Chapter 1061 - Subjugations Of The Usurper! III

As Noah carried out grandiose actions that were watched by all, others conducted their in secrecy as tumultuous waves were made in the dark.

Within the 9 Universes undergoing Universal Amalgamation...9 Champions were chosen.

Chronos and the Goliath went around the 9 Universes as they collected unique existences under their Hegemonies...existences that they then fed Seeds of Chaos as they produced 9 powerful Incarnations!

Thereafter, these Incarnations were each brought towards the pulsing cocoon like Universal Constructs as Chronos used his singular highest authority to actually enter the core of these Constructs and then leave these powerful Incarnations of Chaos within.

All for the purpose and promise of immense power from the Antiquity that even Hegemonies were trying to reach!

The chosen contenders who would become Subjugations of the Usurper varied in shapes and sizes, but Chronos actually chose three of them to come from the Chthonian Universe, opting for the enormous planetary sized bodies to fill up more than 30% of the would be weapons of the Usurper..

There were two unique existences brought from the Abyssal Universe, 2 from the Liberated Universe, and 2 from the Microbial Universe!

At this moment, these Incarnations were placed into the 9 Universal Constructs within the 9 Universes as Chronos was monitoring everything while communicating with the other Hegemonies constantly on any changes.

The Goliath was beside him as they were watching the scenes playing out from the Chthonian Universe, the voice of the ancient being ringing out.

"All of this for the promise of Antiquity..."

The Goliath seemed to be reminiscing and thinking of many things as he was forced to think of his past and where his future was headed while he watched the fluctuating and pulsing cocoon like Universal Constructs.

Since they placed the Incarnations into each of them, the pressure they released only became more and more oppressive as at this moment, it even seemed to be rising to a crescendo!

Chronos only listened to the words of the Goliath with a calm expression on his face, waiting for the results of his actions as the initial steps seemed to vastly be heading on the correct path.

The supposed Subjugations of the Usurper though...just what power would they be able to wield that even with everything on the line, only Hegemonies could take them down?

THRUM!

Chronos did not have to wait long as soon after, the cocoon within the Microbial Universe and the cocoons in all the other Universes let out a brilliant light!

An awe inspiring aura emanated from each of them as they foreshadowed the coming of terrifying existences, much of the crimson light surrounding the Universal Constructs dimming slightly as the process was completed, a ray of light shooting out from the Constructs as after it faded...it left behind a pulsing ball of light.

This ball of light was a new existence in the Primordial Cosmos.

The 9 balls of light were the Subjugations of the Usurper!

RUMBLE!

Essence wildly flew from them as the respective Hegemonies guarding the Constructs of the 9 Universes looked at them with analytical eyes, Chronos looking at the Microbial Incarnation of Chaos that wasn't even discernable with the naked eye, the power from this creature being immensely menacing as it was unlike anything that the Incarnations of Chaos could release.

"Good enough?"

The Goliath spoke out again as he also scrutinized the new existence.

He didn't want another scene of surprise to appear when they inevitably were put against the singular Apex Paragon again!

"Should be more than good enough. They hold a trace aura of the Great Usurper...which means the abilities and Daos they display are also things that stem from him."

"He is an Antiquity, while the Apex Paragon is a being that hasn't even lived over a million years. It is like comparing a child to an adult! There should be no surprises."

Chronos spoke with a tinge of confidence as even if he didn't believe in himself, he believed in the power of the Antiquity that could cross through the Timelines of other Cosmos!

"No surprises..."

The Goliath repeated the words again as these two powerful beings affirmed with each other that against such monstrous weapons that only Hegemonies could touch and defeat...the Apex Paragon would not make them stare in a stupor this time around!

Chaos churned as the Subjugations of the Usurper were born, Noah finishing his migration of a few Quintillion beings from 3 Universes and into his own as very few of his subordinates even remained in the Primordial Cosmos.

Noah planned to give a brief period of a few hours at most to his people before he sent them out on a path of Conquests once more, and this time he had hundreds of Paragons under his command as the conquest of the remaining Universes should be even faster!

Among the many boons gained recently, the biggest ones still remained the bountiful Marks of Antiquity, filling up the Light of Conquest once more, and most importantly...the Blue Slime.

The main bodies of Noah's subordinates were all in the Universal Core of the Dark Universe as while marveling at Noah's current actions, they could help but stare at the bubbly Blue Slime in utter envy.

Kazuhiko always spoke about what was on his mind as he voiced out without hiding the envy in his voice.

"Why weren't we born with a Universal Devouring skill? Even designing something resembling it costs trillions of skill points that none of us would be able to gather..."

His voice expressed everyone's emotions as they looked at the Manifested galactic filament of the Blue Slime that showed a terrifying scene.

The terrifying creature that had swallowed 200 Seeds of Chaos...200 portions of an Origin of a Hegemony!

His realm had been progressing at a crazy speed as at this moment...he actually already had 55 Billion Galaxies connected within his Origin.

55 Billion!

More than halfway towards birthing his own Universal Seed!

"I thought Noah would be the only one I would have to chase after and never reach...never did I think a Slime would also stand above all of us...!"

RUMBLE

It was a mystery to who said it, but a voice that showed the emotions of many of Noah's subordinates rang out as many of them mingled among each other for a few others before they set off for whatever awaited for them next.

Chapter 1062 - A Paragon Descends As A Universe Trembles!

The Dark Universe buzzed with activity at this moment as a myriad of different existences arrived and began to assimilate themselves in it.

The pressure from an Antiquity that constantly plagued them in the Animus, Necrotic, and Automaton Universe had entirely faded away as they weren't under horrendous status effects that made them feel like they were suffocating every second!

They were in a brand new space that seemed to be filled with wonder and possibilities as one particular thing that made the settlement of all the coming beings fairly easy was the fact that they had all sworn Fealty to Noah.

Everyone was under the same banner and conflicts or wars were annulled!

A period of peace was taken, however brief it was- for beings to just recuperate and relax their minds at this moment.

Even if it was just for a few hours!

Noah Summons and powerful Subordinates mingled amongst each other, prominent beings like the Sword Emperor, Morgana, Paragon Quinnie, Lich Emperor Agobo....numerous beings from all walks of life were seen around each other as they took a moment to recognize their achievements before they rushed out for war once more.

Of course, others couldn't help but initiate spars as the focus of many was around the Blue Slime, with Noah's contracted summons and many other subordinates going towards the Slime for battle!

With the power of the Cosmic Dao of Chronos, Extinction...and many other ones while also being halfway through connecting the Galaxies within its universe though, the Blue Slime was unrivaled towards all those he faced!

BOOM!

Kazuhiko's sorry figure tore through the sky like a bullet at this moment, the dark sword aura protecting him torn apart as he smashed onto a verdant mountain nearby.

His gaze was despondent as he sighed endlessly while speaking out, his eyes still locked onto the Blue Slime floating in the skies alone as he had knocked everyone else to the ground.

"Ahh...can't even defeat the Slime now!"

BZZT!

Essence buzzed around his body even with the complaints, flying through the skies again as the figures of the prideful Emperor Penguin, Steel Mikhail, Anna, and many others all tried to get through the now ridiculous power of the Blue Slime.

As Noah had exquisitely designed verdant lush mountains and golden glimmering rivers around the area they were currently at, it was a scene of wonder and uniqueness that could not be found anywhere.

Valentina was looking at these scenes from a distance as she drank from a crimson cup filled with golden liquid, Noah's main body situated in a meditative position behind her inside of a huge high rise glass building.

The elegance and power of a Hegemony could be felt even more powerfully from her as while everyone was momentarily celebrating or sparring, she was close to Noah as he had told her more of the current situation!

Her eyes twinkled with light as when she thought of what she could do, she always found her mind returning back to the image of the man behind her as she sighed.

As a powerful Hegemony, she was actually so weak as she had to depend on her man that was a rank below her! The being that actually did more against their enemies compared to everyone else!

She teleported at his position as she hugged him from behind, seemingly speaking out in frustration and in a pleading tone towards the being who opened his eyes soon after.

"How can I display power like you at the same level? Or even like that Tiamat and Blue Slime? I feel stifled only being able to deploy my clones to harass Ambrose in the Animus Universe!"

The Hegemony complained in a soft voice towards the being surrounded by golden light, her figure hugging onto him tightly as she was shockingly acting shy while asking Noah for how someone like her could gain even greater battle power. Others would be shocked if they heard and saw such a powerful being speak in such a tone towards an existence a rank below her!

The demeanor of an aloof Hegemony was gone as she revealed a certain side only to special someone! Others would only ever get to look at her as an untouchable existence with immense power, but Noah...he only raised his head while smiling lightly at her actions.

"There are naturally many methods, I just don't know if you'll take them!"

"Oh?" Valentina's interest was piqued as her ears perked up, Noah replying to her with a sharp light coursing through his eyes.

"When I establish my Universe, you can form a contract with me and just become bound to me...then I can merge with you and give you access to a myriad of Cosmic Daos and so much more!"

RUMBLE!

A preposterous idea was given to a Hegemony as Valentina only let out a harrumph at it, her eyes swimming with possibilities as she actually gave it some thought before she replied.

"Forget it...what are you doing next? Which Universe is the next target of Conquest?"

She said this as she turned her eyes towards the shining Star of Conquest drizzling pristine white essence over Noah at this very moment.

Noah's senses focused on this star as well, his mouth moving freely as he shared the sight of the Primordial Ruination Clone.

"My clone has just entered the Chthonian Universe with the Cthulhu and other Terrors as we speak..."

THRUM!

"A Universe filled with Planetary sized existences as it boasts to be larger than most universes in the Primordial Cosmos..."

Yes! The Chthonian Universe was an extremely terrifying one as the beings within were simply too different in size compared to other existences. Races of Chthonians and Titans thrived within this Universe as among the many Universes of the Primordial Cosmos, it was actually the largest as its size alone was twice as large as others!

Even though the existences within weren't as numerous as other Universes, their sheer sizes made them pronounced and unique across the Primordial Cosmos. Noah's Primordial Ruination Clone had just arrived within this Universe right now.

"Just you and the Terrors alone?"

Valentina asked doubtfully as Noah replied with a smile.

"We're just an advanced party. Some will soon join me in this Universe as I'll divide the clones of others to descend onto another Universe with the Blue Slime in the lead..."

...!

Chapter 1063 - A Paragon Descends As A Universe Trembles! II

The gaze of Noah's main body was piercing across spacetime as the scene of what the Primordial Clone was looking at reflected on his eyes.

He had to be relentless when it came to the 9 Universes and the Antiquity that was invited to make his way in, as everything truly was on a timer!

But after he finished the Conquest of the Necrotic Universe and the Automaton Universe, he was also speedily advancing forward as the number of Marks of Antiquity he held now towered over 18 Billion.

Not the 15 Billion he expected, but 18 Billion as at this moment, he transformed 18 Billion Galaxies into Dao Galaxies that were occupied with the Essence of Ruination. That was 18 Billion Dao Galaxies that could seamlessly form a connection with normal galaxies, and it meant that Noah now had 36 Billion fully connected Galaxies.

Terrifyingly, it was behind the Blue Slime even with all the work he was doing!

He had to Conquer quintillions of Beings across multiple Universes to get where he was, while the Blue Slime had to devour just over 200 portions of the Origin of a Hegemony to get over 55 Billion Galaxies connected. How unfair life was!

But with such a pace, Noah was on track to soon establish his Universal Seed.

'Now, it's just a few more Universes...'

Noah had such a thought as while his main body enjoyed the company of a Hegemony, his Primordial Ruination Clone descended onto the Chthonian Universe as this time, he didn't even use the Dao of Subterfuge to grant himself a new body, but instead used the Terror of Aether skill tree to obtain the planetary sized body of a Cthulhu!

As it was changed through the essence of Ruination as with every skill he cast, there were some modifications as he took on a terrifying form of a winged octopi-draconic humanoid being. An innumerable number of tentacles wriggled powerfully on the octopi-draconic head that shone with two crimson colored eyes, the entire body being actually colored galaxy black as it seemed like there were stars constantly moving throughout his figure.

Standing over 10,000 miles long, the body was larger than most planets as with the glimmering Star of Conquest above it, it made him look like a demonic saintly creature out of the most fantastical horror!

By his side, the real Cthulhu at the PARAGON Realm looked at Noah's form and harrumphed as the purple aura around this Terror only became thicker, the millions of tentacles around it trembling with power.

Their gazes turned towards their surroundings as they took in the Chthonian Universe. A hint of red could be seen within its Chaotic Void that encompassed all of its Galaxies and other stellar bodies, and the unique thing with these stellar bodies was of course their sizes.

A Galaxy from an average Universe could be anywhere between a few light years to thousands of light years, with a single light year equating to 6 trillion miles!

In the space that Noah just arrived in, he could already see the outline of an enormous Galaxy within this Chthonian Universe that actually spanned over 100,000 Light Years!

To accommodate the planetary sized bodies of the Chthonians and Titans, some planets could span as wide as a few million miles, with some unique and well known Planets and Realms where the Ancient Old Ones lived spanning for over a Billion miles.

Ancient Old Ones!

The most powerful and oldest beings still living in the Chthonian Universe, their lifespan actually exceeding what most Paragons could handle as among the many existences- the Chthonians were the few that could exceed the 1 million life span before their Origins began to break down.

Some even had unique skills that allowed them to enter deep slumber, halting the progression of their life as they would wake up hundreds of thousands of years later to look for opportunities in another era!

This was the type of existences that Noah would come across!

His grand party had arrived into the Chthonian Universe at this moment, the sheer might they released frightening as their planetary sized bodies began to move forward seemingly causing their surrounding chaotic void of this Universe to quake as it was fearful of the future actions these beings would take!

In the Cthulhu form, Noah moved forward relentlessly as against an Antiquity, he didn't waste any time.

As he moved forward at this moment, he didn't know of the Subjugations of the Usurper that Chronos had prepared just for him!

The Primordial Cosmos was vast, and so was its number of powerhouses. Even though there was a significant amount of Hegemonies, many moved to protect the respective Universes they were born in, with some loving seclusion as they didn't get out for millions of years.

Recent actions had caused a large number of Hegemonies to come out of the dark, where most were currently watching the unfolding scenes of the actions of Chronos and the Goliath, as well as the group they had following them!

Among those watching the unfolding situation, they actually paid great attention to the movements of a certain Apex Paragon as he was the only one moving freely within the Universes that were now filled with an intense aura of an oppressive Antiquity.

After the shocking actions of carrying out a Universal Wide Teleportation of Quintillions of beings in a few minutes, many Hegemonies first questioned the reality of all that they knew before they moved on to questioning where he went now.

They wanted to understand how a Paragon could have enough Mana to wrap up and teleport Trillions out from multiple Universes, something that even the combined Mana reserves of tens of Hegemonies would not be able to accomplish!

The methods of the Apex Paragon were too mind bending as they left behind too many questions, but the centermost was which of the remaining 6 Universes this being would appear in next.

The eyes of the Hegemonies were everywhere as soon enough, some were able to notice the glimmering white star of conquest of a few planetary sized beings in the Chthonian Universe.

"The Chthonian Universe!"

WAA!

Chapter 1064 - Ancient Old Ones I

"The Chthonian Universe!"

WAA!

The location of the Apex Paragon was found as the eyes of many Hegemonies turned towards it, Oathkeeper obtaining this information himself as he had a thoughtful look on how to move.

After he had searched and pleaded with no answers, he looked towards himself for them as he soon found one!

It wasn't something he would have ever resorted to doing, nor was it something a being like him would have been capable of thinking of in the past.

But certain circumstances required him to make a move.

WAP!

The glimmering golden body of the Oathkeeper was unlike the other Hegemonies that began to appear on the boundary of the Chthonian Universe or gain access to the happenings within from watching from afar, and he instead actually appeared in front of the Microbial Universe!

The Universe where he sensed the powerful auras of Chronos and the Goliath last frequent, as they were last here to watch the birth of the Subjugation of the Usurper that stemmed from a Microbial Incarnation of Chaos.

Oathkeeper didn't know any of this as he came here for his own specific reasons.

He waved his hands in front of him as on his palm appeared a certain pristine white disk. It let out terrifying vibrations in the surrounding space as milky white Primordial Essence leaked from it, the Primordial Disk coming to be as Oathkeeper began to pour essence unto it!

BZZZT!

The surroundings began to shake as this Universal Realm Hegemony began to utilize a Cosmic Treasure, and it was truly a powerful one at that as it could mobilize the very essence that the Cosmos was birthed from!

Even if he could only use a portion of its functions as only a being at the Cosmos Realm would be able to utilize it fully, he could still do shocking things with it as one of them...

BOOOM!

Was to affect the very Universes that were built from the Primordial Essence.

A thin crack had appeared in the Universal boundary of the Microbial Universe as the strongest Hegemony holding the Cosmic Treasure capable of using Primordial Essence actually began to use it for the purposes of destruction!

Primordial Essence could build, but it could also disassemble the things it built.

The Oathkeeper searched for an answer and received none, and so he instead chose to do the only thing he could with a powerful tool in hand. He would break apart the barriers of the Universes he could not cross as he would rip apart the betrayers of the Primordial Cosmos with his own hands!

Primordial Essence endlessly rushed out from the Primordial Disk as it formed into a razor edge that began to eat up a Universal Boundary!

Under Noah's fingertips, there were many cards to play.

He had an entire Universe's worth of them, and so he went ahead and put them to use! To do so...he started off with himself and the Terrors in the Chthonian Universe.

Aside from this, he also had the forces of three genuine Universes under his fingertips, the forces of the fourth Universe being his native one as it was actually the strongest!

After he gave many of them less than a day to settle, he deployed them out into the Primordial Cosmos once more.

After all, the enemy was an Antiquity that had powerful Hegemonies moving around on his behalf. Noah could not tarry.

The first party was led by the terrifying Blue Slime, his strength actually nearing Noah's Primordial Ruination Clone as this Slime would actually lead half of Noah's summons, subordinates, and Paragons of the Animus Universe to descend onto the Euthenia Universe!

The second party would be led by Tiamat, the Twin Draconic Serpents, and the rest of Noah's Summons as they led the forces of Paragons from the Automaton Universe to descend onto the Liberated Universe that was filled with Heroes, Villains, and capped beings with grand allusions.

The third party would be led by the Manifested Seven Deadly Sins, Pride taking the lead as with them, the over 100 Undead Paragons from the Necrotic Universe would be under their banner for the conquest of the Abyssal Universe!

The Abyssal Universe was filled with unique races of Demonic beings,? some nearly being as old and unique as the Titans and Chthonians of the Chthonian Universe. For this, Noah wondered how everything would play out when they faced the Seven Deadly Sins!

3 forces, 3 Universes.

And he had descended on the fourth one himself as at this moment, only the Omicron and Microbial Universes would not have his forces moving through them.

This was the rate he designed to be able to seamlessly bulldoze through the plans of Hegemonies and even an Antiquity!

In the Universal Core of the Dark Universe, Noah was now taking the behaviors of the Hegemonies that could not act within the 9 isolated Universes as he had three illusory screens that were showing the scenes of three different Universes.

They were showing all the events about to occur within not mainly for him, but for the main bodies of Valentina, Barbatos, and those around him who wanted to observe the happenings of the Universes!

As soon as Noah's words traveled down to the Vassals, they moved as the Blue Slime was the first to arrive in the Ethenia Universe, half of Noah's Animus Summons and the Paragons of the Animus Universe soon appearing behind him as he would lead their legions.

He took on the shape of the glorious Blue Dragon as burning blue flames shone in his eyes, reflecting the green luster that permeated throughout the unique Ethenia Universe that was filled with powerful Ancient Plant Races.

Treants, Dryads, Ents, Halflings...a myriad of Ancient Plant Races filled the Euthenia Universe as the beautiful verdant greenery about to be ravaged by war was extremely distinct!

Noah saw the beautiful scenes of this Universe as he made a mental note to go visit it later whenever everything was done and he could actually enjoy vacations as his eyes moved on to the scenes of the Seven Deadly Sins.

They had just arrived in the Abyssal Universe, the chaotic void around them tinged black and red as with the golden glimmering Sin of Pride leading the way, trillions of Undeads appeared behind them soon after as they began to move methodically.

It was a glorious scene as the terror of the Sins and Undead would entrench itself fully into the Demonic Races of the Abyssal Universe!

Chapter 1065 - Ancient Old Ones II

The last illusory scene Noah was displaying showed Tiamat and the remaining Animus Summons with the Emperor Penguin and a few other subordinates along with the Paragons of the Automaton Universe appearing near a Galaxy in the Liberated Universe that actually had a huge statue of a smiling human being posing gloriously as a cape stretched out behind him!

It was the glorified statue of a renowned Heroic Hegemony that was over a single light year large, many beings looking towards it for inspiration over the years.

All of those under Noah...experienced vastly different scenes in the Universes they descended on as some were about to meet Ancient Plant Races, others a myriad of Demonic Races, and others would even experience the unique atmosphere of heroes and Villains fighting for supremacy in another Universe!

As for Noah himself, his forces were moving towards the nearest Galaxy in the Chthonian Universe as he would meet monstrosities that others only thought of in their dreams.

With the request from Adelaide that found Noah's actions the most interesting, the illusory scene of the movements of Noah's Primordial Ruination Clone and the Terrors was also made visible beside the other three screens as many more eyes turned towards it.

4 screens showing 4 different Universes, those watching it all being the main bodies of Noah and his subordinates as they were all clustered in an enormous movie theater like stadium at this moment, delectable foods and feasts being prepared as they watched the unfolding scenes of the Universes play out.

It was a hubbub of activity as many wondered how the events would go down in each of the Universes, and they would have feasts while they watched on. It was something that only these beings in the Dark Universe could do as under Noah, they felt an immense feeling of safety and companionship!

Within the Chthonian Universe.

Noah's Primordial Ruination Clone in the Cthulhu form led the party of Terrors forward, their eyes set on the distant Galaxy that was so large that it covered everything for tens of thousands of light years!

The terrifying wings of Noah's new form flapped as they released a unique force to move him even faster than lights speed, his enormous body that shone with the color of galaxy black shimmering powerfully as it made him seem like an ancient being.

He enjoyed this feeling of power and strength as he made his way across this terrifying Universe.

Among the many Universes out there, Noah was extremely curious about one's like the Chthonian Universe purely based on how unique and different their inhabitants were.

They had their own Systems of power as when he thought of the Ancient Plant Races in the Euthenia Universe or the Microbial Races in the Microbial Universe, he wished he could've just had a laid back time touring all of these Universes!

But...the Universal Amalgamation would destroy it all as the end process of it was going to be the fusion of all the Universes with the Universal Constructs.

The merging of the cocoon like Tools of Descent as they became one and gave way to an Antiquity!

"Let's clean things before then, shall we?"

Noah spoke likely as his senses caught movements from the Galaxy they neared. They were ready for battles of Conquest like always, and the bodies of the Terrors began to thrum with power as they prepared to face whatever terrifying Legions of Chthonians were released soon after!

But...

WAA

The magisterial and ancient auras of only 3 Paragons could be felt coming towards them. No armies, no Legions, nothing! Just three enormous planetary sized Chthonian that caused Noah's eyes to glimmer with intense light.

One looked like a purely enormous squid, the tentacles from its body being even more numerous than the Cthulhu as its body undulated with a black aura. Another was an enormous circular ball of mass that looked like a planet, but the wriggling flesh that trembled with power gave away its status as a terrifying living being!

The third and the one leading the party of three was the most unique one in Noah's eyes as this Chthonian actually had a humanoid shape, with his face being black as it held no facial features, and a glimmering crimson halo undulated powerfully on top of his obsidian colored head.

Something unique about these beings was their auras! They were at the levels of Paragons, and yet Noah could feel they were extremely powerful ones at that as their auras almost neared that of the Incarnations of Chaos!

His eyes glimmered as [Eyes of Truth] were activated.

[Ekurass] :: A creature from the race of Ancient Old Ones, unique existences capable of living a few million years no matter their Realm of Power. Such uniqueness is accompanied by the fact that the advancement into the next rank is hundreds of times harder than normal for those of this race. [Life History],[Habits]....

Boundless information opened up in front of him as Noah's eyes glimmered with light!

Ancient Old Ones! Unique existences of all shapes and sizes, and the three in front of him were no smaller than his own planetary sized form as they released an ancient aura of oldness.

With Noah's comprehension is the essence of Chronos, he could see a unique factor of time wrapping around these three beings as they came forward, their bodies not holding any battle intent as Noah didn't attack.

The humanoid Chthonian at the forefront with the crimson halo 'spoke' first, mental waves entering Noah's mind.

"We have long heard of you and your actions in the Animus and Necrotic Universe, Tyrannical Emperor."

WAA!

A voice that seemed synonymous with age rang out as Noah focused on the powerful being before him.

"The Chthonian Universe is half divided under the influence of two Hegemonies, one siding with those searching for Antiquity, the other being the Great Old Nazzagath that is trying to protect us even now."

"He has sent word to us that you might be descending here, and that adhering to your will would be the best option to fight against the beings holding our Universe hostage!"

RUMBLE

"So from us...there will be no need for war or bloodshed. Half of the Chthonians in this Universe will bend to your will whenever you so want."

...!

Noah looked incredulously at the Ancient Old One as he nearly laughed inside, seeing that the Conquest of the Chthonian Universe would actually be even easier than any of the past Universes combined!

The Star of Conquest above his head shone brilliantly at such a reality, but the words of the Ancient Old One continued.

"I do have to warn you though, Apex Paragon. We Old Ones share unique abilities and on a deeper level, even consciousness. In the past day, from the Old Ones siding with the Usurper...three of the most powerful Paragons were forever removed from our lineage, their consciousness cut from us as it wasn't the release of death, but something else!"

...!

"Before the connection between us was entirely cut off, we were able to first sense the essence of a Hegemony corrupting their souls...and then the essence of the Antiquity that plagues our Universe before the connection was cut off entirely."

...!

Noah's eyes constricted at such information as his mind worked at high speeds.

Souls corrupted by the essence of a Hegemony- this should be an Incarnation of Chaos!

But...thereafter, these souls were Corrupted by the essence of Antiquity?!

Chapter 1066 - Not Following The Plot! I

Noah absorbed the words of the Ancient Old Ones as many thoughts and ideas flowed in his mind. The powerful Incarnations of Chaos...could Chronos and the Goliath have created something even more terrifying with the aid of the Antiquity?

Noah didn't know the answer to this, but it didn't matter to him at this moment as he merely nodded at the humanoid Chthonian before him.

"You are?"

"Devour of the Deep, Zagadath."

The rumbling voice of the Chthonian Paragon replied to Noah as his body began to glimmer with the pure white light of conquest and Fealty.

"Very well, you shall take the lead under me for the days to come as we make sure all the Ancient Old Ones and the rest of the Chthonians break free of the shackles of Chronos and his followers."

THRUM!

The moment his words finished, Noah had extended the essence of Fealty to the Devourer of the Deep in front of him as well as his two companions, the essence of Fealty going even further and extending into the vast Galaxy behind them!

From their words, these unique Ancient Old Ones under the lead of the Hegemony Great Old Nazzagath were ready to stand with Noah, with half of the Existences within the Chthonian Universe being told this as it made Noah's job very easy.

The dao of Fealty extended far past the 100,000 Light-year galaxy before them as Noah continued to churn his mana out wildly, spreading it throughout the Chthonian Universe as he would gladly take the free pass of a few Quintillion Vassals!

As he made a move the moment he arrived in the Chthonian Universe...so did his enemies.

He wouldn't have to wait too long as after his entrance, measures were taken by Chronos and the Goliath!

A present was already prepared for Noah, and it would come in a manner that he never expected!

Chronos and the Goliath were looking at two terrifying scenes at this very moment.

One was the fact that shockingly, the Oathkeeper was outside the boundary of the Microbial Universe as he was using a Cosmic Treasure to actually shatter the barrier of this Universe, nobody knowing the results of his actions when such a thing succeeded as Chronos's expression became gloomy!

The other terrifying scene they were focused on were the 9 horrendously powerful beings floating before them- these being the Subjugations of the Usurper that had come out of the Universal Constructs not too long ago.

Three were planetary sized Ancient Old Ones that overshadowed everyone else, two were Microbial beings that could barely be seen by the naked eyes, two were terrifying horned beings from the Abyssal Universe, and 2 were caped Heroes from the Liberated Universe!

The 9 Existences were extremely unique, but they followed the commands of Chronos as aside from the Antiquity trying to descend, he was the being with the most authority of the Universal Constructs. Below him was Ambrose that initially designed everything...and the Goliath and others came after.

"He's made his landfall in the Chthonian Universe."

The Goliath spoke in a matter of fact tone as Chronos nodded beside him, his eyes shining with a sharp light.

"We'll be doing things differently this time around. Even with the confidence we have that a single one of these Subjugations of the Usurper will not be able to be defeated by anyone other than a Hegemony...we won't be sending one after another or separate them into different Universes. We will focus on the Apex Paragon!"

RUMBLE!

Chronos spoke in a domineering manner as the eyes of the Subjugations before them shone with an intense light. He wasn't going about it in a round about manner as he followed the plot where they send waves upon waves of fighters against their enemies, only to learn them successively defeating them as by the end- they are left with nothing.

This happened just recently as 20 Incarnations were sent first against Noah, and it acted as a stepping stone for him to get even more powerful! Even though Chronos didn't know this, he instinctively chose to make the move that granted the highest success of the Apex Paragon being wiped away.

"All 9 of them shall descend onto the Chthonian Universe and wipe out the Apex Paragon first. Everything else can wait."

It was a route that didn't follow the traditional plot of waves of enemies being sent until they were all defeated!

A spatial light erupted from Chronos as it began to cover the existences releasing a terrifying light thereafter, the Goliath nodding as he still kept his attention towards the cracking Universal Barrier that was actually being disassembled with the Primordial Essence that made it.

"And the Oathkeeper?"

"We'll have to deal with him and hold him back ourselves, sadly."

OOOM!

The voices of the two powerful beings slowly faded as the 9 figures of the Subjugations of the Usurper disappeared from the Microbial Universe, their destination being the Universe where an Apex Paragon was already spreading out his Dao of Fealty freely!

In the Chthonian Universe.

To Noah, things had just been unfolding very smoothly as the words of the Ancient Old One before him held true, trillions of beings willingly agreeing to become his Vassals before he even shed any blood within this Universe!

His planetary sized body glimmered with the starry color of a galaxy as his crimson eyes blazed with light, the Star of Conquest above him letting out intense bursts of light as it seemed everything was under his fingertips.

As if everything was heading in the right direction.

But...

There would always be obstacles.

Life...would never be so easy!

THRUUUM!

Noah's crimson eyes shook a second later as he turned his gaze towards a certain direction, 9 terrifying auras having suddenly appeared as for a brief second, Noah mistakenly linked it to the auras of Hegemonies!

But this caused his gaze to change drastically soon after as he corrected himself when he confirmed and realized they were not. But this realization...was an even more terrifying conjecture as the 9 blazing auras that could be mistaken for Hegemonies shot towards their position at a rapid pace.

The river of time churned as the seas of destiny and fate began to boil. A crucial juncture had appeared for the Primordial Cosmos as 9 Players stepped onto an already chaotic stage at this moment!

Chapter 1067 - Not Following The Plot! II

Above Noah's main body, the golden seas of Destiny churned as his vast Universal Fortune began to erupt out wildly!

He had undertaken many actions in the past weeks, the growth of his Universal Fortune as an Architect of three Daos that were being utilized by the beings from over 4 Universes having grown to an extent that most Hegemonies could not even compare to.

Those with immense Universal Fortunes were the types of beings who could somehow overturn a horrendous and deadly situation to their own favor at the most crucial junctures, somehow finding hidden opportunities at a time when they would normally face death or suffer a major set back!

Noah...had no major risks of death as he had truly prepared too much, but he still had ways experience set back.

At this moment, the vast Fortune he held churned as for the first time ever, this fantastical concept sensed a coming set back that would befall on the being it coiled around. As there had been so few set backs, this Fortune churned wildly as it flew towards the vast rivers of Destiny, assimilating together before shooting into Noah's head as he was filled with boundless information!

Information about a coming calamity! Information of what he could possibly do to bypass this Calamity!

WAA!

Glorious waves of gold covered Noah at this moment as the hundreds of beings in the theatrical stadium around him who were watching the illusory screens showing the scenes of 4 different Universes looked towards him in shock and wonder.

He didn't say a single word as his eyes released golden beams of gorgeous light, a tremor going through his body as his eyes turned towards the screen of the Chthonian Universe!

The rest of his people also turned their eyes in this direction as they saw a blinding crimson light beginning to stretch out from 9 locations.

Noah looked at this light as he understood it represented a great calamity.

A calamity...but also a grand opportunity!

His Universal Fortune told him this much.

There were certain things he could do as if his Primordial Ruination Clone came out of this terrifying situation alive...there would be something beautiful waiting for him.

There was a possibility for a certain light to bloom.

There was a possibility of the glorious light of a Universe to bloom!

A possibility for Hegemony!!!

The Great Old Nazzagath floated outside the boundary of the Chthonian Universe as he looked at the vastly changing situation within, other Hegemonies that had found out the Apex Paragon being here staying a few miles away from him.

This being was titled a [Great Old] within the Chthonian Universe, being a powerful Hegemony that was only slightly behind Chronos, Oathkeeper, and the Goliath in terms of power. His figure was that of a crimson star shaped monstrosity, purple flames constantly burning throughout the wriggling mass that formed into the shape of a star!

In the Primordial Cosmos, he was known as the Great Old One, the Star of Destruction, and the Hegemony of Venerable Chaos.

Aside from the Goliath...he was the oldest being in the Primordial Cosmos!

He knew very well the renowned and powerful Paragons of the Chthonian Universe he was born in, even the ones that fell under the influence of the only other Great Old One that had now sided with Chronos.

So he recognized the three planetary sized Chthonians that came towards the Apex Paragon, even though it seemed their Original forms were greatly changed and the very air they released had become something else.

These were the very same Ancient Old Ones that had forever been taken from the collective consciousness connection of the Chthonians a few hours ago.

Two were very similar, their bodies being those that a majority of Chthonians took. They had the octopi-draconic features as their bodies leaned more towards the spherical shape, looking very similar to the purple Chthonian(Cthulhu) that the Apex Paragon had brought with him!

These were known as the Trepidities of the Deep!

They had two abyssal black eyes the size of small stars peeking out of the wriggling tentacles that covered their bodies that were over 50,000 miles long!

Recall that a small planet was only a few thousand miles long in diameter.

These two Chthonians had grown to the size that was tens times that of an average planet after their transformation, even the form of the Apex Paragon and his allies looking 4 times smaller in size!

"Oh Varaxx and Kabulzan...what have you all done...?!"

The Great Old Nazzagath couldn't help but shake his head sadly, glancing at the third Ancient Old One that actually led the party of 9 terrifying beings.

The Chthonian Paragon who was most likely to become a Hegemony in the next 100,000 years. The being known as the Three-Faced Old One, being a unique Chthonian that was also circular in shape as its body had three pronounced faces that stretched for thousands of miles!

The Three-Faced Old One was currently over 60,000 miles in diameter, the star sized eyes on its three heads releasing a terrifying sense of loss as they didn't actually release any light. They released a deep sense of loss as when Nazzagath looked at them...he couldn't see the light of a soul within these eyes anymore!

The eyes were the key to every being, the light within them giving a glimpse of just who they were.

The Trepidities of the Deep had naturally abyssal black eyes as Nazzagath didn't notice anything, but when he looked deeply into the eyes on the three faces of the Three-Faced Old One, he saw its utter blankness as his heart trembled in pain.

There was no soul there!

Whatever these transformed beings were...not just the three Chthonians but also the 6 other ones releasing a terrifying light of power- they weren't who they used to be!

They were something else entirely.

They had become Subjugations of the Usurper!

Their bodies swirled with such immense and terrifying essence as even the watching Hegemonies rose up in shock.

It wasn't power that any Paragon could wield.

It wasn't a type of strength that any Paragon could stand against!

It was a strength that they truly believed had already neared if not reached the bounds of a Hegemony!

Such strength...emanated from 9 beings as they didn't go one by one.

All of them and without a warning...thundered towards the singular Apex Paragon that had the form of a Chthonian shining with a colorful aurora of galactic light!

Chapter 1068 - A Serendipitous And Inexorable Catastrophe!!! I

Noah's mind buzzed with a gorgeous light of power as he couldn't help but repeat it to himself.

A possibility for Hegemony!

Sadly it wasn't for him, but it was for a brilliantly shining Blue Slime with an unbeatable skill that could assimilate anything it devoured.

With such knowledge in hand, Noah began to move as he sensed the terrifying auras of 9 powerful beings nearing their location in the next three seconds.

Three seconds...but it was more than enough.

Firstly, the conquest of the 3 Universes aside from the Chthonian Universe was brought to a halt as Noah pulled back the Blue Slime and the rest of his Animus Summons, instantly teleporting them to float beside him in the Chthonian Universe.

BZZZT!

Essence then bloomed wildly as the body of the Blue Slime expanded, taking on an identical form similar to Noah's of a humanoid Chthonian with an octopi-draconic head filled with a myriad of tentacles and shining with a colorful aurora of galaxy colored light.

The only thing different was that the Blue Slime shimmered bright blue as he looked exactly the same as Noah, his eyes hungry as thereafter...their enemies arrived.

WAA!

With grandeur and power, the beings Noah only sensed seconds ago to thousands of light years away appear before them.

Their mere appearance caused the surrounding space to quake as if it was placed under a strain, their soulless eyes locking onto Noah's figure as they didn't even stare at those around him!

At the same time, Noah was looking at his enemy as he received increased levels of shock.

Eyes of Truth was deployed as it brought back...

[Three-Faced Old One] (Subjugation of the Great Usurper) ::? They have become entirely different existence as @$%#@Abilities exceed parameters of all @#!%@$...Soulless @$%^@#$$%...the instincts of the Usurper control the!#%#^@#%$...

[Trepidation of the Deep](Subjugation of the Great Usurper) :: They have become entirely different...

...!

Noah's eyes constricted at the broken information he was receiving, coming across existences again that he could pull very little information about, but one thing remained clear.

Incarnations that had somehow become entrenched with the aura of the Great Usurper!

Beings that exceeded all parameters of Paragons!

And there were 9 of them as three were terrifying Chthonians nearly five times as large as Noah's current 10,000+ mile form. 2 were actually normal sized humans, wearing caped costumes shining red and black as they had the stereotypical look of heroes Noah had only read about in comic books!

Then there were two existences that Noah could sense the overpowering auras of but could barely see them due to their small sizes, his eyes having to intensely focus before he could see the microbial sized existences.

Lastly were two demonic looking figures that had jet black bodies, demonic horns and 6 pairs of wings on their backs as they moved on four limbs as if they were beasts! They seemed like mixtures of demonic dragons as they were existences from the Abyssal Universe.

As Noah looked over all of them, the one singular thing he could say was that their eyes...were all the same.

As he read the very limited descriptions he could find, he saw that all of these 9 beings that exceeded anything to do with paragons were actually soulless creatures that didn't even have their old minds, everything about them currently being controlled by pure instinct of an Antiquity!

The instant of their arrival, the three Ancient Old Ones that had come to receive Noah trembled as they sensed the overpowering auras of these beings.

The instant of their arrival, they moved without a single word as the chaotic void quaked, all 9 Subjugations of the Usurpers erupting out with what seemed like their strongest attacks right then and there!

They didn't go one at a time.

They didn't stop to talk.

All 9 attacked all at once and with shocking might that caused the chaotic space to howl and tear!

'Fucking hell'

Noah cursed out at these perfect killing machines as his body erupted with an intense light, multiple skills lighting up from him and his Animus Summons that were fused with his clones.

The bodies of Chtulhu behind him were even pushed back as Noah foresaw even these powerful Paragons would be shattered apart by a single strike of the 9 existences before him!

This was because on their bodies, there were a myriad of things he could recognize...but there were even more things he didn't know of.

There was the Cosmic Essence of Extinction, Chronos, and Annihilation...but there were also other Cosmic Essences that he had not come across before!

From their bodies, there was also an intense feeling of a unique power that Noah didn't yet understand, and it related to the aura of the Antiquity.

The Three-Faced Old One that was the largest of them all was at the forefront as his attack released itself at the speed of light, arriving in front of Noah's Primordial Clone the moment that his cast of a myriad of skills finished!

The attack...came from the front face of this terrible beast, being a scorching obsidian ray of light that was over 20,000 miles wide in diameter. This ray of light shattered the very chaotic void itself as if it was paper, the three Ancient Old Ones that Noah had already pushed aside nearly feeling their skin burn even though they were from a far distance.

It wasn't just enough to wipe out Noah, it covered enough distance that even the figures of the Blue Slime and others around Noah were all affected!

Mind you...this was just one of the attacks of the 9 Subjugations of the Usurper!

RUUUUUMBLE!

The attack came at the speed of light as it smashed onto Noah, his body and the bodies of his Animus Summons his clones fused with having already been under the enhancement and boosts of tens of skills when they received the attack.

Yet...

BOOOOM!

An explosive sound as if millions of galaxies had shattered exploded out.

The chaotic void was shattered as it remained that way, the area being thrown into deadly storms of destabilized space as even the void could not restructure itself!

When the scene cleared an instant later, a shocking scene was displayed.

There were multiple figures of Noah's Summons surrounding him when the attack of the Three-Eyed Old One came.

When it finished, even the void was melted as one could only see the figures of Noah and the glimmering blue version of himself that was the Blue Slime remained.

The rest of the clones of his summons and even his own clones that were fused into them...were vaporized as something aside from the essence of Cosmic Daos invaded and tore everything apart!

Only the body forged by a Cosmic Treasure remained and the body of the unique creature half way through becoming a Hegemony were safe!

Chapter 1069 - A Serendipitous And Inexorable Catastrophe!!! II

A single attack, and all of Noah's clones and the clones of his Animus Summons aside from the Blue Slime were wiped out!

Tiamat was no exception!

Nor the Kingly Calamity Bear!

Nor the two Draconic Serpent twins!

Vaporized by something that heavily reinforced the Cosmic Dao Essences that the Three-Faced Old One blasted out, and that something was the essence of Antiquity.

Only the Blue Slime and Noah's Primordial Ruination Clone could withstand it, and even then...one could see that on their bodies, there were jet black flames that were burning furiously trying to devour their bodies even now!

Noah's eyes glimmered with a glorious light of power as even with such a development, he wasn't hindered or maddened.

A single attack from just one of his 9 enemies had told him that at this moment, he faced an utterly oppressive and shocking force that might actually be possible of defeating him.

This was why his Universal Fortune had churned..

This was why his seas of Golden Destiny had roiled!

Because in such an impossible situation...there would be stupendous results if he came out on top!

The attacks of his enemies could move at a speed of light, but so could his.

From the bodies of both Noah and the Blue Slime, clocks filled with the essence of Chronos bloomed as an instant cast of [Temporal Inversion] was cast.

Not around a specific person, but over the entire area that his summons and himself used to be and were at this moment in time standing in!

Large droves of essence were utilized as the essence of Chronos seemingly overflowed, a shocking scene displaying itself soon after.

The vaporized bodies of all of Noah's summons reappeared as seas of mana were used to inverse the flow of time of their area and bring them back to an instant before they fell!

Yes.

Mana!

This was always Noah's one and only true weapon!

Facing beings of utterly ridiculous power, it was the only thing he could wield to stand against them as he used droves of it for a temporal inversion and overcame an attack that could wipe out even his clones and summons!

But still, the enemies this time were at a whole other level.

Even as the bodies of Noah's newly returned Summons and himself fully lit up with the essence of Ruination and Chronos, one must not forget that at this time, only the attack of a single one of the Subjugations of the Usurper had arrived.

There were still 8 more.

Each of them had attacked simultaneously!

As soon as the cast of Temporal Inversion finished, the attacks of the 8 other terrifying existences landed!

Some were terrifying rays of deadly light, others were purely physical attacks that came from the enemies themselves.

The figures of the red and black caped Heroes from the Liberated Universe appeared near Noah's Primordial Clone on the left and right as they focused on him, their arms flying out as they merely threw out a punch.

A mere punch that formed a chaotic phantom of Cosmic Essence that tore apart the void it crossed as if it were weak glass, this phantom punch bearing the weight of an innumerable number of Galaxies!

Aside from these, there were also the attacks from the two existences that were the size of microbes, yet the damage they could release could wipe out galaxies in a blink.

Their figures released an aurora of rainbow colored flames that washed towards Noah's figure and Noah's figure alone, these beings making it clear their goal was to eradicate him at all cost as they didn't even spare their glances at those around him.

The two monstrous demonic beasts with 6 pairs of wings had their horns shine a brilliant ray of gold, causing sharp and minuscule drops of rain sized spears to instantly appear above Noah as it felt like a cloud of gold was coming down.

Against any beings, these minuscule golden spears would pierce them and only leave holes behind!

Then there were the two Trepidities of the Deep besides the Three-Faced Old One.

Their figures shone with a purple luster as two flowers bloomed below Noah's feet. The blooming of these two flowers came with it the eruptions of an innumerable number of tentacles that threatened to wrap and destroy everything.

"..."

It felt like time was moving in slow motion.

Noah alone faced the simultaneous attacks of the 9 Subjugations of the Usurper that even the strongest Paragons could not even handle being near of...but his heart was calm.

A Cosmic Treasure disappeared from the Origin of his main body as it appeared in the Origin of the Primordial Ruination Clone.

An authority that only the owner of this Cosmic Treasure could utilize was cast.

The Dao of Subterfuge was put to full use as it covered everything around Noah.

BZZZT...CRACK!

An instant later, the area around Noah's enormous planetary sized body 'shattered' as an oval area of utter darkness enveloped him!

It seemed like a dense black hole that appeared to cover him and the few miles around him because an instant later, all of the attacks that the terrifying Subjugations of the Usurper threw towards him were sucked into this black hole as they faded away.

Disappeared!

The area of black then receded as if nothing happened.

Noah's body reappeared silently, his figure untouched.

Silence pervaded the area.

The soulless eyes of the 9 Subjugations of the Usurper turned quizzical as something they didn't understand happened for the first time!

The enemy didn't withstand or block the attacks, it seemed like the void had just shattered as all the attacks were absorbed, and he came out spotless at the end of it.

But it shouldn't be like so, right?

That didn't make sense, right?

Noah's gaze was calm as he didn't bother explaining.

Of course, it was him utilizing the Cosmic Treasure he held to not just break apart the chaotic void, but to break apart the folds of the universe they were in entirely!

He tore apart only a small portion of it as he caused a rupture, this rupture having within it the dense essence of the Sea of Ruination that could eat up everything!

It could eat everything, so it ate up even the terrifying attacks of these existences!

With Noah covering up the crimson essence and making it indiscernibly black with the Dao of Subterfuge, the attacking Subjugations of the Usurper and even the utterly shocked Hegemonies watching everything had no idea what just happened!

Noah's eyes blazed a crimson light as his body shone with the gorgeous color of a myriad of galaxies.

His voice came out as this body began to glow murderously, his voice resounding out.

"My turn."

RUUUUMBLE!

Chapter 1070 - Inconceivable! I

BOOM!

Outside the boundary of the Microbial Universe.

BOOM!

Explosive sounds of utter immensity rang out as a being glimmering white and gold wielded a Cosmic Treasure and released droves of Primordial Essence that actually tore apart a Universal Boundary!

The being carrying out such shocking actions had an exceedingly cold expression at this moment, but when one looked at his eyes while he did such shocking actions...they would be able to see a tinge of pain coursing through with every hit.

As if he truly didn't want to do what he was doing, but he was left with no choice!

His entire life believed he had the purpose of bringing order to these very Cosmos. And yet at this moment, he was ripping one of its Universes apart!

BOOM!

The Primordial Essence had disassembled over 80% of the Universal boundary in the distance of a few miles, the Oathkeeper raising his hands once more to land even stronger attacks to finish everything when...

"What a hypocrite you are!"

WAA!

The essence of Chronos and Extinction bloomed from the inside of the Universe as they seamlessly passed through the now thin boundary that had nearly broken, rushing towards the figure of the Oathkeeper as he simply looked at this coming destructive essence while wrapping himself in Primordial Essence.

BZZZT!

The attacks from the Goliath and the Hegemony of Chronos landed on the vibrant Primordial Essence as they were eaten up, The Oathkeeper staring daggers at Chronos that had begun disparaging his name as soon as he appeared.

"The great protector who does nothing but establish order is actually tearing apart a Universe at this moment...just how far have you fallen?"

...!

An enormous regal purple clock erupted from behind Chronos with these words, the Goliath saying nothing as his chaotic body began to tumble around with essence of Extinction, a shocking illusory image of a planetary sized eye beginning to form behind me as he uttered calmly.

"Primal Eye of Extinction."

WAA!

Maddening essence rushed out as Chronos and The Goliath moved to stop the Oathkeeper from tearing apart the boundaries of the Microbial Universe.

The gaze of the golden glimmering being was still impassive, but as he stared at the two beings he had considered those alongside him, the wrath in his eyes was palpating as at this moment, another crucial junction for the Primordial Cosmos occurred.

Seeing the mocking expression on Chronos's face, seeing the unrecognizable form of the Goliath that was even older than he was...seeing these two beings accompanied with the myriad of recent actions and loss of purpose actually caused the Oathkeeper to snap!

The reserved and calm pillar that stood among the peak of power in the Primordial Cosmos bellowed out at this moment.

"OOOOOOOH!"

With his bellow, the Primordial Essence around him raged as it burned furiously, coalescing together as it formed into a glorious righteous Sword of Primordial Essence.

Pristine white in appearance but carrying such shocking power that even the hearts of Chronos and The Goliath tremble!

"Break for me!"

Oathkeeper bellowed out as if he was giving a command, the pristine white Sword of Primordial Essence thundering down as the thin film of a Universal Boundary remaining for the few miles around him...

CRAAAACK!

Shattered!

BOOM!

As if a bubble had popped.

As if an unbreakable piece of treasure had been defamed.

A Universal Boundary was broken as a being gallantly shining gold and white put his hands forward, grasping onto the pristinely white Sword of Primordial Essence as with its tip in the lead, he plunged into the Microbial Universe!

The figures of Chronos and Goliath were in shock as their bodies glimmered with intense light, their shocking attacks being released to stop this terrifying being from advancing.

The 9 Universes were still under the authority of an Antiquity that repelled any foreign Hegemonies from entering.

At this moment, the Oathkeeper was forcing his way in as with the Sword of Primordial Essence in the lead, he tore apart the pressure that repelled Hegemonies from entering the Universe!

His gaze was locked onto the far away Universal Construct, where even the attacking Chronos and the Goliath that wanted to stop his advance did not enter his eyes.

The gold irises within them shone as they only focused on the far away Universal Construct and the pristine white Sword of Primordial Essence within his hands.

Filled with determination and rage, the monstrous Oathkeeper continued forward!

"My turn."

WAA!

The voice was extremely chilling to hear, the Hegemonies watching the unfolding situation adopting solemn looks at this time as among all of them currently on the boundary of the Chthonian Universe, The Great Old Nazzagath was the one to speak.

"These 9 monstrosities...their power is on the border of a Hegemony!"

RUMBLE!

His voice caused the eyes of all others to shake as they looked at each other in affirmation, but one particularly grim Hegemony shook his head as he replied back with an even somber tone.

"The power that a single one of them can release nears a Hegemony. When all 9 collectively release their power on a single being together...that strike should be no less than the might of a newly advanced Hegemony."

"..."

Silence reigned in the surroundings.

The reality set in as all the Universal Experts in the surroundings understood the meaning of the words.

The Apex Paragon in front of them...could actually withstand the force of a Hegemony and not perish.

How wild!

How outlandish!

How inconceivable!

Utter shock and wonder spread out as after such a thought was realized, next up was naturally whether such a feat could be repeated twice or three times.

To be able to stand against a force comparable to a Paragon once was an astonishing feat. But it must have taken everything he had as thereafter...would he really still be able to do the same?!

A great question! And one that wouldn't take too long to be answered....
