Chapter 1231 - Is This Allowed?! II

Apart from everyone else watching the shocking scene, even Halcyon found herself gasping as she saw something she had seen a long time ago unfold before her eyes at this moment.

'The blazing flames that can erase anything they came across...!'

Something she had seen hundreds of thousands of years ago came to light at this moment as her golden eyes became even firmer, knowing things were truly in play now as she turned towards the surprised figure of Springforge.

"This is the one I saw. Even if you do not believe, this is the reality!"

She wanted to scream out that she was right! To let loose all the weight and frustration she carried all this time! But she settled for making sure the Head of the House of Springforge would at least listen to her enough to act.

Silence reigned in the surroundings as the torn wings of a Primordial Beast silently burned atop a green flame.

While others were rising in shock and stupor and trying to wrap their minds around it, Noah was happily using his horrendously powerful consciousness to view the descriptions of the new loot and go through them in mere seconds.

At the speed of his thoughts, seconds could be stretched to hours as the moment he saw the glimmer of golden prompts telling him all the normal loot he received had been increased by 1000% and had the word [Resplendent] attached to them, he had to see just what it entailed!

[Resplendent Universal Filament Core] :: A unique treasure born under special circumstances. The absorption of a single one can grant 10 normal Universes.

A simple description for something stupendous! Instead of two or three Universes that one could form when they devoured the Universal Filament Cores, one could get 10 Universes with a single Resplendent Universal Filament Core! Now, in this single attack where half of the Daolords and over a thousand Antiquities perished, Noah had obtained over 6000 of these Resplendent Universal Filament Cores.

That was 60,000 forged Universes if Noah absorbed them all!

But when one thought about it truly...even that wasn't correct as aside from the newly created Comic Dao of Loot with the 1000% Increased Loot Quantity and 100% Increased Loot Rarity, there was also the ability of Duplication under the Cosmic Treasure- RUINATION.

The over 6000 Resplendent Universal Filament Cores could be made to 12,000 Cores, giving out the purely ridiculous reality of 120,000 forged Normal Universes.

Speechless.

'Is this...is this allowed?'

He actually didn't know whether such a reality was something that was allowed or not! For someone like him to be allowed to do such a thing felt like whatever rules and boundaries were set before this, he was about to rip them all apart and step on them on the way out as they would mean nothing to him.

He was truly left in a stupor as he had to push his mind to move from the Resplendent Universal Filament Cores and into the Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers.

[Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers] :: The elevated version of the amalgamation of branded Runic Dao Lines that normally fade back into nature after the death of their owner, but the unique power of Noah Osmont has pulled upon this cycle of return and caused the formation of Dao Lines that can enhance the power of branded Daos to form. The Resplendent Dao Line Enhancers will elevate the base effect of a selected branded Runic Dao Line that stems from Lesser Daos by 40%, Grand Daos by 20%, and Cosmic Daos by 10%. Currently owned Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers- 240.

"We'll damn...."

Noah stared in wonder at the doubling of all the perks!

Aside from the percentages of enhancing Lesser and Grand Daos that were still lower in numerical terms when it came to Cosmic Daos- the percentage had risen from 5% to 10% for the base effect that Cosmic Daos were enhanced by.

5% of the 10 million percentage boost of Cosmic Daos was 500,000%. 10% was a grand 1 million percent for every single Dao Line Enhancer!

And again, we didn't have to beat the fucking dead horse here but after he duplicated these wondrous Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers and ended up with 480 of them, that was 480 million in percentages of boosts.

"..."

It didn't seem real!

It felt balance breaking!

One must recall that the greatest boosts one could receive from a Nomological Edict was +100 million percent to All Parameters.

But the Enhancement Noah could make to his Runic Dao Lines was nearly 5 times this number as even Noah didn't believe it would be so easy.

'Surely there would be a restriction, right?' His heart trembled as his destiny and fortune churned wildly, wondering if there would be a catch or something that stops him from actually carrying out such ridiculous action and obtaining such boosts!

"Well, there's only one way to find out!"

RUMBLE!

Amidst the shock and stupor others were feeling from seeing half of the forces of the House of Stormdust erased, their eyes were forced to return to Noah's figure as gloriously, his aura had begun to shoot up crazily at this moment.

Brilliant golden rings could be seen appearing rapidly all over the Runic Dao Lines on his upper body, these golden rings causing him to look like a Primordial creature as they exquisitely completed the dazzling tattoos!

"OOOOOOOOOH!"

He let out an unbridled joy at the feeling and awe of power as his main Universal Body in the Ruination Realm was utilizing the Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers and branding them onto the Cosmic Dao Lines of Annihilation.

Glorious rings of gold were etched on these lines that covered a portion of his chest, the rapid rate of increase in power causing a golden aura to wrap around Noah as it was reminiscent of someone undergoing a powerup!

A powerup in the middle of a battle he was already dominating- a power up that began to crush the hearts of those watching as a golden wave of raging power that looked akin to golden flames wrapped over his skin and multicolored body...causing his figure to release a radiance that pulled every single eye and consciousness.

In the midst of shattered boundaries of galaxies and universes, only his aura reigned supreme as everything else seemed bland and faded!

Chapter 1232 - Nothing Much!

Within the vast Primordial Empire, there was a special Cosmos that was known about by very few and visited by even fewer beings!

It was the Cosmos that uniquely, only the Great Conqueror and those he deemed important enough could enter.

At this moment, within a Universe in the very center of this Cosmos. The figures of two titanous beings could be seen floating in the chaotic void of this beautiful universe, wisps of brilliant black and gold space shimmering around them as the light of Galaxies could be seen far in the distance.

They were titanous as their bodies were millions of light years large, the man's dark hair falling down majestically with starry light as his chest was bare, and the woman accompanying him and snuggling to his chest had her golden hair flowing down and making it seem like a golden river was forming below!

It was a scene very few could even imagine playing out, a scene of the Great Conqueror and one of the leaders of the three factions within the Primordial Empire being together.

Just like how the verdant haired existence was termed Springforge, this beautiful existence was known to all as Havenbreaker!

She wore a light silk gown as she had a smile of happiness while snuggling to the chest of Aegon, her eyes rising up soon after as she spoke out while raising her head.

"Hmm? It seems like an interesting Writ of Challenge is going on." Her voice was that of someone that had recently achieved happiness as she spoke languidly, Aegon's gaze calm and filled with unknown thoughts as he only raised his brows towards her.

Havenbreaker glanced above them as she waved her hands and caused the clear illusory screen that showed the scenes playing out in the Cosmic Battlefield to display before their eyes.

In the scene, a certain cheater's body had released a light of crimson galaxies that went on to wipe out half of the enemy forces, this light causing Havenbreaker's eyes to flutter as the laziness in them faded and she spoke out with a tinged of seriousness.

"To be capable of seamlessly wiping out Daolords and Antiquities alike in a blink...that's nearly a completed Edict. Who is this..."

Havenbreaker's eyes were watching the accumulation of silver crimson lights within the blooming crimson galaxies that were fireballs, seeing the rough mixture of laws and daos as she was shocked that someone that just appeared in the Primordial Empire was so close to forming an Edict!

Beside her, Aegon lifted his luminous calm eyes onto the illusory screen as they locked onto Noah and the Stellar fireballs he had cast, raising his brows lightly as if he found something funny for a few seconds...and then lost interest soon after.

He showed this as he spoke in a nonchalant manner while taking his eyes away from the illusory screen as if it didn't interest him much!

"It's not a nearly completed Edict. He's hiding it well that nobody would be able to see it, but he's utilizing a completed Edict. Seems quite decent too."

"What?!"

RUMBLE!

His words reverberated out nonchalantly as they caused Havenbreaker's titanous figure to sit up, looking towards the illusory screen in shock and back towards Aegon's impassive expression as she knew the man before her wasn't one that joked!

A completed Edict! The new entrant into the Primordial Empire actually had such a thing under his belt as it caused the eyes of the Golden-haired Family Head to turn extreme somber, finding herself muttering under her breath.

"This cannot be..."

Her eyes were hazy as she seemed to be thinking of a lot of things, turning to the calm Aegon beside her as she spoke.

"Aegon, such a being can't be allowed to run rampant in the Empire. He'll destabilize the authority and peace that's been built for millions of years..."

She spoke with a grand light of malice in her eyes as Aegon raised his eyes slightly towards her, looking at the illusory screen that showed the scenes on the Cosmic Battlefield as he replied lightly.

"He's issuing Writs of Challenges and following all the rules of the Empire. The strong will prosper...while the weak will falter. This was the goal of the Primordial Empire from its creation- to forge powerful combatants that will stand against Primordial Beasts. Not to worry about the authority of factions."

WAA!

His impassive words thundered in Havenbreaker's ears, causing her golden eyes to tremble as they came to focus entirely on Aegon's unreadable face!

"Anyways, somebody that hides what they have is not someone to worry about. It is just a creature with an Edict, nothing much."

...!

The surrounding space thrummed dangerously at such words as a pervasive silence thundered down!

"..."

This silence reigned after such shocking words as the eyes of the golden-haired Havenbreaker turned a deadly shade of gold, pushing from Aegon's arms as she spoke lightly without being able to hide the anger in her voice!

"I am a creature with an Edict. Am I also nothing much?"

...!

The atmosphere turned exceedingly cold and sour.

The impassive eyes of Aegon flickered ever so slightly as he turned to face Havenbreaker, his majestic voice reverberating out.

"You know I didn't mean it like that."

It was the voice of someone that knew they were right, the voice of a being that wondered how his words could be interpreted any way differently than how he said them!

But Havenbreaker wasn't having it as she pulled further away from Aegon's embrace, the silk gown she had on becoming replaced with a glimmering golden dress while her rough and wild hair automatically weaved itself into regality and majesty.

"It's not that you didn't mean it. It is just that what you truly believe deep in your heart comes out every now and then. The belief that it is Aegon above everything else. The belief that apart from the Great Conqueror, everything else is a mere decoration to his majesty."

RUMBLE!

The words caused the surroundings to shake as the eyes of Havenbreaker were filled with more and more anger, her figure not remaining as a flicker of light took her away soon after!

Chapter 1233 - You Think I Cannot See You?!

A happy session was turned sour with a few words, the gorgeous figure of Havenbreaker fading away instantly as she left behind a mere glimmer of golden light!

Only a single titanous being was left staring at the position that she was at as his impassive expression remained the same.

His vast eyes turned to see the illusory screen showing the events of the Cosmic Battlefield as he waved his hands and caused it to disappear, what was occurring within not raising his interest one bit!

He stared at the far away Galaxies and then went past them. Past the Universal and Cosmic boundaries as his gaze tore through the Primordial Empire and seemingly gazed at something even further away.

Something that he had yet to grasp.

Within his glorious eyes, an indiscernible light of anger flashed as his body silently disappeared, not releasing even a single wave of power as he appeared countless Gigaparsecs away from the Primordial Empire!

All around him, the Sea of Ruination raged madly as it avoided his figure as if he was taboo, his gaze looking at a hidden point of darkness within the crimson sea as this point released a barely discernible light of revulsion and despair.

It was the light of Pandemonium.

"You think I cannot see you?"

...!

Like a thunderclap, his voice reverberated out while his figure moved forward- sinking into the hidden point that actually led into a small cluster of Pandemonium! His entrance and encompassing voice startled the Primordial Beasts that were hidden within, the bodies of three Grand Primordial Beasts coming to attention first as a dozen Lesser Primordial Beasts came to attention only a second later.

Their sacred eyes shook as they saw the intruder appear, his voice continuing to come out on waves as his body began to light up with rainbow colored lights!

He had to vent out his anger, and these Primordial Beasts would be able to appease it- even if by a little.

"You think you can move in the dark and taint those around me? Mere Beasts like you?!"

WAA!

His voice carried a sense of power and awe very few beings could ever achieve, his eyes being the most unique at this moment as an ancient Runic symbol rotated within them- the eyes then releasing deadly rays of light that tore even Pandemonium apart, landing on the bodies of Primordial Beasts as roars of terrifying battles broke out!

Havenbreaker appeared in the depths of a busy Cosmos as soon as she left, a Cosmos that was filled to the brim with Daolords and Antiquities as it was one of the core locations of the House of Havenbreaker.

It was the Havenbreaker Cosmos that was the home of this Family Head, her eyes currently full of anger as she appeared within the Realm of a core Universe and became surrounded by Daolords that she began to issue out orders to.

"I want a report of every single move that Osmont has made since he arrived. Every smile and conversation- everything."

Her golden hair shone with authority as she sent out the command, the nearby Daolords nodding as one asked with reverence and fear.

"Should we...include the movements of Princess Halcyon and their interactions?" The Daolord felt like he aged a few million years just by asking, watching as the expression of Havenbreaker turned cold.

"I'll take care of my daughter. Do what needs to be done!"

WAA!

"Yes, Family Head!"

Orders were given and carried out to the fullest as the tides of destiny continued to churn, nobody being the wiser on exactly where they would lead.

In the Cosmic Battlefield, the scene of a certain being powering up crazily even though he had no need to could be seen!

A single attack from him that wiped out over 10 Daolords and over a thousand Antiquities, so those remaining on the Battlefield looked at this scene with somber gazes as they wondered why the fuck he was powering up after such an attack.

But their opinions were null and void as Noah's Universal Body continued to etch the [Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers] onto the Cosmic Dao Line of Annihilation, filling up its tattoo with wondrous golden lines and rings as he felt his power being elevated crazily every time an entire Dao Line Enhancer faded!

"Burn...burn...burn!"

The multicolored lines were like endless ink as they delved into his body en masse, with over 50 of them already etched and even more of them coming as at that point, Noah's aura had wildly reached an extra +50,000,000% Boosts in power just from the 50 Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers.

70!

90!

100!

ZING!

When the 100th out of the now duplicated 480 Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers were etched into the radiant Dao Lines of Annihilation, the tatto released a final burst of light as it...didn't accept anymore Enhancers.

The right side of his chest now had a fully golden inscribed Cosmic Dao Tattoo that released undulating rays of light. Noah's eyes blazed at such a reality as his Origin churned, his will directing the remaining Dao Line Enhancers to now begin inscribed the Runic Dao Line of Chronos!

Like a flicker of flames coming to light, golden rings now began to etch the gloriously purple Lines on the other side of his chest as the aura surrounding his body raged even harder, causing his hair to be flung around madly as his eyes circled through innumerable colors of light.

In a short moment, 100 more Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers were etched onto the Runic Dao Lines of Chronos as Noah then moved on to Extinction! It seemed that the Dao Lines could only accept a maximum of 100 of these unique Enhancers before they were etched entirely, but this was no problem for Noah as he had more than enough Cosmic Dao Lines to enhance!

After Chronos and Extinction, he would move on to Reincarnation.

He would continue forward until he actualized the ridiculous boost of 480 million percent, and he would then exceed it when he ripped apart the remaining Daolords and Antiquities before him!

Chapter 1234 - A Blur Of Multicolored Light! I

An unexplainable feeling of pure power and might was what Noah currently felt coursing through him.

He had etched the Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers onto Annihilation until the apparent 100 cap was reached as he then went on to Chronos, then Extinction, Reincarnation, and he etched the last 80 Enhancers of the Runic Dao Lines of Phantasm!

Even to this day, he had yet to obtain the Runic Dao Lines of Ruination or the Primordial Dao as he hadn't yet gained the capability to Empower them with the Light of Conquest.

But with the inclusion of 10 more Cosmos under him after he wins this Writ of Challenge? This should be more than enough to allow him to obtain enough of the Light of Conquest as he could Empower these two Daos and finally be the first being to actually deconstruct and reconstruct Ruination and the Primordial Daos into Dao Lines!

This was a future he expectantly waited for, and now even more so as he had obtained the Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers that would be able to enhance whatever boosts Ruination and the Primordial Daos came with by 10%...for possibly over 100 times.

'How sweet all of it is...' His eyes were closed in a drunken stupor as he felt his current aura with 480,000,000% Boosts in a myriad of Parameters, every single part of him down to every single cell dancing in excitement from the power they could utilize as it had reached a terrifying amount!

It was equivalent to nearly completing 5 Edicts all the way to 100%? and obtaining each of their +100 million percentages to All Parameters! And he had gained such a boost so early on as even after all this...it wasn't over.

Apart from the Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers and Resplendent Universal Filament Cores, he also triggered the Increased Loot Quantity and Increased Loot Rarity for Skill Points!

From the normal ones, he now obtained Resplendent ones as in the midst of reveling in his power, he glanced at their details in the corner of his eyes.

[Resplendent Skill Points] :: The user is able to open up multiple paths of evolution for their skills and abilities through using Skill Points. This is the unique quantified essence in the form of skill points that has been further elevated into Resplendent Skill Points, allowing the user to enhance skills and skill trees to the maximum cap of 20 instead of 5. The Cost of Skill Creation is reduced with Resplendent Skill Points as the abilities born or combined through the use of Skill Combination are even more unique. Abilities enhanced by Resplendent Skill Points will also have their own unique changes depending on their nature.

The new and advanced version of Skill Points!

Noah had to empower Skill trees through the Light of Conquest like when he did to the [Wielder of Chronos], this action actually increasing the cap of Skill Points from 5 to 20 for that particular skill tree as it allowed for truly powerful skills.

Now, he could bypass the cap of 5 for all skill trees as he could once more play with the Arch Lich Skill Tree, the Blood Lord skill tree, and many others that he had already elevated to the stage of Universal Filament for the sake of the Archetypes of his subordinates...but their effects would now become even more ridiculous after their caps were broken from 5 skill points to 20 Resplendent Skill Points!

It was such a beautiful reality that Noah wondered just what else the Increased Loot Rarity of the Cosmic Dao of Loot would do that would gift him surprises, forcing his mind to not continue wandering on this as he didn't even begin changing multiple skill trees with Resplendent Skill Points at this moment.

There would be a time for testing and playing later. Now, he wanted to clear the remaining Daolords and Antiquities before his eyes before anything unexpected happened...he wanted to obtain the rest of the loot that these veins wanted to gift him!

With such loot, he could forge a crazy amount of Universes that he could also grant to his subordinates to produce Antiquities en masse while he also continued to collect the ridiculous Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers and Skill Points.

'Hooo...!' His breath came out in billowing waves as he felt the excitement of the instant enhancement of 480 million percentage points, the speed and power they granted his body having reached a different realm entirely as the moment he finished breathing out...he took a step forward.

He disappeared the moment he did as those watching his wild golden aura of powering up found themselves not being able to locate him anymore!

They couldn't locate him...as he was simply moving too fast for them.

CRACKLE!

A maddened light of essence and power coursed through Noah from all the boosts he had, everything around him seeming so immensely slow as he arrived before a Daolord...and they didn't even have the capability to react as they hadn't registered that he was even there!

He was so fast that he felt he exceeded any of the speedsters he read about in the comics of the past, where he was so many levels faster than even existences like Daolords that even after circling the existence before him multiple times, he still didn't react.

THUMP!

Such a reality caused Noah's heart to beat wildly as his excitement rose, his Origin trembling as Splendiferous Universes began to burn in order to initiate the Cosmic Dao of Loot.

The glorious golden light of loot shone from him, his body also instantly becoming encased in the Nomological Edict of Cessation as he moved his palm towards the body of the unsuspecting Daolord.

SAA!

Like sliding through butter, his palm sunk on the head of the Daolord as every muscle and bone he touched was erased, a wave of Cessation releasing in a downward fashion thereafter as the entire body of the Daolord utterly disappeared before he even knew what was going on!

[+2 Universal Filament Cores obtained...] DING! The effects of the Cosmic Dao of Loot are applied...[+20 Resplendent Universal Filament Cores obtained.]

The prompt from [Loot Collector] appeared before him as he released a light smile, sending a command for all incoming loot becoming itemized to be displayed when the battle ended and not after every kill as his figure continued forward.

He was like a mere flash of multicolored light as in this slowed time where nobody could even react because of how fast he was moving, he appeared before the powerful Daolords as he began to erase them with a mere wave of his hands!

Chapter 1235 - A Blur Of Multicolored Light! II

SHAA!

Like a blur of multicolored light, Noah crossed the Cosmic Battlefield as he erased 7 of the 8 remaining Daolords with a mere wave of his hands, none of them even being capable of defending due to how fast he was!

The last Daolord was Flamebright, the figure that was wielding a Quasi-Cosmic Treasure and had a disbelieving expression of wrath and incredulity at this moment.

Noah released the terrifying light of Cessation around him momentarily as he appeared before this being that had his lower body missing already, his hands moving in the slowed town to seamlessly unfurl the fingers holding the flickering crimson sword with this Daolord's hands and taking it himself as he cast Understanding and Eyes of Truth onto it!

It was utterly disrespectful to this Daolord as he was disarmed without even knowing it nor being able to react to it as Noah's speed was that much faster than his!

The details of the Quasi-Cosmic Treasure appeared before Noah's eyes.

<Maddened Quasi-Cosmic Thundersword> :: A failed Cosmic Treasure that didn't quite reach the level it should have, but it still retains a powerful will and abilities. The user gains access to a unique essence of Thunderflames applied to all abilities cast with this treasure, this essence ignoring half of all enemy defenses while dealing 100,000% more damage. The abilities of [Thunderflames of the Maddened Cosmos], [Righteous Indignation]....

The details of a somewhat unique treasure appeared before Noah's eyes, but it didn't excite him all that much as he put it away in his Expansive Space and reignited his body with Cessation, barely sparing a glance to Daolord Flamebright as he released a wave of Cessation and wiped this being away an instant later!

Just continued utter disrespect for the most powerful enemy opposing him as he wasn't given any special treatment and was wiped away just like a common mob.

And before Noah's eyes, there wasn't really any difference between him and the other Daolords as neither of them could even react to his movements right now!

But with this, all the Daolords were cleared as Noah's eyes turned to the Antiquities that under his eyes felt like they were even stopped in time.

SHAA!

He flashed in front of them as their gazes were still locked towards where he used to be while he was powering up with apprehension, Noah counting 2369 Antiquities remaining alive as his body lit up brightly with Cessation- choosing to cast a skill that would instantly wipe out all of them away at the same time.

After the continuous use of [Fireball], he felt nostalgic as he took out another skill he had spammed many times in the past to clear out droves of enemies.

It was [Sever] from the Cthulhu skill tree that had a ridiculous amount of support skills like [Multiplicative Ray Support] or [Aether Chain Support], where from initially shooting out a ray of Aether- it gained the ability to chain from one enemy to another to even allowing a Portal of Terror to bloom everytime an enemy was hit with the Aether ray!

After the Cthulhu skill tree was elevated to Universal Filament Realm...this ability had become even more insane as it could chain between hundreds of enemies and allow even Galactic supernovae to bloom every time they came in contact with an enemy!

Simply said, it was a very good instant clear of enemies apart from something like the Endless Rays of Time that wouldn't just illuminate the enemies before him if Noah cast them, but they might go even further and erase the trillions of audiences watching at the edge of the Cosmic Battlefield.

"Sever."

Noah uttered lightly as from his fingers, multiple rays of light that seemed to have Aether at their base bloomed, but they were backed by the essence of Cessation as the void of space itself was torn apart, their speed ridiculously being even faster than Noah as they smashed into the group of Antiquities!

...!

Noah's luminous eyes watched as the purple crimson rays hit the first Antiquity, their body erupting into a mass of colorful light as they were instantly vaporized, and the ray of Aether and Cessation then chained onto a few hundred other Antiquities in the next instant!

A single ray did this as it eradicated every single Antiquity it hit, the extra effects of Galactic Supernovae not even blooming yet as because Noah released multiple rays of light...each one covered a few Hundred Antiquities as all them were chained instantly and became vaporized under the terrifying might of Cessation.

"..."

Then, the Supernovae of destructive essence bloomed from the locations where these existences were erased as an ear shattering explosion resounded out!

BOOOM!

The burning of Splendiferous Universes was stopped.

The slowed down time Noah had been experiencing all this time was seemingly returning back to normal, and those watching were finally able to 'follow' what had happened as under their eyes, something drastically different had occurred.

They had been watching Noah as he powered up crazily with his aura flaring out madly, and then an instant later he turned into a multicolored light that zipped towards Daolord Flamebright and those around him, the moment this multicolored light appeared being followed by a rocking explosion that left billowing waves of heat spreading out as before they could even blink...they found that they couldn't see the figures of any Daolords or Antiquities opposing Noah anymore!

None! Not even half a second had passed, and they saw the inexplicable scene of a mere multicolored flash moving as an instant later, everything disappeared!

Daolords and Antiquities erased at a speed they couldn't even follow, their hearts turning utterly cold as many knew they would not be able to fare any better if even while watching this being move, they couldn't even see his figure.

THRUM!

The incandescent light of the Primordial Light of Authority at the peak of the Cosmic Battlefield beginning to shine gloriously and going towards Noah's lone figure was the only thing that affirmed that the battle had ended, but it had ended so terrifyingly that apart from the buzzing energy sounds released from this glowing light, everything else was starkly quiet!

So pervasively quiet as Noah's sole figure was the only thing remaining at the center of the Cosmic Battlefield, his arms outstretched as he accepted the Primordial Light of Authority that grant him an additional 10 Cosmos to oversee as well as....the notifications of the Loot he obtained blooming in golden prompts before his eyes!

Chapter 1236 - Those Of The Same Rank Can Only Despair! I

[+885 Universal Filament Cores obtained...] DING! The effects of the Cosmic Dao of Loot are applied...[+8,885 Resplendent Universal Filament Cores obtained.]

[+19 Runic Dao Line Enhancers obtained...] DING! The effects of the Cosmic Dao of Loot are applied...[+190 Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers obtained.]

[+58 Billion Skill Points obtained...] DING! The effects of the Cosmic Dao of Loot are applied... [+580 Billion Resplendent Skill Points obtained.]...

The glory of 1,000% Increased Loot Quantity and 100% Increased Loot Quality showed itself once more.

Per Noah's wishes, all the loot was displayed before his eyes after the battle finished, and he personally collected other notable loot from the bodies of the destroyed Daolords as the storage spaces they had released them when they faced destruction!

Some of these included a nearly used up Grand Primordial Heart from the late Daolord Flamebright, as well as a myriad of miscellaneous things from other Daolords that Noah stashed away similar to the Quasi-Cosmic Treasure.

But his face held a bright smile as he saw all the loot details, knowing the next few days would be great ones of absorbing everything he had obtained as after it...he would be leagues where he currently was right now!

"No way..."

Only after a few seconds of his figure being the only one remaining on the Cosmic Battlefield did the audience begin to react.

When they saw the shimmering Primordial Light of Authority sink into Noah's body, their hearts fully accepted it as even then, they had to question what they saw!

"All I could see was a blur of multicolored light...just a flash of light after he moved and then everything lay dead!"

A Daolord was nearly pulling his hair out, not wanting to believe what he saw as it would mean the magisterial being floating before them was so fast and so powerful that they couldn't see him.

That he was just so many leagues above them that even as fellow Daolords, they could not compare!

"Is he really a Daolord like the rest of us?"

Even Azazel in the seats of the House of Springforge couldn't help but ask this question as he thought back to when he first met Noah.

When they compared themselves against him, the Daolords found themselves being ashamed as they felt they couldn't give themselves the same title as him when he showed power such scales above them!

If he called himself a Daolord, others should be ashamed of holding the same title! The confidence of these aged and powerful beings took a hard hit as they had to turn introspective on just what power one could display at the Universal Filament Rank.

But after disbelief was acceptance as apart from them, the boisterous yells of a few beings could barely be discerned from the two trillion blue seats where Noah's subordinates were situated.

"RAA! RAA! RAA!" The rousing cry of an Emperor Penguin rang out proudly as raucous bellows from Kazuhiko and others reverberated out, showing their happiness and support while looking at Noah's figure as they had long learned to gradually build up immunity from his actions.

Noah took all of this in as he gloriously floated in the center of the Cosmic Battlefield, his front chest fully ensnaring the gazes of all beings as the Runic Dao Lines he had enhanced with the Resplendent Enhancers continued to shine luminously with an archaic light!

He closed his eyes at such a juncture as he focused his will on the Primordial Light of Authority- on the obtainment of 10 more Cosmos that would heavily expand his Light of Conquest and rate of Marks of Antiquity collection, especially after he utilized the Dao of Fealty on these Cosmos!

Amidst her awe, Halcyon could not help but replay the scene of Noah's body moving before their eyes like a mere flash of light. She realized to her stupor that even her- someone that had reached <A Glimpse of Edicts>...she couldn't follow him!

She couldn't see how fast he was moving as such a thought terrified her as a practitioner while it also caused her to bubble with hope when she thought of the future.

Her golden eyes turned towards the figure of Springforge who was looking at the illusory screen before them with an utterly expressionless look, but even Halcyon could see the shock within them as she spoke.

"We must now make a move, Aunty." Her voice was light as she didn't celebrate or scream I told you so, simply moving her agenda forward as the Family Head of the House of Springforge turned around to fully focus on her figure.

"You...do you truly know what you've done? What that being standing at the center of the Cosmic Battlefield is?"

The shining green eyes of Springforge were releasing an overpowering light as she was utterly serious at this moment!

"That being...even I don't know what the results would be if I faced him, and such an existence will begin to run rampant in the Primordial Empire from now on."

Springforge nearly didn't want to say these words as she couldn't believe it- as it didn't make sense that even she was barely able to follow Noah's figure, and that was a resounding barely!

One must know, she was the head of the House of Springforge! She wasn't a common mob! And yet...

She couldn't say with utmost confidence that when she stood against such a being, she would be able to claim victory.

"That power cannot be achieved with A Glimpse of Edicts alone. He either has a myriad of unique abilities we've never seen before or more simply, he already has a completed Edict that allows him to move at such terrifying speeds..."

The expression of the stark naked Family Head was somber as when one had no explanation for a phenomenon, they would make up many possibilities!

Since they couldn't explain Noah's terrifying speed, they took this speed as the main strength of Noah when instead...it was only a side effect of the terrifying percentage boosts he wielded.

There were no answers and too many questions, Halcyon letting the Family Head release her thoughts as she still replied simply.

"We have to make a move." The same words over and over again, but she wouldn't stop until they were actually done!

Springforge's verdant eyes flashed sharply as she kept being reminded of this, her hands flashing as they brought out a Primal Crystal that she spoke to with a cold expression.

"Akainu, prepare those under you and be ready to issue a challenge to the House of Stormdust right away."

...!

Chaos and destiny churned as many beings began to move, the pieces on the board each twisting and turning for their own benefits and gains as a singular golden piece had stepped on the board to shake it....and utterly break it if need be!

Chapter 1237 - Those Of The Same Rank Can Only Despair! II

Springforge spoke into the Primal Crystal as she received an affirmation soon after, her gaze languid as she spoke in a light tone while putting the crystal away.

"There is no going back after all this."

Her eyes seemed to gaze into the future as she thought about many things, Halcyon coming beside her as the two women floated together silently.

After a certain time, Halcyon faced the powerful Family Head as she spoke with eyes of appreciation.

"Thank you. For believing in me and for everything else." Her heartfelt emotions carried these words forward as she had spent too many nights in the past millions so years afraid and alone!

She didn't know who to trust as she couldn't even go to her own Mother, but this woman beside her was one of the very few that she knew she could trust! A sense of relief and peace could be felt from her as Halcyon realized it was only a semblance of the feeling that she had when she was around Noah.

BZZT!

But she was taken out of her thoughts as something on her body buzzed, her expression changing as she then spoke out coldly.

"I am being summoned." A buzzing medallion shone brightly gold as it signified authority- an authority that only someone above Halcon could utilize as this was the Head of Havenbreaker herself!

Springforge nodded with an absent minded look as her hands tapped on the illusory screen before them, rewinding the scenes of Noah's movements while Halcyon slowly became wrapped in a spatial light and disappeared from the unique verdant realm.

The Edge of the Cosmic Battlefield with the countless trillions of seats was currently filled with a buzz of activity, many beings reshaping what they thought they knew about Daolord Osmont as they felt like rough storms were coming in the future!

The faces of any Forefathers hidden among the Daolords were grim, still talking about the battle as it was around this time when one being gasped in shock...and many others followed as they received a notification of something stupendous.

A notification of another Writ of Challenge!

"Forefather Akainu has issued a challenge against Forefather Robert!"

WAA!

Right after the shocking Writ of Challenge from Daolord Osmont that just caused the House of Stormdust to lose 10 Cosmos under them, another challenge was issued to this house from a member of the House of Springforge as now...

"Forefathers that each control over 40 Cosmos..."

It was a challenge at a large scale not seen in millions of years as Forefathers were at the helm of this challenge!

Unbounded shock spread in the hearts of many as even though they didn't have inside information, when they saw all of these challenges against the singular House of Stormdust...they knew something was going on.

Daolords like Azazel were even more shocked by the unexpected move from their own house as their throats became dry with somberness, their thoughts all heading towards a certain direction!

That direction was that...

'A war is brewing...' the light of wisdom shone in Azazel's eyes as they shook, even now not entirely believing the sequence of events that were happening!

As waves of shock and speculations spread all around, Noah's figure opened his eyes at the center of the Cosmic Battlefield as he disappeared soon after.

He came to do what he sought and accomplished it, so he stayed no longer as he went to eat up his winnings!

The Primordial Light of Authority could take him to any of the Cosmos under his authority, but his teleporting figure didn't appear in any of the newly obtained Cosmos as he actually materialized at the entrance of one of the Rainbow Bridges of the Indigo Cosmos.

Not too long after, his subordinates appeared in the blue glimmering chaotic void as along all them were the figures of King Augustus, his daughter, and many others!

Noah looked at their appearance with a smile as his strong voice resounded out towards Augustus.

"It is time."

WAA!

It was time! He didn't need to explain any further as King Augustus knew what was happening, his old wizened eyes undulating with light as this King of a Cosmos...kneeled towards Noah's direction!

Even though it was the first Cosmos Noah came across, it wasn't fully placed under him as its rulers and people still hadn't sworn under the essence of Fealty, and the wise King Augustus saw this coming as he was the first to kneel.

Noah nodded impassively as the essence of Fealty gushed forth from him in waves, painting over the nearby existences as it also began to stretch towards the vast Cosmos before him!

It was time to fully reap the benefits of Conquest. Time to obtain droves of the Light of Conquest as there were still too many things to be done.

There were still too many ways for Noah to grow stronger!

The cerulean void trembled in awe as Augustus and even a shaken Lexis Marcus Tiberius found themselves kneeling and calling out their Fealty to the Tyrannical Emperor.

To the past Antiquity of Mana and the now Daolord Osmont!

His essence spread out wildly as his rate of collection for the Marks of Antiquity began to increase, and the Light of Conquest began to bubble forth gloriously.

As this occurred with the Indigo Cosmos, Noah tapped into the Primordial Light of Authority as he gave a glance to the 10 Cosmos he just obtained.

He had quite literally turned all of their strongest combatants into Loot, and there were no Daolords and barely any Antiquities from these Cosmos as such a thing didn't matter to Noah.

He would appoint his own people to oversee the vast number of Universes within these 10 Cosmos, and their power would very soon shoot upwards exponentially after he shared the ridiculous Resplendent Universal Filament Cores among other stupendous treasures with them.

There were a few among his subordinates that had already begun to grasp Ruination and the Primordial Daos like Valentina, and it was only a matter of time before he could produce Daolords that could deconstruct Daos as his forces continued to expand!

"Keep going!"

WAA!

As the light of Fealty spread across the Indigo Cosmos, Noah's figure faded as he went towards the 10 newly obtained Cosmos- as he went to spread his light onto them as well and collected all the benefits he worked hard to achieve!

Chapter 1238 - Overflowing Light Of Conquest, Winds Of Instability! I

Within a Cosmos that was a part of a cluster of Cosmos under the banner of the House of Stormdust known as the Blistering Cosmic Domain.

In this Cosmos within this Cosmic Domain, Forefather Robert was holding the Writ of Challenge issued by Forefather Akainu of the House of Springforge as his expression was that of unkempt wrath that he reigned in due to the surrounding company that he currently had!

Forefather Robert himself was a burly man with an outstanding figure, his goatee making him pronounced and easy to remember, but his aura couldn't compare to the being he was standing before and holding the Writ of Challenge for him to view.

He was standing before a man adorned in a regal crimson robe, his expression releasing waves of power as he had a sharp jawline and eyes that seemed as sharp as swords, his low fade making his crimson hair extremely unique as his dark skin shone in the light! With crimson eyes that seemed meant for a grand emperor, it was the Family Head of the House of Stormdust that stood before Forefather Robert as one could see stellar Runic Dao Lines even encroaching his devilishly handsome face!

He seemed like a man in his 50s and 20s at the same time, his hands that were filled with callouses and intertwining runic dao tattoos reaching out and grasping onto the Writ of Challenge that would start a battle for dominance nobody thought would come this quick.

Stardust glanced at Forefather Robert coolly as his rich and deep voice rumbled out.

"I can perceive many things, and this has been the first surprise in a while."

His voice sounded coarse and cacophonous, Forefather Robert unconsciously bowing his head at the mere power this voice released as he spoke out carefully.

"Head, I will assemble all the Daolords and Antiquities within the Blistering Cosmic Domains to make sure that we do not shame our House in losing once more...especially not to Springforge!"

...!

His eyes were filled with flames of battle as he continued.

"Their side doesn't have the anomaly that is the newly appearing Daolord Osmont...there will be no unaccounted surprises when we battle as it will come down to which side has the stronger Daolords."

Waves of bloodlust emanated from Forefather Robert while he spoke, Stormdust merely nodding as his crimson eyes gazed out to a far away location.

"Springforge wouldn't have made a move unless she was prepared. There should be something with Akainu that would make her confident enough to direct him to challenge you..."

His expression seemed to be pondering as unconsciously, a unique wave of colorful golden essence began to undulate around his body, this golden essence not being that of any dao or law! It covered the tan glimmering skin on his head as it focused around his crimson eyes, his eyes releasing a luminous light as he nodded a few seconds after as if he had seen something!

"We will win some and lose some it seems...but the core of it will remain how big a win we can come out with."

WAA!

With radiant eyes, he gazed upon Forefather Robert as the figure of this being immediately trembled from the unique essence the gaze carried, the words of Stormdust continuing.

"Disappointingly, you will lose the coming battle as my House will forgo 40 Cosmos that we have held for millions of years. In exchange though...we will make sure Springforge loses more than double that."

RUMBLE!

The air trembled as the unique golden essence around Stormdust's eyes faded, a unique smile etching itself on his face as a spatial light began to cover him.

"Even if you lose, lose beautifully. Try your best to hurt their forces as much as possible."

With such words left behind, his figure blurred with light as it disappeared, leaving behind a shaken Forefather whose wrath only compounded as he knew the words of the Family Head would never be false...and he was so greatly saddened and disappointed that their House would apparently make another loss in the future to come!

His eyes blazed with flames of war as he replayed the words of the Family Head over and over again in his mind, the Writ of Challenge within his hands being torn apart as he accepted it right away.

The time was set as within a day, yet another glorious battle would bloom- and this time, it involved dozens of Daolords and thousands of Antiquities as its scale would be larger than anything seen in recent years!

Fervor and disbelief spread across the different factions of the Primordial Empire as a shocking Writ of Challenge was confirmed, but Noah cared not for any of this as he wildly spread his essence out to cover 10 Cosmos while using the [Primordial Light of Authority] unique to the Primordial Empire.

The one in charge of overseeing the Cosmos under the Primordial Light of Authority could allow his aura and essence to intrude over them, but it wasn't normally done at the scale Noah was doing it as he allowed the Essence of Fealty to flow over the trillions of light years that these Cosmos covered!

Towards the Quintillions of existences within, his overpowering pressure that would even cause Forefathers to kneel descended onto the minds of these beings as he told them to pledge Fealty. It was not just a suggestion anymore as it was bordering towards a command, all of those facing this light of fealty that gave them a sense of Noah's power directly choosing to pledge Fealty as from such action...their origins experienced a shocking eruption in power and strength.

This was something to keep in mind when it came to Noah and the percentage of power that all those who pledged Fealty to him could utilize. He had to place behind strict restrictions on their uses as since the Dao of Fealty was elevated to a Grand Dao and allowed his Vassals to have access to 10% of his power.

Just a mere one tenth of his power was ridiculous as currently, Noah's strongest subordinates were having a field day in the Indigo Cosmos testing out their current realms of power as just from the percentage from Noah alone, they surpassed any power an Antiquity could display as it bordered at the level of a Daolord currently!

Chapter 1239 - Overflowing Light Of Conquest, Winds Of Instability! II

The concept of the Dao of Fealty and its boosts was something that had to be looked at closely for the future to come, where Noah's Vassals were currently only receiving boosts up until his Grand Daos since this was the level of the Dao itself.

If it was ever elevated in the future to the Cosmic level and all those under him became able to access Ruination and the Primordial Daos among other things...this would truly be the springboard to the birth of terrifying combatants!

But just from how exponential Noah's own power was currently rising, the number of experts he could produce as he rose ever higher would be mind-numbing as it would be a present only he would unfold in the future.

THRUM!

Essence waved madly as he received the Fealty of Quintillions of beings across 10 different Cosmos, his Light of Conquest bubbling and rising crazily in his Origin as from a small pond, it began to form into pristine white rivers and gradually rage towards becoming a sea!

His Universal Fortune and Golden Destiny were also churning as he was irrevocably changing the lives and destinies of just too many beings with his power alone, the butterfly effect their actions would have in the future being unknown as the mere effects of it now on Noah...was a grand descent of billions of Marks of Antiquity.

The golden runic markings fell down unto him in droves as they would provide the fuel for him to grow even more normal Universes into Splendiferous ones, but his main focus currently was the overflowing Light of Conquest that had already formed into raging white seas.

'With this much Light of Conquest...'

It was enough for him to finally Empower the Primordial Dao and the Dao of Ruination!

As his Primordial Ruination Clone used the Primordial Light of Authority to exert his influence over ten Cosmos, Noah's Universal Body stood in the Ruination Realm as his expression was filled with an intense light, his voice echoing out words he had wanted to say for a long time now.

"Let the Light of Conquest flow into the Primordial Dao and the Dao of Ruination..."

OOOM!

Deep within his Origin, the Light of Conquest obtained from many Cosmos churned.

The first Dao to be elevated to the Cosmic Level was finally able to Empower the two strongest and rarest Cosmic Daos, the vast seas of Conquest splitting apart as one half went to Ruination and the other went to the Primordial Dao!

Noah closed his eyes as he relished on the feeling, his Universal Body showered with rays of ancient lights as one could see the starry array of thousands of Universes spread throughout his body, the essence of Conquest, Ruination, and Primordial rushing through these Universes seamlessly.

'What an addictive sensation...' his very cells were screaming in joy as he smiled lightly, enjoying the seconds of the assimilated Daos of Primordial and Ruination becoming Empowered as it was over soon enough, his body brimming with even more power than before after this session of Empowerment!

The changes were very quickly ascertained and felt as the glorious details of the Empowered Daos of Primordial and Ruination were displayed before him.

{Authority of the Assimilator of the Cosmic Dao of Ruination}<EMPOWERED>: An authority that only appears around those who have fully comprehended and assimilated the Cosmic Dao of Ruination. It has been empowered by the Cosmic Essence of Conquest as its Rank is further elevated. It grants +200,000% Increased Ruination Damage, +200,000% Health and Mana Regeneration, +200,000% Cast and Attack speed, makes the user capable of displaying six times the power in the Ruination Sea, grants the user the capability to warp across set points across the Ruination Sea and turn into pure Ruination Essence, and opens up the pathway to the deconstruction of all Daos.

{Authority of the Assimilator of the Cosmic Primordial Dao}<EMPOWERED>: An authority that only appears around those who have fully comprehended and assimilated the Cosmic Primordial Dao. It has been empowered by the Cosmic Essence of Conquest as its Rank is further elevated. It grants +200,000% Increased Primordial Damage, +200,000% Health and Mana Regeneration, +200,000% Cast and Attack speed, makes the user capable of displaying six times their power in the Primordial Sea and the capability to turn into pure Primordial Essence, and opens up the pathway to the reconstruction of all Daos.

"Beautiful..."

Noah's eyes were lit up brightly as he watched the doubling of the boosts of Ruination and the Primordial Daos, and even though they seemed to pale in comparison to the crazy number of 480 million in percentage boosts that he had just placed on himself- the base numbers of 200,000% on these two Daos were actually much more important!

This was because when he turned these two Daos into Runic Dao Lines- something that nobody would be able to do unless they had something like Noah's Samsara Universal Dao Origin Trait, the boisterous that could bloom from it were simply ones to look forward to.

Normal Cosmic Daos transformed into Dao Lines granted a 100 fold increase in their base percentages, which was 100,000 for all normal Cosmic Daos as this granted the 10 million percent boosts that Annihilation, Extinction, and many other Daos enjoyed that Noah enhanced with the Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers.

But the base 200,000 of Ruination and the Primordial Daos meant that the 100 fold increase was going to be a 20 Million percent boost, and the 10% increase from Resplendent Runic Dao Line Enhancers would be two million as from both Ruination and the Primordial Daos....Noah was looking at a total of 400 million percent boosts from them alone when he spent 200 Enhancers on them!

What a future! What a glorious reality where Noah would be able to breach the 1000 million in percentage boosts in a relatively short period of time!

"Deconstruct...Ruination and the Primordial Daos."

His voice rang out magisterially as he wanted to watch such a beautiful scene first hand.

THRUM!

His entire body vibrated with an incandescence of light as his Samsara Universal Dao Origin Trait did its wonder, the inscribed Cosmic Daos still staying with him as he unbelievably used the very essence of Ruination to deconstruct both Ruination and the Primordial Daos...and he thereafter utilized the essence of the Primordial Dao to reconstruct these two very same Daos!

Something that should have been impossible!

SHIIING!

A brilliant light shone as these two unique Daos were deconstructed and reconstructed into Dao Lines- Dao Lines so unique as one shone a pure crimson color while the other had a pristine whiteness that blinded everything.

"Brand them unto me!"

Noah called upon them loudly as his heart beat ever faster, these two nigh endless Runic Dao Lines rushing towards him as shockingly, they didn't go to brand Runic Dao Tattoos on his skin.

They shot with purpose not towards his skin, but towards his very eyes as they shot into the very center!

"Ah!"

Even Noah was surprised by this as he felt an intense pain rock him, this pain followed by unbelievable brilliance from his eyes as he could even feel his Origin influenced, his irises being irrevocably changed as one could see a unique crimson light inscribing something on his right eye, and a pristine white light doing the same on his left eye.

His irises that used to shine with the light of billions of Galaxies were being changed as the Runic Dao Lines of Ruination and the Primordial Daos carved his eyes into something else, granting Noah a boon that he wasn't expecting.

A boon that above the many other things it would provide, it focused on his eyes.

His eyes!

The process of the Dao Lines being inscribed into them was so immensely painful that he had to close them, only opening them a few seconds later when he felt the swirling Lines settle down.

...!

Chapter 1240 - The Primordial Eye And The Eye Of Ruination! I

The first thing Noah thought when he opened his eyes after they became branded with the Runic Dao Lines of Ruination and the Primordial Dao was something unique, but didn't make much sense.

"I can see..."

I can see! This was the thought he had, but it was also a matter of fact as of course he could see! But to Noah, it was more than that as when he opened his eyes, he felt like the past 'sight' he had was akin to things being black and white.

As if he was blind before, barely seeing through a dark fog and now...his sight was clear!

Everything before him felt colorful and bright as he could see clusters of interweaving essence- essence that made a myriad of Daos...and the essence that made the very space itself!

He could see how the very essence of space and time come together to weave with Ruination to cause the area that he knew as the Ruination Realm before his eyes, as he also saw that within this mixture of essence...the Primordial Essence was also mixed within in small amounts.

His hands unconsciously reached up before him as his fingers ran through this stellar interweaving of multiple essences, his Origin shaking at what he was seeing as it seemed like a smooth mixture...a smooth fusion of Daos!

Like something that could possibly form an Edict.

Ah!

"What is this..."

He was utterly shocked as if one were to look at his eyes right now, they would notice his left iris was an ancient looking circle filled with the light of innumerable white Universes, these pristine universes tinged with slight gold stupendously creating a shape that had three triangles stacked and interlocking on top of each other.

Meanwhile, his right iris was filled with crimson circular lines that seemed to endlessly be weaving together towards a center point that one could forever get lost in!

Dazzling eyes that would cause one to be lost in them in stupor and awe just from a mere glance.

And yet the being who held them himself was just learning about them as after his shock of seeing the interweaving daos that made up the space around him, he looked at his own body as he could only stare in wonder!

He didn't see any of the thousands of Universes he had forged that would brilliantly show on his Universal Body, nor any of the Runic Dao Lines that covered most of his body currently.

All he could see...

"Blue...!"

A gorgeous cerulean blue! His entire body from head to toe looked like an entire amalgamation of blue light that shone with utter and pristine brightness all around!

'This is...the light of mana...' The light of the boundless mana! This was the defining thing about him, and his body showed it as this was a majority of what Noah saw when he looked at himself.

When he glanced at his chest, apart from the glimmer of blue, he also saw two endless rivers of white and gold that should represent his Trait of Protagonist and Samsara Universal Dao Origin, and even further apart from this, he could see small lights that represented Edicts, Daos, Laws...everything about him.

"Holy shit." It was such a mind fuck as Noah felt like he didn't even know himself as much as he should have, his consciousness drawing up the information on exactly what he had gained as it seemed too ridiculous!

The instant he thought about it, all the details about his now white and crimson eyes and what they could do flooded his mind, and they were soon quantified and shown right before his eyes.

<Runic Primordial Dao Line> :: A unique manifestation of a deconstructed and reconstructed Primordial Dao that should normally not be possible for Common Existences. The Dao Line has settled into the left eye of the holder as they have gained something ancient that normally only the Primordials hold- the Primordial Eye. This eye grants its holder the capability to see all constructs in their natural forms and be capable of distinguishing their composition and origin, including the essence of laws, daos, and to a very limited extent- edicts, and much more. The holder of the Primordial Eye is capable of analyzing and replicating any abilities, skills, laws, or daos they gaze upon- with the exception of Edicts among other concepts. The Primordial Eye can gaze upon many things, and it is also capable of altering the truth of the body, soul, and Origin of the holder to display only what they wish to display to others. If a being is capable of gaining both the Primordial Eye and the Eye of Ruination, they can even go as far as being capable to see the barriers between different Realities and go as far as to cross them.? The Runic Primordial Dao Line also grants +20,000,000% Increased Primordial Damage, +20,000,000% Health and Mana Regeneration, +20,000,000% Cast and Attack speed, makes the user capable of displaying six times their power in the Primordial Sea and the capability to turn into pure Primordial Essence.

"...fuck!"

Noah's heart trembled as he had to come to a stop just at the mention of the Primordial Eye!

There were too many things to unpack, but amidst the flurry of new information, Noah found himself looking at the words [Common Existence]!

He...was considered a Common Existence as the Primordials were elevated onto another level! And yet he had gained something that only beings of this level could achieve as its boosts...goodness, he had no words for it.

Ridiculous didn't cut it.

Preposterous didn't even begin to cover it!

But here it was with all of its glory, Noah glancing at its details with shock and stupor. His eyes focused on the details that said he was now capable of analyzing and replicating any abilities, skills, laws, or daos.

Any! If his Primordial Eye glanced upon it, he could analyze and replicate it!

This...was just one of its features.
