Chapter 611 - I Want Their Origins!

The vast Letalis Expanse was eerily quiet at this time, the progeny of the Ancient Terror living within sensing the winds of change as they knew something was coming!

These were the only creatures of the Novus Galaxy to sense anything amiss, with only a few others in the Light and Dark Expanse being able to notice something. Some of these beings included Old Man Inuit and Fritz, who had some proficiency in the laws of Karma and Fate as they recently felt a sense of foreboding that came and passed infrequently!

Old Man Inuit had asked Noah about this just to be sure, and Noah had told him that it was not anything for them to worry about, not revealing the shocking truths behind what was to soon happen.

Since they were not strong enough at this moment, Noah wanted to let the beings of the Novus Galaxy continue to expand their skills and increase their power, as they could fight all they wanted in the future!

As long as he and the Novus Galaxy succeeded in their scheme the next few days, it would set up for a grand future where wars for the beings of the Novus Galaxy to join would only be an inevitability. When this time came and they were sufficiently strong enough, he would let them freely fight as much as they wanted.

At this moment though, his figure appeared in an unstable location in the Letalis Expanse where one could feel a dreadful amount of Aether dancing around, Noah actually coming to the location where the Cthulhu was normally stationed as he prepared to intercept whoever came.

RUMBLE!

The Cthulhu felt his presence as its star-sized red eyes opened slightly, only turning into slits before they closed fully thereafter as if it did not even want to glance towards Noah!

Noah smiled at this as he saw the majesty of the Terror of Aether while also understanding its emotions. Made for the purpose of protecting the Novus Galaxy, yet its Master continued to conduct unexplainable things over and over again until now, an unknown force was coming towards them because of it.

Even after listening to the Novus Galaxy, the Cthulhu still kept to its belief that they did not need to provoke the hornets' nest, and they could have continued peacefully while slowly amassing their strength to only protect themselves if they needed to! This was why the Cthulhu did not look favorably towards Noah, even with the knowledge that he was this Galaxy's chosen Champion!

There was a stark silence in the dreadful space filled with Aether as Noah looked like a grain of sand in the starry space when next to the star sized Cthulhu.

"Can you not go patrol somewhere else?"

The Cthulhu's words were unruly as even while knowing full well that it was speaking to the Galaxy's Champion, it showed its distaste as its numerous tentacles wriggled dangerously. Noah let out a light laugh at the words of this being he adopted the power of through the Terror of Aether Skill Tree, replying as his eyes stared at the blank space all around them until they landed on the boundary of the Novus Galaxy far away.

"I wanted to be next to someone I admired. Your abilities got me where I am today."

"Hmph."

The red star sized eyes of the Cthulhu opened as they showed the immense power within, its rumbling voice sounding out again.

"Another one of me is not nearly enough to stop whatever you all invited towards us."

"I am not just another one of you, though."

Noah replied quickly as he looked into the huge eyes of the Terror of Aether that took up the surrounding hundreds of miles, his voice continuing to ring out.

"The first Trait holder in the Novus Galaxy, the first natural Grand Controller, the first to hold multiple completed universal law comprehensions..."

RUMBLE!

Noah listed out his achievements as the eyes of the Cthulhu shone with a red light, listening silently before they turned towards the starry space above them!

"Even with all that, even if you win...her plan is simply..."

The red light in the eyes of Cthulhu intensified as it thought of the apparent plan that Noah was told not too long ago. This plan of the Novus Galaxy was truly a terrifying one, with many hidden things that were not revealed even until now.

They very closely dealt with whatever Outsiders came searching for the signal they sent out, and it was actually tied even closer to Traits!

To understand exactly what was in store, one must grasp what a Trait actually meant.

The origin of Traits stemmed from a Galaxy towards its inhabitants, where a single being would only ever hold a single Trait throughout their lives. Yet the Novus Galaxy wanted a Champion who held multiple Traits, a being that could look down upon any enemies that came with extreme strength.

Noah recalled the words of the Novus Galaxy as he floated near the baleful area of Aether next to the Cthulhu.

[To do this, to even have the possibility of making this plan possible, I will need the origins of the powerful beings that are hopefully from another Galaxy. If they are powerful entities from the Chaotic Void, it would be a failure as we would have to try again, given that we survive that entity of course.]

RUMBLE!

The terrifying plan of the Novus Galaxy was revealed at that point as one could feel a maddened hunger for power and survival, a hunger of a being that had undergone multiple cycles of destruction and rebirth! This hunger was caused by the fact that this entity did not want to go through it again!

Such a plan bordered on the extreme, and it was the reason why Cthulhu disagreed with it! Yes...Noah actually found himself looking forward to it as he thought of the many unknown possibilities.

They were simply too many wondrous things in this Galaxy, and in the larger unexplored Universe that he had yet to step out to. As he accomplished his trait of Infinite Mana, his eyes were looking towards even grander horizons that he had yet to even see as he wondered just what else was out there!

As for whatever the released signal would call towards them? Well, he was getting ready for this as well as even at this moment his clones were working hard to push another Skill Tree into the rank of Nebula. But in the coming battle, all he wanted to do was freely go rampant as he utilized his Trait to the fullest! He wanted to spam whatever enemy acting against them to death! He wanted to do many things as he sought to see the limit of where he could reach with the power he held.

"I really think it will all be fine."

Calm words rang out in the space filled with Aether as the eyes of the Cthulhu locked towards Noah's extremely small figure, the eyes trying to see behind this being that the Cthulhu had sensed multiple times when he was just a fledgling!

Cthulhu stared at this creature as he saw a devilishly handsome and confident smile appear on his face, a smile that actually caused the powerful Cthulhu to feel an unknown sense of pressure!

Chapter 612 - Outsiders! I

The man and Cthulhu observed the stars littering the Letalis Expanse as their awareness spread out to cover the boundaries of this Expanse and thus the mystical Novus Galaxy, continuing to monitor everything as they waited patiently.

At the same time, less than a light year away from the Novus Galaxy, an Imperial Vessel from the Nexus Galaxy was rapidly nearing their positions as it contained within it three Law Masters and three Blessed!

The powerful Grand Controller steering the Void Beasts forward had a careful look as the Imperial Vessel tore through the chaotic void, knowing that they were rapidly nearing the location where their Universal Rift had felt the signal.

The body of this Grand Controller undulated with power as one could feel particles of chaos seamlessly floating around him, a profound feeling being felt from him as those knowledgeable would know that this being was not simply at the stage of a Grand Controller!

He had already begun embarking on the path above that, a path that the Blessed moving with him in this Imperial Vessel had mentioned before- the path of an Assimilator!

Yet even the two Law Masters beside him and the three Blessed did not fully grasp this yet as they went forward, where they were now nearing the location of the signal.

RUMBLE!

The essence of the Grand Controller erupted out as he began slowing the speed of the Void Beasts, their Imperial Vessel that was shooting forth at the speed of light slowing down the extreme blackness of the chaotic void registered around them.

The six beings had looks of care as they each spread out their awareness while moving forward, choosing the route of extreme care as they did not know exactly what they would come across! Their bodies bubbled with power as they apprehensively prepared for anything, the Grand Controller keeping his energy ready to go at any time in case they were intruding upon a powerful Entity's space!

The Imperial Vessel slowly moved forward as they came just a few miles away from the signal, the eyes of the Grand Controller opening wide as his body began to tremble, joy appearing on his face as he voiced out with great vigor.

"It's...another Galaxy! Haha, we've actually found another galaxy!"

RUMBLE!

"What!"

"This!"

Ecstatic joy was on the faces of the other 5 beings from the Nexus Galaxy as their awareness went forth, noticing the imperceptible spatial boundary that would never be noticed by a passing being unless they were an extremely powerful entity of if they knew of the location in advance.

"Judging by the undulations and power of the boundary...it actually seems to only be a Millenium Galaxy, with a range of maybe 10,000-20,000 years! This..."

The face of the Grand Controller was becoming more and more ecstatic as he thought about what their finding truly meant!

The beings of the Nexus Galaxy were great explorers of the unknown Universe through the use of the Universal Rift, and the powerful force controlling everything in the Nexus Galaxy made it their goal to locate and explore new Galaxies! They had been fairly successful over the years and grown to the height they were currently at, but coming across a Galaxy such as this one which was termed a Millenium Galaxy was extremely rare.

This was because Galaxies were extremely hard to perceive when they had just undergone a cycle of destruction and reformation, where many Galaxies could only be located with ease after they had reached 50,000 years or more.

But at this point, a Galaxy might have powerful Inhabitants that would give even the forces of the Nexus Galaxy a headache to take care of. But when it came to Millenium Galaxies that had not reached the 50,000 years timestamp...this was the type of finding favored the most!

The three Blessed in the mystical chariot felt their hearts pounding as the significance sunk in, one of them hesitantly speaking out.

"We...can report it right away and be swiftly promoted among the ranks of Imperials..."

His voice shook many out of their stupor as they turned to him, the face of the Grand Controller squinting as he looked back. He spoke a second later as a weird atmosphere overtook the Imperial Vessel.

"We can. But...if we enter and explore it for ourselves, can you imagine the possibilities of other rewards that might be waiting for us? The inhabitants of this Millenium Galaxy should have at most achieved Controllers and a few Blessed, maybe a few Grand Controllers at most. It is such a rare finding that we..."

He left the last words unspoken as the faces of the other 2 Law Masters and three Blessed shone with light, thinking back to the resources that the Imperials controlled in the Nexus Galaxy, and imagining these same types of resources simply waiting for them in this Millenium Galaxy in front of them!

"In the case we do explore and find that one of the treasures that the Imperial Adjudicator seeks happens to be in this Galaxy...can you imagine the rewards if we personally present it?"

The voice of the Grand Controller rang out again as it seemed extremely sweet and layered with honey, making the rest of the party looking forward with shining eyes.

Their minds seemed to be made up as they looked at each other and nodded, neither of them choosing to send word back right away that they had reached the target of the signal released, and that it was actually a new galaxy still in its beginning stages that they had not come across before!

The three Blessed holding the Traits of [Ice Man], [Supernova], and [Ability Mimicry] looked at each other with looks of resolve as they nodded towards the three Law Masters led by the Grand Controller.

"Let's do it!"

RUMBLE!

Imperceptible waves of fate spread out as these six beings made their decision, a decision that would put in motion a shocking set of events!

Chapter 613 - Outsiders! II

The Novus Galaxy was in an extremely peaceful era where many of the creatures in the Light and Dark Expanse were forging new lives as they recovered from the terror of constant war with the disappearance of the Celestials.

Not many knew the truth that the leader of this organization had actually exterminated this enormous force himself, and they lived in blissful ignorance as they continued on with their lives! Even at this moment as for the first time in the history of this Novus Galaxy when Outsiders were about to enter, only a few creatures in this Galaxy knew or felt it!

RUMBLE!

In the Letalis Expanse where the boundary of the Novus Galaxy could be seen, an Imperial Vessel could be seen squeezing through the miles long boundary with ease as it was covered by a unique energy.

This energy stemmed from a single being- the one at the forefront who was a Grand Controller of Chaos, and actually had the essence required to freely travel through the Chaotic Void as well as easily pass through the boundaries of galaxies, or even shatter or portion of such boundaries if they wished!

But the Grand Controller was moving with caution this time as they were undertaking a fairly dangerous task of entering another Galaxy. The problem at this moment lay in the unknowns, where even though they knew that this Galaxy should only be a Millennium Galaxy with at most a few Controllers, they still had to move carefully to make sure nothing went wrong.

SAAA!

The mystical chariot that was the Imperial Vessel passed through the boundary as it appeared in the Novus Galaxy for the first time, the three Law Masters and Blessed within the chariot stepping out and floating alongside it as the Void Beasts breathed in the new atmosphere with vigor!

"This..."

The eyes of the Outsiders from the Nexus Galaxy shone with l.u.s.trous light as they sensed the surrounding space, their awareness confirming with them the truth of this galaxy as they affirmed it really was less than fifty thousand years old!

They knew this because this was not the only outside Galaxy they were stepping in aside from their Nexus Galaxy. They had been sent on missions before that required them to step into fearsome galaxies of close stature to their own, and a few that were at lower levels.

But during all this time, they always explored Galaxies where their predecessors were there before them! This new Galaxy they stepped in...they saw that they were actually the first as they sensed the peaceful nature and movement of essence!

RUMBLE!

At this point, essence rumbled out from the body of the Grand Controller, the unique essence of chaos permeating out as his voice resounded.

"Continue to be careful and do not celebrate yet. This Galaxy must have its own protectors, and as all Galaxies sense foreign objects and beings entering them, they will be sending their protectors over to us at any moment."

OOOM!

His words carried immense weight as the others nodded and their bodies began permeating with power, the Fire Law Master and the Space Law Master beside the Grand Controller actually lighting up as their bodies released powerful Authorities to surround the Imperial Vessel in a defensive manner!

They had to do this because as mentioned before, a Galaxy could always sense foreign beings that did not belong to it, causing any outside forces entering any galaxy to be sensed right away as if it contained powerful enough Protectors, these Outsiders could be defeated and thrown out with ease!

"I am confident after entering this galaxy that they have a few Controllers or powerful Blessed, and at most, two or three Grand Controllers. We will test whatever is sent our way first before we decide to act."

The eyes of the Grand Controller were shining with greed as they stared at the foreign space around them, all he could feel from it being its young age as his heart looked forward to the treasures of this Galaxy!

RUMBLE!

Before his voice could even settle in the ears of others, they felt a strong aura propel towards them rapidly as the first thing they could see were its extremely large star-sized eyes.

WAA!

This strong aura rushed towards them as they could feel intense emotions of anger from its eyes, its enormous size stopping hundreds of miles away from them as the red eyes locked onto their party atop the Imperial Vessel.

The Cthulhu had made an appearance as the six beings looked at it carefully, their eyes not changing as they simply floated and kept their energy ready to go without moving!

This was because they were waiting...they were waiting to see just how many protectors this Galaxy could afford to send towards them!

RUMBLE!

A second later, another two auras appeared, their sizes just as large as they were in the thousands of miles. The Ancient Terror and the Terror of the Void appeared with cold looks as they also stared at the outsiders from a distance of a few hundred miles away.

It was an extremely tense situation as the Outsiders from the Nexus Galaxy waited a few seconds longer, the frosty Blessed who held the Trait of [Ice Man] not being able to hold himself back as an ecstatic expression actually appeared on his face!

"Haha, this is all? It looks like this venture will be extremely worthwhile!"

Shocking words were heard from the Outsiders by the three Terrors as they were filled with immense disdain. This was because the Outsiders could sense the auras of Grand Controllers on the three Protectors, with this aura being strongest around the Cthulhu that wriggled with baleful tentacles filled with Aether.

Even the face of the Grand Controller of Chaos was filled with light as he waited a few seconds longer before confirming they had really struck it rich to be entering a Galaxy that had so few Protectors!

"Outsiders, you are not welcomed here!"

RUMBLE!

The voice of the Terror of Aether rang out as it was filled with anger and unwillingness, the thing it did not want the most to happen actually taking place at this moment! But the Outsiders he spoke paid him no need as the frosty Blessed laughed while stepping forward, the authorities of the two Law Masters still actively surrounding the force of six Outsiders.

"Boorish creature, has nobody ever told you size is not everything?"

The words of the Blessed were filled with confidence as even while sensing that the creature in front of him was a Grand Controller of the Law of Aether, he stepped forward fearlessly and spoke down towards it!

OOOM!

A unique feeling of power released from this Blessed as he freely activated his Trait, [Ice Man].

SHAA!

For the surrounding thousands of miles, the starry space instantly became a realm of ice as the being that was the cause of it all flung his arms out with a wide smile and spoke.

"A galaxy in its infancy just waiting for us to explore...ahh!"

RUMBLE!

An enormous area of complete white permeated for thousands of miles in the Letalis Expanse near the barrier of the Novus Galaxy, six outsiders appearing as they disdainfully looked down at the natives sent to stand on their way!

Chapter 614 - [Fireball]!

Going back a few seconds, Noah had been talking with a not so pleased Terror of Aether when they felt the abrupt change in the barrier they were observing as well as the appearance of 6 new auras of power.

Three of them felt familiar to Noah, as they each had a hint of law where Noah knew it was two Controllers and a single Grand Controller that also seemed to have a unique aura included with him! The other three were even more unique as the aura Noah felt from them was unlike anything he had come across before!

RUMBLE!

The enormous body of the Cthulhu began to move the moment the auras appeared, leaving behind wrathful words that showed its thoughts at this moment.

"The result of the actions you condone has come, let us hope it is not the doom for us all!"

Noah gave a light smile at the strong words of the Cthulhu, sensing the other two Terrors far away from them also converged towards six newly appearing signatures as he also made his way.

"A galaxy in its infancy just waiting for us to explore...ahh!"

He appeared just in time as the Outsider at the forefront had an ecstatic look on his face while observing Cthulhu and the other two Terrors, Noah's body finally become visible in their eyes as they also looked towards him, his appearance actually making them look even happier as it apparently furthered their belief that this galaxy was nothing much!

Noah's eyes shone as he looked towards the Grand Controller letting out an aura of Chaos, as well as the other two Law Masters released auras of Fire and Space. These beings he could sense the auras of and understand, but the other three gave him a unique feeling of strength that he could attribute one thing- Traits!

He glanced at the being at the forefront who had wavy frosted hair as his body released extremely cold elements that turned the surrounding miles into a frozen space. He observed this unique being using his power, realizing that this being was utilizing a trait while his body only gave off the essence of someone at the Nebula Rank, but no law masteries whatsoever!

Yet this being was able to cause the surrounding thousands of miles to be filled with cold elemental particles that actually reduced the movements of Controllers and even slowed them down.

This was a being with a Trait, this was a Blessed!

Noah's small figure stepped forward amidst all of this as the three Terrors had their essence ready to erupt at any moment, his eyes shimmering with strength as he appeared fully in front of the six Outsiders.

The Outsiders squinted their eyes as they actually could not observe any sense of danger from Noah's small body, their confidence levels only rising as they confirmed these beings in front of them really were the only Protectors that this Galaxy could send out!

"It seems like our journey will be extremely rewarding this time around."

The other two Blessed holding the traits of [Supernova] and [Ability Mimic] spoke to each other with smiles as they were actually protected by the Authorities that two Law Masters released as well as the field of frozen ice that the strongest Blessed laid out, not treating Noah as anything much!

Noah did not mind this as he simply wanted to open up a new chapter and fully start the terrifying plan that the Novus Galaxy had concocted, and he wanted to start off this new stage in the most spectacular way possible.

He did not want to exchange any words or play games with these Outsiders, he only wanted to start off his new path in one way! He wanted to do so in the same way when he first awakened...and it was with a single skill!

After becoming a Controller of the Law of Fire, Noah had carefully read the description that said how any rank of skills could display power at the level of Controller, and he had many ideas when he saw this!

The first thought that came to his mind was his first skill, the skill that actually started his path as an Awakened until he reached the position he did today.

It was a skill with an extremely fast casting time because of it being the lowest ranked skill- it was the Rank F+ Fireball!

His hand stretched out in front of him towards the unbothered Outsiders that had only begun releasing their energy more rampantly, preparing to see what the native of this Galaxy would throw before they fully committed to doing as they wished.

It would be an utter surprise for them when they heard a simple word!

"[Fireball]."

BRRRRRRRR!

Like the sound of a gatling gun, tens of balls of fire bloomed out from Noah as events had to be described in a manner as if time was slowed down!

When describing the 'balls of fire' being released from him, it did not really capture what they were fully because their sheer size was simply too enormous! These so called Fireballs were actually tens of miles large, where each one was larger than Noah's current human form by thousands of times!

They were not really fire balls, but genuine scorching suns that were nearing the size of stars! The heat they released as they were utilized by a controller caused undulations in the surrounding space as they threatened to melt anything in sight, and it was these genuine suns that were shooting out in the tens just from Noah casting [Fireball] once.

It was a skill maxed in proficiency as Noah even added to it 5 Skill Points, this simple beginner skill at this moment actually being able to shoot out multiple scorching suns at a speed unbecoming of their sheer size and stature!

OOOM!

The Blessed with the [Ice Man] trait had his eyes dilate as he discovered hundreds of miles long suns rushing towards them at ridiculous speeds, his body glowing in a powerful blue light as he screamed out while wiping away the unbothered expression.

"Ice Age!"

RUMBLE!

He was not alone as the face of the Fire Law Master hardened, his body also stepping forward as he actually utilized |Intent| using his power as a Controller.

|Protect|!

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

Sun after sun smashed towards them in a shower of searing heat and molten flames, each explosion causing the frosty Blessed to tremble as the Ice Age he was spreading out was rapidly eaten up!

BOOM!

Yet another sun smashed and exploded as a hazy red barrier formed from the Intent of the Fire Law Master stopped it, their faces finally becoming serious as they stared at this being in front of them.

Waves of heat washed over to them as the hand of the Blessed with the [Ice Man] trait was trembling, the eyes of the Fire Law Master cold as he stared at this being that was apparently just like him!

The Grand Controller of Chaos was taking the central position of defending as he was backed on his right by the Fire Law Master and on his left by the Blessed with the [Ice Man] Trait.

Their gazes were finally serious as the essence of the Grand Controller of Chaos expertly moved to create a thick black barrier, this barrier being covered by freezing ice in front and a layer of a flaming barrier in the back as the three beings worked together to withstand a barrage of exploding suns!

BOOM! BOOM!

The suns seemed nearly endless as the face of the Grand Controller became extremely serious, his voice ringing out to the others as they made their moves.

"Sajar, Johnny Boy, you're with me in taking on this small being. He should be the strongest protector in this Galaxy, yet seems to not understand the concept of preserving one's mana with such reckless attacks."

His words were careful as they were directed to the Fire Law Masters in his party and the Blessed holding the [Ice Man] Trait. All the meanwhile, he slowly analyzed the situation before them while the barriers they erected were able to stop the barrage of suns that continued to explode with searing heat in front of them!

"You three, take on the oversized creatures behind him, and don't hesitate to use your life-saving Talismans in case something unexpected happens, I will rush in to resolve anything else."

He then spoke towards the two other Blessed beings and Space Law Master as the one holding the Trait of [Ability Mimic] nodded with vigor.

The words of the Grand Controller were filled with strength as he breathed in after finishing his commands, the other 5 Outsiders nodding in understanding as they saw the unique power bubbling on his body!

This was a power that they did not expect this Grand Controller to have, a power that showed he had actually already embarked on the path of an Assimilator!

This made their resolve even stronger as in the next moment, two words filled with intent left the mouth of the Grand Controller of Chaos.

[Chaotic Dispersal]

RUMBLE!

A star shaking might erupted out with these words, the intent of a Beginner Assimilator rushing towards the endless suns as it carried with it a unique authority, this essence wiping away all the coming suns as if they didn't exist in the first place!

This intent continued forward until it found the source of the enormous balls of fire, only being stopped as it clashed with another intent that Noah released!

BZZZT!

An impasse came to be as the two sides were able to see each other once more, the Outsiders seeing the figure of Noah calmly observing them as a distinct smile was visible on his face, apparently very pleased at the way his opening attack had gone.

The Grand Controller of Chaos locked onto Noah's figure as the party he was with followed his words!

The Space Law Master became a white streak of light as he shot towards the Terror of the Void, the one holding the Trait of [Supernova] going to match Cthulhu, and the one with the [Ability Mimic] Trait actually locking eyes with Noah first as her body shone with an Incandescent light before she went over to match the Ancient Terror.

Others might not have known, but the incandescent light on the Outsider's body when she locked eyes with Noah was her actually using her trait as she became able to mimic the terrifying skill he had used, the Outsider wanting them to have a taste of their own medicine when she went to match the Ancient Terror!

This left the Grand Controller of Chaos, the Blessed holding the [Ice Man] trait called Johnny Boy, and the Fire Law Controller to face Noah himself, these beings moving carefully as they did not want any mistakes after finding such an opportune galaxy.

"You don't seem to have even embarked on the path past a Controller yet, Native. Why don't we have a talk where I might even show you the way?"

The voice of the Grand Controller who could also be called a Beginner Assimilator rang out towards Noah, the unique essence he used to completely wipe away tens of scorching suns being extremely potent as his right hand pointed forward!

The other two Outsiders backed away from him as one moved with their Authority and the other released terrifying coldness, this Beginner Assimilator continuing to talk as his aura only shot up higher.

"You see, after completely comprehending a Universal Law and becoming a Controller, one must then Assimilate their law comprehension where the ultimate goal..."

OOOOM!

His hand released a milky black aura as Noah could see it was an extremely potent essence of Chaos, and it seemed to be moving in conjunction with the Beginner Assimilator's intentions as it wrapped around his body before he completely disappeared in a flash of chaotic light!

"...is becoming one with the very Universal laws themselves."

The Beginner Assimilator actually appeared instantly behind Noah, his fist covered with this extremely potent chaotic essence as it smashed into Noah before he could even react!

BOOM!

The light of chaos overflowed as a blow was dealt by the Outsiders for the first time, even the eyes of the Terrors looking towards Noah's figure that had been shot forward like a cannonball towards the other two Outsiders.

WAA!

Halfway through before Noah even reached the Law Master of Fire and Johnny Boy that were already preparing their attacks, his body came to a stop as a tinge of golden light began to cover him, his face shining in the dark space as one could actually see an expression of joy on his face!

This was because he had affirmed the path forward that he knew of after becoming a Controller, and he had felt the strength of this stage as the strike that had smashed into him from this Grand Controller that had begun Assimilating his comprehensions was enough to injure him!

But that was all- just enough to injure him as the two Outsiders behind him could observe his back that was a gory mess of blood rapidly healing as good as new, the distinct gold light that represented fate beginning to fully release from him.

His eyes were full of joy as he stared at the Beginner Assimilator as if he had found a rare treasure, his mind already seeing the path of laws laid out in front of him.

First, you comprehend the laws, and then you become one with them!

Assimilate them!

This was the stage above a Controller, this was the stage where beings sought to become intertwined with the Universal Laws as they freely used them to do their bidding!

Chapter 616 - Three Versus One!

As Noah faced a Beginner Assimilator with palpating levels of chaos surrounding his body as well as a Blessed and a Fire Law Master, the Terrors were facing their own enemies as the three Outsiders went to match them!

The Blessed holding the Trait of [Supernova] fearlessly went towards the terrifying Cthulhu that wriggled with Aether as her hands were covered by a red glow. The Cthulhu saw this figure with his star sized eyes as he cast a skill instantly, calling forth numerous stars to materialize and rush towards this Outsider as he utilized [Star Caller].

BOOOM!

The Blessed saw the newly appearing stars as she met the forefront one with her fist, a fearsome explosion occurring as the star was shattered into pieces, her body weaving through the rubble as her fist smashed into all the other coming stars while she advanced towards the Cthulhu!

This was the being holding the trait of [Supernova], a being that released the power of a dying star with every strike she landed! Her body shone with the l.u.s.ter of the essence of someone at the Nebula Realm as tens of stars swirled within her Origin.

The Cthulhu's red eyes focused on this being as he cast yet another ability and caused baleful Aether to envelope the surroundings, the battle fully underway in this location as in another two spots, the other Two Terrors were facing their own enemies!

The Space Law Master was weaving through the layers of space as he began releasing attacks on the Terror of the Void, this powerful terror also being proficient in this space as a fearsome battle began.

The other battle worthy of note was the one where the Blessed holding the [Ability Mimic] trait was facing the silent Ancient Terror, a smile apparent on her face as prior to this, she had used her ability to mimic the terrifying skill that the small human that was being surrounded by three Outsiders cast, and she wanted to use this same skill as she showed them a taste of their own medicine!

The Blessed threw out her hands as she cast the fearsome skill- [Fireball]!

Rumble~

"..."

Small fluctuations of power were released as a few fireballs a few inches in diameter flew towards the Ancient Terror, their power diminishing before they could even reach the Terror as they disappeared simply because of the sheer pressure this being released.

The Blessed that knew for sure she had mimicked the ability of that being correctly looked forward incredulously at this scene!

The lesson of abilities being utilized very differently depending on the user was learned on this day as the same skill that allowed scorching suns to erupt out from the hands of one being were only small balls of fire in the hands of another!

The Ancient Terror ignored this embarrassing moment as from it, a Blood World bloomed that completely encased it and the Blessed with it, nobody else being able to know what was happening within this Blood World.

OOOM!

With these three battles occurring in their own spaces, we can now look back to the stage where a Beginner Assimilator, a Fire Law Controller, and an icy Blessed were in a triangular formation as they blocked off all sides and rushed towards Noah.

The most danger could be felt from the body of the Assimilator, as the essence of chaos could actually rip apart the defenses of a Grand Controller that Noah always had surrounding his body, the abilities of the Fire Law Master and the Blessed called Johnny Boy being much lesser worries!

As their three figures rushed towards him, Noah gave a light smile as he also cast [Blood World], an enormous veil of blood erupting with him at the very center as it threatened to cover the three Outsiders in the surrounding space.

Their bodies shone with their own unique power as they protected themselves from what they assumed was an area of attack ability, but this Blood World did not harm them one bit as it simply passed through them and continued expanding, covering the area of tens of miles around them as only the three of them and Noah were within this Blood World!

They found at this moment that they could not sense the outside world, nor could they communicate with others as well- this ability fully creating an isolated space where nothing could go in or out! The gaze of the Beginner Assimilator was passive as he nodded towards the other two Outsiders, the battle fully beginning as dazzling skills flew out.

From the hands of Johnny Boy, pulsing Frost Orbs that held enough power to threaten any Controller were released as he utilized the [Ice Man] Trait, the area he occupied becoming fully covered in white as he threw out long distance attacks!

The two Law Masters continued to rush towards Noah as they wanted close combat to pin their enemy down, especially the Assimilator that could easily injure Noah's body with the essence of chaos fluidly moving through him.

It seemed like it was bound to be a long and difficult battle as these powerful Outsiders faced the native Protectors of the Novus Galaxy, but would it really be like this? The answer was no! And it was a shocking no as a smile bloomed from Noah in the next moment, the aura of two more beings that looked just like him appearing in the veiled Blood World!

RUMBLE!

"What!"

"|Defend|"

"Ice Fortress!"

The three outsiders reacted in their own ways as one of Noah's clones appeared above Johnny Boy as cast [Madness Hegemony], the surrounding space changing to that of baleful Aether as terrifying Portals of Terror began to bloom around the Blessed holding the [Ice Man] Trait.

Another clone appeared in front of the Fire Law Master as he did not cast any flashy abilities, but actually something simple from the abilities of the Absolute Sin. From the Sin of Gluttony, Noah tested out the usefulness of [Devouring] as a black circle went on to wrap around this Controller!

The ability of Devouring allowed him to devour his enemies and even their memories, with the mana requirement varying from who exactly he was trying to devour. If a being he was targeting did not have the prowess to break through the black circle that represented [Devouring], then with his Infinite Mana...Noah should be able to devour that being in their entirety as their defenses were slowly ground down!

This ability would only work on someone on the same level as him or weaker as they would not be able to escape the black circle that represented [Devouring], so Noah simply tried it as one of the Outsiders became completely encased in the light of Gluttony.

"Sajar!"

The Grand Controller saw this insidious skill where his companion did not seem to be breaking out of as his body tried to change directions, but Noah's main body stood in his way at this time as a few words left his mouth.

"[Incandescent Emperor]."

RUMBLE!

A new skill was cast from Noah for the first time as a brilliant golden glow erupted from him and blinded the Assimilator for a brief moment, an ability from the newest skill tree that had just stepped into the Nebula Rank through the hard work of his clones just minutes ago being utilized as Noah single-handedly took on three beings at the Nebula Realm- one an Assimilator, one a Controller, and the other a Blessed being!

Chapter 617 - I Cant Take Any Damage!

Right before his two clones had appeared and blindsided the Outsiders, they had finished maxing the proficiency of the [Fate's Guardian] skill tree as Noah also met all the other requirements to upgrade it to the rank of Nebula!

Unlike the Nebula Rank Terror of Aether Skill Tree, only 5 new skills were laid out in front of his eyes.

...>>>NEBULA [Incandescent Ruler- Fate's Guardian] :: Incandescent Emperor, Holy Fire, Fate's Guardian, Aura of Redemption, Sword of Judgment

Incandescent Emperor :: The stature of the Incandescent Ruler is adorned as the user adopt a regal armament. While active, Incandescent Emperor grants +1000% to Damage, Attack Speed, Cast Speed, Law Resistances, Defence, as well as +50% Decreased Damage Taken from all sources.

Holy Fire Golden raging fires of Fate thunder down towards the user's enemies as they scorch everything with righteous terror, with the greatest burning damage dealt to their enemies' souls.

Fate's Guardian :: The fate lines representing other creatures the user is connected to can be observed as their futures can be guided to the most optimum path.

Aura of Redemption :: A circular aura that surrounds the user and grants them constant health regeneration where any damage dealt can be healed instantly for as long as the ability is kept active.

Sword of Judgment :: A unique sword capable of tearing apart space itself is called upon to be wielded only by the user. The Sword of Judgment deals 0 Physical Damage in exchange for dealing a tremendous amount of Soul Damage.

Skills with grand names befitting the rank of the skill tree appeared, and each of them fought the others for supremacy! Noah particularly liked Incandescent Emperor and Sword of Judgment, Holy Fire coming in close third as they all pertained to him being able to deal crazy amounts of damage to his enemies.

This was why he had cast [Incandescent Emperor] as he faced the Beginner Assimilator in front of him, a golden light erupting out as his human form gained the mantle of a regal Emperor!

Royal robes shimmering with golden lights draped over him, and one could see a distinct golden crown fall upon his head as it sat and shone with complete arrogance while releasing a light of domination. His devilishly handsome face was even further extenuated as his human form looked like the shiniest golden crowned being one could ever come across.

But this form that hugged his body shape granted him +1000% in Damage, Attack Speed, Cast Speed, Law Resistances, Defense, and even a +50% Decreased Damage Taken from all his enemies!

The Beginner Assimilator in front of him noticed how Noah's aura had become greatly sharper, a dangerous edge that even he was threatened by coming to light. The eyes of the Assimilator turned serious as the liquid chaos essence around him began bubbling, beginning to wrap around his body as a black armor formed around him.

He glanced towards the frosty Blessed, Johnny Boy, who was currently releasing extremely cold waves of essence to keep at bay dreadful Portals of Terror, as well as the Fire Law Master that actually had not been able to escape from the terrifying black light of [Devouring] yet! The Assimilator glanced at all this as he prepared to go toe to toe with this unexpected enemy while saving his comrades! But would he really get the chance?

In the Blood World that nobody could see inside of, one of Noah's clones was floating above Johnny Boy who released dreadfully cold ice essence, this Outsider shouting out powerful words soon after.

"Pure Ice Form!"

RUMBLE!

Blasts of cold erupted out as Noah was able to see this being change fully into a white-blue creature, even his light skin tone disappearing as he became a man of ice!

The cold eyes of this Outsider locked onto Noah as he waved his hands and released the barrier of cold light that was stopping the destructive elements of the Portals of Terror, the attacks actually going towards Johnny Boy as they reached him and...nothing happened!

"Ignorant Native, I have taken a pure form of ice that even a Water Law Controller cannot obtain. It is something only possible from my Trait, and you cannot deal any physical damage to me!"

The Blessed shockingly revealed his ability and what it could do with ease, Noah looking towards him quizzically as he took in the said words and nodded, opening his hand out as he called out a skill.

[Sword of Judgment].

SHIIING!

A ray of golden light fell down as a gorgeous looking serrated golden blade of light appeared in the clone's hands.

One of the skills from the newly advanced Nebula skill tree was cast as Noah listened to the words that this pure ice form this being had taken prevented all physical damage, so he chose a skill that dealt 0 physical damage and an enormous amount of Soul Damage, grasping the golden blade of light as he slashed down towards the icy Blessed!

SAAA!

The golden blade left waves of light behind it as it swung, and the target, Johnny Boy, did not even move as he stared arrogantly at the coming blade. He was extremely confident in his Trait, as he had been able to stand to powerful Controllers in the past the moment he took on his Pure Ice Form.

He wanted to show the native in front of him that his body could not even be hurt as he would lay out terrifying attacks thereafter!

But this was where he would be terribly mistaken.

"Dodge you fool!"

The words of the powerfully shining Assimilator rang out as his figure streaked towards Noah's golden armored body, his eyes locking on to the non-descript golden blade carried by Noah's clone as this Outsider was more in tune with laws and could sense the terrifying damage that could be dealt by the sword!

These words shook Johnny Boy out of his stupor as he immediately sensed something wrong, his hand waving as he wanted to pull out his life-saving Talisman right away just in case.

But it was too late!

WOOSH!

Like a mere streak of light, the Sword of Judgment passed through his body from top to bottom seamlessly.

"..."

CRACK!

A terrifying sound occurred thereafter instantly, the blue light shining brilliantly in the eyes of this frosty Blessed died out, his Origin having undertaken enormous Soul Damage with zero protections as even his Rank at the Nebula did not save him!

"Johnny Boy!"

The Assimilator looked forward with brazen shock at this unexpected scene as he could not even believe his eyes!

At this time waves of fate spread out from the spot of the Blessed's death as Noah's clone saw the statue of the ice man in front of him beginning to crack, a unique energy from the surroundings actually gathering on the body of the Blessed he had so easily taken down as a shocking sight played out.

This unique energy wrapping around the dead Blessed was actually from the Novus Galaxy itself, this energy going on to preserve the dead Origin of this Outsider for the future grand plan of this Galaxy!

Noah's clone observed as the body of the Outsider actually folded in on itself, being crumpled together as it came to form a singular black mass that remained stationary in the hidden Blood World.

At this time, Noah felt a change in his Stat Panel as he opened in to observe his Skill Points shooting up by a few hundred, his eyes shining with light as he was finally able to defeat a separate existence to grant him an enormous number of skill points! This being at the Nebula Rank and holding a Trait had gifted him with hundreds of Skill Points just a few minutes into this battle!

The gaze of the clone that just took down this powerful but stupid Blessed now turned towards the shocked Assimilator as he went to assist his main body, terrifying words leaving his mouth as he did so.

"That's one."

The words were calm and nonexpressive, making one think what was just done was as easy as anything could be!

Chapter 618 - My Specialty is Actually Spamming

Shockingly, a Blessed had fallen in a matter of minutes since the battle began!

Only the Assimilator observed this horrendous situation as his body began to burn with an extremely black color, the aura of chaos permeating through as powerful black chaos shadows began to rise around the Assimilator.

These chaos shadows shone with a dark l.u.s.ter as each of them held the power of a Controller, the gaze of the Assimilator cold as he went all out!

Meanwhile, in the area where Noah's clone had trapped the Fire Law Master, the black circle that represented the ability of [Devouring] opened, the sight inside making the eyes of the Assimilator even colder!

Inside the opening aura of Gluttony, the husk of a being could be seen as all essence and life force was drained out, the eyes of this Nebula Rank Fire Controller losing their light a second later as Noah had actually defeated this being with a single skill that just drained him out entirely.

A unique essence from the surrounding space went on to wrap around the husk of a being as it folded in itself, forming a second black mass that represented the Origin of this being from another Galaxy!

Noah also watched his stat panel that showed the number of skill points rising rapidly, both of his clones having finished their opponents the moment they appeared as at this moment, his three bodies went towards surrounding the singular remaining enemy in the hidden Blood World.

The Grand Controller of Chaos was looking towards the spots where his companions had died, only an eerie black mass remaining in these positions as it created for a terrifying atmosphere!

He had thought they found a young galaxy with weak Protectors and chose to enter and take most of the riches for themselves, choosing to not even send word back to the Watchers assigned to him for this mission. Now, an unexplainable enemy had appeared as he lost a Blessed and a Controller.

He breathed out as his body thrummed with power, reminding himself that he had already embarked on the path of strength after a Controller, and this being in front of him showed no indication of it. All he could see was that somehow, he was proficient in multiple laws, where he might even be a Controller in each of them as well!

"It was a mistake to enter and antagonize you like this. Do you think we can let bygones be bygones?"

More and more chaotic dark shadows that held the auras of Controllers appeared around the Assimilator as he said these careful words, going for possible diplomacy before he went all out against this mysterious enemy.

Noah only smiled at these words as his three bodies surrounded all sides of the Outsider, replying thereafter with a calm tone.

"Outsider, similar to how you have the unique power of an Assimilator or how your friends have their Traits, I have my own unique power you know."

His words seemed to be resonating with the surrounding space as the Assimilator continued to prepare, the numerous chaotic shadows floating protectively around him as an unbound aura of chaos threatened to spill out at any moment with the command of this Assimilator!

|Protect|, |Defend|, |Strengthen|, |Fluid Teamwork|, |Enhanced Chaos|

RUMBLE!

Numerous |Intent| were used by the Outsider as the summoned chaotic shadows around him became more and more solid, the aura of Chaos palpable as these shadowy figures screeched towards Noah's three bodies!

"My power lies in mana, where my specialty is actually just spamming."

Noah's eyes honed in on the powerful chaotic figures that numbered over ten, each of them glowing with the aura of a Peak Controller as in the middle of them, an Assimilator was tightly protected!

The Outsider was taking all precautions after seeing the deaths of his two companions, where he now used an ability that summoned more than 10 figures with the power of Controllers as he planned to carry out a long and prolonged battle with Noah.

...or so he expected.

But Noah planned to do something entirely different, where he wanted to fully use his Trait of Infinite Mana as it deserved to be used...with constant and repetitive spamming of powerful skills that required enormous amounts of mana to be used!

RUMBLE!

The surrounding space had begun to tremble as it felt a premonition of what was to come, the face of the Assimilator turning colder as he bellowed out while commanding his summoned creatures to rush forward!

[Madness Hegemony].

Noah's main body called forth a skill that changed the surrounding space and caused it to be filled with numerous Portals of Terrors, streaks of Aether Rays appearing as they began to shoot towards the many chaotic figures and the Assimilator.

[Holy Fire].

WAAA!

One of his clones called out as from the space above, illuminant golden flames that burned the surrounding space itself began to appear as they rained down with a merciful light that threatened to burn everything it touched!

[Fireball].

BRRRRRRR!

His other clone called out the name of the Rank F+ skill as Noah condensed the balls of star sized suns into just a few meters, increasing their explosive force as they thundered forth towards the protected Assimilator like rapid bullets.

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

The rays of Aether, Portals of Terror, scorching golden flames, and terribly explosive fireballs all smashed into the protected Assimilator as the chaotic figures he summoned took the brunt of the damage, but he survived with no problems as he prepared to retaliate at this moment, expecting his opponent to have used up a lot of his energy as he used this gap to finally deal some damage! But as he prepared to move out, he heard the same words repeat again!

[Madness Hegemony]. [Holy Fire]. [Fireball]. [Madness Hegemony] [Holy Fire]. [Fireball]...

Reinforced by the powerful skill of [Incandescent Emperor] which granted +1000% to many things, but the two qualities of Attack Speed and Cast Speed that were also reinforced by 1000% made a terrifying scene where all of these cast skills were being cast and rushing forth at a nightmarish speed that would cause one to tremble in fear.

RUUUMBLE!

Space itself shook from the ridiculous amount of mana being used as layers after layers of Portals of Terror, Aether Rays, golden flames, and destructive small suns all began to appear en masse around a singular Assimilator!

[Madness Hegemony]. [Holy Fire]. [Fireball]. [Madness Hegemony] [Holy Fire]. [Fireball]...

This Assimilator's eyes opened wildly in shock as he couldn't help but ask in his mind-

'How do you have the mana for all this?!'

But his question would never be answered as the barrage of colorful and destructive abilities rained down thunderously.

At this point, Noah was not even doing any work, but he was simply calling out skill names as he spammed over and over again!

It was against an enemy that had embarked on a path even higher than a Controller, but with barely a small rank above him, would that be enough to withstand against endless abilities swarming on all sides?

The answer was a dreadful no as a particular Outsider had already begun sweating as his summoned chaos soldiers began to be wiped away by the horrendous damage as all these endless attacks targeted him!

BRRRRR!

On this day, Noah learned the joys of repetitively using powerful skills with no consequences as a true spammer was born!

Chapter 619 - Let's wrap it up

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

A constant flood of destructive skills rained down endlessly towards a singular Assimilator, the many chaos guards he summoned being wiped away in a matter of seconds as the flood of skills continued.

Terrifyingly scorching fireballs with the potency of suns, destructive Portals of Terror and Aether Rays, scorching Holy Fire that even scorched the surrounding space!

All of these horrendous abilities rained down endlessly as Noah spammed his many skills with ease and without stopping!

He had Infinite Mana, so there was nothing stopping him from being able to overwhelm someone much stronger than he was through these methods.

So what if this Outsider was an Assimilator? What if he had begun assimilating the Supreme Law of Chaos to himself as his usage of this law was even greater than his fully comprehended Law of Fate? None of it mattered when he went ahead and did something that defied all reason!

"OOOOOH!"

The Assimilator roared out as he continued defending against the barrage of attacks, pulling his aura back entirely as one could see a circular liquid barrier of chaotic light protectively hugging his body. This barrier took the brunt of the damage from the destructive skills as he tried to move across the chaotic space!

His Chaos Lord Authority was closely wrapping around him as his body thrummed with power.

His figure tried shifting left and right constantly, but each area he appeared in either had scorching fireballs or he was chased by destructive rays of Aether that would bloom Portals of Terror whenever they smashed into his barrier!

It was a terrifying situation where any place he went to, shockingly dreadful abilities awaited on both sides as he could not escape.

"Native!"

RUMBLE!

His voice rang out with an enchanting chaotic light as within his hands, a dark halberd made of the essence of chaos appeared as he slashed away the incoming attacks, his brow visibly sweating while he tried to reach out to Noah.

"It was our mistake, I have no problem admitting this! Let us talk!"

BRRRRR!

Among the barrage of fireballs with the damage of actual suns, the Outsider tried to bring this battle to a stop as Noah's three bodies acted as if they had not heard anything, skills continuing to be called out as they thundered down!

"I am just an Assimilator in charge of an exploration party from the Nexus Galaxy, there are many like me!"

BRRRR!

"My life is not worth much, but I can connect you to the force of Imperials that rule the Nexus Galaxy and many more Galaxies, I can work with you!"

The Assimilator continued to plead out as he unbelievably saw the attacks continuing to rain down, shock running through his mind as he wondered whether this being in front of him had endless energy.

One could not simply spam skills like this, they had to run out sooner or later!

But seeing how his words did not seem to have any effect, the Assimilator gritted his teeth while deflecting the numerous terrible skills, moving from pleading to threats.

"If my party is wiped away without us sending word to the Watchers assigned to us, they will see this as an anomaly as a powerful force will be sent to this location!"

RUMBLE!

Shocking threats were released as the Assimilator continued.

"We are a disposable party, that's why we were sent first to check out an unknown signal! But the next force will not be the same, it will have multiple Imperial Assimilators and even Beta Ranked Blessed that are nothing like the Alpha Blessed you defeated!"

Information freely flowed from the Outsider that was cornered at this moment, even his rank as a Beginner Assimilator actually not being able to help him as he faced a being that constantly spammed powerful skills capable of injuring Controllers over and over again.

The Outsider talked of Alpha and Beta Ranked Blessed, introducing some of the distinctions between the different ranks of Traits that individuals could be lucky enough to obtain throughout their lifetimes!

But...Noah had already begun to obtain this knowledge from the Fire Law Master that he had cast [Devouring] on, his mind working overtime as he senselessly continued to spam his skills while learning more about the Galaxy these beings came from.

"I...I can even send back a message that we just came across a powerful entity and lost a few of us, it doesn't have to end like this!"

The words of the Assimilator were getting more desperate as he shockingly found even with his rank a level higher, his chaos barrier was beginning to crack as the essence he could supply to it was actually running dry.

This being in front of him...was actually driving him to exhaustion!

But all of his words were ignored as he despairing heard an impassive voice ring out amidst the exploding suns and bursting portals of terror.

"Let's wrap this up, why don't we?"

RUMBLE!

The dreadful skills seemed to actually be rushing down even faster as both of Noah's clones were now dr.a.p.ed in the armaments of the [Incandescent Emperor] ability, the +1000% cast and attack speed causing the flood of abilities to get even wilder as the defenses of the Assimilator began to crack!

[Faster Casting], [Extreme Speed], [Duplication].

But this wasn't all as Noah dreadfully added the Intents of his essence as a Controller, the speeds of the barrage of skills simply becoming insane as they even doubled with the last Intent!

"No!"

The Assimilator was unwilling as he did not expect to lose his life in a Millenium Galaxy, in such a young galaxy that should not have had such a terrifying figure!

As he glanced at this enemy that seemed to have endless energy to cast his skills over and over again, he realized that his strength did not lie in the essence of fate or fire that made him a genius Controller of two laws, but it was shockingly the trait that somehow allowed him to endlessly cast these horrible abilities so many times.

As this Outsider was faced with a spamming of abilities he wondered- just what Trait did this creature have to give him power like this?!

Just what was the rank of such a Trait that he could handle him and two others with ease?!

CRACK!

The answer would not be known by this being nor Noah for quite some time as the Chaos Barrier this Assimilator cast finally cracked, the flood of skills rushing towards his strong body as they began to ravage him apart.

"They will come to this signal again...!"

"They will come!!!"

RUMBLE!

His words were drowned out by the barrage of fire and aether as a being that had already embarked on the path past a Controller faced his end.

The cause of his death? Someone was spamming too much!

Chapter 620 - Origins from another Galaxy!

In the hidden Blood World where no eyes could pry in, Noah had actually defeated three Outsiders! One was an Assimilator, another a Fire law Controller, and lastly the Blessed who was called Johnny Boy.

His three bodies stopped the constant spamming of skills as they each held the ability of the [Incandescent Emperor] still active. This allowed for a regal aura to show on all his three bodies as they were adorned with a golden crown and royal golden robes that shone with majesty!

But his expression was impassive, where one could only observe a light smile as Noah simply watched the condensing of the black circular masses that represented the origins of these dead outsiders. These origins were the things that his Nexus Galaxy needed in order to carry out a terrifying plan.

The circular black masses remained stagnant as they floated in space held up by the unique essence of the Novus Galaxy itself. Noah did not even touch these Origins as he had already obtained the skill points he wanted from taking down separate existences, but no other loot like skill books or cores were given to him this time around!

All of these things were retained within the origins that were floating in space as they made up the core of the Origins of these Outsiders.

But one of the bigger rewards that he had obtained from these three outsiders was actually the memories of the one that he had devoured. These memories told him about a grand Galaxy! A Galaxy filled with trillions of beings, a galaxy that had its reaches spreading out across this unexplored Universe!

His heart beat slightly faster as he absorbed all of this new information and contemplated the future, and he then placed all of it aside for now as there were still three other Outsiders that the terrors were facing outside of the Blood World he had erected.

The Terror of Aether was facing the Blessed with the [Supernova] trait as this being utilized his essence at the nebula rank along with his trait to release explosive strikes that each held an extreme power of a supernova!

But just this was not enough to withstand The Terror of Aether who released an ability much similar to Madness Hegemony as the rounding space became filled with the baleful power of Aether as the Portals of Terror and chaotic rays of ether freely floated around. The state of this Blessed was pitiful as they were barely keeping up their defenses amidst the attacks of the Cthulhu.

The Blessed with the [Ability Mimicry] was in an even worse state as she had mimicked the ability known as [Fireball], hoping to use this fearsome skill to punish the natives of this galaxy. Yet to her dismay, all that this ability released from her hands was a few flimsy fireballs and not the humongous suns that Noah had released prior!

Her Trait was currently still on a cooldown after the first few minutes of using it, and so this meant they did not have as many viable and powerful abilities to use while facing the Ancient Terror! This meant that this Blessed was also on dire straits in this battle as nobody else could even observe her situation as she was wrapped in the Blood World of the Ancient Terror.

The only Outsider who seemed to still be standing head-on as the Space Law Master who was facing the Terror of the Void. His body was constantly shifting and moving across the space as his eyes looked to the battle of his other companion that was on the losing side. He was not even able to observe the states of battle for his other four companions as they were contained in isolated worlds!

His gaze looked hurried as he waited for the Assimilator that should have been contained in Noah's Blood World to come out, and this was because he expected the powerful Grand Controller to have easily been able to defeat the singular native that he faced with Johnny Boy and the Fire Law Master.

Yet to his shock as a few minutes passed by, not a single being came out of the expansive Blood World as his worries only piled up!

RUMBLE!

This was only so until this moment, when this isolated world dissolved and they shockingly saw the scene within as a single being came out of it alive.

The appearance of Noah's three bodies with the same exact regal armament of an Incandescent Emperor gave terror to the two outsiders that could see him as they were actually not able to observe the beginner Assimilator who should have been powerful enough to defeat this being with the support of their other two companions!

As they could already barely hang on to their own battles, this change made them despair!

The Terror of Aether used this chance when the Blessed with the [Supernova] Trait was distracted as he released and compiled multiple portals of terror, his tentacles flooding out and beginning to constrict the space around this Outsider, her fate actually being decided at this instant.

The other Blessed that was facing the Ancient Terror in her own Blood World also could not hang on at this time, not even knowing what was happening to her companions as her defeat also happened in the next few seconds! This only left the Space Law Master who had grown increasingly panicked as he shook his head in stupefaction and fear, his figure starting to turn into a streak of light as he tried to run towards the boundary of the Novus Galaxy!

The Terror of the Void released its own terrifying skills to stop this, but it did not even need to as Noah himself flashed above the space where this Outsider was running towards as he cast yet a simple spell.

[Fireball].

BRRRRRRR!

Scorching suns bloomed in front of Noah from the simple cast of a low-ranking skill as they shot forth like a barrage of bullets, these tens of miles-long suns going on to smash into the body of the worn-out controller as they were able to utterly obliterate his defenses!

OOOM!

The scene that had occurred multiple times before happened again, where yet another origin began to condense in the space of the Novus Galaxy as simultaneously, three more black masses formed.

These black masses of Origins represented the six Outsiders that had come to observe the signal received by the Universal Rift of the Nexus Galaxy, and these six Outsiders had all so easily and ridiculously been taken down in less than half an hour!

All that remained of these Outsiders were small circular black masses that represented the Origins of existences of another galaxy, as well as the Imperial Chariot being pulled along by two Void Beasts that remained stationary far in the distance.

[Now...we can begin.]

RUMBLE!

The nonchalant voice of the Novus Galaxy rang out at this moment as the unique energy that wrapped around the six origins shone with a bright black and white light at this instance, the plan that this terrifying entity had crafted starting to be carried out at this moment!
