Chapter 441 - Inducement, Behind a Waterfall!

"Senior Sister, they've already given you a title of Grandmaster?"

Noah's gaze was steady as the girl in front of the door looked to be slightly taken aback as she saw him because at this moment, he had made it so that when he opened the door, he was standing in front of her with a fresh towel wrapped around his waist, another white towel on his hands as he dried his hair damp as if he has just taken a shower.

Athena looked at him as she shook her head with a smiling expression and replied.

"I've long since passed 100,000 Fate Lines, it was long overdue. I wanted to come tease my little Junior Brother about how he was lagging behind and take you with me to spar, but you don't seem all that down."

Noah smiled as he looked at where they were standing, having an expression of not wanting to be impolite as he invited Athena in.

"Please, come in and have a seat. Tell me of the perks you have now that you can be called a Grandmaster."

The expansive dwelling Noah was in could be considered an entire house, having a wide living room area and a few other separate rooms. Athena came in and sat at the exquisitely designed table as she replied.

"Not that many perks and just more responsibilities. It's just a title that many Celestials have, even the Special Existences and other beings with Noble fates that we will be facing soon holding the same title as many of them have achieved more than 100,000 lines of fate. By the way...Junior Brother Crixus, are you just expecting me to ignore the fact that you only have a towel wrapped around you this entire time we've been talking? What exactly are you trying to pull off?"

The eyes of the War Princess squinted carefully as she asked, Noah laughing as he waved his hands and changed to plain white clothing.

"I thought I would catch Senior Sister off guard by showing her something she rarely sees, but you seem as impassive as ever."

"Oh, did you expect me to jump on you the moment you took your shirt off?"

Athena replied teasingly as she looked towards Noah, this not being the first time that the senior brother and sister were bantering, their time spent together the past few weeks being abundant.

"Maybe not with my shirt, but what if I cook for you again?"

Noah asked with a smile as he went towards the kitchen and waved his hands, taking out behemoth meat that was filled with essence while looking towards the senior sister that was now looking at him with shining eyes. His food had been the one thing that caused her to speedily open up to him, being something that she never tasted before! A conflicting look appeared on her face, but not for a long as her eyes quickly regained their normal valiant look.

"Hmph, I came over here to ask you to go spar with me to celebrate my ascension to a Grandmaster, but it seems all you want to do is play around."

Noah's eyes shone the moment he heard these words, the things he foresaw playing in the proper direction as he moved in right away.

"What if we did play around, Senior Sister?"

OOOM!

Silently, essence moved as Noah activated a skill he had not utilized since he first received it, dipping his hands into one of the Seven Deadly Sins available to him- the Sin of L.u.s.t! He had never used this skill before, and even using it now on this War Princess wasn't something he would normally do, but he had to move things along as he set up the sequence of events to possibly control this being in the future.

The skill he used at this moment was the last listed ability under the Sin of L.u.s.t, it was [L.u.s.t Inducement]!

[L.u.s.t Inducement] - The user can increase the l.u.s.t other beings feel. This will make it easier for the user to manipulate said being.

Noah's eyes shone red as they glanced towards the War Princess that reflected a similar color briefly, her strict demeanor changing as she looked towards Noah and the behemoth meat ready to be cooked on the table. She seemed to think for a bit before she replied.

"I'll only stay for the food. No funny business, little junior brother."

At these words, Noah only smiled as he lit up a fire and began roasting the essence filled meat. If there was an analogy to describe what had just happened at this moment, it would be akin to a fish taking the bait, and now he was just reeling it in as on this day, he planned to initiate a scheme to bring this being with a Noble Fate under his heel.

His gaze was looking forward to a distant future when he could manipulate her as he wished to deal a decisive blow or even multiple of them in the coming war!

As his main body schemed in the Sanctum, Noah's clone was shattering the sound barrier atop Draco as they shot off in another direction that [Treasure Hunter] pointed him towards.

The mystical Celestial Realm continued to reflect on his eyes as he went forward, passing numerous Behemoths below him and finding very little flying Behemoths, these being more common near the regions where Elite Behemoths resided.

He even came across a particular Exploration Party from one of the Prime Worlds that looked to the skies in shock after hearing a booming sound, only finding embers of flames left behind.

A few hours passed in this manner, the gaze of the clone continuing to watch the golden arrow that led him to an unknown location in the Celestial Realm, where it finally began to vibrate when they neared an area filled with raging rivers, as well as an enormous waterfall that smashed down to hard blue rocks.

Draco slowed down and eventually came to a stop as the golden arrow from the Spiritual World pointed down towards the waterfall below them, the young dragon being sent away yet again as Noah began to shoot down towards this waterfall.

He couldn't feel the presence of any beasts, the only sound he heard being the roaring waves of crashing water. The rapidly vibrating arrow led him right in front of the waterfall and pointed forward, his gaze remaining firm as he floated towards it and pierced the rapid waters.

SHAAA!

A crystal blue covered his eyes as he passed through the water, his senses observing there was actually a hidden location behind this waterfall!

No beast of human was in sight as he passed through, coming into a blue glittering cavern that sn.a.k.e.d forward. The golden arrow from the Spiritual World continued to vibrate faster as he went further in, the hidden space opening up in front of his eyes until he came into a much wider clearing where a pool of extremely crystalline blue water peacefully laid. Near this mystical pool of water, an ancient pedestal that held a huge blue crystal could be seen.

Noah smiled as his eyes landed on the pedestal, but in front of his gaze, it was shockingly two descriptions that came up, one from the essence-abundant pool of water, and the other from the pedestal!

[Prismatic Aurora Spring Water]

<Inheritance of the Disciple of Water>

When the hours were passing as his clone neared a particular waterfall where treasures laid within, Noah's main body had plucked another treasure in the Sanctum.

In the dwelling that he was in, there was an expansive bed that would put even a memory foam mattresses to shame, his well-built body was covering the things below his waist as a senior sister that had lost her usual ponytail, her glimmering dark hair sprawled out in a rough manner as she rested her head on Noah's chest.

"You know, a junior brother should not be doing those types of things to his Senior Sister."

Athena spoke with a light tone as she had an expression of relaxation, her fingers tapping on the defined abdominal muscles as she counted with a cloudy expression.

"It was the least I could do. The only thing I've seen you do is battle and cultivate that I was starting to wonder if you had it in yo-"

Pah!

A light slap landed on his chest as Noah stopped his sentence, Athena looking towards him with a threatening expression as he smiled and stared at the ceiling. A second later, he spoke again, this time in a softer tone.

"I am curious about something though, in regards to the news of Grandmaster Luo. I did not expect you to react the way you did."

Athena raised her head slowly as her cloudy eyes looked at Noah's, replying with a sigh as her curvaceous body that was always hidden from the eyes of many stood up, a simple robe wrapping around her thereafter as she began fixing her hair back into a ponytail.

"It is what fate laid in store, so I don't particularly have any strong feelings."

Her tone was reminiscent and slightly cold as she spoke, Noah's eyes shining as he continued.

"He was the one to find you in your ruined world and take you to become a Celestial, I thought it would hit you hard."

"We know the risks we take in order to maintain balance in this galaxy of ours. Fate is written for some of us to fall, and some of us to continue towards a larger goal. We lost a great Grandmaster, and we will be sure to make those responsible pay for it, using it as an opportunity to bring about even more order!"

Athena replied strongly as even when faced with the death of the being that took her from her star to become a Celestial, she viewed it the same as how she viewed her disciples that died during the last Infernal Hunt.

What she didn't know was that those disciples and even the recent Grandmaster Luo had all perished from Noah's hands!

The biggest thing was not this though. In Noah's mind, the biggest boon he received from killing Grandmaster Luo was the memories he obtained, the memories that told him the true story behind the planet that this War Princess was on, as well as Grandmaster Luo who just 'happened' to be on this planet to discover a girl that had a Noble Fate.

He held a shocking secret about this event that he planned to use in the future as he continued to bring this senior sister under his heel, what he began here today being just the start as he planned to utilize the abilities of the Sin of L.u.s.t to manipulate the War Princess as much as possible, planning to use her as a weapon against the beings she currently stood with!

He spoke towards the robed Athena that already had her usual ponytail up, the simple robe covering everything he was just seeing.

"Alright. Why did you get dressed though, we have at least another few hours?"

"No, we have to prepare for the powerful beings we will be matched with soon. Not all of us are crazy geniuses that are obtaining Fate Lines faster than anyone thought possible."

Athena replied with a firm expression as she spoke once more with a light smile.

"Let's go spar again, maybe if you win this time...I'll entertain the thought of returning to this room again."

Noah's eyes squinted as he nodded, going with the flow as his relationship with this War Princess had moved forward to another stage, continuing his intrusion into the Celestials and their forces as he prepared for a few things!

One was the plan for the War Princess, the other was the battle with Special Existences and beings with Noble Fates that would decide whether he received amazing treasures that might even allow him to break into the World Rank at a rate he never expected.

To achieve such a rank, either he had to do the impossible thing of fighting a being at that rank and winning, obtaining their cores to make his breakthrough. The other way would be to traverse the Celestial Realm until he found a treasure similar to what the Celestials currently had as the prize for the coming battle between powerful geniuses.

His clone had actually come across a treasure that wasn't just an Inheritance in the Celestial Realm just now, Noah's mind paying attention to the description of the things that his clone was seeing in the hidden space behind the waterfall far to the south region from where his main body was.

Moving from the scene of the vibrant Senior Sister and Junior Brother that were leaving their living quarters to begin a different sort of spar, Noah's Ancient Blood Clone neared the shining pond and the Inheritance of the Disciple of Water as their descriptions appeared in front of him!

<Inheritance of the Disciple of Water> :: Left behind to those fate intended, this inheritance grants the unique cultivation ability {Disciple of Water}, as well as the Absolute Skill <<Herald of Water>> that are meant to create a master of the water element.

[Prismatic Aurora Spring Water] :: An enriched spring water that is soothing to the soul and good for the body. One cup grants +100% Health and Energy Regeneration and +100% increased Damage to all Water-related Abilities for 30 minutes. Even more benefits can be gained if the spring water is taken away and used for the plants in the Spiritual World, or especially so in the locked feature of [Alchemy Hall].

The description of the <Inheritance of the Disciple of Water and the other treasure that he got his hands on were clearly detailed, his eyes being drawn towards the ancient pedestal that held the inheritance, but also glancing towards the spring water with even more curiosity.

He spread his senses to cover the entire spring that was half a mile wide, finding a glistening blue pearl at the very center. His attention was grabbed as he dived into the pool of spring water, sensing its abundant essence that already began rushing towards him on all sides. He couldn't help but take a few gulps as he felt the rushing of essence coursing through him, this spring water being something that could make anyone feel like they were in their prime!

He quickly reached the bottom where the pearl was located, wrapping it in his hands as its description became clear to him.

[Prismatic Aurora Pearl] :: A pearl capable of releasing Prismatic Aurora Spring Water in a region of half a mile. A unique treasure that is hard to find.

The treasure capable of releasing the wondering spring water was obtained as he transferred it to the Spiritual World, giving a command to the Spiritual World System to place it in the continent that held both the Water and Fire Law Space, the pearl to be placed on the region filled to the brim with the essence of the law of water!

He then waved his hands towards all the surrounding spring water as all of it went to his Expansive Space, his gaze moving towards the ancient pedestal holding the Inheritance of the Disciple of Water. This would be the treasure that would allow him to rapidly cultivate two normal laws at a speed nobody thought to be possible before!

Chapter 443 - Disciple of Water

Noah glanced at the ancient pedestal holding the resplendent crystal, expecting for the skills and descriptions of the Inheritance of the Disciple of Water to be very similar to the counterpart of Fire. His thoughts were affirmed as he placed his hands on the huge crystal and the enormous flow of information began rushing towards him.

The first thing was the technique that would help him cultivate the law of water itself, it was the unique skill, {Disciple of Water}!

{Disciple of Water} :: A technique geared towards cultivating the Law of Water. Grants the user the ability to form a unique Water Origin Core.

It was very similar to the Disciple of Fire, Noah not needing to comment anything on it as he moved on to the Absolute Skill contained in the Inheritance.

<<Herald of Water>> A technique coming from the inheritance of the Disciple of Water that strives for the aspect of extreme in the Law of Water. Abilities include Ice Age, Incarnation of Water, Elemental Soul Reinforcement, and Summon Tsunami.

[Ice Age] :: The Herald of Water had the right to call forth an entire field of unstable and frigid water elements onto a wide ranging area. Enemies within will have extreme cold seeps into their bones as the Slow and Frozen Effects are applied while the user gets increased speed and power within the world of ice. Current Enhancement- +0%

[Incarnation of Water] :: You continuously release particles of water from your body, creating large bodies of water rapidly as it can be manipulated to form varying shapes depending on the comprehension of the user. The Stage of the Water Origin Core will determine the enhanced damage. Current Enhancement- +0%

[Elemental Soul Reinforcement] :: A unique shield of water rich in the elemental law of water wraps around the soul of the user, granting increased protection from any sources of Soul Damage. The Stage of the Water Origin Core will determine the enhanced reinforcement. Current Reinforcement- +0%

[Summon Tsunami] :: A disaster materializes in front of the Herald of Water as a tsunami made up of water particles whose only purpose is to drown their enemies descends forth. Current Damage Enhancement- +0%

The abilities of the Disciple of Water were laid out clearly in front of Noah, a few of them being similar to the abilities from the Disciple of Fire, with some distinct ones. One thing that could be noticed now was the fact that for their enhancements, they were all at 0% as currently, he had not even formed a Water Origin Core yet.

Once he formed one at the First Stage, the enhancement would go to 100%, with the second Stage granting him 200% and on and on.

Noah watched the new skills and abilities settle in his already expansive Stat Panel as he used [Anchor] to place the Spiritual World near the Ancient Pedestal, entering within as he appeared in the skies.

He watched the mystically floating continents on all four sides and the central one that he could see large scale changes on, the Spiritual World System already beginning to renovate and use the [Architecture] feature to fully build a magnificent city of Noah's wildest dreams.

He thought he was creative, but his thought did not stand a chance when compared to the System that lied at the center of the Spiritual World!

The Central Continent of the Spiritual World had futuristic buildings that were reminiscent of the dreams of the people in Noah's home world on what a future would look like, with huge skyscrapers and exquisitely styled buildings that would take one's breath away.

Not all the areas of the Central Continent were changed like this, a majority of it still left in a natural state as huge trees rose up, the Spiritual World Beasts still living in the habitats they enjoyed.

Of course, the higher leveled Spiritual World Beasts like the Emperor Penguin preferred the quality of comfort that could be found in the exquisitely built buildings, especially the places with hot springs and beds that made one feel they were sinking down endlessly.

Noah put the spectacular advances of the Spiritual World out of his mind as his figure teleported to the Northern Continent of this wondrous treasure where both the Law Spaces of Water and Fire resided, his figure entering the Water Law Space first as he wanted to form the Water Origin Core similarly to how he first formed the Fire Origin Core without trying anything out just yet.

While he did this, he sent telepathic commands to the Harbingers and his other subordinates to tell them that yet another Inheritance waited for them!

Those that were moving within the Spiritual World simply needed to go out to the luminescent hidden space where Noah anchored the Spiritual World right next to the Ancient Pedestal holding the Inheritance of the Disciple of Water, while those who were not on the Spiritual World would simply have to use the portals in whatever world they were in to return and partake in yet another unbelievable opportunity.

Many of them were already growing numb at all the treasures and opportunities they were receiving, and in such short periods of time at that as they had not even fully devoured the gains of the previous treasures.

For many of his subordinates, they were still just finishing forming their Fire Origin Core at the First Stage, where even the second Stage might take them months or years to achieve. Yet now another Inheritance that would allow them to create another Origin Core landed on their laps!

Many beings in the light expanse would only dream of being subordinates that received such a treatment, but it was not even a possibility for them!

Noah would allow his people to learn the inheritance in the next few hours while he himself began forming the Water Origin Core by using the {Disciple of Water}, where he would try the Dual Cultivation method thereafter to see exactly what stage he could reach with the laws of water and fire.

After this task finished, he would check on exactly how he wanted to use the other treasure he obtained today, the [Unique Material- Aquamarine Mesrandite] that he could use to either refine the Trident of the Sea or possibly create a brand new Supreme Treasure.

As always, he felt like there were so many things he had to do, and just too little time!

Chapter 444 - Water Origin Core!

The Water Law Space located on the Northern Continent of the Spiritual World was an area filled with blue, the plants fitting to become aquamarine vegetation and the land itself holding vast expanses of lakes and rivers, with numerous waterfalls created from the different elevations of multiple areas as the water flowed in a circular fashion throughout the continent.

Elemental particles of water danced freely in the surroundings as Noah went towards the very center of this Water Law Space where the Spiritual World System had already placed down the [Prismatic Aurora Pearl] that released spring water filled with water element essence.

The pearl had been placed on an area of depression that would contain the spring water it would release, Noah already seeing more than half of the half a mile area already filled with the sparkling Prismatic Aurora Spring Water as he dipped his body into it.

He would cultivate at the very center of this Law Space, inside the valuable Spring Water from the treasure he recently obtained!

He prepared himself as he settled deep within the area, feeling the overpowering essence of water all around him as he smiled...and then activated {Disciple of Water}.

RUMBLE!

It was like a match had been lit as the instant the skill was initiated, all of the surrounding essence filled with the law of water rushed towards Noah's clone, making him feel a tinge of pain as it rushed too fast towards the Origin of his main body!

The energy flowed in freely as he soon felt the appearance of a small clear blue dot to the right side of his main Origin Core, the Fire Origin Core that lied to the right of his main core still sitting stably.

Essence filled with the law of water rushed in, and so did his own mana as it all converged towards the ever so enlarging blue dot. Noah knew that the formation and rise of the Water Origin Core would be much faster as he already had 11% in the Law of Water, but he didn't expect it to be so vigorous.

SHAA!

In the Prismatic Aurora Spring, there was a swirl of essence forming as it rushed towards Noah's clone like a black hole, passing through him and going towards his main body through the unique channel they shared, the clone simply acting akin to a limb as his main body kept [Unique Origin] ability active with even more care these days to make sure that none of the changes that were brought upon by his clone cultivating the laws would ever outwardly show.

OOOM!

In a matter of moments, the first stage of the Water Origin Core formed as a shimmering blue circular core formed near his origin, beginning to rotate even faster as his mana continued rushing in.

After achieving stage one, just half an hour later, it doubled in size as it reached Stage 2!

Similar to the Fire Origin Core, whatever energy the Water Origin Core drank, it used it to get bigger while also releasing a unique energy that went on to wrap around every single cell in Noah's body, the energy once again permeating through the clone before it rushed towards Noah's main body in the Celestial Realm.

He could feel the dual strengthening of both the unique energy that the Fire Origin Core released, as well as the new one from the blue shimmering Water Origin Core.

The fiery one made his body feel more explosive, like his speed and power just continued to break through all bounds!

The calm blue energy permeating within him now slightly calmed the fiery energy, even slightly bolstering it, as Noah felt an overabundance of defense and resiliency with every passing second that his two bodies were washed by this energy. The process continued for quite a while, Noah enjoying the effects of it fully!

The essence of water continued to pour into the core for thereafter, only settling down a few hours later as Noah observed it to be slowing down its rate of energy absorption similar to what the Fire Origin Core had done, but it was still faster as he was located in an area extremely dense with the law of water, the Prismatic Aurora Spring only enhancing the environment more.

His eyes wandered to the shining blue box only he could see as he observed the stat panel for the new addition.

[Noah Osmont][Title(s): Infernal Lord(Variant)]

[Bloodline(s): Vampyre Progenitor(Awakening)]

[Fate Line(s) : 174,274]

[Chaos Particle(s) : 146,164]

[Origin Core(s) : Fire-2, Water-2]

[Domain(s) : Water, Space, Fate, Fire, Chaos]

[Vitality: DOMAIN]

[Strength: DOMAIN]

[Law(s) : Water-19%, Space-8%, Fate-1.7%, Fire-18%, Chaos-1.4%]

The number of Fate Lines and Chaos Particles continued their rapid growth as he broke through any established norms to amass even more of them. His eyes focused on the Water Origin Core that had reached the same stage 2 as the fire counterpart, its percentage even catching up as he did not completely see through the Stages and how they correlated with the percentages. Stage 2 didn't simply translate to progressing 20%, and it seemed he had to break past this stage to see exactly how the percentages would move thereafter.

To do this, he shifted his body as he teleported from the Prismatic Aurora Spring Water and went towards the area where both the Fire and Water Law Space met.

His gaze landed on these areas that portrayed two different worlds with just a movement of his eyes, where to his left was a blazing earth filled with fiery outbursts, and to his right was a calm blue shimmering earth filled with water.

It was an interesting contrast to observe as he went forward and positioned himself right in between where these two areas met, his body standing right in the middle as half of it was in the Fire Law Space, and another half was in the Water Law Space.

He sensed the two opposite elements as he closed his eyes, the slowly rotating Origin Cores of Fire and Water slowly continuing to circulate by taking in his mana and releasing vibrant essence that went on to strengthen him. His eyes never left these two origin cores as he activated both of the unique skills, {Disciple of Water} and {Disciple of Fire} simultaneously!

Chapter 445 - Fire and Water

Behind a rushing waterfall in a particular location of the Celestial Realm, there was a hidden space where an Ancient Pedestal stood, gloriously holding up a vibrant blue crystal that held the Inheritance of the Disciple of Water.

Near this pedestal, there was a barely discernible floating Spiritual World where few creatures came out of every so often, learning the inheritance before they went back into the paradisiacal world. Most of them rushed to the floating continent on the North of the Spiritual World, this continent being divided in half by a thin line that had fiery environments on one side and a watery environment on the other.

The beings rushed to the side where the particles of the Law of Water were abundant before beginning their cultivation, the continental floating landmass being so wide that they didn't even near a particular position where an explosion of blue and red lights was beginning.

At the very junction between the Fire and Water Law Space, a singular clone was sitting meditatively as his senses focused on his body, feeling the minuscule changes as he watched the two Origin Cores for fire and water slowly begin to rotate the moment both of their unique skills were activated.

From one side of his body, the elemental particles of fire rushed in and went towards the Fire Origin Core, and the opposite side of his body had the elemental particles of water rushing into the Water Origin Core.

BZZZZ!

Friction seemed to occur for a millisecond as the opposing energies seemed to bathe Noah half and half, their point of contact causing a rapid repulsion as they began to vibrate in extremely close proximity to each other. Yet at the same time, there continued to be a sense of attraction as the two cores pulled this energy towards them, Noah feeling as if his body was becoming a battle ground.

Every time that the particles of the two opposing elements came in contact as they went towards his Origin, they became agitated and pushed against each other, making them aggressive as this reaction caused them to rush towards his Origin faster!

The moment that they entered, they rushed to their respective Cores, whether Fire or Water, before even more of the elemental particles continued to rush in as the reaction became faster and faster.

The colliding particles of water and fire continued to agitate each other and senselessly rush down Noah's body, creating for a rapid progress in the rotation of the Fire and Water Origin Cores as they absorbed the essence rapidly while releasing its unique energy that coursed through his clone and then through his main body!

At this time, a smile of accomplishment would have passed over Noah as he performed the successful Dual Cultivation of the Laws of Water and Fire, but his current expression was one of grim pain as unlike Fate and Chaos, the reaction of the oncoming particles of Fire and Water used his body as the battlefield to become agitated before they rushed towards their respective cores speedily.

The reaction that occurred with his body at the center made for a very painful experience as he could feel the impact of the opposing elements damage him, observing his body being put under strain as even some muscles were torn!

It was at this instant though, that the unique energy being released from the Fire and Water Origin Core permeated through his body, washing over the torn muscles and aching areas as the millions of cells around these locations hungrily drunk the energy and were reformed right away, the strength they had increasing ever so slightly.

Noah observed this reaction as he grimaced in pain, but a smile came on his face nonetheless as he felt the minute strength gained from the unique energy released from the two cores repairing his torn muscles made them stronger than when it was absorbed by his cells normally while only cultivating a single law.

Thus, for the effects of the Dual Cultivation of both Fire and Water, Noah could conclude that it was bound to be an extremely painful experience, but it allowed him to bypass the rate at which energy entered into the Origin Cores at a turtles pace, the flow being constant and even increasing every so often as the energy the cores released went on to heal and even further strengthen his body that was acting like a battle field for the opposing laws!

RUMBLE!

The essence of water and fire from the two different sides of the Law Spaces cl.u.s.tered around Noah as they began forming a resplendent cloud of light, a unique cultivation session that had never before been done continuing in the Spiritual World.

In the wide Sanctum that Celestials controlled, there was a bustle of activities recently as among the ranks of the Celestials, word had been getting passed around that soon, the future powerhouses of their generation would be getting assessed on who among them had the greatest potential in the form of combat!

These words became a reality a few days later as it was announced to all that in the next few days, a spectacular tournament would be held at a specified location in the Celestial Realm. This tournament would involve beings that many rarely saw in their lifetimes as they were always moving with extreme efficiency deep in the Celestial Realm to increase their power.

It would be a tournament where beings holding Noble Fates and Special Existences took to stage, each of them fighting a battle of supremacy to see who exactly would come out on top!

This tournament was open for all to watch, being made into a huge festive event where the Celestials planned to reveal the beginning of a long paused conflict with the Dark Expanse. The Celestials wanted to use this tournament to announce the initiation of a grand campaign!

It would be located around a particularly clear field of land to the east of the Sanctum where the slightly docile Earth Behemoths resided, this wide expanse of land being perfect for the huge and spectacular battles about to take place.

Among the Special Existences and Celestials with Noble Fates, the upcoming geniuses known as Athena and Crixus would be making their grand entrance into the eyes of many who had only so far heard of them, or knew nothing about them...

Chapter 446 - Even if its you!

Noah's main body was sparring with Athena in one of the huge training halls while his clone continued the Dual Cultivation of the Laws of Fire and Water, the unique energy passing through his two bodies continuing to strengthen him.

BOOM!

The golden floating hammers around him stopped the strikes of the War Princess that was clad in an empyrean armor, her own hammers that she held in her hands striking the ones floating around Noah away as she tried to land attacks on him. But every time she neared, they stood in her way, and this situation was made even worse as five enormous blades of liberation were on standby to strike towards her anytime she left a gap in her defenses.

Noah himself was floating in the skies as he glanced at this sight, a smug smile on his face as Athena's sharp eyes found him.

"Are you deliberately trying to annoy me, Junior Brother?"

The frustrated Athena called out as her body began to shine gold with numerous fate lines erupting out, the essence of fate beginning to shine brilliantly around her as she sprung forth like a cannon towards Noah.

BOOM!

With every swipe of her hammers, powerful fate essence erupted out, this ability being something that only those passing the 100,000 Fate Lines milestone could use. The strikes filled with fate essence smashed back the three floating hammers around Noah as Athena closed in, her gaze filled with bloodlust as she spoke.

"Very soon, you will be facing Special Existences that have been in the Domain Expansion Realm far longer than you have!"

BOOM!

Her flurry of attacks swiped away all the three hammers, being thrown away a great distance as Athena's curvaceous body weaved through the glistening edges of the blades of liberation and neared Noah, her two hammers landing on the huge tower shield that he raised up.

DONG!

Golden light erupted out as Noah was pushed back, yet fully protected as not a single bit of damage got through to him. He raised his tower shield as he glanced at the huffing War Princes and spoke with a smile.

"If I can handle your attacks this easily Senior Sister, I think I'll be just fine."

"Oh? Let's really put that to the test!"

A provocative light bloomed in Athena's eyes as he pointed her hammers forward and called out-[Judgment]!

OOONG!

DONG!

His body shimmered with a brilliant luster as he moved his body to dodge the onslaught of a powerful skill, his shield blocking many of them as they sent shockwaves through his body, his flail directed towards any others as he rapidly knocked them away and dodged.

In the middle of all this, Athena appeared in the skies as she pointed down, a huge Blade of Liberation descending under her command as it went on to 'overwhelm' the surrounded Noah and smash him towards the ground!

BOOM!

His body acted like a shell as it made a dent into the floor, the Senior Sister finally reigning some light in her eyes as she looked down with concern, only to find her junior brother protected like a turtle behind his golden tower shield, his head peeking out with a smile.

"Hmph, and that was me going easy on you. The Special Existences we are up against are on an entire league entirely, with some of them even being proficient in multiple Supreme Laws."

She went down towards her junior brother as she helped him up, pushing his roughed up hair away to the side as she looked directly at his eyes in a teaching manner.

"You may be able to block my attacks, but your enemies will have been in the Domain Expansion Realm Longer than you and have more experience, with the most obvious choice for them being to just attack you until you run out of energy, all of these defensive skills you have around you being rendered useless."

Noah's eyes locked against this War Princess as he nodded with a smile, his face moving forward to quickly sneak in a kiss as a surprised Senior Sister sprang backwards with an admonishing expression on her face.

"Stay focused!"

Athena said this as she looked around the training room and spread out her senses to see if there was anyone watching, her slightly angered gaze landing back on Noah who was wiping the dust off his body while speaking with a calm expression like nothing ever happened.

"What if I meet you in one of the matches, my dear Senior Sister?"

The question caused a serious expression to appear on Athena's face, her gaze locking with Noah as she replied with conviction.

"I would go all out. The treasures given to the winner of these upcoming battles are enough to create a powerhouse- meaning whoever takes the title will most likely be the first one to enter the World Realm!"

Yes! The treasures that the Celestials had collected were many over the years, especially the really unique ones that were so potent in their unique essence that they allowed beings to quickly break through a rank!

Just the [Luminescent Rainbow Dew] mentioned by the Grandmaster was enough to send any knowledgeable Celestials crazy.

"I still seek to understand exactly what my fate is in this chaotic universe, I will stop at nothing to achieve that goal. That does not change, even if it is you that is standing against me, Junior Brother."

The gaze of the War Princess was filled with conviction as she finished, Noah looking at this with a hidden smile as he nodded, an imperceptible red light crossing through his eyes that reflected on Athena's eyes as well!

"Very well. Let's continue the spar, Senior Sister. I won't be going easy on you this time."

"Hmph, come!"

RUMBLE!

Chapter 447 - Domineering!

In the Spiritual World, a few hours had passed as Noah's Ancient Blood Clone sat in the center point of an elemental storm with bubbling fire and water elements continuing to rush towards him.

He finally felt a sense of stabilization from the two opposing energies as they ravaged his body and healed it soon after, his heart knowing he could now handle it with ease and continue to bear the pain for as long as he wanted.

But at this critical juncture, his face hardened as he prepared to do something wild- something that nobody would even come close to thinking or comprehending when it came to cultivation.

His eyes shone with a golden luster as while he already had activated the two cultivation techniques for the Law of Water and the Law of Fire, he domineeringly opened his mouth and activated another two cultivation techniques, and this time they were for two Supreme Laws!

{Disciple of Chaos}! {Fate's Disciple}!

RUMBLE!

Yes! In his thoughts as he began cultivating the Law of Water and Fire he had asked himself- As he began that cultivation session, what stopped him from simply activated the techniques for the Law of Fate and Chaos at the same time?

For others, it wouldn't even cross their minds to cultivate the opposing techniques of two different laws, much less four of them at the same time.

But for him, he actually found himself questioning what exactly stopped him from doing it?

The answer was- Nothing!

He had the mana! He had the skills! He had everything! All that was left was for him to actually do it, and so he did.

RUMBLE!

The storm of essence around him raged even more as the golden color appeared in the skies, the formation of small Chaos Particles beginning to form soon after as the golden Fate Lines lashed towards them quickly for the sake of purification. The Fate Lines then descended towards the clone and established themselves tightly, no issues occurring as Noah did something outrageous!

Since his mana permitted it, he was actually cultivating not just two, but four Laws at the same time! The appearance of the golden aura of fate and occasional Chaos Particles calmed the raging water and fire elemental particles as the pain they gave towards Noah lessened, the calmness causing a smoother absorption as an insane cultivation session went underway.

A few hours passed.

A day passed. Two days! Three Days!

A few days passed, and Noah continued to keep the four unique skills active at the same time as he made insane progress in the Laws of Fire, Water, Fate, and Chaos. He alternated between the two Supreme Laws that required one to increase while the other stalled, having a similar rate of progression for both of them.

It had been such a long and grueling process, but as the elemental storm and overpowering auras of fate and chaos raged on, he had finally seen the percentage of the Laws of Water and Fire shoot past 31%, the Stage for them also entering 3! At the same time, he was able to amass more than 80,000 Fate Lines and the same number of Chaos Particles, shooting the progress of the two Supreme Laws even higher.

RUMBLE!

An influx of essence rushed in as Noah breathed out slowly, watching calmness gradually settle in as he began stopping the supply of mana to activate the {Fate's Disciple}, {Disciple of Chaos}, {Disciple of Fire} and the {Disciple of Water} unique skills. The last influx of essence caused the Fire and Water Origin Cores to shine bright red and blue respectively before they settled down, a sense of immense power emanating from them. The Fate Lines flowing within his body thrummed with strength as the Chaos Field that contained numerous Chaos Particles rolled around him with strength

He glanced at the updated stat panel as he marveled at the rapid speed he continued to show.

[Noah Osmont][Title(s): Infernal Lord(Variant)]

[Bloodline(s): Vampyre Progenitor(Awakening)]

[Fate Line(s) : 256,243]

[Chaos Particle(s) : 224,276]

[Origin Core(s) : Fire-3, Water-3]

[Domain(s) : Fate, Chaos, Water, Fire, Space]

[Vitality: DOMAIN]

[Strength: DOMAIN]

[Law(s) : Fate-2.5%, Chaos-2.2%, Water-31, Fire-31%, Space-8%]

Noah's clone and main body also felt a vibrant energy continuously course around to every part of muscle and bone, the unique energy that was released from the Fire Origin Cores going on to wash over every single cell in his body as he felt like his muscles were packed with an astounding explosive force and his bones were hardened to insane degrees!

For the Law of Water and Fire, they seemed to heavily influence his body's strength and defense as they enhanced it to levels he never thought possible, with the other boost they provided being the percentage attached to the Absolute Abilities contained in the <<Herald of Fire>> and <<Herald of Water>>.

They were determined by the Stage that the Fire and Water Origin Cores were at, and the current boost had moved to 300% for all of the abilities.

The thrumming Fate Lines and vigorous Chaos Particles swimming in his Chaos Field made him feel even more powerful, his heart feeling a sense of profound accomplishment for such a fast rate of progress!

Noah calmed his aching body that felt in top shape, the pain he continued to feel while dual cultivating the two laws completely forgotten as he got up to test his strength.

BOOM!

The instant he tapped his feet on the ground that was the junction of the Water and Fire Law Space, his figure shot to the skies as he broke the sound barrier, reaching supersonic flight instantly as his speed was enhanced to insane degrees from his body being constantly strengthened with the unique energy his two Stage 3 cores provided!

He came to a halt in midair as he smiled, feeling the explosive force in his fists as he calmed his energy down and disappeared from the skies of the Northern Continent of the Spiritual World.

Chapter 448 - Supreme Treasure

Noah's Ancient Blood Clone teleported deep in the Central Continent of the Spiritual World where the Blacksmith's Forge lay. He had spent a significant amount of time cultivating the four laws that he currently had the cultivation techniques of, and planned to get to the task on how to best use the [Unique Material- Aquamarine Mesrandite] that he obtained from the southern region of the Celestial Realm.

It was a treasure that could either be used to forge a new supreme treasure, or be used to [Refine] an already existing one.

His current mindset was leading him towards creating another one, as he had very few to begin with, and using the material to refine his only existing one would only give a boost, himself having no knowledge of exactly how big this boost would be.

He was thinking of using the Unique Material to create a Supreme Treasure in the form of an armor since he already had one in the form of a weapon. One weapon, one armor, two Supreme Treasures!

His gaze was clear as he went towards the [Hearth] of the Blacksmith's Forge and communicated with the Spiritual World System.

"Is the process of forging a Supreme Treasure any different from the Item Sets we've been creating?"

[Yes. It will take a significant amount of time to create one depending on the unique material and expected treasure.]

Noah gave a light nod as he waved his hands and pushed the [Unique Material- Aquamarine Mesrandite] towards the hearth, a blue light shining as the large crystal material that was double Noah's own size was scanned thoroughly.

[This unique material is fully capable of creating a complete Supreme Treasure, with a possibility of a few scraps being left to perform a refinement in the future. Do you have any specific requests for the design of the treasure? The [Recipe Design] feature can be used in this instance.]

The Spiritual World System that understood everything happening on it asked in a monotone fashion, Noah smiling as he knew this entity which was connected to many planets through his own connection with it as its master had access to enormous vaults of information.

He had access to this information as well, but his mind was nowhere near as close to what the Planetary Systems could contain and process, thus he left a majority of the minute small details on all the planets he came across and their abundance of information to the Planetary Systems. When it came to items, he had some ideas on what he could design himself based on his imagination and his own experiences, but he knew that the Spiritual World Planetary System could come up with something multiple times better than him just because of its special identity!

"Use the information of all the suits of armor we've come across recently from the different worlds and organizations. Design something that is a combination of all of their strengths to create a Supreme Armor."

Thus, he left the design of the powerful treasure to the entity with enormous reserves of information to make something at the peak of quality and usability.

[Understood, Master. Any specific name for this Recipe Design?]

Noah thought closely at this question before he replied, a smile spreading across his devilishly handsome face as he glanced at the water elements dancing around the [Unique Material- Aquamarine Mesrandite].

"Staying with the theme of water, let's call this Supreme Treasure...-[Hydromancer's Mantle]."

[Understood, Master. It should take approximately 72 hours.]

RUMBLE!

Essence began to converge around the Blacksmith's Forge as the huge [Unique Material- Aquamarine Mesrandite] was taken further into the Hearth, a blue flame beginning to wrap around it as it shimmered strongly under the heat.

While the material was being broken down, the Spiritual World System was compiling large reserves of information on all the armors that the numerous worlds Noah was connected to held, a database of information that even the strongest information groups would envy freely flowing into it from the connection it shared with Noah.

At this moment, a resplendent armor that very few would know the name of but closely remember its unique design was being created. The [Hydromancer's Mantle] would have its design started today, with its creation being completed some days later!

With this process underway, Noah's clone continued forward as there were simply too many things that fell on its hands. He was currently at the Domain Realm, but his skill trees were at the Soul Forging Realm. On top of increasing the percentage of laws, he had to increase the proficiency of his skills while preparing for a busy future.

His main body had been using the abilities of {Herald of Fate} and {Agent of Chaos} to foresee many things with more clarity these past few days, grasping a few abstruse pieces of information that dealt with the Infernal Lords. His title as the 9th Infernal Lord would not all be for naught, and he foresaw that he would be called upon sometime soon in the future for him to begin carrying out his duties!

The clone continued forward as the main body was moving side by side with Athena and the members of the Righteous Fire Exploration Team. Boru was still as boisterous as ever- he talked towards the two beings holding titles of Noble Fates with more respect as they were now an entire realm above him.

"You two have gathered the information on your possible opponents and rewards?"

The gaze of Boru was shining as he mentioned the rewards, just the rumors released on exactly what was at stake in the upcoming tournament making the hearts of powerful Celestials quiver!

Noah smiled as he replied to Boru with shining eyes.

"One of the biggest rewards in the Luminescent Rainbow Dew, something that was found in limited quantities by the Founders more than a thousand years ago, a treasure that guarantees a being an advancement to the World Realm!"

Yes! Just one of the rewards up for grabs for battling Special Existences and beings with Noble Fates was something that would create an expert capable of affecting the direction of the future war. Experts at the World Realm were rare, where even the lowest leveled Infernal Lords stood at the peak of this level! Treasures that allowed for one to enter such a realm...were nearly nonexistent in the hands of others. In this coming tournament, just what other treasures lay in store? Just who would stand against them vying for these same treasures?!

Chapter 449 - No Chance of Winning!

The Sanctum was bustling with activities as word spread of the magnificent battles to take place soon.

Those in the ranks of Celestials were looking forward to seeing the geniuses at the forefront of their organization while those from the numerous Prime Worlds in the Light Expanse looked forward to the show of power from the overlords that stood over their Light Expanse.

Among these many forces, there were also the hidden figures from the Dark Expanse that wanted to use this opportunity to learn more about their enemies!

It was an opportunity to assess the supposed geniuses that would be taking charge in the upcoming battle, this tournament actually being something that could reward them the most in this venture in the Celestial Realm as it provided a rare commodity about the Celestials- Information!

Many beings moved with their own motivations, but it was ultimately to watch the stupendous battles that would soon be occurring.

Amidst the bustle of activities, Noah was moving with the Righteous Fire Exploration Team where the boisterous Boru continued to talk about the beings they would be facing.

"The toughest Celestial Grandmasters you will have to watch out for are Grandmaster Light and the Three-Eyed Fate Child, the Special Existences that run their own Elite Teams and have been moving in the regions where Fate Behemoths are abundant."

His eyes were serious as he said this, their steps taking them towards the specified location in the Celestial Realm when one could find the less aggressive Earth Behemoths roving around. The path they followed made them seem like ants as they stood within droves of beings that went towards the same direction, Celestials and normal beings from the Prime World alike.

"I say this because unlike the other beings similar to you and hold the title of those with Noble Fates, these Special Existences are beings that are cultivating not just the Supreme Law of Fate, but also another Supreme Law!"

The gaze of Boru shone with splendor as his burly body thrummed with power, just mentioning these powerful Celestials making one feel the adoration and wariness he had at their power.

"So while you are proficient in the Law of Fate as they are, they also have another Supreme Law aiding their power. Grandmaster Light is someone that cultivates the Supreme Law of Light, a being that very few can even damage, while the Three-Eyed Fate Child is very proficient in the Supreme Law of Time-Space, a very abstruse law that combines the Law of Time and the Law of Space. Those that spar with him do not even understand why they are defeated, they just find out that they are. So-"

"Junior Brother Boru, why are you only bragging about Senior Sister Light and Senior Brother Three-Eyed? Are the rest of us not worthy?"

From the front, a strong and confident voice spoke towards their group as a man surrounded by a group of golden robed Celestials caused the crowds of beings to spread out, his gaze locking on the figures of Noah and Athena while he sent a question towards Boru.

The burly Boru smiled wryly as he called out to the being that had interrupted his speech.

"Senior Brother Xander, I haven't seen you in over a year. You're as confident as ever."

The Celestial Grandmaster called Xander looked forward with squinting eyes and a wide smile as he came in front of their group, his eyes filled with shining lights locking with Athena and Noah.

"So, am I not an opponent our new Junior Brother and Sister holding the titles for Noble Fates should be looking out for? I do hold the same title if I recall."

Grandmaster Xander did not relent, continuing his question as Noah glanced at this being he had already collected information about.

Grandmaster Xander- Dark-haired, gold eyes, age 233, roughly 264,927 Fate Lines, and a being holding the title of one with a Noble Fate!

"My oh my, are you bullying the younger disciples again?"

Another voice came out from the distance as another figure appeared, the situation turning into one where multiple people just invited themselves into the conversation as the two beings at the center of it were Noah and Athena!

Xander turned towards the new figure as he glanced at her with a smile, his eyes shining with carefulness.

"Senior Sister Lila, I hope you've trained enough for these upcoming battles, or it won't be just the younger disciples I would be bullying."

A provocative sentence was released from Xander towards the newly appearing being that was also someone that held the title of a being with a Noble Fate!

This time it was the Celestial known as Lila- Blue hair, dark eyes, age 229 and around 250,000 Fate Lines, a woman with deadly proficiency in close combat.

"I like that you're still so confident, Xander! Now let's take a look at the Junior Brother and Sister who will be fighting for the treasures with us this time around. Crixus and Athena, is it?"

Yet another combatant in the upcoming tournament came to introduce themselves to them as the woman whose body vibrated with power came close, her gaze when looking towards Noah and Athena being one of an a.d.u.l.t looking at upcoming young ones!

Athena nodded as she replied.

"Nice to meet Senior Brother Xander and Senior Sister Lila. We look forward to learning many things in these upcoming matches."

Her words were those without disrespect, but also expressing that they would be giving it their all in the coming battles. Lila smiled sweetly as she patted Athena on the head, the collection of 4 beings holding Noble Fates coming together all at once occurring in the Sanctum of the Celestial Realm!

"So cute. Use this opportunity to increase your battle prowess and learn from your seniors. You'll have many more opportunities in the future."

Grandmaster Lila said this as she patted Athena's head, seeming like a caring Senior Sister taking care of her junior.

Her demeanor and the demeanor of Xander made one thing abundantly clear- in the upcoming battles, Noah and Athena were not even considered serious combatants, their few years cultivating and recent breakthroughs in realms not even landing in the eyes of these powerful experts that had been moving for more than 200 years!

As far as what was known, Athena had just broken past the 100,000 Barrier of fate lines recently, with the other junior brother Crixus still not even passing that yet.

These other beings with Noble Fates, barring the even more powerful Special Existences they had not met- none of them believed that Athena and Noah even had a shot of winning the bountiful rewards!

Chapter 450 - [Luminescent Rainbow Dew]

A hidden smile appeared on Noah's face as he followed the collection of Celestials to the East of the Sanctum where the docile Earth Behemoths were abundant. The Senior Brother Xander and Senior Sister Lila that were also beings holding the titles of those with Noble Fates were having their own conversation in front of them, the party that Noah was with following closely behind.

"What do you think our odds are against Grandmaster Light and Senior Brother Three-Eyed?"

Lila asked the confident Xander with a smile as they made their way towards the predetermined location, an impassive look appearing on Xander's face as he replied.

"They both are proficient in two Supreme Laws, but I don't see us going down so easily! They have to spread their focus to two laws while we focus on one, this is where our edge lies..."

The Righteous Fire Exploration Team continued following behind them as they listened to their conversation, awkward looks appearing on the faces of Boru and the others as they saw the moment the Senior Brother Xander and Senior Sister Lila introduced themselves to Crixus and Athena, they completed disregarded them as actual combatants in the upcoming fights.

Noah glanced towards Athena, the War Princess having eyes shining with lights that longed for battle as he chuckled. Athena saw his gaze as her eyes turned sharp and she sent him a telepathic message.

"Don't falter and try your best in the battles ahead. And I better not see you trying anything funny around everyone."

Her eyes held a dangerous glint as they focused on Noah, his head bobbing up and down as he nodded and replied teasingly.

"Nothing around everyone, but when we're alone?"

"Hmph."

The War Princess turned her head away as the procession of Celestials continued forward, their party coming in contact with two other powerful beings holding Noble Fates as they made their way towards a specified location for the upcoming Tournament!

Among the many beings rushing force, a particularly arrogant Emperor Penguin was moving with the curvaceous Elena, Barbatos, and other Harbingers that were moving in the Celestial Realm.

Barbatos had a bored expression as they went forward, the curvaceous Elena giving glances to this woman that was around her Progenitor more than many others as they all made their way forward. There were many beings moving, each with their own goals and emotions, but the central figures always remained the same.

Hidden within the masses of beings were also the forces from the Dark Expanse, where Malthus, the Spatial Magician, was leading a group of beings for the mission of collecting more information on the powerful beings within the ranks of Celestials.

Each with their own ideals and goals, but they all went towards a single location!

Far away from the Sanctum, the place where everyone was congregating at was a wide expanse of land that had very few of the huge ancient trees that towered grandly. It was a field of a few miles of clearing that was surrounded by trees in a circular fashion, giving an extremely clear look at everything that would be happening within it.

It was a field of resplendent greenery that was surrounded by even more mystically glowing trees, always making one feel the wonder and magic of the Celestial Realm.

Around the perimeters of the huge circle, numerous figures were already present and spread out. Some were standing on the ground, others had climbed the large trees as they perched on them like thousands of ants, each of the huge ancient trees holding thousands of beings on their branches and leaves as they all prepared to watch the spectacle.

Near the clear green field that would act as the arena, one could see multiple Prime Warsh.i.p.s stationed above in the skies. Many Celestials present here as they also watched on with great interest.

The cl.u.s.ter of beings and bustle of activities only increased as time went on, the recognizable figures of those participating in the tournament arriving as many carried out their own discussions.

The ones more knowledgeable and having discussions worthy of note were the throngs of Celestials on the Warsh.i.p.s or those on the ground, their eyes correctly locating the combatants today as many proposed their own theories while seeing them roll in.

SHAA!

A blinding flash of light erupted out at a certain location as a being appeared magnificently, the bustle of discussions moving towards her appearance.

"Grandmaster Light has finally arrived. My goodness, I can't even see through her Fate Lines with how blinding her achievements in the Supreme Law of Light are."

"If you're looking for someone striking, look over there where Senior Brother Thee-Eyed is. His third eye locks you in and makes you feel like you can never look away."

The Celestials that the discussions moved to were the beings that were called Special Existences, their sheer appearance pulling the attention of all beings there as even the forces of the Dark Expanse had dark looks!

"The upcoming Junior Brother Crixus and Junior Sister Athena are also here. They should have some chance to show themselves a little right?"

"Against Special Existences like that and 10s of Grandmasters that have been in the Domain Expansion Realm for years? I wouldn't be so sure!"

The cacophony of noises and discussions reached their peak as many of the participating Celestials arrived.

OOOONG!

At this moment, a blinding light appeared in the skies above the very center of the clear field where the battles would be taking place, a figure of an oppressively powerful being appearing.

He was adorned in a golden robe, his face aged and wise with an excellent long beard and white hair trickling down to his shoulders.

THRUM!

His body rumbled with power as he purposefully and wildly released the lines of fate kept tightly in his body, the Celestials present being able to count more than 3 million Fate Lines strongly rolling around this being's body!

"I am Grandmaster Onillus, and I have left my post deep in the Celestial Realm to oversee this little tournament here today."

His voice was resounding and strong, being able to be heard by every single being around the 10 miles area as he stroked his beard profoundly.

"It is being made a show of for a reason that will soon become apparent, with one of the biggest things being...this."

The powerful Grandmaster Onillus holding more than 3 million lines of fate waved his hands, a single multicolored water-drop shaped object appearing in the skies!

"One of the prizes for today's winners, and something that I want many of you here today to remember."

It was only 10 inches in size, but it released a blinding rainbow colored light that reflected on the eyes of every single being watching. Noah himself glanced to the skies as the identity of the item became visible to him!

[Luminescent Rainbow Dew] :: A consumable treasure found in the deeper locations of the Celestial Realm. Can be used to propel the rank of a being all the way to the World Rank, with the condition that their bodies can withstand the energy released by this treasure. Its rarity does not need to be stressed.
