This...this was a bit too powerful!

Maybe a tad bit overpowered!

"Hmmm..."

Noah sat on his throne of Dao Essences with his skeletal hands propping up his chin, seemingly lost in thought as he had risen to a stage where he wiped out hundreds of millions of Entities, Sages, and Great Sages within seconds- Monarchs taking just a bit longer as only Paragons remained while fighting for their lives with the overwhelming damage that the Necrotic Ring of Death was dealing!

The skill tree bordered on the side of balance shattering as even Noah was taken aback, recalling the 12 Billion Skill Point price tag for this skill tree.

As for its effects of decimating all of the enemy forces in seconds?

Well, he needed to have at least some of his enemies alive for them to swear fealty!

Nothing would come out of him erasing billions in seconds except instilling a deep sense of fear, and this thought reminded him of the 10 Paragons that were about to have any spark of life extinguished as they faced eternal Death.

His golden flame within his eye sockets flared as his essence moved, a prompt appearing in front of these 10 Undead Paragons as Noah tried to salvage the situation!

RUMBLE!

The prompt appeared brightly in the minds and vision of the Paragons that nearly had their lives snuffed out from the ridiculous skills, Lich Emperor Agobo being the first to look upon this prompt as his mind sent his thoughts forward soon after.

He had told something to Noah before the battle began less than a minute ago that was very clear in his mind.

'There is no need for words between the Dead. Let us simply fight to see which side is more proficient in death!'

No words needed and which ones were proficient in death!

The being that even the Hegemony he followed told him to stand against...was too damn proficient in Death.

"I Swear Fealty to the Tyrannical Lich Emperor."

THRUM!

The strongest lich Emperor took the first step, the remaining 9 followed before their lives were snuffed out by the terrifying swirling mass of death and destruction!

...!

Similar to the Legions of Undead Noah brought that weren't affected by the Necrotic Ring of Death, these Undead Paragons now joined the same ranks as they enjoyed the perks!

Lich Emperor Agobo's purple flames shook as he stared towards the Tyrannical Lich Emperor sitting upon an enormous multicolored throne.

The Ancient Undead Titan fell to his knees a second later as he called out reverentially.

"Tyrannical Lich Emperor!"

RUMBLE!

The first Undead Paragon kneeled as the other 9 soon followed, a shocking scene playing out in one corner of the Necrotic Universe as many of the beings watching it found themselves watching a stupor.

Noah himself was given a bit of a shock at what he had done as his skill creation this time had been a tad bit too broken, his first battle within the Necrotic Universe ridiculously finishing in seconds as only 10 of the strongest beings were able to pledge Fealty!

It was the birth of an Ultimate skill tree that could be used to end all battles, the birth of a set of skills built for brutal Conquest!

Chapter 1018 - Know your place!

The Hegemony of Necromancy watched the kneeling of 10 Paragons with a cloudy face as the flames within his eye sockets burned dimly.

He questioned the reality that just played out as the essence of Necromancy swirled around him, and even he could not make heads or tails of it!

The enemy seemed unrivaled within the same level as even when faced against beings at the same stage as them, they still managed to wipe them out in a ridiculously short period of time.

And yet he, the Hegemony of Necromancy with all of his power...could not move against this Paragon!

RUMBLE

His essence bubbled forth as he sent a message across Universal Boundaries to a certain person.

"Chronos, this Paragon might prove to be a greater problem than expected. His power seems unrivaled on the same stage!"

...!

The message traveled far as it reached the calculating Chronos that just had a major set back and was currently watching the Universal Construct within the Microbial Universe while being accompanied by the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos along with the Cerulean Hegemony and a few other Universal experts.

They were observing the absorption of Universal Essence by the Universal Construct as it released a pulsing crimson light every second, the treasure that looked like an object gradually beginning to form a material around it that would make one think of a cocoon!

Chronos received the message from the Hegemony of Necromancy as his eyes became even more somber, turning to follow the path of the Universal Essence being absorbed by the Universal Construct as it wasn't just from the Universe itself, but the inhabitants of it themselves!

This was a secret that even Noah didn't fully know, the fact that one of the mechanisms of the Slaughter Star Monoliths was to also draw in the essence of the beings that were following the wills of the Hegemonies that had their Origin Essence branded into these Universal Constructs.

This was why the Hegemony of Slaughter, Ambrose, had worked so hard to establish his dominion in the Animus Universe, and it was also why Chronos had recruited a Hegemony or two from each of the 9 affected Universes and had them increase their influence and dominion over its vast populations for the past hundreds of thousands of years!

It was also why the Universal Construct within the Animus Universe was currently drawing in the least amount of essence out of the 9 Universes- because Ambrose had his influence shattered completely within this Universe as it could only draw a small portion of essence from the Universe itself.

He began in the Animus Universe, and now he had started in the Necrotic Universe as well.

"Tyrannical Emperor, huh?"

Chronos called out lightly as he looked within the memories of all of his past lifetimes and confirmed he had never come across this being before.

His words caused the Goliath and the other Hegemonies to look towards him as the irritated Cerulean Hegemony spoke out lightly.

"Still the same Paragon causing us problems? You always think of everything, don't tell me you didn't account for a powerful Paragon appearing in the targeted Universes and causing you problems."

RUMBLE!

The Cerulean Hegemony that was still irritated by all of his plans to obtain a Cosmic Treasure and the Cosmic Dao of Ruination to go up in flames was gradually revealing his true nature as he lost all decorum even with those he worked with!

His voice carried a hint of a mocking tone as he continued.

"The Great and powerful Chronos actually has something he didn't account for after all this time, who would have thou- Huk!"

An eruption of essence exploded out an instant later as the blue crown atop the head of the Cerulean Hegemony trembled, inexplicably finding his body drawn towards Chronos as an instant later, his neck was clasped by him tightly!

WAA!

A horrifying pressure released from Chronos as he turned his calm eyes towards the Cerulean Hegemony.

"I've put up with your attitude for many years that you may have forgotten, you are not one of the three goliaths of these Primordial Cosmos."

BZZZT!

The horrendous and overpowering essence of Chronos flowed out freely as the Cerulean Hegemony could not break out of the grasp, his eyes turning red as he saw the eyes of other Hegemonies around them look towards this humiliating scene, with the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos not even turning to look as the back hole atop his head continued staring at the pulsing cocoon forming around the Universal Construct.

"You are slightly powerful from other Hegemonies, but that is it. You need to know your place and not step out of your bounds!"

RUMBLE!

A shockingly domineering set of words came from Chronos as he released the Cerulean Hegemony, the glimmering blue of this expert dimmer as he looked extremely angered by this action but he...did not retaliate!

This was because the person who put him in place was too terrifying, and he had long ago agreed to work with him and his group as after his loss of the Cosmic Treasure of Ruination, all he had left was the promise of Antiquity that came from one of the Universal Constructs in front of him.

So he stayed in line as he moved back, not meeting the eyes of the other Hegemonies as he simply looked ahead.

"..."

This was power!

Chronos didn't bat an eye at this as he spoke.

"The Paragon going on a path of Conquest is a minor problem that can become a big one. He's only just begun, but he's disrupted the flow of essence in the Animus Universe, and now he's moved on to the Necrotic Universe."

...!

"His power is great that he is unrivaled among Paragons, and we cannot personally attack him with the strength of Hegemonies so...we will just devise a plan for something that can!"

RUMBLE!

Chapter 1019 - The Burning Light of Conquest! I

As the group with Chronos monitored and planned, another group was also observing Noah's movements carefully!

The group of Hegemonies that had all sworn an Oath under Oathkeeper were keeping watch over the happenings of the 9 affected Universes, and two Hegemonies were doing so for the Animus and the Necrotic Universe.

They had seen the nearly completed Conquest of the Animus Universe, and now a Hegemony watched the movements of a certain Tyrannical Lich Emperor as it began Conquest in the Necrotic Universe!

Through the [Wings of Primordial Destiny] that the Oathkeeper had just forged, a message was sent as this situation became known by many Hegemonies.

Not too long after, a spatial light erupted out from the Wings of Primordial Destiny that the Hegemony currently outside of the boundary of the Necrotic Universe held, the oppressive and domineering powerhouse that was Oathkeeper himself appearing soon after!

His eyes squinted as his golden hair flowed beautifully, looking at the scene in the small corner of the Necrotic Universe where a terrible swirling mass of death surrounded billions of Undead that just shattered entire Legions in seconds.

Oathkeeper looked at this as he raised his Wings of Primordial Destiny and spoke into it.

"Is this your work in the Necrotic Universe?"

The message crossed the vast distance as it reached a singular being...Noah himself!

He had stashed away the Wings of Primordial Destiny into his Expansive Space as it rang out and he heard it clearly, his brow rising up at the straightforward manner of this powerful being as he replied with but a single word.

"Yes."

RUMBLE!

He hadn't particularly tried to hide what he was doing, and he had no need to do so as with the current reality, no Hegemonies could touch him!

The ones in the 9 targeted Universes could not, and he used his clones for any time he traversed in the Primordial Cosmos. His main body was stashed away in the Dark Universe that was floating peacefully in the Sea of Ruination, and he even had a Save Point active in case of any mysterious or sudden deaths.

Simply put...he wasn't afraid!

But he also didn't want to border on the side of arrogance and shoot himself in the foot, so he took things as they came and evaluated them while changing plans along the way.

The plans of Conquest...they would in no way be affected by the fact that others knew it was him doing it.

It would actually be even better if his notoriety spread, where even the Universes he targeted next would know of him so that his might can be something as magisterial as beings like Oathkeeper, Chronos, and the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos!

With a mention of their names...even Hegemonies turned somber!

So he replied simply towards Oathkeeper, and as for the reason he was going from the Animus Universe and then the Necrotic Universe in a campaign of Conquest?

He would just bullshit his way across as they didn't know he was doing it to collect Marks of Antiquity!

"Yes, this is my method to help take down Chronos and his followers...to reduce the influence they hold over the natives of all 9 universes as this should reduce their power over the Universal Constructs- as it seemed influence was very crucial to even begin the Universal Amalgamation!"

Noah's words caused Oathkeeper's eyes to shine brightly as what he thought was just a pile of bull was actually very close to the mark! They seemed so logical that Oathkeeper nodded his head as he recalled the scenes of the Universal War in the Draconic Holy Lands, and now this same being began to wage war in another Universe as he seemed to be on a path of Conquest!

"Conquest..."

Oathkeeper uttered these words slowly as he became lost in thought, coming back to focus a second later as he sent back a message to Noah before he disappeared from the boundary of the Necrotic Universe.

"Share this type of information with others earlier as we're all going for the same goal. Also, the natives of the 9 Universes...they are existences with homes and families as well, I hope you can bear the responsibility of your actions depending on how far you go with your Conquest!"

...!

Noah received the message clearly as his eyes glimmered with a bright light of conviction and strength.

Conquest leading to Marks of Antiquity.

Marks of Antiquity leading to a Universal Seed that would bloom into a Universe!

From a Universe and into a stage nobody had reached in the Primordial Cosmos...it was the Universal Filamanets that would pave the way towards Nirvanic Antiquity, towards the Cosmic Realm!

RUMBLE!

His eyes turned up as he saw his rivers of Fortune and Destiny still as bright as ever, the Marks of Antiquity continuing to increase at an even faster pace as this was around the time that the Emperor Penguin, Barbatos, Morgana, the Sword Emperor...all of his Subordinates- it was around this time that they fully dominated all of the densely populated Clusters of Galaxies within the Animus Universe.

Every location they went to, the call of Fealty spread as Noah's clones were there overseeing everything, where the majority of powerhouses within this one Universe could now be considered under Noah.

That was an uncountable number of trillions!

WAA!

Around the figure of his main body in the Dark Universe, a glorious amount of golden Marks of Antiquity raged as Valentina looked at this scene while shaking her head at its sheer ridiculousness.

They weren't alone as their setting had changed in the Dark Universe, the rigid mind of Valentina being won over by a relentless Adelaide as at this moment, Noah was sitting down in a meditating position at the roof of a high rise building that was made entirely of glistening diamond glass that he designed with the [Architecture] feature of the Universal Core.

It looked like a building one would find in a technologically advanced world far in the future, Noah currently being on the highest floor of this high-rise building as one could see a wide pool lined up by glass that was filled with hot steaming water!

Not too far from the steaming pool was a table containing an overabundance of fruits, and an enormous fluffy bed that could fit over 10 people was on another side of the roof of this high-rise building that touched the pristine clouds in the skies.

Within this roof, one could see the figure of the original bodies of Barbatos enjoying the steaming pool with an annoyed expression, Adelaide lying on the bed alluringly as Valentina was dressed with a graceful white robe while staring at Noah's figure as he was submerged with the Marks of Antiquity!

At this time, Noah opened his eyes as he looked towards Valentina with a smile and asked.

"The Conquest of the Animus Universe can be considered complete. You want to get started with the probing attacks?"

...!

A devilish smile could be seen on his face as he said this, revealing another part of his plans aside from Conquest as it involved utilizing the Hegemony that had become a part of his forces!

Valentina now held many things as part of his forces, but the most important one remained the fact that she could now utilize clones.

The other method Noah planned to use to dismantle the Universal Constructs and the plans of Ambrose and Chronos involved Valentina using her clones to rush into the only Universe she could enter as she laid out relentless attacks, where even the deaths of the Clones were inconsequential as all she would need to do was to wait until her mana reserves refilled to Summon more clones and hound the defending Hegemonies within the Animus Universe constantly!

Valentina stared at Noah with shining eyes as she nodded, her body buzzing with essence as she seemed ready for war! Her face was filled with a light of someone that didn't accept defeat as she spoke while waving her fingers forward, releasing an attractive force as Noah's figure began to be propelled towards her as she spoke.

"I'll have the clones make a move but during that...I don't believe the stamina of a Paragon can compare to a Hegemony!"

RUMBLE!

A shocking scene that would be the envy of all beings played on within a high rise building somewhere in the Universal Core of the Dark Universe, Noah's original body and the original bodies of those close to him enjoying their time in an isolated Universe as their clones were the only ones moving in the Primordial Cosmos!

It was multi-tasking to an extreme as many things were being done while the Conquest of many Universes was underway....

Chapter 1020 - The Burning Light of Conquest! II

Aside from the conquest Noah was carrying out and the attacks of Valentina's clones that had yet to play out, there were also Noah's subordinates that finished their work in the Animus Universe.

The Emperor Penguin came in front of one of Noah's clones as he was followed by Kazuhiko and many others, the prideful Penguin being the first to speak as his voice rang out clearly!

"Master, the conquest of all the Bloodline Races has finished, what shall we do now?"

RUMBLE!

The voice was sharp and filled with strength, being that of a Peak Monarch that seemed ready to become a Paragon.

The Emperor Penguin was among many that were shooting through the ranks, where they could breakthrough into the ranks of Paragon at any time as Noah found and duplicated more PARAGON Level Cores.

Noah looked at these beings filled with the light of strength as he smiled and spoke out.

"That's just one Universe, there are many more. I'll leave you guys with the goal of Conquering another Universe under my name!"

Yes! The forces under him would also be put to use as with the Conquest of the Animus Universe, he actually expanded his forces greatly as he could now utilize not just his subordinates from the Dark Universe, but he could also put to work the Paragons and Monarchs of the Bloodline Races.

The powerful Dragon Race, the Galaxy Devouring Serpents, Golden Crows...there were a myriad of Races that were now his Vassals as he could utilize them all for the Conquest of Universes!

Noah looked at his summons and Subordinates as he voiced out magnanimously.

"What Universe do you all want to explore and conquer?"

...!

A domineering question that would frighten others, but those around him only had shining eyes as discussions broke out, and out of all the 9 Universes aside from the Animus and Necrotic Universe, the decision came down to the Automaton Universe!

"I'm curious of such a place where mechanical existences reign supreme..." Barbatos's clone spoke out languidly while the others had eyes blazing with conviction, Noah giving a slight nod as in the next few hours, a selection of who would be descending onto another Universe being made as multiple Legions were formed.

They were easily put into the division of the 9 Supreme Bloodlines, 9 powerful Legions of beings floating in front of Noah as his subordinates from the Dark Universe could be seen at the very forefront of these Legions.

The Emperor Penguin was situated next to the Paragons of the Golden Crow Race that shone with a golden glimmer, feeling like these beings were more like him as Kazuhiko chose to stand next to the Dragon Race with Tiamat and Paragon Quinnie!

It was the cast of [Instantaneous Universal Teleportation] as the essence of the Cosmic Treasure and Primordial Clone flowed from Noah's many bodies and into the clone in the Animus Universe, this cast being something that other beings would not be able to handle due to its sheer mana requirements to send entire Legions of beings across Universal Boundaries, but for Noah...he could just say fu?k all that!

The Hegemony stationed to keep watch over the Animus Universe and even Ambrose and Solerno who were still standing protectively in front of the Universal Construct in the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Clusters all turned their eyes towards the region where boundless waves of mana were being utilized.

Ambrose and Solerno couldn't move to do a thing against them as they had already reduced the essence that the Universal Constructs could draw in to a minimum, and the Hegemony outside of the boundary watching this only reported it to Oathkeeper and the others as they also only watched Noah's actions!

WAA!

The sea of spatial essence disappeared along with the 9 Legions, the eyes of all watching Hegemonies constricting as they sensed they didn't just teleport within the Animus Universe...but they had disappeared from it entirely.

...!

"Universal Teleportation of hundreds of Billions of beings...!"

The watching Hegemonies were shocked as they sent messages to see where the teleported Legions that the Paragon who was recently making his name known had sent, a reply coming to them soon after as the Hegemony on Ambrose and Chronos's side who was protecting another Universal Construct in the Automaton Universe confirmed with them the appearance of billions of beings in a certain region of this Universe.

The Hegemony allied with Oathkeeper and others outside the boundary of the Automaton Universe also confirmed their appearance, the eyes of all of these Universal experts shining with shock and surprise as they very well knew what it took to traverse across universal boundaries...and even they as Universal Experts knew they could not teleport across universes with a vast number of beings, much less billions of them that formed Legions!

"This..."

"The mana requirements for this are astronomical, even Hegemonies can't....!"

Alarm rose in the minds of many watching Hegemonies as once more, news of Noah's movements were sent to the most powerful beings of the Primordial Cosmos, Oathkeeper and Chronos having to focus their attention towards Noah once more.

Once more, his name was forced to take center stage just from a single nonchalant action of his!

His actions were under watch by many of the important beings of the Primordial Cosmos, the Hegemonies that could peer into the universal boundaries being able to watch the actions occurring within as nearly all of them could actually not even make a move.

All they could do was be witness to a burning light that seemed to only be beginning.

A burning light that many of them would go on to remember as the start of an undeniably relentless conquest that by the end of it....would produce a being they could only term with nothing else but the Hegemony of Conquest!