

Mana 2011

Chapter 2011 Restructuring! V

Within a region of the Niflheim Dimension that Noah was just now stepping into.

Mountainous black monoliths rose to the cloudy and dark skies as the black earth below felt glacial and cold to gaze upon, these monoliths acting as towers that held powerful auras of Lineages of the Niflheim Dimension.

The particular region that was vaster than many Grotto Sanctums fell under the domain of the Glacial Dragon Lich Emperor- a Nature Integration Realm existence whose name was feared and widespread in the Niflheim Dimension!

In one particular obsidian Monolith, two Suzerains were gazing at the center of this domain where they could see the figure of the Glacial Dragon Lich Emperor enshrined in its stellar dark robe actually accompanying two other existences at the same stages of power as it!

Their bodies release unauthorized waves of purple light as they were the Magenta Abyss Sea Dragon and the Violaceous Reality Wolf from the Avalon Dimension who had been sent here by Lilith!

Two Suzerains were at the top of a certain monolith as they talked amongst each other.

"We'll apparently be moving soon on a final war of Conquest. Failure is not an option this time around."

One was a robed woman who wasn't particularly beautiful, where half of her face was a pristinely white skeleton while the other half was mainly dried Musculature.

This woman gazed at the middle-aged man beside her whose entire body shone with vibrant obsidian bones- this existence being a type of Abyss Lich Emperor that had reached a high stage!

"Will you be okay? Ever since you came back from wiping out that Primordial Legion, you've been out of it..."

The half-skeletal female Suzerain spoke with concern and care as the obsidian Lich merely shook its Skull with a firm will.

"I'll be okay. Aid me in getting the Undead Legions ready while I finish recuperating."

His tone was firm as the half-skeletal female Suzerain nodded while flashing away from this location, leaving only this Lich staring out into the stretches of monoliths and the three Nature Integration Realm existences that had disappeared at the very center of it all.

His obsidian Skull was vibrant as its eye sockets suddenly came to life with wondrously beautiful cerulean blue flames- flames that shone with life and deviousness as when one's Will delved within these flames, they would see a shocking scene!

Past the burning cerulean flames, within the very Origin of this Obsidian Abyss Lich Emperor- a figure that looked just like its outward appearance could be seen shackled by tendrils of unknown essence.

This figure was the true soul of the Obsidian Abyss Lich Emperor as it was constantly roaring out in maddened anger.

"You really think you can devour my will and soul like this?! You think those around me will not find out?! Eckert...no- Usurper...you will pay for this!"

WAA!

A bellow of rage and unwillingness boomed from the very Origin of a Suzerain as an even more dominant voice returned.

"Hush. I just need to be idle for the next day to assimilate a thing like you....and then after that, the rest of the Undead Suzerains will follow!"

The voice was filled with age and ancientness, and yet it contained a hint of youth as well!

It was the voice of the Great Usurper who was proceeding on his own journey.

Tendrils of Mana surged vibrantly on the surroundings.

The allure of gold around Noah had nearly faded as a pervasive cerulean blue sea of color surrounded him entirely.

His stellar skin glistened with a blue metallic sheen as even his Dimensional Layers were somewhat affected, radiant blue seas covering them as they gave off an idyllic feel!

The transposition of the Mythical Natural Born Infinite Dream Physique that had been changing Noah's body this whole time into the Quintessential Natural Born Infinite Mana Physique was too profound, Noah's very skin showing these changes as dandy gold particles were emanating from him while Mana filled him in abundance.

His pristine Tri-Pupils all shone with a dazzling blue light while his stellar hair...each stand seemed like an incandescent blue stellar river of Reality.

At this juncture, his body began to hum and resonate with the droves of surrounding Seas of Mana as from the tip of his stellar toes, a radiant blue cylindrical runic line branded itself on his skin as it traveled upwards, crossing his body from the bottom to top as it turned when it reached Noah's shoulder and made its way back down again until it reached his feet...and connected at the point of the toe where it began!

HOOONG!

This was just the first as soon after, cerulean cylindrical runic lines like these erupted out in abundance from the soles of his feet and made a pathway all around his body, eventually coming back to the starting point and connecting as thereafter...raging waves of Mana began to circulate within these runic lines and caused a resonance of essence on Noah's body!

<The Quintessential Kainos Mana Circulation Vessels are being formed.>

A prompt bloomed before him soon after as line after line materialized, their size grand in the beginning as the more line that formed- the more Quintessential Kainos Mana Circulation Vessels that formed, the more minuscule they became as in a short period of time...Noah's stellar visage was covered by vibrant blue lines.

Lines that were like pathways that carried torrential rivers of Mana through his body- constantly cycling and pulsing with power!

They covered the Aspect of his Body entirely as in the Aspect of his Soul, waves of plasmoid cerulean Seas covered everything.

In the aspect of his Origin, the massive mountainous Reality Passages that connected his Dimensional Layers became bathed with a profound blue light- their entire exterior gaining a stellar blue sheen as they gushed out endless droves of Mana that bathed the floors and skies of the Dream, Prana, and Avalon Dimension blue!

Everything was tinged with Mana as the pervasive color of sandy gold was all but replaced.

<A sufficient number of the Quintessential Kainos Mana Circulation Vessels has been formed.>

Chapter 2012 The Quintessential Natural Born Infinite Mana Physique! I

As if the surrounding Seas of raging blue went enough, an even heavier and more oppressive eruption of Mana bloomed with Noah at the center as ridiculous prompts cascaded down!

<Your Understanding of the Fundamental Natural Law of Manadynamics has increased by 1%>

HUUUM!

Torrential waves of Mana surged out in a magisterial fashion as a potent restructuring came to a finish within Noah, the product revealing itself as his whole body was filled with countless thin blue lines of raging essence that were termed Quintessential Kainos Mana Circulation Vessels!

Circulation Vessels that were becoming smaller, but throughout concentration of Mana surging within them and nourishing Noah's aspects of Existence was becoming ever greater.

Just like the arteries and veins carrying his stellar viscous blood within him, these Vessels felt like they would course and supply his body and other aspects of Existence constantly with a Refinement in Mana.

And just like how his Vessels could circulate throughout his body with the help of an organ...

BZZZT!

His body began to tremble as the circular lines of Vessels that connected to each other in a loop shook.

Even though this loop seemed pristine and complete, the countless converting blue lines instantaneously snapped all at once near the area of Noah's chest, causing an influx of Mana that could shred the body of a normal Suzerain as after this action....the broken ends of the Mana Circulation Vessels weaved across Noah's bones and Musculature to arrive at a single organ and connect to it like it was what should have always happened!

WAA!

His Heart.

Like the most powerful electric shock, Noah felt the many lines converging together and nearly putting the illusion of them forming into a single great vessel that connected below his heart, and another one right above his heart as they formed a perfect closed-loop system.

THUMP!

Then his heart felt the vibrant and massive waves of Mana surging into it as it shone with a stellar blue luster- its beat came powerfully, nearly bursting the Heart right then and there but the foundation of the Quintessential Kainos Emperor was too strong!

His Heart remained firm while accepting the coursing Mana from one end and out of another like a Conduit, beginning to experience unimaginable Trillions of Units of waves of Mana every second!

THUMP!

His heart beat again as even the blood surging from it was affected, everything becoming illuminated with an even greater hue as brilliant prompts with cerulean borders came down.

<The Quintessential Kainos Mana Circulation Vessels have begun utilizing your Heart as a Conduit to transform the rest of your Aspects of Existence as over time, even without the influence and understanding of Manadynamics- the Mana Heart can be formed.>

<The Closed Loop System of the Quintessential Kainos Mana Circulation Vessels will now be utilized during the activation of any abilities, allowing whatever required resource of activation to flow into this system from your Heart as all of the effects of abilities will be transformed from their sources- whether it be Decreta or Natural Laws, and into Absolute Pure Mana Output.>

Noah's Will surged with profound luminescence as he gazed upon what he wanted.

As he gazed upon what was crucial to stand against unreasonable enemies!

The transformation of any of his abilities into a type of ability that released its effects in terms of pure Mana.

When he cast any of his Annihilation Techniques as they took in the essence of Natural Laws and Decreta, all of this would be transformed during the output as the formed skill would contain only pure Mana!

<Under the effects of Absolute Pure Mana Output, the features of the unique types of essence that make up a cast skill are retained while the overall power is elevated depending on the type of skill cast.>

<Your body is gaining rapid and increased exposure at the depths of your Aspects of Existence to Mana as your Understanding of the Fundamental Natural Law of Manadynamics has increased by 1%>

<...Your Understanding of the Fundamental Natural Law of Manadynamics has increased by 1%>

Beautifully cerulean-bordered prompts cascaded down as Noah's pure blue eyes released arcs of light while gazing at them, seeing a spam of the same prompts about an increased understanding of the Fundamental Natural Law of Manadynamics until his total understanding reached 20%.

HUUM!

He felt even more closely connected to the surging Seas of mana around him as he nearly had the illusion of his body being made of pure mana, an illusion that was only broken when he felt more prompts cascade over him!

<The Quintessential Natural Born Infinite Mana Physique has recalibrated previous Cycles of the Infinite Dream Physique and devoured all other Refinement Physiques within your body. All future physiques will naturally be devoured and assimilated for the purpose of strengthening it. Currently recalibrated Cycles- 96>

<Each Cycle of the Quintessential Natural Born Infinite Mana Physique grants 2,500 Base True Damage and Defense Values, +100 Million Units to the Maximum Essence Reserves the Essence of All Established Dimensions, the capability to withstand 12 Quintessential Dimensional Infinite Reality Passages, and the capability of evolution as more cycles pass is retained.>

The cycles of the Mythical Natural Born Infinite Dream Physique were recalibrated into the Quintessential Natural Born Infinite Mana Physique as they were 96 in number, and each one had fantastical boosts!

With each cycle granting 2,500 Base Damage Values, Noah had just instantly gained 240,000 extra base Damage Values to add to an already obscene tally.

In terms of his Maximum Reserves of Decreta Essence- the 20 Billion number he currently had for his established Dimensions was getting blown up exponentially.

Then there was the count of Infinite Reality Passages.

The number had now risen to 12 per cycle as with all other Physiques being devoured and assimilated, it meant Noah could forge up to a maximum of 1,152 Infinite Reality Passages!

This number was extremely significant as when one looked at the daily boosts each Infinite Reality Passage granted to the Decreta of the Dimensional Layers he had forged, and the additional percentage to a Law or Decretum of his choosing, and the Resource Regeneration....it was enough to cause Noah's origin to surge out commandingly to build the maximum number of Infinite Reality Passages as soon as possible!

Chapter 2013 The Quintessential Natural Born Infinite Mana Physique! II

Noah's body was radiant as countless cerulean lines pulsed with grandeur and color, his visage already forging tens of Mountainous Infinite Reality Passages while his will as always paid attention to the residual information flowing in about all of these changes.

The Quintessential Natural Born Infinite Mana Physique held too many wonders as surprises would continue to bloom as Noah proceeded across its cycles.

To top everything off currently, one more Prompt came down as it acted like a topping on an already extravagant feast!

< As Mana circulates across your body through the Quintessential Kainos Mana Circulation Vessels, your body will naturally produce Mana Panaceas daily- a Quintessential Loot that even Nature Integration existences can utilize to fully replenish their Mana reserves and attain 200% Increased Maximum Resource Reserves and Regeneration for a day.>

A vibrant addition that was not expected but always welcome!

His body was the ultimate Panacea for others, and this would be expressed uniquely as like a treasure domain or existence, Noah would actually generate <Mana Panaceas> around his body naturally!

<I'm truly speechless through more that I continue to watch you.>

A distinct voice that had been quiet recently perked up as Lavalliere's will could be heard.

She gazed upon Noah's form that had the wild storms of essence dying down somewhat, seeing the man whose entire body was covered by a stellar light as his very features changed within a matter of hours.

He now had vibrant rivers of cerulean blue strands of hair while his eyes shone brightly, his current status continuing to be elevated to the point that anyone's expectations of him from just days ago would be entirely overturned!

Noah had been greatly absorbed either himself and everything happening around him as he had pushed Lavalliere's mysteries aside to allow her to speak whenever she wished, but he would soon be close to actually being able to help her as he allowed the transformation brought about with the Quintessential Natural Born Infinite Mana Physique to finish while focusing on her just a little.

"How close are we to breaking the shackles that bind you? What will you need?"

Since his power elevated, so did his perception as he continued to see the shocking chains of a myriad of essences sprouting from the form of Lavalliere.

Her form that seemed to be an amalgamation of a Relic and Absolute Dream Authority, where among the chains of destiny, Karma, Fortune, and Fate that were blooming out, all of them seemed to be congregated towards one massive chain that metaphorically rose to the highest point above Lavalliere!

This chain...

<What I am bound by the most at the end of it all is Providence. The Fundamental Natural Law of Providence that makes the workings of destiny and the other three concepts seem like the moving of one's own fingers. It is Providence and the Decretum of Dreams that made it possible for me to recover somewhat when devouring Relics filled with fortune...it will also be these authorities that ultimately release my soul from this Connate Relic.>

The Fundamental Natural Law of Providence!

It was another Fundamental Natural Law on top of Manadynamics, Entropy, and Relativity that Noah was coming across- uniquely being exposed to the concepts of more Fundamental Natural Laws than normal ones as time passed!

His now cerulean Tri-Pupils shone with a powerful light as he replied while thinking of how to quickly grasp these laws and more.

"If it is Providence, then I will grasp it. Whatever else is required, I will obtain it. You've been with me long enough to see that I will attain that I set my mind to, Lavalliere."

Words filled with Tyranny echoed out as Lavalliere was silent briefly before she spoke with some hesitation.

<Eowyn.>

WAA!

<I was known as Dimensional Ruler Eowyn before I was sealed in this Relic.>

Lavalliere introduced herself as Noah could see the image of a chained girl at the depths of the Relic bound to him, her head raised with determination and hesitation as she continued slowly.

<Because of my position and the height of the Dream Dimension back then, I was privy to many details and secrets- and it is precisely because of this that when I continue to watch you do what you do and exceed all boundaries, but when I still know what I know- I truly cannot fathom how you will come out of all of this.>

Her hesitation slowly slipped as her words became firmer and firmer, her will looked onto Noah as she spoke seriously!

<The 9 Anchors and the Desolate Mausoleum are not just something that exist- but it is something set in place a long time ago. It doesn't merely just hold the interests of beings like the Empyral Deceiver, but the interest of those truly powerful who had enough power to make Dimensions act as Anchors to suppress the Desolate Mausoleum.>

<The path you are on will directly invalidate their work and undo what was done a long time ago, and your challenge will truly come when they are alerted to this. The Dimensional Rulers will eventually pass the word that they cannot contain the Dimensional Inimicus as at that juncture...I truly do not know how you will come out of this unscathed.>

"..."

The path that Noah was on.

It was the most illustrious path as it was also the one filled with most dangers!

He could be like the rest of distinguished existences who had prominently risen within an Age and attain the Seat of the True Emperor, gain the qualifications to leave the 9 Anchors and Desolate Mausoleum as he touched upon the secrets of what happened here and then moved on with his life.

But no.

His path of the 9 Dimensional Realities would devour the very Dimension set in place as at the end of it all, he wanted to even take the Desolate Mausoleum- the Infinite Realities...to himself!

It was something that was bound to come with the heaviest of challenges.

<The Empyral Deceiver is a great and terrible challenge as he holds the most freedom and authority to interfere now, yes. But...there are those older than him. There are those who have been moving even before the cycling authority of the True Emperor was initiated for many Ages. There are those who seek to keep the 9 Anchors and Desolate Mausoleums as they are, and I truly do not know how you will survive them when they find out. This was always the reason for my hesitation when you began on this path. Even as I see you overcoming one thing after another, I always thought of the insurmountable wall at the end of it that I do not know whether you can scale!>

Her words were actually filled with caution and care when she spoke as Noah took them in silently!

He gazed at himself and at everything he had achieved as one had to ask, was it enough?

Chapter 2014 The Quintessential Natural Born Infinite Mana Physique! III

With all the advancements he had made and those that were still to come- would it truly be enough at the end?

Even with such a thought filled with unknowns, Noah still forged forward as he spoke with power and confidence.

"Where and when can I expect these enemies?"

<Dimensional Rulers might have already passed word after the appearance of the Dimensional Inimicus. The juncture when you completely swallow up a Dimension and fully remove an Anchor from the Desolate Mausoleum will be the time when a move would be made...and even though it is nearly an impossibility for any beings to enter the 9 Anchors and The Desolate Mausoleum, it can still happen through the 9th Anchor.>

The 9th Dimension.

There were the Dimensions of Dream, Mirror, Niflheim, Prana, Fantasia, Elysium, Avalon, and Apollyon.

The Ninth Dimension...

<The Quantum Dimension. A Dimension that very few have access to as the leading figures of the 9 Anchors reside in here. It does not just act as a Dimension...but also a possible pathway as it holds unique qualities that link it the parallel planes you've just begun to gaze into.>

The Quantum Dimension!

Depending on the flow of events, this could be the domain that the most terrifying enemies Noah had ever faced appear from.

<I do not know what the future will hold, but this has always been the reason for my hesitation. The Desolate Mausoleum, while locked away and abandoned...was locked away for a reason. You are unearthing the interests of existences who have been moving since before the Desolate Mausoleum was even granted that name as whatever happens at the end of this app isn't even something I can imagine.>

Lavalliere finished in a somewhat somber tone as she sighed.

In the face of all this, Noah let out light smile as he brought his stellar white hand forward, gazing at himself and just affirming where he was right now!

"Don't worry too much about the future. We can only prepare for it as best as possible, and my preparations..."

Simply unfathomable!

That was what his preparations and pace of progression were!so he clenched his fist as towards the shackled girl within the connate Relic, he spoke simply.

"Just wait in there a little bit longer. Absolute Dream Authority or Providence...I will have it all within my grasp soon enough."

WAA!

Noah's state of mind was affirmed even in the midst of many unknowns and potential enemies that were even older than the naming of the Desolate Mausoleum itself!

His heart remained steady.

The Quintessential Kainos Mana Circulation Vessels pulsed and caused his body to radiate waves of dominant authority as around him, vibrant Mana Panaceas began to form around him as the sea of blue essence and multicolored rivers of essence around him were mystical to see.

In the face of all this, he wanted to test this new alteration of power- and he wouldn't have to wait long as always- his Clones being there for him as currently, it was the prominent Avalon Dimensional Chassis that would show the way!

In the Avalon Dimension.

A Suzerain Avallonis Charybdis flew across the purple tinged skies of this Dimension as it passed beautifully floating islands with purple waterfalls of essence- droves of radiant Avallonis Beasts following like a tide behind it as on its back, the visage of the Imperius Avallonis could be seen!

They had traversed too many light years in a short period of time as many domains were crossed, and they finally arrived within the domain of the Heliotrope Lion Emperor that was a long stretch of clusters of idyllic floating islands the size of Grotto Sanctums!

Serene purple waterfalls could be seen at the edges of these floating islands as the Essence formed into cloudy domains of water below, the vibrant aura of life and valor present as Noah stared at it all coldly.

There were countless beings in these domains as the vast majority did not know about the plans their Ruler made with Lilith, but some of those directly under him knew of this relationship!

And such beings were exactly what Noah was looking for as his will spread out to cover any nearby islands.

The most massive one before them was similar to the Dragon Knight's Sanctum in stature and majesty as when Noah's will swept over while utilizing the authority of the Sword of Avalon.

And beautifully, multiple red names rose up along countless white names.

Enemies of Avalon!

Lilith's retreat was too abrupt as the forces that she and the Traitorous Dimensional Rulers left behind were still significant!

This was a boon for Noah as the moment he affirmed this, he raised the dazzling Sword of Avalon.

HOONG!

The Avallonis Beasts behind him clamored and roared out as their wills held a distinct connection with the authority of this Sword, waiting for an order from the Imperius Avallonis to attack his enemies!

But the order never came.

Noah raised the Sword of Avalon as after confirming the enemies, he called out lightly.

"Fireball"

SHIING!

A skill was cast as it bloomed in an instant.

But within this instant, the Avalon Dimensional Chassis had been briefly laminated with the vibrant light of the Quintessential Kainos Mana Circulation Vessels over his body, his Heart reflecting the changes his main body had just undergone as he wanted to observe the changes!

He wanted to see <Absolute Pure Mana Output> at work as with sentiment, he utilized the first ever skill he had gained to observe the changes due to the Quintessential Natural Born Infinite Mana Physique, his Will seeing the Essence of the Decretum of Avalon surging within Noah's body along with the Essence of Reality to bring the skill to fruition- but the moment these vibrant waves of essence left his body to materialize the result of <Fireball>, they were instantly altered.

Altered entirely as the Mana Circulation Vessels sucked this essence in an instant and released an output of serene cerulean Mana!

HUUM!

A droning sound echoed in the skies as from Fireball, the Saintess of Fiery Damnation rose.

But it didn't have its crimson gold colors as everything about it was pure blue.

A cerulean Empress robe draped over her shoulder as strands of hair that were akin to dancing blue flames came down to these shoulders, her skin shining crystalline blue as her exceedingly beautiful expression stood out with her eyes that shone like an endless sea!

When she formed, she blinked her long eyelashes with amazement as her face was soon tainted with excitement, turning around to gaze upon Noah as her crystalline blue hand actually rose to give a thumbs up towards him!

Then with joy in her eyes, she turned back towards the idyllic island far ahead of them as she saw the designated targets, her hands rising towards them as she formed finger guns.

She then blew a kiss as blazing cerulean balls of flames that burned hotter than the cores of Grotto Sanctums began to shoot out from her fingers!

BRRRRRR!

Chapter 2015 Guinevere L

The purple hazy skies of the Avalon dimension were tinged with a cerulean color as a dazzling array of blue suns of flames surged forth.

BRRRR!

Like a barrage of high-speed bullets, they folded the space they passed through as the Saintess of Fiery Damnation could be seen laughing with even greater excitement- smoke coming out of her hands as she stopped not too long after she began!

Her eyes twinkled with a light of interest as she then watched the targets of her attacks.

They were few in number as the vast majority of them were not traitors.

But they were existences at the level of Suzerains!

They had a fantastical power, and yet the balls of flames that burned hotter than even the core of a Grotto Sanctum appeared before their eyes silently and en masse.

The innate dimensional barriers of these beings were merely a few trillion, and their True Vitality values could range around 5-10 trillion.

So when the attacks of the Saintess of Fiery Damnation arrived, everything about them was instantly shredded as the thrown-out attacks were too precise!

There wasn't a point of conflict and nor was there even any resistance when the terrifying balls of flames bloomed before their faces- they were only entirely evaporated as a cross the Domain that used to be under the Heliotrope Lion Emperor, five areas shone with incandescent blue light as it meant a targeted Enemy of Avalon was facing judgment.

As each flashing light meant the death of a Grotto Haven existence under the hands of Noah.

The surge of loot came ever so speedily.

<+50 Golden Dimensional Reality Panaceas have been attained.>

<+50 Universal Decretum Crystals have been attained.>

<+50 Universal Nature Crystals have been attained.>

<+50 ZENITH Quintessential Bloodline Enhancers have been attained.>

As the prompts rolled in, the Saintess of Fiery Damnation lost her gaze of excitement as she found no more targets and actually turned back to Noah while pointing towards the vast domain before him that was the size of multiple Grotto Sanctums.

She seemed to be pointing towards the many masses of beings on it as after eradicating those that Noah had deemed the targets, she was questioning- What about the rest of them?

Her cerulean eyes blinked innocently as if she was asking about the most normal thing.

Noah only smiled while shaking his head as there were many reasons for him to do what he was doing, and as the sword of Avalon did not show any more enemies in this domain, he would not kill anymore!

But...there were multiple other domains for him to visit. There were many more relatively weak Grotto Haven existences for him to farm. These were the beings that would build his base and foundation of the resources required to form his next dimensional layer.

"Onward!"

So he bellowed out as after killing the Nightwalker just moments ago, the allure of taking down relatively weak Grotto Haven existences was not that high. The only thing he looked forward to were the prompts of the fantastical loot that came with them!

The Avallonis Beast he sat on began to move, a sea of others following behind him closely as the visage of the Saintess of Fiery Damnation gazed at the things around her with expectations while waiting to return, her figure fading away soon after.

While Noah began his cleansing of the enemies of Avalon, events continued to propagate all around him.

Of particular interest this time around were the events in the Dream Dimensions!

The figure of Bjorn dove even deeper into the domains of this halcyon Dimension as he brought along a terrifying Legion of Abominations- and nothing could stand in his way!

Like a sharp spear the torque across everything it came across- all those at the Ultima Strata and below were wiped out as those in the Grotto Haven could only last moments longer.

Such a disruption would not be left alone as soon after, the terrifying aura of a Nature Integration existence descended.

It was the image of an old man whose body seemed to be made of incorporeal sand as phased in and out of existence- his shriveled hand holding a white staff made of one of the oldest trees!

This ancient-looking man boasted immense power in the golden skies as he gazed at the stretch of the Empires and Domains of the Dream Dimension laid to waste before him.

The gray-scaled Abominations were raging through it with an aura of destruction as nothing could stop them, and there was a single humanoid existence who stood in the midst of everything and seemed to be in total control!

The distinguished existence released here by the Tribunal itself!

The old man's eyes twinkled with a knowing light as he did not waste a single word and made a move right away.

HUUM!

"Collapse."

He spoke a single word.

But this word was filled with Absolute Dream Authority as it caused the area around Bjorn to begin to compress and collapse within itself!

The capability to turn dreams into reality!

One only has to have the dream and then visualize the effect in the outside world- they didn't necessarily need an attack or a specific skill as they could relay their intentions and make what they wanted to come true!

Existences at the level of power as this old man had reached a state where they could say a simple word to achieve their means.

But this time around...

HOOONG!

Multicolored light erupted around Bjorn's figure as the essence of the Natural Law of Electromagnetism blazed with fervor- this law nearly completely understood by him as he first tried to resist the pressure of a Nature Integration expert alone!

His figure looked untouchable and valiant, but he shook his head soon after as a lustrous gray light shone while multiple Abominations appeared around him.

The terrifying effect of Absolute Dream Authority lessened greatly after this point until Bjorn's own body could withstand what tried to suppress him.

He had not yet achieved the stage of Nature Integration.

He may be close to it- but it was not yet achieved! And yet this being was actually withstanding the might of a Nature Integration expert while utilizing the terrifying abominations he controlled!

Bjorn's right hand flickered with light as he gave the command, and the Legion of Abominations surged forward and tried to entrap one of the few powerful Dimensional Rulers remaining in the Dream Dimension.

The gazes of these Beasts were filled with apathy as the very structure of the Dimension destabilized when they passed!

ROAAAR!

A terrifying battle with reality-shattering results began here as with the passage of time, even more battles would bloom in the vast Dimensions and Realities!

Chapter 2016 Guinevere LI

As battles that would define the Age of Quintessence began in the Dream Dimension, Noah visited a few domains in the Avalon Dimension that belonged to the Traitorous Dimensional Rulers.

Any Grotto Haven existence who was deemed to be an Enemy of Avalon perished under his hands as he experimented on all the unique changes his skills could undergo with Absolute Pure Mana Output.

At this moment, he was in the last domain as he observed the destruction left behind by the Assassin Emperor of Severance.

The figure of this skill that stemmed from Sever was enshrouded in a smoky blue cloud that moved extremely fast, his hands grasping pulsing cerulean Sickles that smoothly cut across the arduously forged Havens of Suzerains with ease!

There were only 7 more Suzerains deemed as enemies in this domain that fell under the Magenta Abyss Sea Dragon, and Noah watched all 7 perish under the chains of Sever without being able to put up much of a fight.

His True Damage Values exceeded the approximation of 40 Trillion currently as weakened Grotto Haven existences would not be able to withstand his barrage of attacks.

With these 7 included, Noah had taken down a total of 48 in all the Domains he passed that were deemed as Enemies of Avalon and knew of the links between Lilith and their Dimensional Rulers. This meant 480 Golden Dimensional Reality Panaceas and much more!

It was enough to achieve many things.

So after he bulldozed through them, he chose to quickly make his way back towards Insula Avallonis, the tide of Avallonis Beasts moving with him like an incandescent cloud in the royal skies.

This was because he could feel the time of the completion of the Decretum of Avalon getting ever closer!

And once it did, many prospects would open up!

SHIING!

A spatial light flashed in the skies that covered Noah and the Avallonis Beasts, carrying them back towards Insula Avallonis as something even more critical was about to bloom here.

Within the depths of Insula Avallonis.

The beings at the peak of power of this Dimension were at the very center gazing upon a shackled and bound Heliotrope Lion Emperor whose face and gaze were downcast- yet still holding the reality of a Dimensional Ruler!

Dimensional Ruler Arthus and the others surrounded this powerful existence they knew as a brother and a friend, the Wizard of Avalon, Merlin- standing in front of the Heliotrope Lion Emperor as he sighed once more while drinking from the chalice.

<I've confirmed multiple times. He wasn't placed under any mental enticement or spell as what he has said is true. He followed the Dimensional Deceiver of his own will.>

His Royal purple robe shone with a dazzling light as a staff pulsing with Absolute Avalon Authority lay beside him freely.

The gaze of this existence that had lived for Billions of years seemed genuinely tired at this moment while gazing at the Heliotrope Lion Emperor, at his friend he knew as Emerillon!

"Why has the mood fallen to such a state since I left?"

HUUM!

Spatial waves flashed out as while wielding the Sword of Avalon, Noah appeared near the Lake of Insula Avallonis as tides of Beasts settled behind him.

His gaze was locked on the Heliotrope Lion Emperor as he spoke, the Sword of Avalon swung over his shoulders as he walked freely in a camp filled with powerful beings who could eradicate his clone if they made a move!

The gazes and Wills of these powerful beings also locked onto him as the ancient-looking Merlin was actually the one to reply while sipping more golden liquid from his chalice.

<You're a confident one, aren't you?>

WAA!

Words tinged with power and tiredness echoed out as towards this being, Noah simply nodded while walking forward!

"It is because I have the capabilities to back it up."

With grandeur that seemed to match that of the Dimensional Rulers before him, Noah walked amongst them calmly while going towards none other than Guinevere!

This was because out of all beings here, the Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast that was connected to the Sword of Avalon was the one he had any support from.

<The Sword of Avalon is not your capability. It is something from Avalon itself.> Beside Guinevere, Morgana spoke with a hint of defiance as Noah actually turned towards her with a smile, ignoring her comment and reading the mood of the surroundings before he spoke.

"I know that the Heliotrope Lion Emperor is someone you all share great history with, but as an Enemy of Avalon...he has to die. What he conspired with Lilith-"

<We know what he conspired.>

For the first time in what seemed forever, Noah was actually interrupted as wondrously, it was from the one being he didn't expect any opposition from.

It was from Guinevere.

Her eyes were serene and without a hint of emotion as she came to stand directly in front of Noah, her fair lips opening once more.

<We have listened to his reasons and why he pledged his allegiance to Lilith, and it is true he is the Enemy of the Dimension. I will make it so that you can grant him his death...but only if you can promise me one thing.>

WAA!

Her cold eyes were full of seriousness as Absolute Avalon Authority surged around her!

Noah's eyes turned sharp as the reading of destiny or even the gazing of a myriad of paths through <I Am the Main Character> would not aid him here.

What promise did this existence that held great power in the Avalon Dimension want?

<I need your promise that in the future, you shall not ally yourself with the Dimensional Deceiver. That if you kill the one who follows her, she has to receive the same designation and treatment as an enemy, otherwise all of this would be for naught!>

HUUM!

The words resonated with power as the very lilac grasslands below them trembled.

Lilith...as an ally or enemy?

Noah's eyes shone with sharpness at this as he asked with calmness.

"Why would I make the Dimensional Deceiver into an ally?"

Someone that he was wary and careful of at this juncture.

To make a promise to remain her enemy in order to kill a Nature Integration expert? This wasn't a loss!

<Because of the same reason why three Avalonian Dimensional Rulers pledged allegiance to her. Her aim is to stop the coming Cataclysm of the Desolate Mausoleum and 9 Dimensions, where she wishes to attain the Seat of the True Emperor and cut off any sources of influence over the 9 Dimensions. What I do not wish to see is an Avalonian Ruler perish because he is an ally of Lilith, and then down the road...we end up joining hands due to goals being aligned.>

...!

The Heliotrope Lion Emperor and the other two Traitorous Dimensional Rulers were extremely old existences. They wouldn't make their decisions lightly as to follow Lilith, they truly believed in her ability and prospects of truly attaining the Seat of the True Emperor in this Age!

"This was what you were worried about?" Noah's calm face lit up with a devilish smile of authority at this as as while feeling the very breath of this existence in front of him, he spoke out affirmatively.

"The Dimensional Deceiver is bound to be an enemy as our goals are in no way aligned."

WAA!

"Anyone gazing upon and trying to reach the Seat of the True Emperor can only be my enemy that I will have to step on at the end of it all, this...I can promise you."

...!

Chapter 2017 Guinevere LII

Anyone aiming for the Seat of the True Emperor...would have to be stepped on as they would be his enemy!

These words resounded in the minds of Dimensional Rulers as their wills were fully focused on him.

Far away from the Lake at the center of Insula Avallonis, Lancelot watched this scene as he couldn't help but feel disconcerted.

The "Primordial Genius" he had brought from the Kun Peng's Cataclysm Nest...why did he seem so far away now? Why did he give off the same aura of authority that only those with the most power carried themselves with?

It was a unique scene to see as he and many others continued to observe as the Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast and the Imperius Avallonis stared each other down.

Her radiant purple hair with streaks of white shone with a dazzling light as she nodded.

<Very well.>

Her pure white dress and wings of the pure essence of Avalon vibrated as essence erupted from her, forming into multiple simple thrones floating above the lake.

She lightly came to sit on one as she motioned for the other Dimensional Rulers to do the same.

<As this involves the Lineage of all Avalonians and the 9 Dimension, we must convene and understand each other past mere claims and authority.>

With her at the lead, Dimensional Ruler Arthus, the Wizard of Avalon Merlin, Morgana...and all the remaining Dimensional Rulers took on humanoid forms and floated towards the simple Thrones with power!

<Merlin.>

Guinevere beckoned to the Wizard of Avalon as this ancient being sat on the simple throne while gripping his staff, bringing it down to come in contact with the lake water below them as a brilliant light of Illumination bloomed soon after.

It showed a stellar field of light that held 9 vibrantly colored obelisks within, obelisks shining purple, gold, green, crimson, silver, black...a myriad of 9 colors as Noah's eyes could see a close resemblance of these obelisks to the image of the 9 Anchors he had now seen twice!

<The 9 Dimensions...>

Guinevere's cold eyes shone as she began.

<Are planes that existed alongside what is now known as the Desolate Mausoleum. Many years ago, this was changed by the hands of those who were most powerful at that time as the Desolate Mausoleum became what it is known now and the 9 Dimensions became Anchors to it. Those who caused this change...we are their descendants.>

WAA!

A storm of Providence rose and whipped the surroundings as within it, Seas of Destiny, Fortune, Karma, and Fate could be seen!

<The Dimensional Rulers across the 9 Dimensions are all descendants of the Lineages that fundamentally changed things all those years ago, with our purpose this whole time being to keep the status quo.>

The coldness and apathy in her exceedingly beautiful face had a trace of emotion in it as Noah could actually see minute specs of anger!

Such eyes shone with such intensity that they naturally released an enticing light that made the opposite sex feel a need to possess them.

But Noah remained unfettered as he sat on equal levels between Nature Integration Realm experts of an entire Dimension.

<Over the years, those capable have left as most existences who were First Generation descendants like Lilith's father have either left or perished, leaving everything in our hands.>

Among her many titles, the Dimensional Deceiver was also known as the Daughter of Hatred!

A Daughter.

Her father was someone considered a First Generation descendant of immeasurably powerful existences of countless ages past, and yet OPPENHEIMER had overcome this being and many others in the last Age to split apart the Main Reality!

<This was a Sacred Crusade we carried on our shoulders and would have eventually handed down to others, but OPPENHEIMER's actions changed all this as the very fabric of Reality is accelerating towards an apocalypse.>

The utmost apathy in her eyes gradually faded with more emotions as Guinevere didn't give a damn about saying OPPENHEIMER's name like so many others.

Her words caused Dimensional Ruler Arthus and the others to vibrate with authority as Morgana even scoffed beside Noah.

<Thus...I myself am not too inclined on this crusade any longer as what I want to do the most is preserve the home I have known for billions of years.>

Her serene eyes turned to gaze over the Insula Avallonis and the vast stretches of the skies she could see past it, speaking shocking words for someone in her position as some Dimensional Rulers even looked alarmed!

Morgana had a difficult expression as she seemed torn between duty and what she wanted herself, but she remained silent as Guinevere continued.

<I care not for what lies outside the Desolate Mausoleum. I care not for the lands our Ancestors left as I simply want the safety of what I call home. And that...is where the Sword of Avalon comes in. That is where you come in, Noah Osmont.>

WAA!

Noah's True Name was uttered as his eyes flashed with a chilling light, locking onto Guinevere entirely as if nobody else existed!

In her glacially cold eyes, a hint of a smile appeared as she continued.

<The Sword of Avalon is a powerful tool, and I am connected to it.>

...!

<The moment you accepted it and it harmonized with you, the least I could do is grasp who you really are.>

<Someone without much history, where even after learning of your name, the only information I could pull from our networks is your identity popping up as an enemy of Primordials on their Blacklist as you also go by Alexander King as one of them. What is most baffling though, is how little is known about you and how the timing of everything truly doesn't match.>

The timing of it all!

Guinevere was trying to grasp who Noah really was as the future would hold too many interests!

<If the information from the Primordials is to be believed, you were in the Firmaments of Ascendancy weeks ago, and then promptly stepped onto the stage of Reality, crossed the Stratas the weeks that followed as now...you somehow stand at the level of a Suzerain.>

Silence descended in the surroundings.

Arthus and Morgana along with all other Dimensional Rulers couldn't help but lock onto Noah and gaze at him with strange gazes.

Gazes as if they were looking at a monster!

Chapter 2018 This Is My Age! L

Gazes as if they were staring at a monster!

This was because they knew how long it took for them to ascend the Firmaments of Ascendancy and reach the stage they were at now.

Yet this being had done so in weeks as he now wielded the Sword of Avalon.

Just what was he?

<If this is to work, we need to understand each other and who each party really is. If I am to put the safety of the Avalon Dimension on the line and truly give you all my support, I need to know who I am supporting.>

Guinevere finished with such words as she then silently waited for Noah's reply.

The man in question though was looking at the Sword of Avalon in his hands as this terrific tool he wielded and should be the master of actually tattled his identity to the Connate Avalonian Sacred Beast!

It reminded him that even with so many safeguards, even with concepts of destiny and even the Heart of Destiny masking things about him- terrifying beings still existed who had their ways.

In this case, the Sword of Avalon was intricately connected in a way that even Noah didn't fully know with Guinevere, and she now sought to know more about him than just his True Name.

The powerful existences were practical and put forth great forethought.

Who was this being that would lead Avalon and what qualifications did he have apart from pulling Sword from Stone?

He only gained half the support of Guinevere with this action as the other Dimensional Rulers like Morgana would not simply move under his command.

So who was he to them?!

He smiled as words flowed out of his mouth calmly.

"If I can choose the most direct way for you all to understand, it would be the term that Lilith herself used when I came across one of her Wills in the Desolate Mausoleum. The term Irregular."

...!

Noah's eyes turned sharp as he spoke out the identity that he saw Lilith chose not to reveal.

This single word instantly caused the situated Dimensional Ruler to blaze with power and authority as their gazes towards him became even more pronounced, but Noah was unphased as he continued.

"But...I know not what this designation of Irregular means, so I do not even consider it when calculating my strength. Though such an identity should have much more of a meaning to you than whatever words I can boast about myself."

Irregular.

A term known by those truly powerful as they had experienced beings such as this cause changes in Ages or so long as they moved!

The most recent example was none other than OPPENHEIMER as when he was done, the very course of the Desolate Mausoleum and 9 Dimensions was changed.

Not every True Emperor of the past Ages was an Irregular, but most Irregulars had attained the Seat of the True Emperor of an Age.

This was common knowledge among those truly powerful!

The Dimensional Rulers were silent.

Even Guinevere tapped her throne lightly as another hand held her fair chin, her gaze distant as if she was thinking of other things entirely.

The light around her visage was mystical to see as on another throne, the figure of Arthus spoke with reality.

<An Irregular that has managed to pull the Sword of Avalon. This seems sufficient enough to me.>

Support from the father of Lancelot as this existence believed in his son's intuition!

But at the same time...

<What is sufficient for you may not be sufficient for others. Hatred himself was an Irregular, and yet he perished under the hands of another Irregular. Just having such a designation does not mean one is Destined for greatness or to attain the Seat of the True Emperor.>

With his ancient visage, Merlin spoke out calmly as at the same time, other Dimensional Rulers chimed in.

<He already has the Sword of Avalon. Aren't our choices forces unless this authority is stripped from him first?>

The visage of a middle-aged man with a vibrant crew cut and a sharp nose- it was Galahad who spoke out at this juncture!

Morgana and a few others uniquely remained quiet at this juncture as Noah listened to all of them closely with a smile.

His eyes then came back to land on Guinevere who still seemed lost in thought after his words as he spoke to her directly.

"Let me ask you, what Age are we currently in?"

HUUUM!

His question was simple, and yet his mere words caused the Essence of All resources in the surroundings to begin surging.

The Essence of concepts began to whip around madly as they nearly caused the particles of the Essence of the Decretum of Avalon and the Essence of Natural Laws of Reality to join them!

An air of shocking reality and authority descended as the Dimensional Rulers felt this shocking change, their gazes turning somber to focus on the being who could cause this with a mere utterance of his words.

Just what was he about to reveal?

Guinevere's eyes were glazed with a powerful light as she looked like an ancient Empress who should be untouched by even the gazes of others as she humored Noah and replied languidly.

<The Age of Quintessence.>

The first Age of the Kainos Era.

The Age where the Emperors within would have to show how much more they excel over all others!

It begged the question of how others rose to rulership in the Age of Destiny, Age of Fortune, Age of Misery, or even the Age of Chaos and the many others that preceded these Ages.

But it was set in stone that the first Age of any Era was bound to be a profound one just like the last Age of an Era.

"Yes."

Noah nodded with serene eyes as above him and behind him, authority began to be unveiled.

"This is the Age of Quintessence, and in this age, I..."

HOOOONG!

A droning sound of majesty boomed out as the surging tendrils of essence became even more chaotic, a symphony of wonder and power beginning to resound as it caused the hearts of all beings to be moved!

Above Noah's head and slightly behind him, a shocking authority that was hidden this whole time began to materialize as the first thing that was seen was a vibrant multicolored backbone and skeleton of a throne- a throne whose outline was extremely clear to the eyes.

This throne alone held a terrifying authority of Quintessence, but what was even more shocking was the crown that began to be unveiled above it.

A crown that was seemingly kept afloat by a ring of multicolored light as the base of the crown itself shone with a ring of gorgeous sandy gold. Above the ring of gold was a pristine verdant green light as above this was another ring pulsing with purple light, a mixture of these three colors making up the rest of the crown as tendrils of these colors surrounded in and even formed the Ecritures that when revealed...caused the Dimensional Rulers situated on the thrones to stand up in shock!

Surging around the crown with immense power and authority were none other than the ecritures of...

<QUINTESSENTIAL DIMENSIONAL EMPEROR>

Brilliant in grandeur.

Pristine in authority!

"This is the Age of Quintessence, and in this age, I...am the Quintessential Dimensional Emperor. I am the Quintessential Kainos Emperor!"

WAA!

His Royal purple hair whipped around his head with valor and authority as he grasped the Sword Avalon tightly, his eyes locked onto Guinevere as his voice boomed out with authority.

<This Age we are all in...it shall be nobody else's as it is my Age and mine alone to shine!>

BOOM!

Shockingly, halfway through his words, his voice had changed to contain a tone of authority that only the Dimensional Rulers had been using.

This was because around this juncture, a certain Decretum had shot up to achieve a stupendous level of understanding.

It caused the Essence of Avalon in the surroundings to surge as with the Throne of the QUINTESSENTIAL DIMENSIONAL EMPEROR behind him, Noah spoke out with majesty.

<So now...is my identity sufficient to lead the forces of Avalon?>

Pure majesty and valor dripped around him as he seemed too luminous for others to even gaze at!

Chapter 2019 This Is My Age! LI

<So now...is my identity sufficient to lead the forces of Avalon?>

The words struck the chords of the hearts of all beings here as they couldn't help but stare in a dumbfounded manner above Noah!

<How...>

Morgana's eyes trembled as she unconsciously walked closer to Noah, scrutinizing the dazzling crown and throne above him as if it could somehow be faked.

Merlin stroked his beard with a grim expression as the gazes of all other Dimensional Rulers carried incredulity, the only one retaining her calmness being Guinevere as she still sat while only gazing at Noah.

Outside of the expectations of all others, she only gazed at his pristine authority as she picked up on something else within his words.

She sensed the pristine and completed authority of none other than the Decretum of Avalon as its essence seemed to be emerging and wrapping around Noah's body, cradling him carefully as if he was a newborn!

<You've achieved completion in the Decretum of Avalon?>

Her words held a hint of disbelief as she knew the Sword of Avalon closely.

One could say that apart from Noah, nobody else knew the Sword of Avalon more than her!

She knew that one of the biggest boons was one's understanding of Avalon being brought up to 75% as over the next few years as they harmonized with it, they would eventually attain complete understanding in this Decretum.

So she knew that just moments ago when this being pulled the Sword of Avalon, he was only at 75%. So how did he just achieve 100% Understanding?

<Oh, this?>

Noah pulled upon the foreign but pristine authority of Avalon into his voice as it reverberated with authority, his heart and will morphing as many prompts were blooming within the mind of his main body!

This was because during the saturation of the Third Dimensional Layer from 100 Trillion to 200 Trillion, he had achieved a complete understanding of the Decretum of Avalon!

<I mentioned before I left that I was waiting for something before passing judgment on the Traitor. That was me naturally waiting to achieve a complete understanding of the Decretum of Avalon after gaining an initial understanding of it this past day.>

Utter silence descended after Noah's words.

They sounded utterly ridiculous as the Wizard of Avalon couldn't help but release a vibrant light of authority, Noah feeling this light surging towards him as when he saw it wasn't intended to harm, he left it alone as it coiled and mixed with the authority around him!

Thereafter...

The gaze of Merlin underwent a drastic change as he shook his head with even greater incredulity.

<He isn't lying...how is he not lying...?>

The words of the man before them were complete truths as the Dimensional Rulers didn't know how to take them!

How long had each of them taken to fully grasp the Decretum of Avalon?

The millions of years worth of hard work they had put in felt insignificant when they now heard that this being before them had only taken a day!

Silence descended upon the lake.

When the Dimensional Rulers put together the identity of an Irregular, the incredulous talent he showed, as well as an authority where in the Age of Quintessence, this existence was named the QUINTESSENTIAL DIMENSIONAL EMPEROR...they truly had no ways to refute!

So their eyes and wills faced their own internal battles as they thought about how to move from here.

Meanwhile, Noah's eyes remained on Guinevere to confirm his cementation of authority over the Sword of Avalon and her support.

This existence didn't make things easy even after seeing all this, her languid eyes seemingly taking everything in and nodding as she continued lightly.

<You've answered a large part of my question about your identity...but, I still have not learned who you are. Your character. What motivates you to seek the Seat of the True Emperor? What motivates you to stop the coming Apocalypse when there are others trying to do the same? Because if you tell me it's out of the goodness of your own heart and your vast compassion for the masses or to save the lives of those you have never met, I'll be sorely disappointed. >

WAA!

<What...are you protecting, if you have anything at all to protect?>

...!

The surrounding changed and became heavy once more.

Unlike the other Dimensional Rulers who were contemplating what to do as what Noah had revealed showed his shocking prospects and ability, it seemed that this was not what Guinevere was looking for!

She put aside Noah's identity as an Irregular and as the QUINTESSENTIAL DIMENSIONAL EMPEROR as what she truly wanted to understand was his heart.

For her to leave the protection of her home and to lead its forces to him, she wanted to understand why he did the things he was doing!

The why was always the most crucial thing in anyone's life- even those living for billions of years.

Noah silently looked at Guinevere's placid eyes before moving his gaze to the many Dimensional Rulers around them, his voice full of authority ringing out.

<There are too many eyes for me to pour out my heart in the way you seek.>

...!

A simple set of words.

Yet a moment later, Guinevere's body lit up with incandescent light as Absolute Avalon Authority surged- coagulation above her head into radiant particles that formed into another version of her, but made purely from Avalon Essence!

The eyes of the clone and her true body then gazed towards Noah as even in the midst of all this, she was still testing him.

Noah smiled at this test as such a thing...was feasible once had had a complete understanding of the Decretum of Avalon- though he wouldn't be able to do it to the extent Guinevere was capable of. And such a form had its own boons that Noah would fully view the descriptions of later!

SHIING!

His body lit up with grandeur.

Purple radiance overflowed as above him, Absolute Avalon Authority amalgamated to form into a devilishly handsome figure of a tyrannical emperor that with a tap from Guinevere, the both of them began to ascend upwards and leave behind Insula Avallonis and their True bodies that remained with dissatisfied Dimensional Rulers who also wanted to be a part of this last conversation!

Chapter 2020 The Why Is Crucial!

The amalgamations of Absolute Avalon Authority ascended into the endless skies of the Avalon Dimension as no matter how high one went, it seemed they could never reach the top.

They rose until Insula Avallonis was a dot in the skies as here, Guinevere's Absolute Avalon Clone pulsed with the aura of a Fundamental Natural Law as Manadynamics erupted from her to wrap around the both of them.

Noah calmly watched this occur as his finger even twirled with the vibrant essence of the Fundamental Natural Law he was making steady progress in as he heard Guinevere's voice once more.

<No other eyes shall reach here and I shall not reveal your personal information. So I ask again...what are you protecting? Why do you do the things that you do?>

What did Noah have to protect?

The answer to this question would set Guinevere's heart at ease or cause her to never fully accept him as someone she could trust to protect her own home.

Gazing into the purple eyes of the Absolute Avalon Clone, Noah spoke with an enchanting smile.

<You see, I am a selfish man.>

WAA!

He began grandly in a tone of utmost honesty as Guinevere's eyes became even sharper.

<If you ask me what it is I protect...it would have to be my own safety and happiness, and the safety and happiness of my family. For these things, I do whatever is deemed necessary as it can be considered extreme selfishness.>

<I've undergone multiple apocalypses, and what I learned at the end of each of them was that ultimately, the one with the most power would get to have the freedom of being happy and safe from destruction, so I naturally sought to be stronger in any domain I would be in as at the end...nothing would threaten my own safety and happiness.>

<And something I came to understand about myself was a childish mentality I didn't know I had until a year and a half ago...I came to understand that I loved the exploration of power and learning about all the fantastical things I can do. Edicts? Natural Laws? Decreta? These weren't even concepts that I imagined a year and a half ago as now, I wish to understand all of them and have them underneath my fingertips.>

As he spoke, his eyes shone with thoughtfulness and understanding as Guinevere's eyes retained their coldness and simply listened from afar!

<Me, me, me. My happiness, my love and interest for the unknown wonders, my seeking of safety for those I love and for those that depend on me...this is why I consider it selfish. And I know I am not the only one in this as you are in the same camp of selfishness. You do not care about the other 8 Dimensions as you have only worried about your own Avalon Dimension, staying beside the Sword of Avalon and guarding it all these years waiting for what...me?>

WAA!

<I did not suddenly wake up and become struck with an epiphany to lead the Avalon Dimension and save the countless Avalonians. I am not reaching for the Seat of the True Emperor to prevent the coming apocalypse out of the overabundance of love I have for beings across the 9 Dimension and the Desolate Mausoleum that I do not even know...No. I am doing all of this for myself and those that I protect.>

<I grasped the Sword of Avalon and pulled Sword from Stone not because I was worthy and was meant to lead everyone here, but simply because Avalon falls in line with me obtaining as much authority as possible over the 9 Dimensions and Desolate Mausoleum. I did it because it would aid me in protecting my own interests and the interests of those that I protect.>

HUUUM!

As he spoke, the radiance of Absolute Avalon Authority continued to surge wildly as it formed into a torrential storm, the figure of Guinevere continuing to look at him with utmost coldness!

<I seek to end the life of the Traitorous Dimensional Ruler below us not because he is an Enemy of Avalon and I have to pass judgment as the Imperius Avallonis...I seek to end his life purely because I will devour everything about him and it will help me get even stronger than I am now. It will grant me more strength as this will put me closer to my goals and once more...allow me to have the power to protect myself and those that depend on me.>

<Now...if the Avalon Dimension were to fall under my banner- if the vast stretches of existences here were to come under my protection...then I will treat them the same as I treat those who I protect right now. As it becomes my interest and my responsibility, my selfishness shall extend to it as I can guarantee whatever the results of this coming Cataclysm...the Avalon Dimension and its people would come out of it unscathed!>

...!

A buzzing symphony resounded as at a certain point, Noah's Absolute Avalon Clone arrived right before Guinevere's as he bridged the distance effortlessly, looking into her cold eyes as after all this time, she finally replied to his words.

<Finally.>

HUUM!

The Essence of Avalon swept around and rose ever higher like a torrential sea.

Like a blossoming flower, the most dazzling and heart-shaking smile bloomed from Guinevere's already impeccable visage as she spoke!

<Some genuine fucking honesty.>

...!

Absolute Avalon Authority exploded out at this moment as multiple prompts appeared before Noah's eyes.

<<You have gained Increased Authority over the Sword of Avalon, with Hidden Features becoming unlocked.>>

...!

<<You have gained the acknowledgment of the Latent Will of the Avalon Dimension.>>

<<The Authority and Title of Avalon's Dimensional Ruler has been opened and is awaiting for your arrival at the Nature Integration Realm to be granted.>>

Pristine authority descended and waited for him as before his eyes, he felt like he was looking at an entirely different person as he could see an enchanting sly and cold smile from Guinevere who stared at him freely.

"I've always found true honesty to be something that breaks apart barriers the fastest and easiest."

Amidst dense surging authority, she actually spoke without any of it at this moment.

"I will support you on your quest for the Seat of the True Emperor. In exchange...simply extend your selfishness to cover the Avalon Dimension and protect it like you protect your dear family members."

Her eyes, her smile, her brows...everything about her was smiling in a dazzling yet cold fashion as on top of all other torrential waves of essence, Providence also surged the moment this agreement was put out!
