

Mana 1981

Chapter 1981 Lnnumerable Paths In An Endless Journey! L

<I Am the Main Character>!

A feature that was hidden from Noah's eyes before as now that it actually came to fruition, he didn't even know what to say.

It was a feature that showed an outline of the journey of a Protagonist across different stages!

And now, Noah could uniquely peer into the paths of the stage or stages he was in, granting him access to boundless information that others could not even imagine.

But...just how ridiculous and extensive was it?

Between [A Call to Adventure], [Aid and Cheats], [From the Known to the Unknown], [Challenges and Ordeals], [Point of Death and Rebirth], [Transformation], [Ultimate Boon], [Return], and [Master of Path]...which stage was he in?!

HUUM!

Essence surged the moment this thought arose.

<I Am the Main Character> was activated as fantastical prompts rose before Noah.

<The Protagonist is currently simultaneously traversing [Aid and Cheats] and [Challenges and Ordeals].>

...!

Rays of luminous light flashed from Noah as he received this information, going in further into the two stages he was currently traversing!

[Aid and Cheats]:: <Destined Absolute Dimensional Relic>, <Sword of Avalon>, <Fundamental Boons of the Third Dimension>, <Lavalliere>, <Gourmandizing Dimensional Reality>, <RUINATION>...

[Challenges and Ordeals]:: <Conquest of Apollyon>, <Quintessential Dungeon Master>, <Sword in Stone>, <Meeting of Unknown Enemies>, <Retreat of Primordial Legions>, <Side Stories of Vassals>...

A ridiculous outline of information lay before him as this feature was bound to be unfathomable to utilize, many things drawing his attention as his destiny and intuition buzzed the most on none other than <Sword in Stone> and <Meeting of Unknown Enemies> from Challenges and Ordeals, as well as <Sword of Avalon> from Aids and Cheats!

2 were because a Clone's success and failure would soon hang in the balance as a terrifying authority was involved, and the third was something that Noah didn't like.

The Unknown.

What exactly did the path of <Meeting of Unknown Enemies> include?

<200 Million Units of the Essence of Reality are required along with 1 Billion Units of Dream Essence to view the selected path.>

"..."

A ridiculous cost greater than even Noah's Second Form was required as his vibrant figure paid the price without a second delay!

WAA!

An incandescent light shone, and his vision turned dark.

A source of light bloomed soon after as Noah felt like an amalgamation of a floating will, his gaze being drawn to a scene below that showed drizzling golden sandy waves of light surrounding the boundaries of the Absolute Kainos Dream Dungeon.

Noah was gazing down upon this scene when suddenly a failed spatial light flashed a light year away from this domain as the blazing aura of a Suzerain could be felt!

Yet shockingly, this Oneiric Dream Suzerain had an expression of maddened fear as he was bellowing out.

"Spare me! Take me prisoner! I will...I will do whatever you ask of me!"

The shocking majesty and will of an expert that had forged a Haven were gone as pure terror was left behind.

'Just what can cause a Suzerain to fall into such a state?'

Noah's Will didn't have to wait long to see the answer.

RIIP!

Dream Essence was pushed away chaotically as a gray stringer shot out with extreme speeds and pierced through the chest of the already injured Suzerain, their body and Origin beginning to bleed and 'melt' as if their very composition was breaking down!

Despair was the only thing in the eyes of this powerful existence as he faded away into nothingness soon after.

<KRRR>!

A grating and unbelievably horrid sound came out as the gray scaled stinger pulled itself back to reveal the culprit- a creature with entirely gray scales as no aura could even be felt from it, with emotionless eyes that shone of brutality and a body similar to a Winged Scorpion as the surrounding essence veered away from its figure entirely!

After quite literally melting apart a Suzerain, this creature soon turned its emotionless eyes towards the dazzling golden Boundary of the Absolute Kainos Dream Dungeon.

And without a word, it surged forward!

Noah watched these scenes carefully as if what played down below had nothing to do with him, his eyes shining coldly as he watched the unknown creature float towards the enacted barrier that would officially alter one's realm and concepts based on the rules Noah set with Absolute Dream Authority.

Yet this creature...

BZZZT!

Caused the barrier made of Absolute Dream Authority to fizzle and begin to melt.

"..."

<KRRR>!

It cried out eerily as without a delay, its massive gray body floated in while the tendrils of authority within the Absolute Kainos Dream Dungeon were getting destroyed everywhere it passed!

This shocking scene played under Noah's eyes as soon after, he saw the Quintessential Dungeon Boss appear with eyes that shone of inexplicable intrigue and somberness.

Noah saw himself come out as he could uniquely 'feel' the thoughts and emotions of himself below, the major thought running through his mind being the fact that this beast with no aura to feel gave off nothing in terms of information, everything being question marks as Noah wasn't even receiving any discernment from destiny!

What was most dreadful was that one didn't feel anything from it- not even a level of danger!

The emotionless eyes of the creature flashed.

Its gray wings and stinger shone with an eerie light as the stinger elongated and pierced towards Noah without another word.

SHAA!

An Ascendant Star of Illumination rose above Noah's figure as the First Form of the Quintessential Kainos Emperor's Annihilation Techniques was cast, along with the Assassin Emperor of Severance being sent to meet the gray stinger filled with a deathly light!

Yet the result was horrific.

SHAA!

In slow motion, Noah watched as the Assassin Emperor of Severance was broken down into glimmers of essence as it was about to clash with the surging stinger, eventually being turned into nothingness as the enemy's attack continued!

Other Assassin Emperors of Severance erupted from the Star of Illumination above Noah but even they...faced the same result!

Chapter 1982 Lnnumerable Paths In An EndlessJourney! L

Complete and utter breakdown of the REIFIED abilities sent forth as horrifically, it seemed that the very presence of wherever this beast went broke down the Nature and Essence entirely!

Whether it was the surrounding authority or abilities born of essence, they were all broken down and rejected.

"Abominations..."

Noah's will surged as he recalled the words of Enchantress Morgana.

The Elysium Dimension had discerned that the Influence of the Empyral Deceiver had returned with these abominations that rejected the very Essence of Nature, Decretum of Dimensions, and Natural Laws!

Shockingly, his Dream Dimensional Body would meet one soon after to experience it first hand as after his abilities were negated, this stinger arrived right before him as it caused his Innate Dimensional Barrier to tremble and actually break.

His Dimensional Barrier that whatever point in time this was occurring...it held Defense Values in the few Trillions!

BOOOM!

Noah's figure was flung back in a shocking turn of events as a massive gash opened up from his shoulder to his chest.

He gazed up at the beast before it in disbelief as it was undaunted, his True Vitality Values taking a hit and dipping as he faced greater danger than any other time recently!

An enemy that could reject the very Essence of Natural Laws and the Decretum of Dimensions.

An enemy that could reject the very fabric of reality!

How exactly would one face such an enemy?

SHAA!

The scene Noah was gazing at this whole time flashed as it faded away.

<One of the Paths of the Protagonist has been shown. To replay the <Meeting of Unknown Enemies> will cost 10 Million Units of the Essence of Reality and 50 Million Units of Dream Essence. To play a different Variation Path of the <Meeting of Unknown Enemies>, 100 Million Units of the Essence of Reality and 500 Million Units of Dream Essence are required.>

"..."

This was a glimpse of the feature of <I Am the Main Character>.

It could show Noah many paths in the different areas he was embroiled in as they showed an overabundance of information for the future!

Yes. Knowledge!

Knowledge of things that had yet to even appear as they focused on him, where if Noah properly grasped this and saw the many paths that might play out in the future- he could overcome deadly situations with ease.

An example was the single path he just looked at.

He gained information about enemies he had never seen before as his Dream Dimensional Chassis could very well perish if he couldn't find a way to match the terrifying Abomination....or retreat from his current area before it even appeared in this region.

It was that dreadful as how does one fight something that negates the very Essence that is utilized to bring attacks and everything else to fruition?!

This was a question Noah had to solve before the events of the path he saw played out.

His eyes turned sharp as he gazed at the feature of <I Am the Main Character> and the innumerable paths he could gaze upon with it.

He waited for the seconds to pass as tens of millions of Units of the Essence of Reality were generated from his Reality Passages.

He would then gaze upon the many paths of the stages of [Aid and Cheats] and [Challenges and Ordeals] as he understood what dangers and possibilities were waiting for him in the future...and begin making solutions to problems that had yet to even appear!

The Quintessential Kainos Emperor did not want to be blindsided. He wanted to view the innumerable paths out there as the one he followed would be a golden and unblemished path that guaranteed his safety and victory!

WAA!

Essence churned chaotically at his thoughts as while he affirmed his will, the prompts of the continuing formation of the Third Dimensional Layer resumed before his eyes.

<The benchmark of the Third Dimensional Layer is a grand one to cross as All of your Aspects have explosively risen.>

<Your Reserves of the Essence of Reality have been elevated to the Maximum of 550 Million.>

<Your Maximum True Vitality Values have risen to 600 Billion.>

<The established Paramount Kainos Avalon Dimensional Reality grants a base addition of 50,000 Dimensional Dream Damage and Defense Values, bringing your Overall Origin Base Value to 250,000.>

...!

His tyrannical eyes shone with splendor at the unfolding changes as his Maximum Reserves of the Essence of Reality and True Vitality Values...doubled!

His Base Values were made to be even greater initially than the previous Dimensional Layers as the wonders would not end here.

<Your Affinity to the Natural Laws of Reality has risen greatly!>

<Your Affinity to the Decretum of all Dimensions has risen greatly!>

<You can now forge the Quintessential Kainos Avalon Dimensional Chassis.>

<Your Maximum Number of Ascendancy Stanchions is now 340.>

It was a rain of prompts as Noah went through them all right away, treading the formation of the Avalon Dimensional Reality carefully as his pace within it would determine the events in the Avalon Dimension and whether he could do anything with the Sword of Avalon!

The Quintessential Kainos Avalon Dimensional Chassis...would be a decider in what was to come.

<Your Body and Innate Dimensional Barrier are undergoing changes and incorporating the essence of Avalon, its defense now equivalent to 500% of the highest reachable Defense Values in your strongest form.>

<Your Dimensional Sea is undergoing changes and incorporating the essence of a third Dimension as your understanding in Decretum of Dimensions becomes even smoother. The process of infusing the Essence of Decretum of Dimensions into concepts and relics to forge the stage of HERESY is even smoother as the rate of infusion is increased by 3,000,000%. Your soul is perfectly resonating with all your Aspects of Existence.>

"Ah..."

The cluster of changes was simply too grand as the birth of the Third Dimensional Layer came with too many things!

Past the many lines of prompts and boosts was the understanding that all of this...culminated in Noah gaining a power that far exceeded anyone in the Ultima Strata.

It was a graduation into the equivalent Realm of a Haven.

It was the silent elevation of his power in a matter of days from a LEGEND and into a Suzerain!

Chapter 1983 Insula Avallonis L

Suzerain.

This was the stage that Noah instinctively felt he had crossed the barrier into as the major cause were the Base Damage and Defense Values of his Dimensional Layers, paired up with the ridiculous multipliers of Ascendancy Stanchions and the Augmentation of his Throne of Quintessential Tyranny and Natural Laws and Decreta!

This was cemented even further as he saw Stanchion after Stanchion be enacted between the Second and Third Dimensional Layers.

The number of Stanchions enacted just between these layers had exceeded 200 as Noah had not yet found a Limit!

The concentration of essence was even denser in the upper Dimensional Layers as paired with the dazzling Stanchion that showed green on one end and purple on the other, and the radiant Reality Passages between them...it brought to fruition an astonishingly beautiful scene that only Noah could gaze at.

The cycles of the Infinite Physique increased ever faster, crossing the threshold of 70 in a short period of time.

The birth of Reality Passages in consequence only increased as Noah could enact over 100 more!

And when the Mythical Natural Born Infinite Dream Physique finished assimilating all the concepts of other Dimensions, Noah expected the number of Reality Passages each cycle granted to increase even further.

There were many factors and numbers involved, but all of them had propelled Noah's Damage and Defense Values to exceed 2 Trillion.

2 Trillion!

This was him just crossing the threshold of what others considered a Grotto Haven as when he completed his Third Dimensional Layer fully...this number was bound to double or even triple!

2 Trillion Values also meant that his Innate Dimensional Barrier that had a ridiculous Augmentation of 500% could innately block over 10 Trillion Damage Values.

"..."

This was his power!

This...and tools like his Traits made him confident in what was to come.

HUUUM!

Essence harmoniously danced as Noah gazed at the last prompt to come from the formation of the Third Dimensional Layer before he focused on its blooming Cosmos and how he would be utilizing it for the dangerous path occurring in the Avalon Dimension.

<During the Birth of your Third Paramount Kainos Dimensional Reality, you have retained enough Quintessential Kainos Natural Decretum Essence that has amalgamated to form 1 Pure Quintessential Kainos Natural Decretum Seed. A single seed can be applied to any Decretum of a Dimension or a Natural Law of Reality to grant it a forceful 25% Understanding. Forceful understanding of Fundamental Natural Laws is halved...>

A prompt that was like an icing on an already exorbitant cake.

Before Noah's eyes, an oscillating gem bloomed from the center of his Avalon Dimensional Reality as surging Seas of pure essence swirled into it, rising up and coming outside of his body as he gazed upon a multicolored wonder.

It was called a Seed, but it was truly a glimmering gem as Noah grasped it tightly, many possible paths of usage rising within his mind as he smiled.

"Let's see how the task before us unfolds..."

Depending on extraneous factors and the events within the Avalon Dimension, Noah would make the choice on the usage of this wondrous treasure.

His Wills were in many Dimensions as his Clones were either waiting or preparing in the Dream and Apollyon Dimension, while the Clone of Alexander was retreating with Primordials in the vast Realities, while another Clone in the Apollyon Dimension continued sniping enemies incessantly!

But the path in the Avalon Dimension was approaching a nexus as a shocking authority was on the line.
If Noah could grasp it and possibly gain the right to influence or even command Dimensional Rulers...

WAA!

Just the thought of it caused destiny to churn wildly!

So while Kainos Royal Avalon Cosmos began to fill up a newly formed Dimensional Layer, Noah's will pulled up the feature of <I Am the Main Character> and focused on the [Aid and Cheats] and [Challenges and Ordeals] of the Dream and Avalon Dimensions.

Within the Dragon Knight's Sanctum.

Quadrillions of auras were blazing with the light of Avalon as none of them had even an inkling that the long standing tradition of trying to pull Sword from Stone was about to be enacted.

Normally, such a thing would be celebrated as Dimensional Rulers and Princes of the 12 Domains of Avalon tried to wield the Sword, with grand celebrations and feasts following thereafter even with the failures as this was taken as a sign of strength for their Dimension!

That such a wonder and power existed that one day...one of them would get the chance to grasp it in their hands.

At least, this was their belief.

The Dragon Knight's Sanctum was among one of the more densely populated domains under the banner of Dimensional Ruler Arthus, and this was the domain that the next existence to try pulling the Sword from Stone had just left!

After the agreement was made between him and the Dimensional Rulers, Enchantress Morgana had conjured a vibrant portal within the Royal Dragon Haven as her deadly staff pulsing with power that seemed to exceed HERESY pointed to it.

Naturally, Ezekiel and Noah would delve into this as multiple Grotto Haven Suzerains and two Dimensional Rulers of the Avalon Dimension sent in their amalgamated wills to go along with them.

Thereafter, Noah's Clone only saw purple spatial radiance.

And after a while, clarity came.

Clarity in the form of an expanding and wildly beautiful landscape that could cause one's heart to shudder at the sheer beauty and expansiveness!

It was...Insula Avallonis.

An idyllic haven!

A vast island the size of countless Realities that fell under the authority of all 12 Domains of Avalon!

It had no single Dimensional Ruler laying claim to it as it floated stably at the very center of this Dimension.

The unblemished visage of two Dimensional Rulers floated at the very forefront as below their feet, a massive purple Cloud Dragon blazed with incandescence.

Noah and Ezekiel floated behind them as around the edges of the mystical Cloud Dragon, the figures of over a dozen HERESY armored Suzerains could be seen!

The Cloud Dragon was flying towards the dazzling landmass that nobody could just teleport to, its sheer size making it the only thing before one's eyes as it had to be taken in.

Vibrant rising lilac ancient trees pierced across the layers of space, their branches shining with swirling purple light as their leaves were wondrously formed into the forms of swords.

Seas of the Essence of the Decretum of Avalon permeated even around it as it had such concentration and potency that it could be lethal to anyone who didn't have the right to enter this location!

"Outsider, I hope you can at least survive the entry into Insula Avallonis...otherwise I won't even get the chance to extinguish you."

Chapter 1984 Insula Avallonis LI

"Outsider, I hope you can at least survive the entry into Insula Avallonis...otherwise I won't even get the chance to extinguish you."

...!

Upfront, the Enchantress Morgana spoke words of brutality and truth as not just anyone could enter Insula Avallonis.

They had to have a deep connection with the very core of Avalon as it couldn't just be a mere Bloodline- they had to have some distinguished attainments in the Decretum of Avalon or have something truly unique!

Otherwise, one's Aspects of Existence would be entirely crushed the moment they even tried to enter this holy place- much less even get near the Sword in the Stone!

Her figure and the figure of Dimensional Ruler Arthus were distinguished up ahead as the Cloud Dragon neared the periphery of Insula Avallonis that had tendrils of chaotic purple essence surging in the atmosphere.

The chaotic tendrils of essence became calm around them as above their heads, a radiance began to wash down and cover their faces as if they were too pristine even for the surrounding waves of essence here!

These were the existences that had reached a truly high Realm as their strength was unfathomable.

And one of such beings carried genuine killing intent towards Noah as she was only held back by the other- with the both of them observing Noah closely to see just how he would fare.

Yet against her cruel words, Noah was unphased.

He had already learned about many intricacies when it came to Insula Avallonis and the Sword In the Stone through [Aid and Cheats] and [Challenges and Ordeals]!

Hundreds of Millions of Units of the Essence of Reality were utilized for Noah to gaze upon a few paths, the knowledge he was collecting being abundant as it allowed him to move with utmost confidence.

Under the gaze of two Dimensional Rulers, the purple Cloud Dragon passed the arcing tendrils of the dense Decretum of Avalon in the periphery of Insula Avallonis.

Lancelot had had a trace of worry as he stood beside Noah, which also made him the first to feel and see the fantastical changes that bloomed on him right after!

The dangerous tendrils of the Essence of Decretum swirled around the Cloud Dragon as they passed through the bodies of Dimensional Ruler Arthus and Morgana easily as they remained high and unfettered.

The Suzerains escorting them withstood the tendrils as on Ezekiel's body, a purple luster shone as he employed the Decretum of Avalon.

Then there was Noah.

His understanding of the Decretum of Avalon wasn't substantial- so how could he withstand the majesty and oppressive air of Insula Avallonis?!

HUUM!

Purple radiance burst as Noah's skin began to peel.

No, not just his skin- but it seemed like his whole body was undergoing a metamorphosis!

It was...the enactment of Quintessential Avalon Dimensional Chassis.

A pristine and pure body born from this Dimension as the source!

When it came time to withstand the area of densest and most concentrated essence of the Avalon Dimension...what could be greater than this?

A purple light emanated from Noah as if he was a star.

Dimensional Ruler Arthus gazed back with an unknown light as his eyes flashed, Morgana's staff shining with terrifying power as the Cloud Dragon they stood on delved even deeper towards the mystical island!

Ezekiel watched with wonder as Noah's very skin peeled from him while a fair purple jade-like luster bloomed, the dangerous tendrils of essence nearby even becoming pulled into his body as he became a center of swirling swallowing mass of essence.

A purple mass of essence that an instant later reformed into a devilishly handsome young Emperor, dense ecritures of <AVALON> surging around him as a purple robe came to drape over him and cover his sculpted body.

Around his head, three illusory purple flaming crowns rose as they didn't seem to display any greater authority- simply being there for the majesty of it all as a body made purely from Avalon Essence was designated!

<You have designated the Quintessential Dream Dimensional Chassis.>

<As the benchmark of the Third Dimensional Layer has been achieved, the capabilities of all Quintessential Dimensional Chassis have been greatly elevated.>

<The elevation of the Avalon Dimensional Reality through normal means has been increased by 1,000,000%>

<The rate of Progression in the Decretum of Avalon has been increased by 1,000,000%>

<The rate of Progression in the Natural Laws of Reality has been increased by 1,000,000%>

<All abilities that utilize Avalon Dimensional Essence have 300% Increased Penetration as they can bypass the masking of Decretums and Natural Laws effectively.>

The deeper in he went as the periphery of Insula Avallonis was crossed, the more it seemed like Noah was undergoing a baptism that made the surroundings harmonize with him!

As if he belonged here!

It was a surreal scene to see as the guarding Suzerains in the periphery of the Cloud Dragon remained steadfast while their wills watched.

Ezekiel released his tenseness as he chose to believe in what destiny had led him to.

Dimensional Ruler Arthus adopted a unique smile on his clouded face as he didn't lock his gaze on Noah, continuing to gaze upon the Resplendent stretches of land they were entering

The expression on Empress Morgana was placid, but her eyes held many hidden thoughts as already, she didn't like what she was seeing.

Even if it wasn't a possibility for this being to pull the Sword from Stone, the risk was still high as too much was at stake on the off chance that he actually succeeded!

Her Dual Pupils flashed as her will gazed into the Insula Avallonis that they began to enter the boundaries of.

It was filled with abundant stellar vegetation, but that wasn't it.

There were also the native Avalonian Lifeforms that were born on this fantastical landmass and drenched in the Decretum of Avalon all their lives.

The weakest of them already had vibrant Realities.

The strongest...

'Mmm...' Morgana's lips curved as she thought of the Avalonian Lifeform that could rival the might of a Dimensional Ruler hidden at the depths of this landmass.

The Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast- Guinevere!

When she thought of this, the staff grasped in Morgana's hands glowed imperceptibly.

Beings at her stage of power could make moves with those weaker than them not knowing the better as she released pristine waves of authority towards the vibrant landmass the Cloud Dragon was landing on!

Towards the Avalonian Beasts hidden within as this was among the limits of what she could do before Arthus made a move to stop her!

Chapter 1985 Insula Avallonis LII

Many prominent beings had arrived at Insula Avallonis and tried their destiny.

Some perished in the periphery as they never crossed the arcing tendrils of the Essence of Avalon, while others barely stepped onto this massive landmass and survived to make it to the very center!

But none...were escorted by two Dimensional Rulers and over a Dozen Suzerains.

This escort happened due to the standing of none other than Lancelot as he brought forth an existence he believed to be the one who could pull Sword from Stone, and he had the trust and support of his Father as this being kept another Dimensional Ruler in check!

Everything happened so quickly and without noise that the many other Suns and Daughters of Dimensional Ruler Arthus did not even get to hear of these shocking developments.

Only a small party arrived atop a purple Cloud Dragon that landed its sharp glistening claws onto a layer of purple earth filled with stellar stretches of grassland.

As they landed, a deep voice filled with authority and a feeling of ancientness echoed out from the clouded figure of Dimensional Ruler Arthus.

"The right to draw the Sword from Stone is not just inferred, with the contender needing to have their own capabilities to cross into Insula Avallonis and then journey its stretches alone. If you can survive against the Avallonis Beasts and even locate the Sword of Avalon...only then can you try to grasp it. We will go no further as the rest is up to your fate."

WAA!

Arthus held his hands behind him as royal waves of Avalon surrounded his figure and made him ever so mystical, very few existences being capable of understanding his thoughts as even Lancelot did not expect the Absolute level of support he received from his father!

Towards the words of this being, Noah gave a light nod as he floated off of the radiant purple Cloud Dragon.

His skin still gave off a crystalline purple jade like feel as his whole body felt like a Relic come to life, his eyes shining like jewels as ever since he passed the periphery of Insula Avallonis, tendrils of the Essence of Avalon floated towards him in streams!

When his feet landed on the stellar purple grasses, a circular wave of light spread out as if his body resonated with the very earth below.

HUUM!

He closed his eyes as the initial understanding of the Decretum of Avalon had begun to surge the moment the Third Dimensional Layer formed, and he enjoyed the resonance of Nature as without another word, he began to take light steps forward.

Towards a stretch of stellar purple grassland that soon grew into dense and tall trees that could reach the height of Cosmos, their mere branches and leaves pristine as they shone with a sharp and royal light!

The stellar Groves of trees were massive and dense as within...they hid terrifying creatures of utmost power that one would have to bypass if they ever wanted to get to the center of this landmass.

The center that also held...the Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast- Guinevere!

"Hmph." As she watched Noah take light steps without another word, Enchantress Morgana harrumphed as her heart wasn't settled.

"It still shouldn't be like this. No matter the level of trust in the eyes of Little Lancelot to perceive destiny, can you truly bare the consequences on the small chance he succeeds? Can you bear the wrath of the other Dimensional Rulers? Or the Daughter of Hatred that has been trying to get her hands on the Sword of Avalon this whole time?"

Her tone was sharp as her intuition was even sharper!

She believed he wouldn't be able to do it, but she had lived for a truly long time and had come across many things.

There were always impossibilities that she had seen exceeded.

So she would do whatever was required with her current restrictions.

Even if it meant influencing the Avallonis Beasts.

Even if it meant...alerting the other Dimensional Rulers that were keeping the influence of Primordials and Dimensional Hellion Rulers at bay.

Yet towards her words, Arthus only smiled as he waved his hands, causing an illusory screen to appear in the air that followed Noah's movements.

"We are already here, and what's done is done. If it is fated, that is that. If it is not, you will kill him yourself as promised. You and I both know that the Sword of Avalon would never allow itself to be wielded by anyone other than the existence who would guarantee the prosperity of Avalon itself. If he really happens to succeed...even you will have to bow your head."

...!

Calm and yet shocking words echoed out that made Morgana pulse with annoyance and sharpness!

She turned to the calm Arthus who had formed a purple throne atop the Cloud Dragon and the figure of Lancelot beside him, the over a dozen Suzerains situated further behind them as they all had their eyes on the illusory screen that applied and showed Noah's figure as he began to step into the stellar Groves of trees.

Into the depths of a mystical land mass he didn't know the directions of or where his destination would be!

Disdain and caution flashed in the eyes of Morgana at this progression as she also turned towards the screen while releasing the last words.

"Let's not even talk about whether he can grasp the Sword. It is still in the air if he can even survive against the Avallonis Beasts and pass the test of the Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast!"

...!

Boundless dangers had to be crossed just to reach the final destination, and powerful existences watched as Noah's figure delved deeper into an endlessly vast landmass!

His figure felt insignificant compared to the vast trees with barks that shone with stellar radiance.

Tendrils of roots of the massive Groves of trees made the floor that Noah walked on as when his will and eyes gazed before him, everything should feel foreign and new.

And yet...

A smile was etched on his face as he bent down to pick a lilac that was sprouting below him.

It didn't feel foreign at all as if he had seen a scene of this beautiful flower many times, where even the expansive groves of trees around him and the utter deafening silence that would terrify one when they realized countless Avallonis Beasts were hidden within...none of this felt foreign to Noah!

He had seen it.

He had already utilized the feature of <I Am the Main Character> multiple times as in this perilous and yet fantastical land...he wasn't the least bit worried!

Chapter 1986 Insula Avallonis LV

To cross across the vast landmass and bypass the many terrifying Beasts within it while also locating the center where the Sword in Stone lay.

This task was a unique one as even after all this, only by the recognition of the Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast- Guinevere...could one pass and even get a chance to grab the hilt of the Sword within their hands!

Noah knew of this.

And he knew it well.

HUUM!

A low melody began to play as he walked forward, each step taking him a few light years as he was harmonizing with the vibrant purple essence in his surroundings.

This was because at this same time, his Main Body was establishing the Avalon Dimensional Reality as trillions of Kainos Royal Avalon Cosmos were blooming within him.

The connection of the Avalon Dimensional Chassis was profound with his Dimensional Layer as it acted like a representation of it, and being an area with such dense Essence of the Decretum of Avalon only aided Noah!

He walked forward silently for a few seconds before he came to a stop in an area that had a clearing, more Groves of stellar trees in the distance as in this clearing, rivers of pristine purple essences began to float silently.

Within these rivers of purple essence, a massive creature swam silently as it turned its white eyes that were the size of stars towards Noah!

<Name>: Avallonis Charybdis

<Lineage>: Chaos Sea Charybdis

<Realm>: Grotto Haven

<Titles>: Chaos Devourer, Sea Mother...

<True Dimensional Vitality Values>: 6 Trillion

<Innate Dimensional Barrier>: 2 Trillion

<Reserves of Essence of Reality>: 200 Million

<Mana>: 500 Trillion

<Destiny>: 40 <Fate>: 40...

<Overall Battlepower>: Grotto Haven

It held vibrant purple scales with a massive worm like body of a deep sea beast, its jaws holding innumerable sharp teeth while elegant stellar purple fins erupted on its sides.

A beast at the level of a Suzerain appeared as the first task was to bypass Beasts like these!

As for how one should handle them?

Noah smiled as he continued walking forward.

ROAR!

The Avallonis Charybdis let out a low roar as rays of light emanated from it, cutting apart the marvelous rivers of purple light as they targeted Noah!

Each ray carried a Trillion in Damage Values as 3 rays thundered down with majesty.

And yet then they reached him...

SAA! SAA! SAA!

They slide off a radiant transparent purple barrier that wrapped around Noah in a fantastical fashion.

Over three Trillion in Damage Values...were simply deflected by Noah at this juncture!

His Innate Dimensional Barrier was already exceeding 10 Trillion at this point in time after all the recent boosts, and they were progressively shooting ever higher even before his Third Dimensional Layer granted him the boosts of Half completion and full completion.

This was due to his Mythical Infinite Dream Physique nearing the end of its evolution as the base Values granted by every single Cycle...Noah could already feel it exceeding 1,000 per cycle as the limit on the number of Passages formed per cycle was also increasing!

And its evolution wasn't even done yet!

So he simply shrugged off an attack of a Grotto Haven existence.

It was a ridiculous achievement, yet Noah was unphased by it as he continued walking.

He did not attack.

A low howl released from the resplendent Avallonis Charybdis at this scene as it also went back to swimming in the dazzling stellar purple rivers after gazing at Noah for another few seconds.

Yes! This was one of the intricacies Noah had found out when he observed a few paths under <Challenges and Ordeals>. For those entering Insula Avallonis to try and attain the Sword of Avalon...the moment they attacked any of the Avallonis Beasts on this landmass, they already failed!

This was because they would instantly earn the wrath of the Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast that protected this idyllic landmass as death was all that awaited them if they made it to the center of the landmass.

In one of the many possible paths, Noah had put in all his efforts to try and knock down a Grotto Haven Avallonis Beast, and he was then lucky enough to witness a swarm of Avallonis Beasts that decimated everything!

So he proceeded forward calmly as he bypassed a Suzerain Beast.

His light steps actually correlated to the actions of his main body as every single one traversed many light years, and each one represented a Trillion Kainos Royal Avalon Cosmos formed.

His steps would come to a halt when he was standing before the Sword of Avalon as they would also signify 49 Trillion Kainos Royal Avalon Cosmos. Before he pulled the Sword from Stone, he could not exceed 50 Trillion Cosmos and become the Dimensional Inimicus!

He would have to bypass the Beasts and the Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast with his current stage of power as the following events had to be played intricately!

In the periphery of Insula Avallonis.

"He can seamlessly withstand the attacks of a Grotto Haven while knowing how to act in Insula Avallonis...tell me more about this Alexander."

The powerful voice of Arthus reverberated as Lancelot had shining eyes of wonder when watching Noah on the illusory screen, his voice coming out subconsciously as he began to speak about him!

Off to the side, the eyes of Enchantress Morgana shone with a sharp light as she waited.

Waited for the spell she had cast to cause a frenzy amongst the Avallonis Beasts!

'How will you deal with that?'

Her Dual Pupils shone silently as she would never allow the chance for an Outsider to even grasp the hilt of the Sword of Avalon.

There were too many things at stake to allow even a possibility!

He moved past massive groves of stellar purple redwood trees as in a short period of time, his aura wasn't the only one that could be seen on the screen.

Further ahead, the auras of multiple Avalonian Beasts could be felt as their calm and serene eyes...held a trace of red at this moment!

Chapter 1987 The Sword And The Connate Sacred Beast! L

A single man walked across Insula Avallonis as every step of his seemed to resonate with the earth he stepped on.

The deeper in he went, the more mystical things became as when he came as the concentration of the Decretum of Avalon only became denser, and Seas of purple essence were forming amidst the countless Groves of trees.

Simply breathing in the air of this place would fill one's lungs with the Essence of Avalon as the Avallonis Beasts that lived here all their lives...their power and attainments in Avalon could only be imagined.

"It should be about now?"

A devilish smile was etched on Noah's face as he once more came to a stop.

Ahead of him, the auras of multiple Avallonis Beasts could be felt as one by one, they began to materialize from the floating Seas of essence.

<Name>: Avallonis Beisht...

<Name>: Avallonis Mandrake...

<Name>: Avallonis Sylph...

A serpentine eel, a plant root with humanoid form, and a constantly twisting mass of Avalon Essence appeared as their gazes towards Noah were different from the Avallonis Charybdis from before!

All three shone brightly with the allure of a Grotto Haven.

They didn't hold their laid back stature as their eyes held a trace of red light that made them actually seek him out, a light of bloodlust apparent within them.

'The works of Morgana...merely a Dimensional Ruler delaying the inevitable!'

WAA!

Noah's thoughts were domineering as he took another step, coming directly before the powerful Grotto Haven Avallonis Beasts as he already had a way of countering this move by the Enchantress.

Across the many paths he saw, Noah had discerned with destiny for solutions when it came to the Avallonis Beasts coming under the influence of Morgana and entering into a frenzy.

He found a particularly fantastical one as at this moment when multiple Grotto Haven Avallonis Beasts got ready to decimate his small figure, his chest shone!

It shone with a light of radiance that stopped everything within its tracks.

From his chest, a massive and incandescent ball of purple light came out as it shone with an allure of a Cosmos.

A Kainos Royal Avalon Cosmos!

...!

WAA!

The somewhat frenzied Beasts came to an instant stop the moment this object was pulled out as their Origins trembled.

They felt an intense and shocking need as any influence on their souls disappeared, all of them gazing at the Kainos Royal Avalon Cosmos that Noah controlled to float towards them!

He had trillions of these, but a single one was akin to an immeasurable Panacea that captured the very souls of the Avallonis Beasts!

In another path, he had even pulled out a genuine Grotto Panacea as even this didn't have a stupendous effect like a single Kainos Royal Avalon Cosmos had.

The answer lay in this wonder stemming from a singularity of the pristine Avalon Dimensional Reality.

This single Cosmos was born from the very Essence of the Avalon Dimension within Noah as it contained traces of unimaginably pure essence.

Quintessential Kainos Natural Decretum Essence!

The essence that went to birth the Pure Quintessential Kainos Natural Decretum Seed that could grant Noah 25% in any of the Decretum he grasped.

A minute trace of this was utilized in the formation of Cosmos as this was the reason that after exceeding 50 Trillion Kainos Royal Avalon Cosmos, Noah would forcefully have his understanding brought to 12.5%!

The Avallonis Beasts gazed at it no longer as their massive jaws surged out to devour pieces of this radiant Cosmos.

As if these jaws were black holes, the radiant Cosmos was decimated and devoured in a mere instant.

WAA!

The frenzied eyes of these Avallonis Beasts shone with utmost luminosity and shock as incredulously, they felt their understanding of the Decretum of Avalon that had remained dormant over the millions of years actually rile up!

Yes!

Even though it couldn't even be considered a significant percentage as 50 Trillion of Kainos Royal Avalon Cosmos would only end up granting a forceful increase of 12.5%, a single one could still rouse the Essence of this Decretum within their soul as those who devoured it would feel it right away.

This was a shocking usage Noah had learnt about his Dimensional Layers from <Aids and Cheats>, where it ridiculously didn't apply to him as his Main Body had removed a Kainos Royal Avalon Cosmos from his Origin and devoured it like a resource, only to have all of its essence and source go back to his Third Dimensional Layer to form the same Cosmos.

But if he granted it to others...they could theoretically attain a forceful understanding of the Decretum of Avalon if they gained enough of such Cosmos from Noah!

It was a shocking find that had profound implications.

The Suzerain Avallonis Beasts right before him were an example as they then gazed towards his figure after they devoured the Cosmos, their frenzied eyes calm and without any wildness!

Towards this, Noah only smiled.

He began walking forward again as while he did so, his chest shone with a stellar cosmic light.

Another Kainos Royal Avalon Cosmos floated out and enlarged as Noah grasped it within his hands and threw it behind him!

SHAA!

And the massive Avallonis Beasts turned into streaks of light that shot towards the path of the dazzling Cosmos.

"..."

And Noah's steps continued on!

"What the hell is that..."

It was the words of a guarding Suzerain that spoke the thoughts of most beings atop the Cloud Dragon.

And knighted Dragoon Suzerain realized this as he stood straight right after while trying to return to his blank expression unsuccessfully!

This was because the images playing out on the illusory screen of light before them were just that ridiculous.

A few of them had made the trek across Insula Avallonis unsuccessfully as they knew its many secrets, but none of them had ever heard of or seen an existence pull out radiant balls of cosmic light that made Avallonis Beasts chase after them!

And after this being did so, he only continued further in smoothly as any Avallonis Beasts he came across, he repeated the same thing!

Chapter 1988 The Sword And The Connate Sacred Beast! LI

A surreal scene!

This was what played out thereafter as pristine Avallonis Beasts would appear before him, and he would smoothly throw out a dazzling ball of Cosmic light that all these Beasts would seek.

It even got to the point that the Avallonis Beasts who had already come across him moved behind him as they actually followed!

The scene truly showed the figure of a single being walking across Insula Avallonis and harmonizing with the surrounding lands, and a procession of Beasts forming behind him as each one would swarm towards a ball of cosmic light that he threw in a random direction.

"..."

Dimensional Ruler Arthur and Enchantress Morgana had no words at such a scene.

To them, what mattered more was significance.

What were the balls of cosmic light being released from this being and why were Suzerains going crazy for them?

"It is even enough for them to forcefully break out of your Mind Spell..." Arthur stroked his chin as Morgana's expression turned dark.

He seemed to have long realized her actions as he had not done anything, his gaze placid and without any emotions while he sat on his throne!

"I've said it before Sister Morgana, if it is fated, then that is that. You standing in the way of it will only open ways for you to get rolled over. And with your actions of influencing the minds of Avallonis Beasts, all you have done is make Guinevere look upon you unkindly for doing that to those she protects!"

WAA!

His deep voice woke Lancelot and some of the others out of their reverie of the scene playing out as they briefly came to lock onto Morgana's figure!

Her dark hair with glimmering strands of purple caused her visage to nearly glow as beings like her had exceeding beauty, the Empress robe wrapping around her hiding an exquisite armament below that at this time....could not hide her thoughts that showed on her face.

How could she favor the scene playing out? Even if it was still just a probability, the mere chance of it was rising as time passed as she truly didn't wish to see an outside grasp on something from her own home!

Something meant for her people to overcome the challenges that lay ahead.

She was the leading Commander who battled against Primordial influences and denied taking in any of the Ancient Lineages when the Age of Destiny ended, and she used all her time to fight against even the forces of Dimensional Hellion Rulers as beings like Lilith had entrenched themselves onto some domains of Avalon- but had never been able to continue expanding forward!

She did all this to protect her home for billions of years.

And after all this, a random being they had just met steps forward and stands a chance of grasping the one thing that could shape the weaving of destiny? And what would it mean if actually managed to pull the Sword from Stone that even she failed to pull multiple times?!

The thought caused her to grow more somber and livid as her exceedingly beautiful face became even more charming.

She was unconsciously raising her staff again as it shone with a blinding light when suddenly...

HUUM!

The scenes playing out on the illusory screen underwent a great change.

From the massive stellar Groves of trees rising endlessly upwards, Noah's figure that was followed behind by dozens of Avallonis Beasts like a wave...had arrived towards a pristine area of a clearing that stretched outward for light years.

The Essence in this region was even denser and many clusters of Seas of Avalon Essence floated in the surroundings, with an area of densest color and concentration being further ahead as it was blinding!

An area where the earth began to change into a dazzling purple lake where at its very center...a crystalline stone could barely be discerned.

"This fast?!"

The sequence of events shocked the watchers as they observed Noah to actually be nearing the incandescent lake that contained a rising stone at its very center.

A Stone...that had a Sword entrenched into it.

The path across Insula Avallonis was often filled with dangers as never had one crossed into the Lake so quickly!

The surroundings calmed.

All eyes followed what was happening closely as...this felt different compared to the many other times others had entered Insula Avallonis.

An area of pure wonder opened up before Noah's eyes.

The thickets of stellar trees disappeared as the area opened up, the concentration of the Essence of Avalon reaching crazy levels as apart from Seas of it flowing in the very air, purple floating crystals and plasmoid waves of essence formed as Noah couldn't help but breathe it all in!

Behind him, dozens of Avallonis Beasts had been following as when they came to the periphery of this clearing, they didn't enter as they released low howls.

In front of him, the earth very quickly changed into a pristine clear lake- a lake that Noah began taking steps towards at this moment!

Within his Main Body, the number of Kainos Royal Avalon Cosmos just broke past 48 Trillion as things were on track.

So he approached the Lake.

And his will ever so slowly managed to almost make out a radiant crystalline stone.

A stone that had the densest cluster of Avalon Essence as even from this distance, even his eyes could barely make out a refulgent hilt of a sword!

WA! WA!

The low symphony of the Protagonist increased in pacing and base as the Beasts in the surroundings stirred.

Noah continued forward until he came across the periphery of the lake, his feet barely dipping into it as he stopped.

He had to stop.

Even though the barely discernible Sword of Avalon was right before him, he still had to come to a stop!

This was because the calm lake stirred as something moved within, the waters beginning to churn as a splendiferous and irradiant scales of a scared beast began to rise from it.

Draconic in grandeur.

Majestic in power!

Pristine purple scales rose as a draconic head swirled slowly from the center of the lake, two eyes that shone brighter than any stars Noah had seen rising with it as they shone with multicolored luminescence.

Only the head had risen from the Lake and not the entire body, but the pressure released was astounding as it eclipsed anything that Noah had come across so far!

It was the pressure from the Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast that protected and remained in close proximity to the Sword of Avalon for as long as one could remember.

It was the majesty and grandeur of Guinevere!

And when one saw her, they truly couldn't help but tremble as her aura exceeded anything they had seen so far.

Her aura was not at the stage of a Grotto Haven.

Like many Dimensional Rulers, she had far exceeded this stage and stepped into the Realm...of Nature Integration.

Nature Integration!

The stage where existences utilized their formed Haven to apply their understanding of Decreta and Natural Laws of Reality that had reached 100% onto their Origin, Integrating with Nature itself and becoming part of the fabric of Reality!

Chapter 1989 The Sword And The Connate Sacred Beast! LII

Suffocation.

This was the feeling anyone would have whenever standing before a being that had integrated themselves into the very fabric of Reality.

Because the question that rose up here was how exactly do you eliminate or erase something that can hide and merge with the fabric of Reality itself?!

Towards those of lower power, the mere strength and concept of the soul of Nature Integration existences were unfathomable.

And multicolored bestial eyes of such a being locked onto Noah as the draconic serpentine head rose, the purple scales ever for refulgent and radiant as each scale shone with a glimmer of lilac Realities.

The visage of this existence rose from the water as it circled the incandescent crystalline stone that held a sword, a massive and pristine body beginning to rise fully as a magnificent Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast unfurled herself!

Its wings emerged from the water as they were made of pure Essence of Avalon amalgamated into physicality, the rest of its scales on its chest and main body seeming like they were forged from pure purple jade crystals.

THUMP!

Essence pulsed in wonder as the concentrated Seas of Avalon surged, this draconic Nature Integration expert circling and coming to put its wings of pure light on each side of the refulgent stone as its head and body stood directly behind it.

Its piercing eyes gazed at nothing but Noah as they seemed capable of flattening every single thing with a mere glimpse!

Noah's eyes retained their unfettered confidence as he gazed at this magnificent creature.

This wasn't the first time he had been here.

His will has gazed upon a similar scene like this after he paid 300 Million Units of the Essence of Reality to view this ordeal, and another cost to view the secrecy of the Sword in Stone that this being protected for countless years!

He had seen it before, so he knew what to do as his Tri-Pupiled eyes reflected a semblance of information.

<Name>: Guinevere

<Lineage>: Connate Sacred Beast

<Realm>: Nature Integration???

<Titles>: Connate Beast???.

<True Dimensional Vitality Values>: ???

<Innate Dimensional Barrier>: ???

<Reserves of Essence of Reality>: ???

<Mana>: ???

<Destiny>: 100 <Fate>: 100

<Overall Battlepower>: Nature Integration???

A status panel that hid many things as much of the information Noah held stemmed from what he already knew. But one piece of information was the value of Destiny, Fortune, Karma, and Fate...it was among the highest that Noah had ever seen!

It made itself known that Guinevere was a crucial existence.

So while the two of them locked their gazes onto each other with Noah withstanding the terrifying pressure, he was the first to change the dynamic as he began to walk forward once more.

His feet stepped on the clear purple lake water as if it was solid ground, confidently walking ever closer towards the crystalline stone as this scene caused those watching him from an illusory screen to nearly go mad!

Where was the test of the Connate Sacred Beast? Would she not infiltrate his mind and soul to learn about who he is and test what truth lay in his heart? Just what exactly was happening?!

It was an unfathomable scene as they only saw Guinevere gazing coldly at Noah's incoming figure, her massive draconic body shining the next instant as it began to turn into streams of light.

Streams that coagulated into a humanoid visage as a dazzling figure bloomed before everyone's eyes!

"Why..."

Morgana's heart felt a surge of unknown emotions at this as she didn't at all like the sequence of events playing out.

Why was the Sacred Beast transforming to take on a humanoid form? This was something they had never seen across the billions of years of many existences trying to seek the Sword of Avalon!

When Morgana saw this scene and the previous scenes compound on top of each other, the stifling feeling of impossibility of this unknown being obtaining the Sword of Avalon continued to decrease.

From Impossible, it now seemed like he had a genuine chance as his path was different from all others so far!

Inexplicable emotions of pain began to rise in Morgana's heart at this as her strong soul felt like it would be observing a scene it couldn't bear in the next few moments.

At the center of Insula Avallonis, many Suzerain Avallonis Beasts circled the Lake that held a Nature Integration expert and an even more exemplary tool as they watched with bated eyes.

The form of a magnificent draconic Sacred Beast disappeared as in its place, the visage of a woman with radiant purple hair with streaks of white appeared.

She was adorned in a pure white dress that hugged her moderate curves, and wings of pure essence of Avalon still erupted behind her as her fair skin glistened with a crystalline light.

She floated directly on the path of the crystalline Stone holding the sword, her figure moving forward mystically as the Essence of Avalon made a path for her.

Her eyes swirled with three pupils that shone purple, white, and gold, her nose sharp as her face held beauty exceeding many women that Noah had seen in his life!

It was an ethereal untouchable beauty that made one seem it would flicker away if anyone even dared to come near.

Pristine and filled with mystery, Noah was forced to come to a stop as he prepared for the will of the Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast to descend unto him.

It would simply check his heart and intentions as at the end of it, Guinevere would even be surprised at the composition of this Avalon Dimensional Chassis as she would make way for him to try and pull the Sword from Stone!

So he came to a stop as her ethereal figure floated towards him, but...

"...?"

The events he had seen before didn't play out.

WAA!

His heart calmed as his eyes turned sharper, his destiny buzzing with an unknown sensation as this existence came to float right before him.

Her expression was placid and without emotions as her exceeding beauty felt glacial, her fair hand reaching out at this moment as it shockingly came in contact with Noah's chest!

His chest!

Her fingers then rose upwards slowly as from Noah's chest, an illusory figure of a pendant began to rise.

An illusory figure of a necklace...of a lavalliere!

<For you to have attained a broken and shackled Connate Dream Treasure...interesting.>

....!

Chapter 1990 Unfathomable Wonder! L

<For you to have attained a broken and shackled Connate Dream Treasure...interesting.>

WAA!

A shocking set of words released from the red lips of a Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast as events unfolded very differently from what Noah saw due to the feature of <I Am the Main Character>!

This was astounding in itself, but what was even more so was that this being was able to gaze past Noah's many defenses that even Dimensional Ruler Arthus and Dimensional Ruler Morgana could not, and somehow trace that his main body was bound to Lavalliere.

A broken and shackled Connate Dream Treasure- Lavalliere!

Noah's will surged with countless thoughts as he gazed down at the fair hand grasping an illusory pendant that was the form that Lavalliere had taken.

Her glacial expression remained the same as her Tri-Pupiled eyes only held a minuscule trace of interest, seeming to be gazing at something else entirely as her mesmerizing voice continued.

<This must be the only Connate Dream Relic that survived the Empyral Deceiver's warpath all those years ago.>

Her words held a trace of reminiscence as she spoke, Lavalliere's will buzzing as she remained silent this whole time.

Noah's eyes were sharp as he voiced out slowly...

"How...?"

His single word held many meanings as the fair hand of the Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast came down.

Her floating figure came to lock her gaze onto his as both of their eyes reflected each other's pupils, the Avalon Essence surging around them as Guinevere spoke icily.

<Things didn't play out as you expected.>

WAA!

This being seemed to be having a competition of sequentially releasing one shocking sentence after another as each one was more unfathomable than the other.

<When gazing at the fabric of Reality, it can at times gaze back at you. I do not know how you attained such a unique power, but be careful about who you utilize that ability on until you reach a sufficient stage of power.>

...!

When gazing at the fabric of Reality, it can also gaze back at you!

Existences at the stage of Nature Integration could be considered part of the fabric of Reality, and especially so if they integrated the understanding of multiple Natural Laws or the Decretum of Dimensions.

Shockingly, Noah's stupendous feature of <I Am the Main Character> could possibly stand a chance of alerting beings at this level if they were powerful enough!

<At the stage of Nature Integration, one can subtly feel if they are being targeted or gazed upon by others through their integration of Laws or Decreta. I felt parallel versions of myself gazed upon and saw your eyes at the end of it- this is something you may be able to mask in the future with your own power.>

WAA!

Parallel versions of oneself!

The innumerable paths Noah could see through <I Am the Main Character>...those at a sufficient level of power could be aware of their own possible paths.

This was a wondrous level of information to grasp as it further showed just how ridiculous the level of power of Nature Integration existences was.

<But...that is that. We are here to observe if the weaving of Reality has set things in motion, so let's get to it.>

Her icy expression changed after these words.

Her Tri-Pupiled eyes shone with power and authority as she turned her eyes to the left of Noah, seemingly gazing past the thickets and Groves of stellar trees and peering past all of them to arrive at the periphery of Insula Avallonis.

Atop the Cloud Dragon that two Dimensional Rulers sat atop of surrounded by Suzerains!

HUUUM!

A vast distance was bypassed as around Morgana, a surge of stellar spatial light instantly erupted around her.

It was filled with shocking power and authority of a Nature Integration expert as Morgana herself could choose to defend against it, but when she and Arthus gazed at the illusory screen that showed the blooming scenes atop the Lake, they could see the Tri-Pupiled eyes of Guinevere gazing at the very center of the screen towards them as if she could see their every move!

And at this moment, her eyes were locked onto Morgana as they spoke volumes.

They seemed to say...

I dare you to resist.

It was the expression of many words and emotions in a single gaze as Morgana only felt rising incredulity as she bit her lips while the hand holding her staff trembled, not resisting in the least as her figure disappeared in a burst of spatial light!

Thereafter...

PAH!

The illusory screen showing the unfolding events above the lake shattered and also faded as Lancelot and the guarding Suzerains gazed forward in a stupor, while Dimensional Ruler Arthus nearly rose from his makeshift throne.

This sequence of events was truly too unfathomable.

Even someone as powerful as Dimensional Ruler Arthus was unsettled as millions of thoughts crossed his mind!

Was this really happening?

With the sequence of events playing out as they did, they only seemed to be pointing towards one direction.

Would...the Sword of Avalon truly be pulled today?!

Dimensional Ruler Arthus maintained his placid expression as he didn't try to gaze at what was happening after seeing the intentions of the Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast.

His eyes only flashed with pristine purple light as he calculated.

Atop the Lake, spatial light flashed as from it, the shocked figure of Morgana appeared.

Noah could only watch and calculate how the events would progress from here on out as after the spatial light faded, the astounding visage of Guinevere floated away from and came right before Morgana.

Two existences at the level of Dimensional Rulers or even more unique and special than such a level for one of them came face to face!

The eyes of the Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast were just as cold as she spoke out.

<Why did you harm those you swore to protect?>

...!

The actions of the Enchantress to cause a frenzy in the Avallonis Beasts in order to hinder Noah were seen by Guinevere as she now demanded an answer!

An answer that only caused the emotions of disbelief and unwillingness of this unfolding situation to rise within Morgana as it seemed events were progressing in the direction she did not wish to see.

She gripped her staff tightly as the Essence of Avalon surged, her voice coming out slowly.

"I didn't harm them, I merely affected their state of mind somewha-"

SLAP!

...!

Noah hadn't even seen it, but he heard the sound of a slap as Morgana's figure flew a few meters soon after!

A slap!

A Dimensional Ruler...shockingly slapped as her figure was even flung backwards and splashed on the pristine waters of the radiant lake!

"..."

Immense silence descended in the surroundings.

Noah's eyes carried surprise at this unfolding scene while Morgana's head rose up, her hand grasping her cheek as she gazed towards Guinevere with incredulity!

Her visage was drenched in the mystical water as her curves became even more visible, with immense hurt and pain being present in her eyes as she held her cheek while staring at Guinevere who floated towards her again.

Like a little sister who felt betrayed and hurt by an older sister whom she looked up to a great deal!

She couldn't shake these emotions from her heart as Guinevere came beside her and put her fair right hand behind her head, pulling her up from her radiant and wet dark purple hair as she pointed her face towards the Sword in Stone.

The words of Guinevere were icy as they came once more.

<Due to your actions, I want you to closely watch what will happen next.>

...!

A Dimensional Ruler was pulled up by her hair through the hands of a shocking Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast, the weaving of destiny reaching a crescendo as the Essence of Avalon spun wildly!!!