

Mana 1111

Chapter 1111 - You Should Not Be Here! I

The dry Origin filled up as in milliseconds, its capacity had exceeded its old amount by tens of times! The Oathkeeper observed such an incredulous scene in shock as he channeled all of this raging mana into the Cosmic Treasure, the cocoon he had built up for himself expanding by over 10 times as he seemed to be in an impenetrable fortress.

Yet even against this, the Antiquity's eyes only shone with arcs of blue light- these arcs of light traveling faster than light as they wrapped around his hand and extended past his outstretched palm, wrapping around the pristine white cocoon that protected the Oathkeeper!

At the same time, this existence uttered out two words that caused the very atmosphere to tremble and vibrate fearfully.

"Ruler's Emanation."

RUUUUMBLE!

The very void trembled and folden as overbearing and immense waves of mental energies washed down over everything!

WAA!

Noah's eyes constricted as he felt this terrifying force descending all around, the three clones of the Blue Slimes appearing all around him as they bore the brunt of it themselves. Noah felt a portion of it as his eyes shone with a gorgeous array of colors, his mind and Origin being utterly protected...but it wasn't so for others.

The Goliath and the Hegemonies around him had dazed expressions as they seemed half asleep, as if they had lost the very control of their souls and could not put up any defenses!

The protected Oathkeeper in the depths of the cocoon of Primordial Essence and Noah were the only ones not affected as they watched the blue arcs of light stemming from the Antiquity wrap around the bright white cocoon and begin breaking down the Primordial Essence rapidly.

Per the method of descent, the Antiquity had agreed that he would give them a pathway towards Antiquity and that none of them would be killed! So when the Antiquity attacked, he didn't attack to kill, only to incapacitate.

After all, he needed to do was incapacitate them all before using the loophole through their promise to instead Subjugate them. After they were subjugated under him...then he would naturally let them know how to achieve Antiquity!

THRUM!

So his target remained the most immediate acquiring of the Cosmic Treasure before him. As for the dazed Hegemonies that had their minds scrambled from his sheer mental pressure?

The eyes of the Great Usurper flashed a gorgeous blue once more as he began to speak.

"Subju-"

But his words never finished.

At this moment in time, the eyes of the Antiquity flashed with even more brilliant light as instead of focusing the cocoon of Primordial Essence that held an enclosed Cosmic Treasure or the myriad of Hegemonies he was just about to subjugate...this being actually gazed upwards!

He wasn't the only one as out of the Hegemonies not dazed...Oathkeeper in his Primordial essence cocoon also turned and gazed upwards!

Then there was Noah and the Blue Slime! At this moment, Noah actually had a smile appear on his terrifying tentacled face as he also gazed upwards. It was because he knew the effects of Deus Ex Machina had come to at this moment.

This was the reason why the Antiquity stopped what he was doing and gazed upwards! This was the reason that Oathkeeper and Noah and the Blue Slimes also all gazed upwards. From this direction...they could feel the blooming of an aura that none of them could put their fingers on!

It didn't seem powerful, nor did it seem weak...but yet it had drawn all of their eyes as in the moment that the Antiquity gazed up, his cerulean blue eyes flashing with a powerful light as shock appeared within them.

"Impossible..."

The utter of the Antiquity reverberated out as a moment later, a genuine crack tore open in space as from it, dense Ruination and Primordial Essence poured out madly and with fervor, spilling out and causing the void of the Abyssal Universe to shake!

PA! PA! PA!

Yet even with such a fantastical scene playing out, a single sound could be heard that when one listened closely..it seemed like the sound of someone taking multiple steps calmly. The sounds of someone walking forward as when Noah's eyes focused on the gushing Primordial and Ruination essence flooding out from the crack in the void, he saw the figure of someone dazzling stepping out.

Long slender legs covered by a shimmering white dress, a shroud and veil hiding everything about her figure...it was a shocking existence the size of a human that stepped out of the crack!

Her veiled head gazed down calmly at everyone below as the crack behind her closed, the Ruination and Primordial essence that threatened to drown out everything actually going towards her figure and disappearing silently amidst the fluttering of her dress!

...!

Noah gazed at such a scene with utter stupor as his jaws nearly touched the floor, but another existence did not have the same reaction as he repeated the same word he just uttered before.

"Impossible!"

RUMBLE!

The voice of the Great Usurper reverberated out once more as when this being gazed towards the newly appearing existence, it wasn't that of shock, but more of incredulity and anger that such a being would appear here.

Incredulity that they would appear at this exact time and place just as he was proceeding with his goals!

But towards his bellow, the shrouded and veiled existence merely glanced towards him as a voice so profoundly beautiful and sonorous reached everyone's ears, as if this being was directly speaking right beside them.

"You...should not be here."

...!

WAA!

A shocking sentence that was not a question or a statement of confusion, but as if this being was stating a mere inviolable fact!

The Antiquity's eyes flashed with intense light as their cerulean light flashed on this shrouded being, not focusing on her per se, but instead on a mark he could see on her white dress.

Inscribed there beautifully was a glimmering 12 sided star, this star seemingly holding a profound meaning to the Antiquity as his eyes shot forth arcs of light full of anger when saw it!

But the existence cared not for this.

The Antiquity, Noah, the Blue Slime, and the Oathkeeper...they could all see that even though this being was veiled, she was at this moment looking down towards them with a gaze akin to an empress looking at peasants. Akin to a human looking at an ant!

It didn't matter whether they were Hegemonies, Apocryphal Antiquities, or real Antiquities....before her, they were all looked at as if they were mere ants!

Chapter 1112 - You Shouldn't Be Here! II

In the extremely tense unfolding situation, the Great Usurper continued to gaze up with anger as his eyes flashed coldly, his voice continuing to ring out.

"I shouldn't be here...and nor should you!"

RUMBLE!

Against an existence that caused shock and awe just from her appearance alone, the Antiquity didn't back down as in reply to this as at this moment, the vast Universes within his bodies vibrated immensely as he silently cast a certain skill.

It was a skill that would come at a great cost, but he used it nonetheless as he somewhat understood the extent of the ridiculous being that had appeared before him. As for how this existence had appeared?

A golden light of fate and destiny crossed through the eyes of the Antiquity as he discerned a few things, his eyes ultimately giving a barely discernible glance to the figures of Hegemonies below him as he silently cast the skill.

Yet, it seemed as if the existence above could have nothing escape from her eyes as the moment the Antiquity made this move, this existence also moved!

DING!

A gloved hand rose from the newly appearing figure as she tapped a few times in the void of space.

DING! DING! DING!

With every tap, resplendent white and crimson lines erupted out by the millions, these thin white and crimson lines causing Noah's eyes to widen as they vibrated with Ruination and Primordial Essence!

Millions of these white and crimson lines bloomed as they went on to instantaneously wrap around the figure of the Antiquity, beginning to circle around his figure rapidly as the entire area turned utterly colorful.

Yet even with such a move being made, the Antiquity only looked towards the newly appearing being with anger as he didn't make a move.

This was because he had no need to.

Just as Noah and all the others knew they couldn't do anything to the being above...so did the Antiquity!

Even though he seemed angered by her appearance, the extent of his actions was to silently cast a certain skill! His Blue eyes were palpable with anger as he watched the veiled figure that released their voice again.

"You do not belong in this Dimension. For your violation, you shall be sent to the Primordial Battlefields for 10 Million Years."

WAA!

The voice was as impassive as ever, causing a chill to run down everyone's spines when they heard it!

But the angered Great Usurper actually smiled at this time, his blue eyes leaving the veiled figure above as he stared down at Oathkeeper once more.

At the Cosmic Treasure he had sacrificed many Universes to try and obtain.

Then, his eyes couldn't help but wander over to Noah and the Apocryphal Antiquities surrounding him.

Then...his voice rang out!

"I think not."

...!

After gazing upon the beings of this Cosmos he raised his head again as from his deeply blue eyes, one could see them beginning to emanate shocking cracks that very quickly spread out to cover his face!

"Among the many things I will do...falling under the control of you hypocrites is not one of them."

The moment his words finished, Noah and everyone else watched in shock as a spectacular sight unfolded before their eyes. The beautifully blue eyes of the Antiquity had begun to crack, but the more shocking things were the Splendiferous Universes and large numbers of normal Universes that became manifested at this moment.

Every Hegemony looked at such a sight with envy and greed as this was what they searched for!

The sight of multiple Universes within an Origin was what they all sought, as such a thing represented Antiquity! Yet they were shocked to find that these wondrous manifested Universes from the Origin of this Antiquity...were actually burning.

Burning luminously in the dark void as they caused for the appearance of a beautiful scene!

The Hegemonies that had regained control of their bodies scrambled away at this moment as they thought this brazen Antiquity was about to self destruct with an attack to wipe them all, but no such thing happened as everything continued silently.

His Origin continued to burn as the Universes within it were being used up of all of their pristine essence for a use that nobody knew!

Only the existence above them seemed to have an idea as her fingers tapped out again.

DING!

The millions of lines made of Primordial and Ruination Essence stretched out as after circling the Antiquity, they shot into him like sharp needles as they sunk into his skin and Origin seamlessly.

BZZT!

It should have been an action that caused this being immense pain, and yet he remained silent as his Origin burned away silently, the cracks stemming from his eyes stretching to his as he looked like a porcelain figure that was about to break.

"Hmm?"

Even the existence seemed to find this unique as the lines of Primordial Essence and Ruination she sent out should have stopped this being from doing anything, yet whatever he had done seemed unstoppable!

He instead only silently gazed up towards this existence as he focused on the twelve-pointed star on her dress, his words ringing out calmly.

"Hypocrites are all that you are...sitting upon your high pedestals and gazing upon everything currently happening as if you are above it all, even though you are the ones responsible."

RUMBLE!

"I know the secret you all hide so well...I know what you all did!"

...!

His cold and decisive words shot towards the veiled figure as this existence finally reacted when such things were mentioned to her.

WAA!

Behind her, flowers of Ruination and Primordial Essence bloomed as the millions of thin lines that bound the Antiquity shone brightly and began to move this being up, a majestic aura descending all around that even caused Noah and the Apocryphal Antiquity that was the Blue Slime to feel stifled!

At this moment, the biting cold voice of the newly appearing existence thrummed down gloriously.

"What can a failed creature like you know? You have outlived your purpose as of this moment...and can cease to exist."

RUMBLE!

Chapter 1113 - A Heart! I

The Antiquity's body rose up while bound by lines of Ruination and Primordial Essence as he looked at the veiled figure that he could sense finally showing some emotions.

Noah and the others looked at this scene with their hearts thumping wildly as the power shown here was simply too fantastical for them to see!

After the shocking words were released from the newly arriving existence, instead of tapping her fingers- this being actually twisted her hand into a fist as the millions of lines of Ruination and Primordial Essence binding the Antiquity vibrated immensely and close in on...intent of decimating the being they held!

At such a juncture, time seemed to slow.

The cerulean blue eyes of the Antiquity shone brightly as cracks could be seen from them, these cracks having already spread throughout the body of this being!

The multiple burning Universes within had their immense force used as a few skills were cast, this Antiquity not worrying as at such a juncture a thought crossed his mind that he kept to himself.

It was a thought that he had while staring coldly at the 12 pointed star? that showed the designation of this being, this Antiquity actually not caring about her identity as he cared more about what she represented!

'Even you will not be able to stop me...I have my Subjugations spread across a myriad of Cosmos and Dimensions as you all can just wait. No matter how many years it takes...no matter how much pain I have to endure! For that...I will do whatever it takes!'

...!

It was an extremely important thought that would only be known by this being alone, one that showed there were many hidden things behind the scenes that were truly not understood.

With such a thought, the Antiquity disappeared as the cracks spread throughout his bound body. He didn't wait for the force of the existence above to decimate him as willingly...his figure exploded into blue particles of light that faded away into beautiful nothingness!

"..."

Noah watched this scene in utter awe as the Hegemonies around him felt stifled, never in their wildest dreams thinking the events would play out in this manner.

An Antiquity had descended, but before this being could even do anything...an existence that seemed even more powerful than an Antiquity had come down and quickly made nothing of this being!

Now, their eyes went towards this being that had brought such an abrupt end to everything as they wondered...what would this being do now?!

---

Across Dimensions and Spacetime.

Far from the Primordial Cosmos, in an entirely different Plane that was similar and yet different at the same time. Within a certain Cosmos of this Plane...an existence opened their eyes.

WAA!

The eyes shone a beautiful blue as they released arcs of light in the surroundings, illuminating the figure of a 2 meter tall human being with glimmering dark hair on an obsidian throne, this obsidian throne situated in what looked like a world of ice!

It wasn't just a world of ice as when one looked further, they would be able to notice frozen glaciers and landscapes stretching out across this world into the stars, and then from the starry star as this frozen landscape actually covered an entire Galaxy.

An entire Galaxy frozen with ice all around, and at the center of it, this being seemingly stood there alone while waking up.

He rose up as if he had been asleep for a long time, his limbs stretching as he craned his neck while his eyes flashed coldly!

"Another Subjugated Antiquity destroyed...it is truly hard to go against these Existences alone."

...!

Shocking words were released from him as his blue eyes glimmered brightly, gazing upwards as he seemed to tear across the folds of spacetime and look towards a certain direction.

His eyes had an enticing glow that could seemingly see past the veils of Dimensions, gazing far in the distance as in a short period of time, the events of a certain Cosmos were actually reflected onto his eyes!

Among the things reflected was the figure of an existence with a 12 pointed star, her gaze currently looking down towards a group of Hegemonies.

The existence with shimmering blue eyes actually also focused his gaze onto this group of Hegemonies as his eyes honed in on a certain person!

"Now...what exactly can I find within this Cosmos even after facing such a loss? Why is Destiny still pulling me into this Cosmos so much..."

He spoke under his breath as he could shockingly see the scenes of a place so far away that it shouldn't have been possible, but the burning of an entire Splendiferous Universes and normal Universes of an Antiquity could make many things possible.

As this being gazed upon all of this silently, something began to form behind him as ice coagulated together to form the dazzling figure of a red haired girl, the ice forming the dazzling red hair being extremely contrasting as the fair face of this being smiled while speaking out.

"Brother, I didn't know you had returned..."

---

Within the Primordial Cosmos.

The fantastical figure of a veiled existence gazed down upon a group of Hegemonies as her gaze focused on a single being in particular.

"You."

RUMBLE!

Her words were extremely biting and apathetic, Oathkeeper and the others shivering when they heard them as the one that was most affected was the one that her gaze was directed on.

It was on the newly advanced Hegemony of Ruination!

"You were the one that steered the folds of reality into this direction...for that and helping destroy an existence extending his reach into Dimensions he doesn't belong in...you shall be rewarded."

...!

Noah heard the words as his mind buzzed, all his thoughts focusing on her mention of steering the folds of reality while connecting it to Deus Ex Machina!

The ability that rose from a Trait only made possible through a Cosmic Treasure had actually come to have such an effect, some of its mysteries becoming more clear to Noah now as it was actually something that directly steered the folds of reality into another direction!

When Noah pondered on destiny and his fortune, it had told him the use of Deus Ex Machina would give him the most benefits. Aside from everything that had occurred, just what was about to unfold that would bring everything to fruition?!

Chapter 1114 - A Heart! II

In the void within the Abyssal Universe, the figure of a pristine woman could be seen as she gazed down above multiple Hegemonies.

From her, one could feel immense coldness and apathy, and no one could feel it more than Noah himself!

This was because the existence was currently addressing him, where even with the veil covering everything about her, Noah found her words to be filled with immense apathy even though she was mentioning something like a reward.

It was extremely hard to explain the feeling he was currently experiencing as he came out of his thoughts when he saw the unique existence above them wave her hands, causing for the appearance of a sparkling and pulsating...heart.

Yes!

It was a pulsating heart that shone with a rainbow colored aura, its appearance causing a fantastical fragrance to descend down as it made the minds of the Hegemony buzz while Noah himself found his Origin becoming entirely focused on this heart.

The veiled gaze of the existence also went towards this pulsating multicolored heart as her sonorous yet apathetic voice continued to ring out.

"Across the vast and nigh endless Ruination Sea, there are terrifying creatures known as Primordial Beasts roaming free."

...!

The veiled figure seemed to be explaining the origin of the shocking object she pulled out, Noah and the others listening carefully as their hearts trembled.

"These Primordial Beasts are unique creatures that require the sustenance of Universes and Cosmos to survive and reproduce...and so they traverse across the Ruination Sea while devouring the Universes within the vast Cosmos they come across."

RUMBLE!

Shocking new information was revealed from this being as she said it so simply and without any emotion, her hands waving forward as the multicolored heart began to float over to Noah!

"It's normally very hard for them to locate Cosmos, the chance being nearly impossible as the only time when that chance increases...is when Antiquity appears from a Cosmos."

...!

"The appearance and aura of the Antiquity that violated rules and entered your Dimension, that Apocryphal Antiquity around you, and even my appearance here...they have all increased the chances of a Primordial Beast crossing countless light years from the Ruination Sea to possibly come in contact with your Cosmos."

Yes!

Once a Cosmos had advanced far enough to produce the emergence of an Antiquity, it was put in a whole new tear as if it was invisible before...it became a light that began to flicker in utter darkness at that moment.

And the more power and might it displayed...the more Antiquities and even the possibility of a Cosmic Realm Existence coming to be would mean a Cosmos would be blinking gloriously across the dark and crimson Ruination Sea!

Such words and knowledge caused the hearts of Oathkeeper and the others to tremble as Noah listened with shining eyes to the new concepts displayed before him.

Primordial Beasts that crossed the Ruination Sea!

To him, it meant they were very unique existences as they had to have the Dao of Ruination or something like the Primordial Dao to be able to do such things.

He had many questions to ask amidst all of this but the most important one was of course...about the heart before him.

"When the Primordial Beasts find a Cosmos and begin Devouring, they can be repelled by the Antiquity or Antiquities within as when defeated...all of their essence and Origin are condensed into a Primordial Heart..."

WAA!

As these words finished, the multicolored heart arrived before Noah's eyes as his hands reached out to it, grasping onto it as he felt the pulses it released as these alone caused his body to vibrate with excitement!

"A Primordial Heart is extremely unique as with it, one can rapidly increase the number of Galaxies within their Universes or utilize the Heart to birth Dao Galaxies...making it possible for Antiquities to birth Universes fairly quickly."

Even while talking about such wondrous and fantastical realities, the voice of this being remained apathetic as she looked towards Noah grasping the heart and focusing on it with all of his mentality.

"That is only if the Primordial Beast is defeated though. If it succeeds in Devouring many Universes and Cosmos...it can rise to become something that even those in the Cosmic Realm struggle with."

"Use this Primordial Heart and prepare yourselves in the case a Primordial Beast ever comes across your Cosmos."

RUMBLE!

With such shocking and wild information laid out, the figure of the veiled existence began to shine with fantastical light as a crack unfolded behind her again.

Noah came out of his stupor at the incredible looking pulsating heart before his hands as his eyes once more focused on this figure.

He wanted to ask where she was from! He wanted to know what force she belonged to and why exactly she had been able to be influenced by Deus Ex Machina! He wanted to know how this existence could just come and go like this as he understood the reasoning behind her actions.

But when he looked at her apathetic air, he didn't say anything as he only spoke calmly.

"Thank you."

WAA!

A simple gratitude, and that was it!

The veiled figure nodded with the same apathy as when the crack behind her began to gush out Ruination and Primordial Essence, she delved into it as she pulled everything in and closed it soon after.

"..."

Gone just as quickly as she had arrived.

With her departure, a pervasive silence descended onto the void of the Abyssal Universe!

The sequence of events caused every Hegemony's mind to buzz in a stupor as none of it was as expected.

This was more so for the Goliath of the Primordial Cosmos and the Hegemonies on his side, the dreams of these beings taking the method of Antiquity from an Antiquity being dashed as when they all sobered up, their gazes unconsciously landed on the figure of Noah.

On the sparkling multicolored Primordial Heart that from the words of the veiled existence...it seemed like something that only the most powerful of Antiquities that could take down the terrifying Primordial Beasts could get their hands on!

Now, it was given to the Hegemony before them as their eyes glimmered brightly with intense light of wanting.

"You all...!"

RUMBLE

The bellow of the Oathkeeper reverberated out at this moment!

Chapter 1115 - Becoming An Antiquity Is Easy! I

"You all...!"

RUMBLE

The bellow of the Oathkeeper reverberated out as he came out of his protective circle of Primordial Essence.

His body burned with wild amounts of essence as at this moment, the identity of this being was much different!

He wasn't just the Hegemony at the forefront of Hegemonies in the Primordial Cosmos, he had inadvertently now become the Vassal of a certain Hegemony of Tyranny.

Above his head, a glorious white star of Conquest now rotated slowly as it washed over him and caused his body to vibrate with immense power.

His body was currently overflowing with power as not only did he receive over 100 times his old Mana Reserves, he also obtained an extra addition of power as he, like all other Vassals who pledged fealty to Noah, also obtained 5% of his strength.

5% of a Hegemony that was Noah Osmont.

THRUM!

His power spilled out madly as the Primordial Essence that had wrapped around him changed to becoming thick white chains that shot out to the Goliath and the others, snaking towards them dangerously!

This wasn't all as with his newly found reserves of Mana, the Oathkeeper had the Primordial Disk within his hands shine luminously as he utilized the Cosmic Treasure to even cause the area around the Goliath and others to lock them down.

The Universe they were in was made up from Primordial Essence. If a being with enough mana utilized a Cosmic Treasure that could affect Primordial Essence, they could easily interfere with the Universe!

This was how Noah could throw a punch or tap the void and cause an enormous rupture to spread out, and now the Oathkeeper could do something to a similar extent after obtaining such immense mana reserves!

"Do you see the result of your actions? What it brought all of you to?! Even now you don't seem the least bit remorseful!"

RUMBLE!

The thick chains of Primordial Essence actually smashed into The Goliath and the Hegemonies around him as they struggled powerfully, but actually found out that the might of the Oathkeeper felt like he was someone brand new entirely.

Only the Goliath was not resisting as this old existence simply looked towards his old friend in a daze.

His actions played before his eyes as they brought him here, and he did nothing at this moment as the black hole on his head gazed down, letting the thick chains of Primordial Essence wrap around him easily.

While the other Hegemonies struggled, they could do nothing without the aid of The Goliath as within seconds, they were all bound by Oathkeeper's chains as this being's golden figure stood above all of them!

His wings and eyes shone with a brilliant golden halo as with the overabundance of mana at his disposal, his might far surpassed the Hegemonies below him as he rounded all of them up.

It was a saddening sight to come across, the eyes of the Oathkeeper becoming hazy as he shook his head while causing the Cosmic Treasure in his hand to vibrate, the figures of Hegemonies before him becoming wrapped in Primordial Essence as their struggles became even more futile.

Soon enough, 12 circular balls of Primordial Essence were all that floated in the void, 12 Hegemonies becoming imprisoned in something that none of them could break out of!

It was only then that Oathkeeper gazed towards a certain direction, towards the figure of the Hegemony of Tyranny that was currently looking towards a multicolored Primordial Heart.

"..."

Oathkeeper controlled the urge of his Origin that was telling him to do everything possible to get the multicolored heart before him, something that the Goliath and other Hegemonies felt when they also gazed forward as he tried to speak towards the Hegemony of Tyranny.

Yet...

WAP!

This being disappeared before his eyes in an instant along with the Primordial Heart, leaving behind the copies of the three Blue Slimes!

Oathkeeper's eyes raised up when he saw one of the slimes shining, a figure actually separating from it as he felt the aura of the Hegemony of Tyranny actually appear before him again.

It wasn't in the terrifying form of a Cthulhu, his figure currently being that of a normal human as when one looked at it closely...it was Noah's true image at this moment!

His multicolored hair that he allowed to be influenced by too many law and Dao Essences, and his eyes that currently shone with a golden and crimson glow that only further enhanced his devilish handsomeness.

The figure of Noah Osmont appeared from his clone as he gazed towards the Oathkeeper with a light smile.

The Primordial Ruination Clone that was in the form of the Cthulhu had disappeared as Noah used his Cosmic Treasure to open up the Ruination Realm, sending the Primordial Clone into this area that had a time ratio of 1000:1 in order to take a look at the Primordial Heart that he had received from the unknown existence!

---

In the vast distances across Dimensions, a certain blue eyed Antiquity watched the unfolding events with scrutiny as he muttered under his breath.

"For such an existence to actually take the time to give this Hegemony such a thing...just what is he? Could he be..."

"Bah, you're getting lost in your thoughts again." Before the words of the Antiquity even ended, the voice of an existence made entirely of ice spoke towards him as she waved her hands before his eyes, showing an indignant expression before she continued.

"Even with your strong mind, getting lost into the memories and lives of beings that have lived for millions of years still has an effect on you! Every time you wake up...you seem a little different."

WAA!

"Less than a year has passed since you began dominating Realms and Dimensional Planes...and yet you talk as if you've lived for millions of years! I understand you living the memories of the beings you subjugate can do this but...sigh!"

Shocking words left this red haired woman made of ice as the Antiquity smiled while patting her head, his gaze still looking upwards towards the far away Universe in an entirely different Dimension. His eyes released a light filled with conviction as he spoke out slowly.

"You know why I have to do this though. There is nobody out there who even knows what is going on. Those that do know...they are too weak or cowardly to stand against beings like them."

As he spoke, his eyes locked in on the newly appearing figure of Noah as a light of destiny and fate crossed through his blue eyes.

His fortune and destiny were dancing wildly as they caused him to be quizzical at this moment, his strong mind ringing out and seemingly blaring when he gazed at this being!

The Antiquity seemed dazed as he uttered out incoherently.

"A possibility still lies within the Primordial Cosmos...with...this being?"

...!

Such a thought caused the Antiquity's eyes to focus and shine immensely, a decisive look appearing thereafter as he spoke out gloriously!

"I can make contact with the residual consciousness left behind and see what this is all about..."

RUMBLE!

Chapter 1116 - Becoming An Antiquity Is Easy! II

Within a vast space and time only accessible through the use of a Cosmic Treasure, Noah's Primordial Ruination Clone appeared seamlessly as he held on to a pulsating heart.

THUMP!

With every beat, the heart seemed to resonate with his Origin as the source of this Treasure was something he didn't even know about a few minutes prior!

A Primordial Heart that was only condensed when a Primordial Beast was killed, these Beasts being things that actually devoured Universes and Cosmos to reach unshakable heights.

As Noah stared at such a thing, he couldn't help but have his eyes flash, the ability of Eyes of Truth being utilized!

[Primordial Heart] :: The culmination of the essence of a Primordial Beast capable of Devouring entire Universes. Its absorption allows one to choose the rapid proliferation of normal Galaxies or the change of Normal Galaxies into Dao Galaxies. The extent of how many normal or Dao Galaxies are increased is dependent on the level of the absorber, as well as the rank of the Primordial Heart...

A few details were given to him as much of it coincided with what the unknown existence had told him, much more of the information being gibberish that he didn't even bother to try and see if he could decipher!

But the main thing remained the same about this shocking treasure that fell on his lap due to the recent events...and it was the fact that Noah could now vastly expand the number of his Dao Galaxies within his Origin.

He didn't know if it would be enough to achieve Antiquity...but he would see soon enough its capabilities!

Before he began though...he smiled devilishly as he spoke out to the Cosmic Treasure.

"RUINATION, why don't we use Duplication on this gorgeous little Treasure?"

...!

[Yes, Master.]

Yes! One must not forget that among the many features of the Cosmic Treasure, one of them was Duplication!

Nearly everything could be duplicated with a few exceptions, and gathering from the reply of the Cosmic Treasure...this Primordial Heart was not an exception.

It meant that Noah could get his hands on two of such terrifying treasures as with this, Antiquity had to be guaranteed, right?

WAA!

A flash of crimson light flashed as the Primordial Heart was taken into the Cosmic Treasure within his Origin and <Duplication> was cast.

The crimson light melded into the surroundings of the Ruination Realm as even though it was shining with a shockingly bright luster, there was no difference in the surroundings! But it only took a few seconds as soon after...two glimmering multicolored objects were spat out from the Cosmic Treasure.

A seamless duplication had been carried out just like that!

[Woah. These things are ridiculous...]

The Cosmic Treasure uttered out after two Primordial Hearts were produced, and it was because to be capable of Duplicating anything, RUINATION had to analyze it and break it down before it could be reproducible.

Noah raised his brows as a second later, information flooded into his brain while he held on to two pristine Primordial Hearts.

"...!"

The information caused him alarm as it turned out among the treasures known as Primordial Hearts, they could be ranked based on which Primordial Beast they came from!

Young Primordial Beasts in the Universal Filament Realm had strength equivalent to powerful Antiquities as they produced Lesser Primordial Hearts.

Above them, more powerful Primordial Beasts could grant one Grand or even Cosmic Primordial Hearts as such Beasts needed powerful existences at the Cosmic Realm to take down!

And the Primordial Heart in Noah's hands...was a Grand Primordial Heart.

"Fucking hell..."

He couldn't help but let out an expletive as his eyes shone brightly, the boons he received this time around being too stupendous!

All of this from a single cast of Deus Ex Machina and the descent of an Antiquity that was behind it. It was such a surreal thing that he even wanted to thank both the Antiquity and unknown existence for making things so exemplary for him!

But his shining eyes focused as he gazed upon the two Primordial Hearts before him, his mind settling as in the vast and crimson Ruination Realm, he sat down while holding onto these Grand Primordial Hearts.

Treasures so profoundly and unique that he fully expected Antiquity to be in reach even with just one of them, much less two!

The focus of his Primordial Ruination Clone would be on this as his main body and clones had many more things to take care of.

One of these was the continued teleportation of existences from the remaining Universes that were affected by Amalgamation, Noah not wanting to put the situation of these Universes go to waste as he increased the quota he needed before he could upgrade the Universal Core!

There was also the need to see how things would play out in the Primordial Cosmos after such a terrifying set of events, as well as his newly established Vassal...the Oathkeeper who held a Cosmic Treasure.

Even aside from all of these things, Noah still had another thought that caused his eyes to shine with a glorious light for the future...and that was the thought of utilizing [Protagonist's Bookmark] on either of the two beings that had appeared before him!

Either the Antiquity known as the Great Usurper, or the more likely selection being the unknown existence that came and left him with a Primordial Heart!

The cool down for the Protagonist's Bookmark would finish in a few days as when the time came, he would make the choice then.

When he thought of carrying out the Bookmark on the terrifying unknown existence though, a sense of apprehension filled Noah's mind as even though no beings were able to notice him before when his soul descended unto them, this existence had too many things he didn't understand for him to apply these same standards to her!

But he would deal with this when the time came and as always...after he had discerned destiny and fate.

"For now..."

THRUM!

A gorgeous eruption of light suffused the surroundings in an intimate manner as Noah began to utilize a Primordial Heart for the first time.

Chapter 1117 - Becoming An Antiquity Is Easy! III

A feeling of happiness unlike anything that he came across before.

This was what Noah felt when he began to absorb the Primordial Heart for the first time!

THUMP!

The thumping heart actually beat faster and faster as he began to absorb it, releasing a gorgeous glow of multiple colors that surrounded his body and sunk into his Origin.

His Origin currently had the full 100 Billion Galaxies as over half of them were Dao Galaxies, and this was all due to the hard work of personally making quintillions of beings into his Vassals through his Lesser Dao of Fealty!

Now as the glow of the Primordial Heart began to perfuse into his Origin, Noah could see that wherever its light passed...his normal galaxies vibrated intensely as they very soon changed their nature and colors, becoming Dao Galaxies right after.

Seamlessly!

Easily!

THUMP!

Wild bursts of essence erupted out as the moment that Noah got the hang of it, he began calling upon the Primordial Heart as its heartbeat increased even more!

The more its rate of beating increased, the more normal Galaxies became Dao Galaxies in Noah's Origin as he could count the conversion of millions every single second.

In the Ruination Realm, a devilish smile could be seen on Noah's face as while he did this, the nature of his main body that the Primordial Ruination Clone stemmed from was being changed at an even faster pace, the eruption of Dao Galaxies very soon surpassing 55 Billion as of this moment...Noah was on his way to Antiquity!

He kept the words of the unknown existence in his mind when she talked about the emergence of Antiquity being the thing that caused a Universe to have a light if it was dark before.

It was what could possibly draw in a Primordial Beast!

Since the Antiquity that had descended down into the Primordial Cosmos and the Apocryphal Antiquity that was the Blue Slime had already made their auras apparent, Noah would be the third Antiquity to rise even though his main body wasn't within the Primordial Cosmos.

It also made him ponder about the lone Dark Universe that was currently floating not too far away from the Primordial Cosmos, and what chance there was for the terrifying Primordial Beasts to lay siege onto his Universe!

All of these were thoughts and calculations he was making while breaking into Antiquity getting ready for whatever was to come from here on out.

---

As the absorption of a Primordial Heart began in a hidden region, Noah's clone was in the Abyssal Universe where one of the oldest beings of the Primordial Cosmos was imprisoned by his closest friend!

Oathkeeper glanced at the bound chains that melded together in a circular format around 12 Hegemonies as he sighed, his gaze landing on Noah as these beings now had a unique relationship.

One was a Vassal...and the other was their Emperor!

This was extremely unique as Oathkeeper had lived for millions of years, and Noah had barely been in his 20s! Yet he held the fealty of an expert that held a Cosmic Treasure, with the question being exactly what he would do at this juncture.

Noah's clone had unmerged from the Blue Slime as he looked towards the Oathkeeper with a smile, about to begin speaking when all of a sudden...a voice thundered in his mind!

"What are you?"

RUMBLE!

The voice was very distinct, being one of authority and might as Noah recognized it and connected it to a certain being right after.

His expression hardened as the aura of the Apocryphal Antiquity beside him blazed up, but they could find nothing in their surroundings no matter how much they searched!

Noah's actions caused Oathkeeper to also turn somber as he looked around them, finding nothing as he gazed towards Noah.

"You won't find me anywhere, that woman made sure of that. But she couldn't prevent me from burning multiple Universes to leave an untraceable portion of my consciousness here...this consciousness being able to do nothing but observe and speak."

...!

Noah heard the words of the Antiquity that should have been decimated already, his eyes shining carefully as above his main body in the Dark Universe, his seas of fortune and Destiny began to churn!

Noah noticed this change begin as soon as this Antiquity's voice descended down just now, his eyes shining a brilliant luster as he wondered just what could be in play at this moment.

"For her to hand you a Primordial Heart...for someone of her caliber to even care enough to do such a thing...it means your Universal Fortune is vaster than any Antiquities, or you're one of them."

RUMBLE!

Noah took in the words of the Antiquity silently as after seeing his Destiny and Fortune churn on his main body, he didn't outright reject this being and think of ways to destroy whatever trace of him remained as he carefully spoke out.

"One of them?"

"..."

His question made the Antiquity pause for a few seconds, a reply only coming out moments after.

"Yes, one of them. Beings that those existences pay attention to and occasionally interfere in the lives of...weapons that they forge for their own uses."

RUMBLE

"What?!"

Noah's expression changed for the first time when he heard this, his eyes flashing coldly as he didn't expect to be referred to as a tool for others!

"You think they'd selflessly let go of a Primordial Heart out of the goodness of their soul? An excuse that you helped stop me? Rubbish! Those existences do not care about Universes or Cosmos...all they care about are their own lofty positions and maintaining them."

"Her making a move and even going further to hand you a Treasure only leaves a few possibilities of your identity. Which begs the question...what is your name?"

"..."

"What does that have to do with all this?"

Noah's eyes were sharp as he asked quizzically, only for the Antiquity to reply coldly thereafter.

"Names are important. If you can share this and some more information...I can share with you the secret that those existences hide, I can tell you their true nature and much more about Primordial Beasts!"

...!

A unique phenomenon was occurring at this moment as it was one of the most important meetings and talks to take place.

None of the two sides knew this yet as at this moment...

The Antiquity was probing Noah, and Noah....was also probing the Antiquity!

Chapter 1118 - Becoming An Antiquity Is Easy! IV

Within the Abyssal Universe, Noah's eyes were flashing with caution as his aura spread out around the clone, the bodies of the Blue Slime ready to move at any time as he probed the Antiquity.

"You ask for my name and state all these claims about beings with vast Universal fortunes being Tools for others...even knowing secrets that nobody else knows. Mind you, you were the being that was just invading this Cosmos moments ago! Why should I be listening to anything you say?"

WAA!

"..."

His question caused a period of silence as the Antiquity was seemingly pondering about something, taking half a minute before his voice rang out again.

"I can speak about this with confidence and even share with you knowledge that is taboo across Cosmos and Dimensions...because I was one of the weapons they were forging."

...!

Like a clap of thunder, this shocking information was stated simply as Noah felt his heart beat quicken!

"I found out about their true nature and broke away from them, losing something extremely important to me in the process...something that I've only just been able to begin recreating recently."

The invisible consciousness of the Antiquity voiced out strongly as Noah's coldness reduced just a bit.

In the Dark Universe, he continued to watch the churning of his Destiny and Fortune as it was seemingly excited.

Just what was this? Why was destiny and fortune telling him that this sequence of actions would be extremely good for him and lead towards a fantastical direction?

He could only trust in his intuition as it had never failed him before!

"Once more...your name. Is it Aegon? Ezekiel?...Noah?"

RUMBLE!

The Antiquity had shared another explosion of information as when Noah heard it, even his Primordial Ruination Clone nearly stopped its absorption of the Primordial Heart in the Ruination Realm.

'What the fuck?!'

Noah's eyes flashed sharply when he heard his name mentioned among three, his mind going on overdrive trying to figure out the extent of truth the words of this being were!

But when this being uttered his name among three, he couldn't help but begin to lean more on his words being the truth as he began questioning himself on what the hell was going on!

---

Across Dimensions and time, the Antiquity's eyes were flashing a brilliant blue as he used whatever remaining consciousness he left behind in the Primordial Cosmos to observe the figure of the Hegemony before him closely.

He wanted to see if there would be any reaction from this being when he uttered these names, he wanted to confirm if he was one of them...and hadn't been entirely influenced or brought over to their side!

When he did utter the three names though, all he received was a sharp flash of light crossing the eyes of the unique Hegemony as from this, he started to formulate his own ideas!

'If he truly is one of them and he hasn't yet fully fallen under their influence, then maybe...'

A thought crossed the Antiquity's mind as he pondered, his eyes hardening with resolve soon after as he made a move!

---

As Noah's mind was still buzzing from hearing his name coming from an Antiquity that came from Cosmos and Dimensions away, he spoke out calmly with curiosity.

"What do those names signify? Upon the countless quintillions of beings that can populate Cosmos, there will be millions with the same names. What would make those names so special?"

His thought process was extremely logical, but the Antiquity replied very quickly!

"There should be many beings with those names, yes. But the probability of having existences with these very same names as the top most powerful forces of multiple Cosmos and Dimensions is very little. I have traversed many Dimensions and Cosmos...and found beings with these names to almost always be under the guidance or protection of those existences as they exhibit tremendous strength or unique capabilities."

"As you seem to fall under this banner, I will tell you of the true nature of those existences...I will tell you of the secret they hold that very few existences within the vast Cosmos and Dimensions know!"

RUMBLE!

The stage was set as Noah's eyes flashed gloriously, seeing the manner of this being wanting to freely give information to mean that he wanted something from him!

As for what he could possibly want...Noah would see what this being had to offer as he spoke out languidly.

"I'm not entirely sure of your claims, but I have some time to listen if you feel like talking!"

"..."

Noah didn't deny or admit anything as after a few seconds, the voice of the Antiquity rang out.

"The existence you saw descend down and hand you a treasure do willingly...she is part of a group of beings known as Primordials!"

WAA!

"Existence wielding immense power and might as they had their influence stretching across a myriad of Cosmos. As you can guess, these Primordials have everything to do with the Primordial Beasts that ravage the Ruination Sea and devour Universes and Cosmos...and this is the secret they hold that very few know."

"These terrifying Beasts that threaten the very structure of the Cosmos...were actually born from the actions of Primordials!"

...!

Yes!

The terrifying race of Primordials were actually the reason for the appearance of Primordial Beasts that devoured Cosmos, and this was a closely guarded secret that very few knew!

As for what exactly they had done to cause these terrifying beasts to manifest?

"In the past, even with all the power they had...the Primordials wanted more and more."

The Antiquity's voice turned somber as he spoke, his words seemingly reminiscent as if he recalled something from a long time ago.

"When they asked themselves what they could do to obtain more power, one of them naturally suggested that they just had to increase the number of Cosmos they influenced. That all they had to do was cause the expansion of the places their hands dipped into!"

"The actions they carried out to do such a thing were the cause for the eruption of Primordial Beasts...and also for the appearance of Dimensional Planes, the appearance of parallel planes that held an uncountable number of Cosmos for them to control as the years passed."

RUMBLE!

Chapter 1119 - Becoming An Antiquity Is Easy! V

Dimensions different from one's own!

Planes of existence that seemed to mirror one's own, but they were also different!

"In the past, there used to be an Original Timeline that continued forth endlessly, but the actions of the Primordials changed this. They caused infinite branches of time to separate from the Original, gaining access to an untold number of Cosmos."

"Parallel worlds, Multiverses, Cosmos, Dimensions- call them what you wish! But these beings actually carried out actions that made it possible for them to gain access to all of this and traverse them as they wished."

The tone of the Antiquity had turned extremely somber as in the void of the Abyssal Universe, Noah's eyes shone brightly as he took in this information!

"But with such an unnatural action occurring and causing the birth of Multiverses, Cosmos, and Dimensions...something unnatural formed in response to it!"

Yes!

For every action, there was an equal and opposite reaction!

The actions of the Primordials that caused the Original Timeline to fracture into countless ones also caused the birth of the Primordial Beasts- existences that moved for the sole purpose of Devouring Universes and Cosmos across different Dimensions.

"This is the true nature of Primordial Beasts! They only came to be for the sole purpose of undoing what the Primordials did- to bring to a stop the unraveling of the Original Timeline as their goal is to devour all Parallel Dimensions and return things to how they once were."

RUMBLE!

Noah's mind shook as he listened to such shocking truths, his Destiny and Fortune churning as he assimilated it all in his mind!

Multiverses! Parallel timelines! Concepts of extreme depth descended unto him all at once as he organized it all neatly to the most important details.

"The Primordial Beasts are actually a force of nature to return things to how they once were, but now the Primordials had to fight and eradicate them to keep the vast numbers of branching realities. But how could they win against such enemies?!"

"As long as branching realities and timelines existed, so would the Primordial Beasts! They could not be fully eradicated as all the Primordial could do was to maintain the current state of affairs and reduce the numbers of Primordial Beasts as much as possible."

"It is something that has put all of us in a constant state of war, where vast numbers of timelines and realities could be eradicated as long as the Primordial Beasts swallowed all of its Cosmos!"

A constant state of war!

War against forces of nature that just wanted to return things to how they were.

These were the Primordial Beasts.

This was the true nature of Primordials.

Noah had a somber expression as he listened to all this, raising his head thoughtfully as he tried to peer through the folds of space around him.

Vast numbers of realities apart from his own. Timelines he didn't even know about!

When he got to such a point, he thought about the Dao of Chronos and Reincarnation that Chronos used, his eyes shining brightly as he spoke out for the first time in a while thereafter.

"Your descent into the Primordial Cosmos was you reaching across into another reality...another Dimension!"

"...Yes. Through the unique Dao of Reincarnation that a Hegemony within this Cosmos utilized and my own unique capabilities, I am able to traverse across Dimensions and stretch my might into multiple Realities! I am capable of doing things that only Primordials are capable of doing!"

...!

Noah revealed an awed expression as he couldn't help but ask.

"How...?"

The question was so blatant and abrupt as in another dimension, the Antiquity shook his head incredulously as he replied simply.

"Something from a Legacy I obtained some time ago. But you are missing the point right now!"

RUMBLE!

"All of this aside, everything goes back to the Primordials needed to reduce the number of Primordial Beasts...and that is where existences like you...and existences like me come in."

"Tools. Weapons. Champions. Beings that they try to raise in every Dimensional reality to make sure that as few timelines as possible are destroyed and rejoin the Original Timeline. Existences with such power and might that exceed common sense. Existences like us."

"..."

Silence descended onto the surroundings after such a statement, Noah nor the Antiquity speaking as the atmosphere turned extremely oppressive.

Off to the side, Oathkeeper was watching Noah carefully, ready to reinforce him with whatever problem they were facing as this being simply waited!

It was only after a few seconds passed did the voice of the Antiquity enter Noah's mind again.

"Many of them share names or similarities as a few renowned and extremely powerful Primordials are in charge of this task, these beings having laughs as they influence things and have these tools named similar to themselves- the names like Aegon, Ezekiel, Noah, and a few more that I've come across in multiple Dimensions appearing."

...!

Shocking truth after shocking truth descended onto Noah's mind as he was still working on what to make of it all!

Amidst all of this, the Antiquity was continuing to freely talk about more of such information as it made him extremely curious of this being.

"What a cosmic joke. When I transmigrated, I was so extremely naive that I-"

THRUM!

Amidst the soliloquy of the Antiquity, the clone of Noah currently surrounded by three Blue Slimes vibrated with a gorgeous array of light, his body becoming suffused with multicolored auras as on his chest, one could see a vibrant Universe filled to the brim with Dao Galaxies...as well as the formation of a second Universe that seemed to be just in its beginning stages!"

...!

It was the sign of Antiquity!

100% conversion of a being's Universe into Dao Galaxies, becoming capable of birthing a second Universe as one reached a stage of power others would only ever dream of!

At this moment, the intense aura of Antiquity began to emanate from Noah, this aura being something even normal Antiquities would not be able to release as it seemed somewhat special.

"..."

The consciousness of the Antiquity seemed flabbergasted at this moment as his voice rang out slowly.

"Did you...did you really just break into Antiquity in the middle of all this?"

An incredulous expression was on the Antiquity's face across Dimensions as in the Abyssal Universe, Oathkeeper was also looking towards Noah's clone in utter stupor!

But at this time, the clone raised his head while adjusting to the new aura, waving his hands nonchalantly as he spoke in a domineering tone.

"It's merely just breaking into the Universal Filament Realm and becoming an Antiquity, nothing much. Let's continue..."

RUMBLE!

Chapter 1120 - What Would You Do?! I

In the Ruination Realm.

Vast essences of Ruination swirled around Noah's body intensely, this man really just skipping through the Realms of Power as from just recently breaking into becoming a Hegemony, he had now jumped to become an Antiquity!

The single Grand Primordial Heart he was absorbing was only 75% absorbed as just this was enough to grant him the full 100 Billion Dao Galaxies, giving him the essence required to form another Universe and become an Antiquity.

From here on out, he would be using this remaining Primordial Heart and the 2nd one to form even more Galaxies and Universes!

When one absorbed these types of Treasures, they could choose to either change the nature of their current normal Galaxies into Dao Galaxies, or if they had stepped into the realm of Universal Filament...they could also cause the rapid birth of brand new Galaxies!

And this...was exactly what Noah had begun to do in the crimson Ruination Realm.

THRUM!

In his newly birthed second Universe, a glorious glow suffused all around it as Galaxies began to sprout endlessly.

His first Universe was complete as he held a Splendiferous Universe, and he now began building another one as for Noah...he was just starting on the path to Construct a myriad of Universes as he continued his ascent for power!

---

In the Abyssal Universe, Oathkeeper was glancing towards Noah's direction in utter shock as his very own eyes and awareness couldn't believe the aura stemming off of Noah's clone.

But he had to believe it as he was a Vassal, and his Origin felt a brand new rush of power descending unto him as he felt his current strength explode a few times!

This...was just the 5% access he had from Noah's strength as an Antiquity.

A minuscule amount of his pure power that all of Noah's Vassals shared, where if they wanted to gain more strength in their lives, they were actually better off just trying to fully comprehend the Lesser Dao of Fealty and even fully assimilate it to gain an increase in the percentage of power they could access!

Oathkeeper wasn't the only one to feel these changes as in the Dark Universe, Valentina raised her dark eyes incredulously towards Noah's figure in the skies.

She could see him still holding onto the bubbly body of the Blue Slime, but his body was at this moment emanating a terrifying authority that far exceeded even her!

This being...that wasn't even a Monarch or Paragon just some weeks ago!

"..."

She felt a feeling at this moment that Barbatos, Elena, Kazuhiko, the Emperor Penguin, and many others felt with Noah's constant and rapid advancements that seemed to leave everyone and everything behind constantly.

A stifling feeling that they couldn't really explain as apart from it, they also felt his stupendous strength coursing through their bodies, even if it was 5% of it!

The Oathkeeper also felt this firsthand as with his mentality and position, he still did not know how to feel about Noah's existence.

A being that had come from nowhere and risen just as fast, his strength seemingly covering everything at this moment!

'Just what is he...'

As the Oathkeeper pondered such a question, so did the Antiquity whose consciousness was remaining and talking to Noah in the Abyssal Universe.

The consciousness of this being was in a stupor as he observed the nonchalant manner Noah had as he stepped into the stage of Antiquity, Noah's voice being the one to come out soon after as he completely brushed off the fact of this advancement!

"So, Primordials cause an eruption in multiple timelines and realities, Primordial Beasts are born from this as they try to devour Universes and Cosmos to erase these realities and turn everything to what it once was."

"Primordials in turn use their power to create a few experts in the vast realities to help them maintain their dominion and power. All of that is understandable, but..."

The clone of Noah had a calm expression as he flashed a smile, his body currently undulating with the unique authority of an Antiquity as he looked like a primal creature from ancient times!

"What exactly do you want? Why have you made the Primordials into your enemies? And then telling me all of this, what is your purpose? A race of unkillable beings with extreme power and might...you're not trying to get me into your club to do this right?"

RUMBLE!

The moment Noah broke through into Antiquity, his tone became much more domineering as his words were like claps of thunder onto the mind of the Antiquity!

"Especially after you tried to invade this Primordial Cosmos as well! Just what is it you want, O Great Usurper?"

...!

A straightforward question, and one that had to be answered!

"..."

The Great Usurper played this question in his mind over and over again as he seemed to reminisce about a few things.

He took a few seconds before his reply came out.

"Those under the shadows of Primordials are extremely unique, especially beings like you and me. All of the ones I've met are ridiculous existences in the Universal Filament and Cosmic Realms that are under the beck and call of Primordials, these existences being extremely troublesome to even come across!"

"But then...here you are."

RUMBLE!

"You just made your first contact with a Primordial, with my destiny shining gold telling me there is a possibility of a pathway to bloom with an existence like you that hasn't fallen under the wings of the Primordials yet."

"..."

Pervasive silence descended onto the surroundings as Noah's face remained passive. His voice only rang out after a moment.

"So...you are looking for someone to join your club. But this still doesn't answer the question of what your purpose is."

Across Dimensions, the Antiquity heard Noah's words as his blue eyes shone an iridescent glow.

His lips began to move soon after as his consciousness continued to speak in the far away Dimension.

"I stand against the Primordials and the apathetic manner they do things and their methods. You know what they did when I said no to being their Puppet?"

"As a show of power...just to show me my smallness in their designs...they shattered the Dimension I was in with a blink of their eyes."

RUMBLE!
