

Mana 721

Chapter 721 - Who do you think you are?!

"Anastasia!"

The Imperial Adjudicator called out with a stifling heart as his figure barrier out from the Sanctuary of the Watchers, Anna and Noah doing the same as they saw the Entity was intent on wiping out everyone one.

"CHAARGE!"

OOOOH!

Bellowing cried erupted out as Imperials of all ranks also rushed forward, not even considering their lives as they went to defend their homes!

"Merely a princess that ran away from home, perish for me and maybe I'll drop your corpse in your cl.u.s.ter as a gift!"

Meanwhile, the Entity called out powerfully as a shining light blasted out of her hands. It was filled with the immense power of the Dao of Vitality as it aimed to kill towards Anastasia, the three Middle Tier GALAXY rank Summons around her bellowing out as their bodies shimmered with multiple skills, preparing to intercept as they would rather sacrifice their lives than see their Master hurt.

Off in the distance, Alexei-The Imperial Adjudicator, had a despairing expression as power bubbled forth from him, and Anna had already condensed scorching plasma around her as it went to cover her in a purple-blue majestic armor, her speed nearly meeting her half a step into the GALAXY Realm father as she went forward valiantly!

The power of the Vector Controller shone once more as it would truly grow to be powerful- its user simply had to be given the time.

In this despairing situation where a strike from the Entity thundered forth and many beings went forward to defend with their lives, time seemed to be going extremely slow for Noah as his eyes looked around, and he didn't have to wait too long as in the next instant...it felt like space and time had come to a halt.

A moment after, an aged voice filled with solemnity and ancientness resounded out in the ears of every single being there.

"What made you bold enough to make a move against the Holy Princess of my Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter?"

"..."

RUUUUMBLE!!!

An appalling aura descended.

Out of nowhere, an enormous figure appeared as it cast a shadow over the shattered boundary of the Nexus Galaxy!

It didn't cast a shadow because of its sheer size, but simply because of its power and grandeur as it seemed bigger than anything here.

From this shadow, the only thing the eyes of the many defenders could see was a claw!

An enormous and appallingly vibrant Dragon's Claw!

Feeling this oppressive power and the descending claw, the Entity's eyes squinted tightly as her essence moved!

Let's go back merely minutes prior as we gain a better understanding of how things came to be.

In the vast Dark Universe, one could spend months and years traversing it from one side to another as they went towards specific locations.

It depended on their mode of transportation how fast they could travel, as well as their own power!

In the past days, a particularly powerful collection of beings were traversing wide distances of the Dark Universe- and these beings were powerhouses of the Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter!

This party only consisted of 5 beings- three shockingly gorgeous women, a Middle-aged man, and an Old Man carrying a glimmering cane as he seemed to be in his last stages of life. Yet among all the beings in this party, this Old Man seemed to be the most powerful one as the very space around him tremble when he moved.

These beings were from the Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter, and they were currently moving in the chaotic void on the back of a particularly colossal Animus Summon!

This Ancient Power had always been on the lookout for a particular being, using the bloodline of this being and unique methods to garner her location the moment she utilized something unique to her. In this case, they targeted the use of her summons as the identifier, where the moment one of them was summoned- they would be able to pick up the signal of her location if they were lucky enough.

Such a thing was exactly what happened a few days ago when the signal of a particular Aurora Galaxy Dragon was picked up, and a party had set off from the Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter to follow it right away.

But the distance was truly too massive, and it came from a faraway location where they didn't have Portals set up that could help them traverse such a distance with ease. If things went as they should have, it should have taken them weeks to arrive where the signal was! At that time, they would hope that the being they were trying to find had not moved, or they had to spend even more time searching for her.

This brings us to the current moment where this party was moving through the Dark Universe in haste, calculating that the distance they had left should take them another 3 weeks before they could arrive.

Yet on the Chaotic Void they were traversing in, these powerful experts were suddenly swept up in a spatial storm that they didn't even get a chance to stand against, this spatial storm warping them from their location to an entirely different one in a matter of a millisecond!

The moment this party reappeared, their spread out and alarmed senses picked up a familiar aura and shocking words that caused the man at the very forefront of this party to smile with a cold expression, as the eyes of the Old Man behind him lifted up lazily at the same time.

"Merely a princess that ran away from home..."

The words of the Entity had rang out in their ears as the middle aged man at the forefront turned towards the Old Man, this aged being nodding with lazy eyes as his boisterous voice that resounded throughout the Nexus Galaxy was heard next.

"What made you bold enough to make a move against the Holy Princess of my Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter?"

THRUMM!

With his words, the horrifying pressure that descended towards the Entity was accompanied by the claw of the Animus Summon this party from the Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter was riding through the chaotic void!

This claw glimmering with an immense light of a vibrant galaxy as it tore apart space while descending, directly coming in contact with the cold faced Entity as in the next moment, a horrendous impact was released as even experts felt their blood boil as if their very cells were about to burst!

Chapter 722 - Powerful!

BOOOM!

Two dreadfully powerful forces collided near the shattered barrier of the Nexus Galaxy as the sheer impact and pressure alone pushed everyone nearby back while coughing blood, others directly vaporized from the impact as it was simply that horrendous!

"Why would an unaffiliated Entity be bold enough to attack the Holy Princess of my Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter? Have we not shown our might well enough over these last thousands of years?"

The boisterous and calm voice resounding out got the attention of many to look at where the enormous claw was coming from, the figure of a colossal dragon over 1000 meters in size finally showing itself grandiosely as one could observe a Manifested GALAXY rotating powerful over its body.

SHAA

The powerful Entity that had blocked the Dragon's Claw also appeared below it from the shattered space as one could see her arm trembling, the skin on her hand ruptured in multiple places as bloody bones protruded out!

The gaze of this Entity also climbed up the body of the enormous dragon as her eyes honed in on the figures standing majestically atop it.

The one speaking with a resonant voice was an Old Man carrying a glimmering cane, and beside him stood a valiant looking Middle-aged man with three veiled women behind them!

The middle aged man has a cold look as his eyes did not even glance at the Entity, but they were locked onto the figure of Anastasia not too far away.

His eyes weren't actually happy or joyful, but his cold look carried a trace of anger as he called out!

"Little Sister, you have brought me many troubles over these past years!"

A voice of authority and elegance, a reprimanding voice of an Older Brother toward his Little Sister. Yet...Anastasia had a saddened look at the appearance of this being as she sighed with unknown grievances, waving her hands as her three injured Animus Summons turned into streaks of light and disappeared into her origin!

The pair of brother and sister then looked towards each other, while the Entity and the Old Man with a cane atop the enormous Dragon also locked eyes with each other! A cold atmosphere permeated as these powerful auras oppressed everyone in the nearby region.

Meanwhile, Noah was looking at all of this with shining eyes as he read over the identities of the party and of the enormous Animus that was the mount of the party brought forth by [Deus Ex Machina].

[Starry Behemoth Tarragon](Ultra Rare) :: an Archaic Animus currently at the Peak Tier GALAXY Realm...

[Rudolf Fredrick Windsor] :: A being currently at the Peak Tier GALAXY Realm. As the next Ruler of the Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter, his fate is bound to the lives of uncountable trillions...

[Old Man Khan] :: A being holding the Title of an Entity, currently at the Peak Tier GALAXY Realm. Proficient in the Dao of Summoning, he commands multiple...

The identities of the immediate three beings were read by him as he was shocked by their identities!

One was a genuine Entity, the other was the brother of the Esteemed Anastasia, and the Animus was a pet under the command of the terrifying being that even by his system was known as Old Man Khan.

Truly terrifying figures had been brought forth by his casting of Deus Ex Machina!

The Entity that clashed with the powerful claw of the Starry Behemoth Tarragon looked towards Old Man Khan without saying any words, her body rapidly healing as she seemed to be thinking.

Meanwhile, Old Man Khan floated off the dragon as he went towards the Entity, his aged voice ringing out as it commanded to be revered!

"What's wrong little one? Cat got your tongue?"

His voice was that of someone with very little worries, as if he was simply strolling through the meadows at this moment! His air of calmness even made the female Entity eerie as she finally opened her mouth.

"I am not here for her, just the Galaxy she resides in."

Her voice was calm and measured as the aura of the Dao of Vitality bounced off of her rapidly. The cane of Old Man Khan tapping the starry space as powerful fluctuations erupted out every time!

Old Man Khan nodded at the words of the Entity as he continued floating towards her, doing something that normally no Summoners would do- leave the side of their pets as they went forward themselves.

His eyes seemed to be barely open as Old Man Khan floated until he neared the position of the Entity, coming to float just a few inches away from her as he looked into her wrathful face while lazily speaking out.

"You say that, but your strike was directed towards the Holy Princess to kill. So I want to ask you, little entity..."

THRUMM!

While being just inches away from the powerful Entity, Old Man Khan continued to speak lazily and domineeringly as if the event in front of him was no threat at all!

"...are you going to choose to run like a cornered dog, or do I have to butcher someone here today?"

...!

Domineering! Powerful!

The Old Man that seemed aged and seemingly waving through the starry space as if he could be blown away at any second...this old man stood directly in front of the Entity that came down to bring destruction to the Nexus Galaxy as he asserted his dominance in a shocking fashion.

Yet his words seemed to hold utmost authority as the Entity the Old Man stood in front of only looked towards him with trembling eyes! She then looked towards the enormous Starry Behemoth Tarragon behind this Old Man...and then closed her eyes to hide her unbounded wrath as she remained floating in the starry space!

Noah and the others looked at this scene with stupor as their eyes were truly opened today.

This terrifying Entity had come into the Novus Galaxy screaming bloody murder as she domineeringly shattered its boundary and killed many beings, and this same being was being stepped on by an Old Man that she couldn't even give off the domineering replies she was uttering to them before!

How the tides could so easily change! How the power could so easily shift...

"Well? Do you want to be a dead dog or an alive one?"

The domineering Old Man voiced out again as it seemed his words and energy weren't even worth being spent on the enemy in front of him. The Entity's body shook, her eyes opening with a dangerous light as in front of this Old Man...she backed away!

Both were given the title of Entities, yet she was the one that backed away!

This was because she had years of fighting for survival in the Dark Universe, and she had honed terrifying senses that told her exactly how to move if wanted to keep her life.

This Old Man in front of her...could summon multiple Animus just as powerful as the Starry Behemoth Tarragon that had injured her with one strike. This wasn't to mention the power of the Old Man himself, who shone with an abundant aura of the Dao of Summoning!

So the Entity swallowed her pride as she moved away, her trembling wrath held within as she had to give up on something as precious as a Page of Ruination.

Whatever treasures the inhabitants of the Nexus Galaxy stole from her, she knew they would all be taken by this newly appearing force as she didn't even have the chance to fight for it!

So she pulled back to avoid a deadly fight as she trusted her senses!

At the same time this was occurring, the middle-aged man that had called Anastasia his sister was moving towards her while not even glancing at the enemy entity that was warping away in defeat.

"You will be coming back with me today, Little Sist-"

The words and body of this middle aged man, Rudolf Fredrick Windsor, came to a halt as his eyes picked up another figure behind Anastasia, a girl that had been rushing towards her when the attack of the Entity was first released!

Her veil had been torn off by the terrifying impacts of the attack and her crimson-colored hair and drop-dead gorgeous face that was the exact replica of Anastasia was laid bare for all to see.

As Rudolf saw this scene, his expression twisted as his body began to shake, his eyes looking towards his sister incredulously!

"What have you done?!"

An authoritative voice that demanded answers regarding out, a terrifying aura of a Ruler descending on the surrounding space as shocking events just continued.

The Entity that came seeking destruction was running with her tail between her legs, an appallingly powerful Old Man appearing with his Summon at the Peak of GALAXY as the future Ruler of the Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter came to pick up his sister!

Noah watched all of these events with shining eyes as he awaited the developments, with his heart set more on the soon to come notifications of his Protagonist Trait being completed as soon as the Nexus Galaxy deemed his mission successful and granted everything to him...

Chapter 723 - Invitation to An Ancient Power!

Abruptly, Rudolf Fredrick Windsor waved his hands as a dark mist spread out from him, covering his figure and the figures of Anastasia and Anna in a blink as all those watching could not hear or see anything happening within this dark mist.

Inside of it, Rudolf's expression was livid as he stared at his sister.

"You had a child."

"Un."

Anastasia nodded with a calm expression as she pulled Anna close, this Imperial Princess looking over Rudolf, who should have been her uncle- with careful eyes!

The future Ruler of the Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter looked over the figures of the two women multiple times, his authoritative voice ringing out again, and this time with murderous intent.

"The father?"

"...Dead."

Silence overtook the surroundings as the anger in Rudolf's eyes shimmered even more. He was about to erupt when the melodious voice of Anastasia rang out with calmness.

"I will come back with you. Willingly at that as I play the role I ran away from."

Her words calmed the wrathful eyes of Rudolf greatly as she continued.

"All I need from you is an assurance to protect this Galaxy that I made my home these past years, and to guarantee the safety of my daughter when we return!"

Anastasia's gaze was filled with conviction when she said this, Rudolf glancing towards her with glimmering eyes as he replied.

"Even if she is from a dead unknown toad, do you think I would not value the life of my own Niece?"

His words still contained anger and authority, but a hint of cunning flowed through them as many thoughts crossed his mind when he looked at Anna!

His sister did not have any weaknesses before, which was why she was able to do what she did in the past. Yet now...

"As long as she is from you, she is of the bloodline of the great Sage Windsor! Nothing can change that..."

His words were filled with mystery as Anastasia nodded, the sadness within her eyes immeasurable as Anna saw this and adopted a strong expression, speaking out for the first time to this powerful being that was her Uncle!

"We do not wish to return, you can see that. You would force your own sister?!"

Her words weren't respectful one bit as Rudolf had thought many things while calming down, the wrath he showed before wiped away and hidden within as he calmly spoke while looking over his niece.

"This involves things you do not understand, my dear new Niece. Things that are even out of my control! This involves the wills of two Ancient Powers, the wills of Hegemonies that cannot be denied!"

RUMBLE!

"Your mother has denied it long enough, and she now has to accept her role...with the repercussions that come from it."

His face shone with royalty as he made his stance clear, looking around them as he scrunched up his nose and continued.

"Let us make haste back home, the fringes of the Dark Universe hold nothing for us."

His hands waved towards Anastasia and Anna as the mother held her daughter's hand and went towards Rudolf. From the cloudy mist surrounding them, a path was made as it led towards the head of the enormous Starry Behemoth Tarragon where three veiled women were standing, the bodies bowing to Anastasia as they called out respectfully.

"Holy Princess."

THRUM!

Hearing these words caused an unknown light to shine in Anastasia's eyes, landing on the head of the Tarragon as they looked to the starry sky where the dark mist was dispersing, seeing the faces of Imperials and other inhabitants of the Nexus Galaxy that didn't dare move a muscle in front of the recently arriving overpowering auras!

Anastasia gave a cursory glance towards the Imperials as she didn't even focus on the face Adjudicator that she had sent a telepathic message to for him to move back and distance himself from her. She then landed her eyes on the confident face of Alexander as she thought for a bit, speaking towards her brother once more with a calm expression.

"During my time here, I took in Anna's friend as a Disciple. He's someone with immense talent as he comprehended the Dao in a day and was capable of summoning an Ultra Rare Summon."

...!

Her words caused the heads of the three veiled women to shift as Rudolf Fredrick Windsor squinted his eyes towards the figures of Imperials, these eyes shining with light as while sensing for the aura of the Dao, they came to land on Noah!

"Him?..."

He stroked his beard thoughtfully as he waved his hand, a triangular crystal Medallion that shone with a red l.u.s.ter appearing as he spoke.

"Even if he has stepped on the path of the Dao of Summoning, he still has to go through the proper channels to join my Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter. This will give him the right to seek entrance as a Dao Disciple!"

Waves of spatial fluctuations erupted out as the triangular crystal Medallion appeared in front of Noah, the voice of Rudolf appearing in his mind soon after as he changed his expression.

"This is the tool that will guide you to my Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter. Make your way there and show this as you will be tested to prove your genius, and you might just be able to join an Ancient Power."

RUMBLE!

The voice was filled with power as Noah humbly nodded, Rudolf looking towards Old Man Khan who was also returning atop the Starry Behemoth Tarragon after making a genuine Entity turn tail and run!

The future ruler of the Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter then gave a thorough look to the many inhabitants of the Nexus Galaxy as his eyes contained deep disdain and arrogance, waving his hands as they were about to leave when Anna's strong voice came out.

"I also want my Maids who have been with me since young to come, Maya and Raya."

She spoke to her uncle like this was a must as the devilishly gorgeous Imperial Princess was not awed by his might one bit, Rudolf glancing towards her and seeing her strong expression as she nodded with a smile.

"Attendants are not bad."

With such words, Maya and Raya that were looking towards Anna with watery eyes from the distance soon appeared above the head of the Starry Behemoth Tarragon.

Rudolf then glanced towards Old Man Khan as he gave a command.

"Per my sister's words, we shall bring this little Galaxy under our protection."

The words seemed simple, but Old Man Khan nodded while opening his lazy eyes and tapping his cane on the space beneath him. Immense essence erupted out as a red light shone, an insignia forming outside the boundary of the Nexus Galaxy that represented one word- EXPANSIVE!

This was a word containing authority and backing of an Ancient Power, where any powerful Entities that passed through this Galaxy would know that it was under the protection of the Ancient Power residing in the Expansive Dragon Cluster. Anyone that went against this authority and did anything to the inhabitants of this Galaxy...would face the full might of this Ancient Power!

With this action, the Nexus Galaxy had shockingly withered through a catastrophic event, many beings not knowing that the person responsible for things playing out this way was none other than the Protagonist that had cast Deus Ex Machina...

Chapter 724 - A Completed Protagonist Trait!

The hearts of many beings were heavy as they had just undergone too many abrupt events in the Nexus Galaxy!

The Imperials watched on with shocked eyes as an extremely powerful Starry Behemoth Tarragon shimmered with a grand Manifested Galaxy, this enormous dragon laying its eyes on the Nexus Galaxy once more as its figure began to disappear in front of their eyes.

On top of it, Anna was the only one looking back at the Imperials as her gaze landed on the body of Alexander, her mouth moving as she whispered a telepathic message to him.

"I better see you soon. Who knows, maybe even in this situation you can..."

Her last words were left unsaid as she shook her head, turning her gaze away as the Starry Behemoth Tarragon disappeared! Nobody on top of it spared another glance at the Nexus Galaxy, even Anastasia forcing herself to keep her head forward as she did not want to be seen turning around!

She left behind a saddened Imperial Adjudicator who had been receiving telepathic messages from her this entire time for him to not make a move, this father having been forced to watch his wife and daughter taken from him right before his eyes while he could not do a single thing!

The sense of powerlessness and defeat he felt was only expressed the moment when the figures of the powerful personages disappeared, his knees falling down in the starry space as his ashen face was filled with perspiration! His body shook as he clenched his fists, some of the nearby Imperial Rulers and Imperial Lords approaching him as others worked to provide order and oversee the repairing of the boundary of the Nexus Galaxy.

Aboard the enormous Starry Behemoth Tarragon that had just left the Nexus Galaxy, Rudolf was looking at the expansive chaotic void as he telepathically communicated with Old Man Khan.

"There is a mysterious force or being connected to that Galaxy. That spatial storm that swept us away even with our power for us to be taken there just in time to save the Holy Princess and the rest of them...we need to keep a lookout for who was behind it."

Old Man Khan opened his eyes into slits as he nodded. "The emblem showing our authority was cast down by me, I'll be able to keep my eyes on it for the next thousand years."

This hidden talk continued in the minds of these powerful experts as beside them, the Holy Princess had already begun to adopt a cold demeanor as she brought her daughter close, these drop-dead gorgeous women having telepathic communications of their own as a mother prepared her daughter for what was to come.

For a trip that would take weeks, the party made their way back to the Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter as their mount pierced deeper into the Dark Universe!

Meanwhile in the Nexus Galaxy, the distraught Imperial Adjudicator adopted a fierce expression as he turned towards the body of Alexander. He went towards this newly crowned Imperial Ruler with sharp eyes as he nearly bowed his head while sending him a message.

"When you make your way toward the Expansive Dragon Cl.u.s.ter in the future, please watch over Anna!"

His words were filled with emotion as this Ruler nearly bowed his head to who should have been another one of his subjects, but he saw Rudolf hand Alexander a crystalline medallion as he knew Anastasia must have spoken about his genius and wanted to recruit him!

Noah nodded with a serious expression as he affirmed he would do all he could, the Imperial Adjudicator staring at him briefly before he moved away to work with the other Imperials to repair the portion of their shattered Galaxy.

At this same time, the clone of Alexander in the Central Realm of the Nexus Galaxy received a message!

[Our deal can be considered to be complete.]

RUMBLE!

The words of the Nexus Galaxy were followed with an eruption of essence, Noah's eyes shining as he very quickly switched the position of his main body and clone in order to bring the true body of Alexander that would be receiving something grand without picking up the attention of anyone.

The main body of Alexander appeared in the Central Realm as he stared at the obsidian core, the eruption of galactic essence rushing directly towards him right away as he was bathed in a gorgeous rainbow of colors!

[The conditions to grant the full Protagonist Trait have been met.]

THRUUM!

Essence overflowed as Noah closed his eyes and bathed in it once more, this being his second time where he completed a shocking Trait that would forever change him. The galactic essence flooded towards him for a few minutes as it inscribed something deep in his soul, the essence of the universal laws also being sucked in as they were forced to adhere to the shocking qualities of this Trait.

The Nexus Galaxy did not know this, but far off in the distance multiple light years away, the Novus Galaxy was utilizing the rule-defying capabilities of the Ruination Core through the connection of Noah and Alexander to make sure this trait completion truly granted Noah all it could as the universal laws went forward to bring it to completion!

[The Trait has been successfully completed.]

WAA!

The erupting essence around Noah died down as he opened his eyes, a sharp smile appearing on his face as he glanced towards a blinking trait in the stat panel in front of him.

[Protagonist] :: You are the protagonist. To live up to such a title, abilities worthy of creating a true Protagonist are granted. As it is a culminated Trait, it has different stages that each have their own abilities. This trait has been fully unlocked at this moment. Ability(s) : Eyes of Truth, Photographic Memory, Memorable Visage, Blind Luck, Plot Armor, Chosen Extras, Deus Ex Machina, Chosen One, Save Point, Protagonist's Bookmark.

The Trait he transmigrated into the Nexus Galaxy for was displayed in a stellar style in front of him as three new abilities were unlocked!

He also knew that the surprises did not stop there, and that the extent of the previous abilities would have also been enhanced. An example was his [Eyes of Truth] ability, where he should not be able to glance at anything as he saw the full truth, with no issues of suddenly seeing undecipherable symbols as secrets were kept from him.

He looked forward to using this ability the most on a particular set of rare items that even Entities were fighting for...

But before that, he wanted to affirm the uses of the three new abilities. His eyes looked over the three as he chose the last one that was undecipherable before, the one that read [Protagonist's Bookmark]!

[Protagonist's Bookmark] :: A true protagonist has their trials, but they also have their moments where they shine with blinding power. To further create a truly powerful Protagonist, the last ability of this Trait makes the holder of it capable of 'Bookmarking' the characters that they previously came in contact with. To those Bookmarked, the Protagonist can descend onto their body without their knowledge as he becomes able to assimilate into them for a period of 1 minute. In this period of time, the Protagonist can choose to focus on a specific area such as Experiences, Laws, Realm Progression, Daos...everything that the bookmarked character has accomplished as the Protagonist can rapidly raise their law progression or learn a new law, gains years of experience, enhance their understandings of Realms, enhance their understanding of a current Dao, or step on the path of a brand new Dao that the bookmarked character is adept on. Only a previously met character that the Protagonist saw with their own eyes can be bookmarked, and a 30 day cool down exists before the ability can be utilized again.

"..."

Noah read over the description of the ability multiple times as he didn't even have the words.

He...

He was truly speechless at this point!

Chapter 725 - A True Protagonist!

The last unlocked ability of the Protagonist Trait was truly something!

Noah himself had to read over it multiple times just to be sure he understood everything about it.

[This Trait is unlike any other ones I've granted before, and I have a feeling that I would not be able to grant it to anyone again no matter how much I try. As for its uses...I'm confused as to why the Universal Laws even allowed it to be birthed and come to fruition.]

The voice of the Nexus Galaxy rang out in his mind as it commented on the impossibility of Trait, Noah only giving a light smile as he continued to look at [Protagonist's Bookmark].

The core of it was the fact that he could select someone, or the so called term of 'bookmark' them as he could descend onto their body without their knowledge! He could then choose from a variety of options to benefit from, with his mind already thinking of the esteemed characters of Rudolf and Old Man Khan that he had met just a few minutes ago!

If he could bookmark one of those characters and be assimilated into them for just that one minute, what percentage of advancement would be shown in his Dao of Summoning if he focused to experience their comprehension of it while the skill was active?

This single thought buzzed through his mind as he made a note and planned, his gaze going down to the other 2 new abilities as his expectations were driven insanely high. First up was something he was very knowledgeable in when he played games in the past, a feature that you could use with your character that saved all your progress for you to load it up whenever you wished- it was Save Point!

[Save Point] :: The Protagonist can utilize this ability at any point in time, allowing them to establish their Origin and Soul into a unique Spacetime Continuum that they can return to if their life is ever at the point of being taken away. Right before the time of death, this skill will automatically activate if there is a Save Point available, preventing the death of the Protagonist as they are brought back in time. Aside from the automatic activation right before death, the Protagonist can also choose to return to a previous Save Point at any time they wish. This ability has a cool down of 30 days.

"Well..."

His eyes shone at its details as while he was taken down a notch by the continuing cool downs of the abilities, he just gained yet another powerful life saving measure that would guarantee his life in the near future. His eyes then landed on the last ability that was purely termed 'Chosen One'!

[Chosen One] :: The Protagonist is meant for something greater, and they must play a central role in the designated area they currently reside in. The current holder of the Protagonist Trait is in the Dark Universe, thus in this area, they will find that their movements are inadvertently mixed with the major forces of the universe as they always end up the center of all problems...as well as the solutions. With this ability, as long as the holder of the Protagonist Trait doesn't fall off a cliff and die- all they would need is time as they somehow become embroiled into every major event as they play the role of the chosen one, the singular character that will always be there to prevent disasters and save the day.

Yet another ridiculous Trait showed itself in front of his eyes as he didn't even know how to feel at this point. All of the abilities he continued to find in the Protagonist Trait gave such unique and shocking abilities that when looking at them, he nearly began deluding himself into thinking he was truly the main character of some story!

He had to shake his head as he erased this thought away, thinking that he was entertaining himself too much with such a thought. Him? The main character of a story? It was only something he thought in passing as he smiled at the thought. If he truly was the main character of a story, he would want to be one that was overly powerful and bulldozed over every obstacle in front of him.

He wouldn't be struggling as Noah had been struggling over these past months!

"Ahh..."

But as he looked at all of these abilities, he could genuinely say that in terms of his Trait, he had become a true Protagonist on this day! He didn't even know how to compare the grandness of the Protagonist Trait with his Infinite Mana Trait, where it seemed the both of them excelled in certain aspects. But if he had to choose which one he considered of utmost importance...he would still say it was his Infinite Mana!

This was because his Infinite Mana trait stayed at the core of everything. Whatever he wanted to do, he needed mana. Even the protagonist Trait could only be utilized because he had unlimited mana due to the high energy requirements of its abilities. But the survivability aspect that the Protagonist Trait granted...it was just utterly ridiculous.

Pulling his thoughts away, he looked at the other factors of the Protagonist Trait while the process of rebuilding continued in the Nexus Galaxy. Aside from the new skills, there was also the enhanced version of previous skills that Noah simply loved! One of these was the fact that for the two abilities of [Plot Armor] and [Deus Ex Machina], their cool down had reduced to 21 days instead of 30!

The rest of the prior abilities simply got enhancements in their effects as Noah actually looked at the complete form of [Eyes of Truth] with the most anticipation.

This was because with this, he would never come across any unintelligible words when he glanced at anything in the future, and he wanted to start with the main treasure that had made many things possible for him, the treasure that he could only gleam a small and simple description of in the past as his eyes burst just from looking at it!

In the Novus Galaxy, the body of Noah opened his eyes as he also saw the same descriptions of the Protagonist Trait as Alexander, his body warping away as he appeared deep in the Central Realm of the Novus Galaxy near the glimmering obsidian core.

Today, he would gaze his eyes upon something grand once more!

Chapter 726 - The Dreadful History of the Tools of Ruination!

The Novus Galaxy knew Noah's purpose the moment he appeared as from its mystical obsidian core, the red and black shimmering Ruination Core that looked like a small square item with numerous holes appeared!

The last time he gazed at this, his eyes had ruptured as he only got a paragraph of a description. But with the completing Protagonist Trait that enhanced his Eyes of Truth...he should be able to know everything about this mystical treasure.

RUMBLE!

His eyes shimmered with intense multicolored lights that went on to shine on the Ruination Core, a blinding light erupting out as in the next moment, multiple enormous text boxes appeared in Noah's vision!

These text boxes all gave information on the Ruination Core, and all that Noah could say at this time was that the information he got...was too abundant! His eyes honed in on the first text box as he began reading, intent on finding out what this Ruination Core truly was.

Ruination Core :: A tool of extreme power that more often than not invites destruction to its user. Capable of interfering with the Universal Laws themselves, it is a tool of Ruination that has multiple counterparts spread out across the Dark Universe. A special constitution is required to wield tools of Ruination. When all the tools of Ruination are gathered, the Dark Universe will be returned to its natural state. The information found on this Ruination Core is too vast, and has been categorized into multiple parts. [Excerpt I- History], [Excerpt II-Uses], [Excerpt III- Locations of other Ruination Tools]...

...!

Normally, Noah would simply read for himself as the rest of us read a summary, but this was such important information and history as it had to be experienced first hand for one to truly understand what meaning it held!

While being alarmed at the abundance of information, Noah proceeded forward as he wanted to learn of the history of this item first.

[Excerpt I- History] :: This Ruination Core is a tool of power and destruction that came from a stupendous and naturally formed Cosmic Treasure. It cannot be utilized by normal means as it requires a specific constitution in order for it to be utilized by beings. Entities such as Galaxies in a universes are capable of utilizing some of its functions as when separated, the tools of Ruination more than likely seek cores of Galaxies as their home.

When it comes to the constitution required to utilize it, a being needs to have the fully formed prime laws of their universe (Light, Dark, Fire, Water, Earth, and Air) within their origin. This constitution is termed the Universal Origin Physique, something achieved very little times over the eons as its creation was truly too hard.

A single Ruination Core is only capable of residing in one of the mastered Law Origins within the Universal Origin Physique, where the being capable of locating the remaining five Ruination Cores and combining them into each of his Law Origins...this being shall be capable of bringing down Ruination.

To understand the concept of Ruination, one must understand how it came to be in the first place, as well as what caused the splintering of the Cosmic Treasure that made way for the formation of the Six Ruination Cores.

In the past, the complete Cosmic Treasure was not able to be wielded by the beings that obtained it. These beings were termed Sages, Entities that were capable of surpassing the boundary of the GALAXY Realm as they achieved accomplishments that very few experience. When the Cosmic Treasure was first located, it passed through the hands of multiple Sages and Great Sages, these powerful beings not being able to utilize the treasure until all of them combined the power of their Realms and comprehensions in Laws and Daos in order to put it to use.

When the Sages and Great Sages of the Dark Universe began to utilize the Cosmic Treasure, they found to their shock its stupendous uses that made way for great advancements in their comprehensions and Realms, as well as the capability of the treasure to affect the laws and daos of universes!

During this long forgotten era of eons past, it went under a particular name that only the top most beings knew of. The Era when the Sages and Great Sages of the Dark Universe began to utilize the Cosmic Treasure that would later fracture into Ruination Cores was known as the...Primordial Era.

During this Primordial Era, the Dark Universe, like many other Universes, was connected to the Primordial Cosmos. It was a period of grand advancements and flourishing as with the use of the Cosmic Treasure known as Ruination, the Dark Universe was able to elevate its status as it produced many more Sages and Great Sages, where some beings even began seeing the path past it!

With this treasure, traversing through laws was easy as learning the Lesser and Grand Daos became a walk in the path, where a few powerful Great Sages even stepped on the path of Cosmic Daos.

Yet, this was also the time when other Universes of the Primordial Cosmos found out about the Cosmic Treasure, as well as what the Dark Universe had been able to do with it. This finding...would be the cause of a dreadful war that brought with it horrendous results...]

...!

Noah's body was trembling unconsciously the more he read on, the information contained within this single Ruination Core being simply too overwhelming! The content he was reading from it did not even feel like something he should be able to read, and it was only made possible by the newly enhanced Eyes of Truth as it truly gave him utterly everything.

He could not tear his eyes away as he continued to read!

[...The War brought forth for the stupendous Cosmic Treasure known as Ruination was true to its name- True and appalling ruination spread through the Primordial Cosmos as the war waged for hundreds of years, and its flames only spurred even greater on the 999th year.

This was because even while facing the might of multiple other Universes, the Dark Universe had actually managed to remain standing strong in the Primordial Cosmos. This fact only caused even more universes to turn their attention towards them as their enemies only increased, more and more coming to understand the terrifying effects of the Cosmic Treasure as a major portion of the Primordial Cosmos set their eyes on the Dark Universe.

It was at this time that the Sages and Great Sages of the Dark Universe felt themselves to be at the edge of a cliff. Even while continuing to use the Cosmic Treasure to produce more Sages and enhance their understanding in the Daos and Laws, the swarming of multiple universes was gradually overwhelming them as they were left with very few options!

At this stage, the Great Sage that had stepped on a Cosmic Dao came forth, this Great Sage proposing a shocking solution that would stop the war with the other Universes as well as grant them the freedom to continue advancing and learning more about the Cosmic Treasure. What this Great Sage proposed was for them to use the terrifying power of the Cosmic Treasure to break off the Dark Universe from the Primordial Cosmos, forever separating them in this Primordial Era as they used the power of the Cosmic Treasure to hide themselves to never be found by any forces from the Primordial Cosmos.

The solution seemed very viable, and the many sages moved forward with enthusiasm to see if they could make it possible!

But what they didn't know was the fact that this action would affect too many things, that this singular action would set the Dark Universe on a path of destruction and Ruination, on a path that it was still headed to right now...]

As he read on, Noah's body had stopped shaking as it was his eyes that trembled, but they didn't tremble in shock or surprise- they were trembling from ever-rising and propagating anger as the content he read next...was one that birthed immense wrath and devastation from the depths of his heart.

The information was simply too much!

Chapter 727 - I Shall Usher in the Winds of Ruination! I

In the Novus Galaxy, a single being was unveiling shocking truths that very few knew about in the vast Dark Universe!

His unveiling was only made possible because of the completion of a ridiculous Trait, but it was made possible nonetheless as shocking information was shown clearly in front of him.

The Ruination Cores actually stemmed from the Cosmic Treasure, [Ruination], that the Sages and Great Sages of the Dark Universe utilized to make grand advancements.

This Cosmic Treasure was also the reason for other Universes of the Primordial Cosmos to aim their blades towards the Dark Universe, this single treasure plunging the Primordial Era into chaos as many forces fought for it.

The shocking event that brought an end to it...was something that was due to the actions of the Sages and Great Sages of the Dark Universe, where they utilized the Cosmic Treasure to carry out a drastic measure!

Noah's eyes were continuing to burn with ever increasing anger as it soon became unbounded wrath the more that he continued to read the [Excerpt I- History] that was visible to his eyes.

[Excerpt I- History] :: ...The Great Stage that had stepped on the path of a Cosmic Dao led the way as all the Sages and Great Sages of the Dark Universe were brought together to make their wish into a reality.

All of them used their power and strength to connect to the Cosmic Treasure, Ruination, as they carried out an action that eventually led to the shattering of the treasure and the creation of the Ruination Cores such as this.

In order to escape from the ever increasing forces of multiple Universes fighting for their Cosmic Treasure, the Sages and Great Sages of the Dark Universe chose to cut off their Universe from the Primordial Cosmos as they forever disappeared from it, those wishing them harm never being able to find their Universe ever again!

But to successfully sever the connection of an entire universe from the Primordial Cosmos...a sacrifice was required. The only one that knew of this was the Great Sage that had embarked on a Cosmic Dao, all the other Sages having no idea until when the process began, they felt their very own life forces being drained on top of their mana as they tried to power up the Cosmic Treasure and grant their wish.

To power up the Cosmic Treasure, the life forces of all the powerful Sages and Great Sages of the Dark Universe were eaten up, where the only one remaining alive was the Great Sage that had begun it, this being giving the last command before his soul perished for the firmament of the Dark Universe, for the separation of it from the Primordial Cosmos!

The wish of this Great Sage and all the other Sages was actually granted as the Cosmic Treasure performed a measure nobody in the Primordial Cosmos had seen before, where the enemy Universes found to their shock that where the Dark Universe used to be...had suddenly become empty.

They found to their shock that throughout the entire Primordial Cosmos, the Dark Universe had disappeared overnight!

Towards this action, they could only despair as they gave up on the stupendous Treasure they never even held. This was because within the Primordial Cosmos, those qualified could easily travel among the different Universes, but nobody had been able to ever leave the Primordial Cosmos.

When a Universe disappeared for the first time in the history of the Primordial Cosmos, waves reverberated throughout as many would forever search for a truth that they would never be able to find.

The moment that the Cosmic Treasure completed its grand task of separating an entire Dark Universe from its Cosmos, cracks spread throughout it as the task was simply too much, and there was no master to control it. This caused for the Cosmic Treasure to splinter as from it...the Ruination Cores were born.

Yet, this Cosmic Treasure seemed to have a form of consciousness as during the time it shattered, it created a book that displayed some of its mysteries...a book that might make it possible for beings of the Dark Universe to be able to utilize the Ruination Cores in the future!

This was how the Book of Ruination came to be, with the impact from the birth of the Ruination Cores flinging the pages of this book across the vast Dark Universe. On these pages were a variety of mysteries, but the core treasures that remained were the Ruination Cores.

These Ruination Cores spread throughout the different parts of the Dark Universe, the history of what they just carried out being something very few knew as all those involved had fallen!

All the Sages and Great Sages of the Dark Universe perished from this single action, only some of their descendants left behind in Ancient Powers having some residual knowledge of this shocking history as time passed.

But what the Sages of the Dark Universe did not know by carrying out this action...was the fact that one could not simply separate a Universe from its Primordial Cosmos.

The Primordial Cosmos could be compared to a body, where the many universes within it made up its organs, bones, muscles, fingers, and toes. Cutting off an organ or removing it from the main body...would only mean there was destruction waiting for it!

This was the point that all the Sages and Great Sages had missed.

The Cosmic Treasure stayed true to its name as the last action conducted by it truly brought about Ruination, cutting off a Universe from its Primordial Cosmos as all that was left for it...was Apocalyptic Ruination...]

THRUUM!

Noah could feel his heart aching as he read on, this being the source of his ever so rising wrath!

The Sages and Great Sages of the Dark Universe had actually condemned all of its inhabitants to certain death.

They had played with forces outside their understanding as they all perished, and they went further on by dooming an entire Universe!

"Fools!"

Chapter 728 - I Shall Usher in the Winds of Ruination! II

"Fools!"

He bellowed out as his heart truly felt stifled, everything he had been working for all this time seemingly being for naught.

From the blue planet he came from until this point he was in right now, he realized that he had never escaped the Apocalypse!

He was in it then, and he was still in it now as undoubtedly, the Dark Universe was headed towards its own destruction. Who knew how long it would be, who knew how many days or months or years were left.

All he knew was that everything and everyone within it...would all perish and die!

No matter what he did...he would die!

The Dark Universe was headed towards destruction the moment the Sages carried out their actions, what they thought was them saving their Universe being the thing that utterly and ultimately set it on a path of Ruination, exactly what the name of the Cosmic Treasure was.

Ruination!

The splitting of the Dark Universe from the Primordial Cosmos was like cutting a leaf off of a tree- this leaf was bound to wither and die in a matter of time! Such a thing was exactly what was happening right now, where the Dark Universe was a cut leaf that was already withering and would soon turn into nothingness as everything within perished!

No matter what Noah did, he would be perishing along with it too! This was the reason for his immense wrath- it was because of the stupidity of the Sages and Great Sages that did not know what their actions fully did, and for the greed of the other Universes of the Primordial Cosmos that cornered them in the first place.

"Fools!"

He bellowed out again with immense rage as beside him, even the core of the Novus Galaxy could not comment!

"..."

Minutes passed as he simmered in rage, continuing his viewing of the description of the [History] portion of the Ruination Core. None of the details changed, but a single paragraph was all that remained in the end as he forced himself to read it.

[...If the Cosmic Treasure known as Ruination is reassembled once more by a being with the Universal Origin Physique, a possibility exists to undo what had been done in the past. For this to be brought to fruition, the Ruination Cores have to be gathered as once more since the time of the Primordial Era...Ruination shall be brought forth once more.]

RUMBLE!

With a wrathful mind and a shaking heart, Noah read the last few words over and over again as amidst his red eyes, a brilliant light began to shine!

There were still many things he didn't know, but the shocking history of the Cosmic Treasure known as Ruination was displayed in front of him with clarity. Aside from the portions that induced his anger, the last paragraph was one that gave hope amidst the dark tunnel of the apocalypse.

The action that the Sages and Great Sages of the Dark Universe had taken on the past...there lay a possibility to reverse it!

The leaf that had been cut off the main tree of the Primordial Cosmos...there lay a possibility to stitch it back before it withered and died.

Calming his rage, Noah looked at these words as his expression hardened, his thoughts moving as an immense choice lay in front of him.

He only hesitated for a total of 5 seconds, and he then made up his mind!

Just 5 seconds, and he made the decision that was true to him! He would not simply lie down as he waited for the eventual destruction of the Dark Universe that was torn away from the Primordial Cosmos. This was not like him.

Instead, he would give it his all to change it as the task in front of him...was extremely grand!

If he undertook it, it would give him the sole responsibility for the lives of an uncountable number of beings, but it would mean the entire Dark Universe would not perish.

To even begin doing all of this, he had to not only collect the remaining 6 Ruination Cores, but complete all of the 6 Law Origins of Light, Dark, Fire, Water, Earth, Air as he used them to hold a Ruination Core each!

Once he achieved this, he could possibly reverse the actions of the Sages and Great Sages of the Dark Universe...but it would mean he would bring forth Ruination once more!

The Cosmic Treasure that caused all of this...he had to bring it back in order to change the fate of the Dark Universe.

To save the Dark Universe, he had to bring down Ruination!

An extremely heavy burden to shoulder, but as he looked inside his origin and saw the swirling Law Origins, he affirmed that he was one of the very few if not the only one capable of even shouldering it. So he steeled his heart as his face rose.

He glanced away from the panel that showed the History of the Ruination Core as his eyes locked to the floating obsidian core that was the Novus Galaxy.

In front of this galaxy, his wrath transformed into extreme calm as he uttered what seemed like ramblings, with his voice growing louder and firmer each time.

"Ruination..."

"The Sages and Great Sages of old all perished from this single Treasure, and I...I will bring it forth once more!"

THRUMM!

"I will do it! I will collect all the Ruination Cores as I set us back on the right path, as I rejoin the Dark Universe with the Primordial Cosmos!"

"I shall usher into this Universe...Ruination!"

...!!!

Essence raged all around him as in this area that was thick with universal law essence, it seemed to have become particularly active as it raged around him vibrantly.

His words seemed to have evoked some sort of change as all sorts of Universal law essences surrounded him, his image becoming extremely imposing as amidst his chilling calm, his rage still remained at the ones that had caused all this!

On this day in the Novus Galaxy, a shocking vow was made that would forever change the direction of utter annihilation of the Dark Universe!

Ah!

Chapter 729 - The Disgusting Effects of a Ruination Core

As Noah made a grand vow, the universal law essences around him raged as if they agreed with his choice, his image at this moment being extremely eye catching as he looked like a grand existence that released an extremely oppressive pressure. This was very hard to describe as Noah wouldn't normally release such an oppressive demeanor, yet his mind was gradually being forged and changed as he experienced shocking adventures and truths that he never thought possible!

His eyes carried a trace of coldness as extreme calm settled in, his fiery gaze going back on the Ruination Core still floating in front of him.

To begin his mission, he had to first start with the Ruination Core in front of him. He waved his hands as he pulled the panels of text boxes containing its information, moving from the [History] portion and into the [Uses].

[Excerpt II- Uses] :: When it was a full Cosmic Treasure, the uses of Ruination were vast. After splintering into 6 Ruination Cores, each one carries a number of uses that relate to laws, Daos, and miscellaneous 'affixes' that the holder of the Ruination Core can set.

To be considered a holder of a Ruination Core, one must have the Universal Origin Physique with all six laws (Light, Dark, Fire, Water, Earth, Air) mastered before even one Ruination Core can choose a Law Origin as its home.

When a single Ruination Core has been successfully equipped, the user gains the ability to choose one of the following effects to be inscribed on their Soul (Only ONE effect can be selected per Ruination Core).

Ruinaton Core Affixes :: +10,000% Comprehension & Assimilation to the Law of Life, +10,000% Comprehension & Assimilation in the Law of Death, +10,000% Comprehension & Assimilation in the Law of Fate, +10,000% Comprehension & Assimilation in the Law of Chaos...+10,000% Enhanced Effects(Defensive/Offensive/Auxiliary) to the Law of Death, +10,000% Enhanced Effects(Defensive/Offensive/Auxiliary) to the Law of Life...

Ruinaton Core Affixes :: +10,000% Comprehension & Assimilation in the Dao of Summoning, +10,000% Comprehension & Assimilation in the Dao of Vitality...+10,000% Enhanced Effects(Defensive/Offensive/Auxiliary) to the Dao of Macrocosm...

Ruinaton Core Affixes :: 10% chance to Smite enemies for 10,000% Ruination Damage when you hit them, Slain enemies explode into crystallized Blood Orbs that enhance physical constitution, +10,000 to All Damage, +10,000 to Defense, +10,000 to Attack and Cast Speed, Damage Dealt to enemies increases by 10% for every enemy near 50 meters of you...

"..."

Noah's call gaze only had slight shaking as he remained cold, his mood heavily being changed by the shocking truth he just found out that he would have otherwise been jumping for joy while raucously laughing at the boosts he could choose from by equipping a single Ruination Core!

His sharp eyes honed in on the fact that he could only choose a single effect affix to attach to himself once he equipped the Ruination Core, but a single effect was more than shocking enough as it could enable him to advance through a single law or dao at +10,000% speed than normal, or enhance the effects of those laws or daos by the same percentage.

This wasn't to mention the shocking effects of the [Miscellaneous] affixes that numbered over a hundred, just the first few he saw showing something extremely twisted like having a 10% to Smite enemies for 10,000% Ruination Damage when his attacks reached them.

This...

Was truly ridiculous!

Such were the Ruination Core's effects when utilized by a being! Such was the effect of an item capable of twisting universal laws!

But for Noah to equip this item...he needed to master 6 laws.

Fire and water were already at 100%, with Earth and Air currently at 99%!

Only light and Dark each had about 20-30% remaining before he could max these as well.

Seeing the stellar floating Ruination Core in front of him, his mind was made up as he sat down right away in the Central Realm.

He wasn't the only one as all his clones and Alexander and all of his clones in the Nexus Galaxy also took their positions as today...he would completely master all 6 laws!

The way he went about this was of course by doing something that nobody else could do- he began by activating each of the techniques to cultivate the laws of Light, Dark, Earth, and Air that had not yet reached 100% completion as after these law techniques were activated, the two trees within his origin thrummed as they also began trembling.

RUMBLE!

The dense universal law essence converged around him as he didn't just cultivate the four laws he needed to master at this moment, but all the laws that had not reached 100% as the dense culmination of life and death essence roiled around him and swirled into the Trees of Life and Death.

RIING!

All of these laws being cultivated at once caused a sense of resonance as the Ultimate Laws increased the speeds of all other law comprehensions, the effect of the Endowment he had cast in the Novus Galaxy also going along to achieve a rapid cultivation pace!

But this wasn't all! There was also another thing he could now utilize which caused a vibrant reaction when cultivating laws- and it was the Dao! His calculative mind moved as he also activated [Dao of Summoning Traverser], a majestic swirling descent of the Dao appearing above each of his bodies as the law essence around him only became wilder.

As this shocking cultivation session began, he did not even wait a minute before the 99% in the Laws of Earth and Air reached 100%, only the Laws of Light and Dark that had a bit over 20% remaining!

Today, he would not move or do anything else until these laws hit 100%, and then he could equip the Ruination Core as he would gain a shocking tool to quickly traverse through laws and daos, or simply choose one of the more shocking affixes that were termed [Miscellaneous]!

Chapter 730 - Master the Laws and Equip!

As Noah went about mastering his laws, the Infinite Realm of the Novus Galaxy was particularly boisterous.

Right before Noah had left with all of his clones to begin cultivating, he had told all of his important people about the truths of what occurred with the Celestials, his entrance into the Nexus Galaxy, and much of the things that had recently occurred as he granted them knowledge of Galaxies and expanded their views.

After they received this information, their hearts only ached for more power as in a matter of a day, multiple Infinite Realm Beasts that were in the same generation as the Emperor Penguin reached the Nebula Realm, the Harbingers of Sin making the greatest progress as all of them chose not to chase the impossible dream of Grand Completion, choosing to break through into the Black Hole Realm the moment they amassed a few thousand stars within their Nebula!

The Inquisitor Athena, Steel Mikhail, Kazuhiko, Barbatos...all of these beings made advancements as their power exploded!

This created multiple experts in the Novus Galaxy as even grander things were in play. This was because there were thousands of skill books obtained from the siege of the Burning Domains Galaxy for them to choose from...as well as the skills that Noah had placed in the Library Feature of the Infinite Realm.

The most important ones and the ones that made the Harbingers make a line towards the grand Library where they could obtain these skills today were the [Dao of Summoning Traverser] and the [Animus Summoner Trainer]!

This was because Noah planned to create his own powerful force of beings that had already begun embarking on the Dao early, where they would obtain this shocking inheritance as in the near future, Noah would create another skill that was similar to <<Archaic Animus Summoning>> that would allow his people to begin summoning and training their very own Animus Pets after they begin gaining understanding in the Dao of Summoning.

This would create for a shocking force to begin budding in this unknown corner of the Dark Universe...

In the Central Realm of the Novus Galaxy, two days passed!

During this entire time, immense amounts of mana were constantly used to keep the techniques of law cultivation active, Noah being constantly surrounded by swirling colors of law essence as he advanced minute by minute without a pause.

THRUMM!

After two days, the Laws of Light and Dark while being enhanced by various factors finally came to completion, Noah actually obtaining 100% in all 6 laws required to be considered someone that held a Universal Origin Physique!

WAA!

At this moment, a unique phenomenon occurred as around Noah's expansive QUASAR, one could see the vibrant Law Origins of Light, Dark, Fire, Water, Earth, and Air in the form of swirling Nebulae.

These swirling Nebulae shone with splendor as they actually resonated with each other, faint blue lines that went around Noah's expansive QUASAR forming to connect each of these Nebulae together!

Outside, his body was being elevated in the atmosphere as the universal law essences seemed to be cradling him- welcoming the first ever being with a Universal Origin Physique since who knew how many eras.

THRUUM!

A magisterial sight of his body being set down like a delicate object occurred as the vibrant lights around him died down, his eyes opening with blazing golden lights that made him seem like a feral archaic being!

Checking his body, he nodded in satisfaction as he considered it acceptable, even feeling that it was slow as he hoped he could finish everything within a day, but it took two days!

If the genius of even Ancient Powers heard his thoughts, they would explode with jealousy as even beings like them took years to make the progress that Noah could make.

The moment he completely mastered the 6 laws, his eyes went towards the Ruination Core that had been floating near the obsidian core of the Novus Galaxy.

His shining eyes looked towards it domineeringly as he waved his hands towards it, this shocking treasure that felt oppressive to him before seeming docile as it began to float towards him.

[Are you sure...]

Even the Novus Galaxy was hesitant after it found out of the history of where this Ruination Core came from, of the Cosmic Treasure known as Ruination that caused all of this!

"I've never been so sure in my life."

RUMBLE!

With a steadfast gaze, the square-shaped red and black Ruination Core touched his chest as it felt like searing hot metal, passing through his physical body as it delved into his Origin and hung atop his luminous QUASAR.

It seemed to be deciding exactly which Law Origin among the 6 it wanted to go to, a red light shining from the many small holes of the square shaped Ruination Core as it then turned into a red streak of light that shot towards the Light Law Origin!

THUMP!

It smashed into the Origin with fervor as it vibrated rapidly, going into the center of the swirling Nebula of the Law of Light as it began to spin in a smooth motion.

Every time it spun, a red light would be released that went on to shine over the Law Origin, this light encompassing more and more distance as the seconds passed!

Every time the Ruination Core finished a rotation, the red light dr.a.p.ed over more of Noah's origin as it went on to cover over the other Law Origins and eventually covered all of his QUASAR.

If a person then looked at Noah's body, they would begin to see it shining with a brilliant red light that shone with an oppressive air, his shining eyes filled with calm as he sensed an unknown sense of power spread through him!

At the same time, he saw glimmering red words appear in front of his eyes.

[Ruination Core successfully equipped. Which Affix would you like to equip?]

"..."

With a calm expression and eyes blazing with intense light, Noah looked through the hundreds of Affixes as he made numerous calculations for his plans!