

Mana 931

Chapter 931 - Unknown Forces Descend Unto the Bloody Galaxies! II

As many forces were sent out, a single clone had an important task that required him to go towards a certain location in the Dark Universe.

It was within the vast Universal Core, within the area that used to be the past Novus Galaxy!

In an area of space where the element of Aether permeated throughout, Noah's clone flashed in as its arrival caused two eyes the size of stars to open and lock on to him!

RUMBLE!

The eyes seemed to hold a myriad of emotions, tendrils of aether and shockingly large tentacles that palpated with the essence of destruction. They locked on to Noah as a tyrannical voice reverberated out.

"What do you want?"

OOOM!

The voice was booming across space as Noah only smiled at it, waving his hands as he took out duplicated Galactic Filament Cores and multiple Dao Crystals from his [Expansive Space].

"I'm bringing gifts once again, this time with a mission for you to finally move out."

The eyes of the enormous Terror shone with arcs of Aether, the creature that was larger than most planets staring at Noah with a nonchalant look.

It was the Terror of Aether, Cthulhu!

The Terrors were unique existences from Noah's original Novus Galaxy, the galaxy that had utilized a Ruination Core to birth Noah's Infinite Mana and Protagonist Traits among many things as it bent universal laws to achieve it!

Noah having the Cosmic Treasure of Ruination himself at this moment and utilizing its universal breaking capabilities understood the most that anything birthed from Ruination was bound to be special.

Thus, while he raised the strength of his subordinates and himself, he always made sure to share the loot with the Terrors of the past Novus Galaxy as he continued to elevate their strength even if they didn't step into the limelight.

Noah hadn't come across many creatures that were naturally the size of stars like the Terrors, knowing their bodies could release shocking battle power as different from people utilizing skills to change into such huge forms that would require an immense amount of mana to keep active, the Terrors themselves had no problem with this as it was merely their original bodies!

Granted Noah and the Terror of Aether had not begun on the right foot during the events that led to the fusion of the Novus and Nexus Galaxy, Noah was still the strongest protector of the Galaxy the Terrors were born in and the larger Universe!

His clone threw the Galactic Filament Cores and dao crystals over to the enormous figure of the Cthulhu as he continued to speak.

"We're currently breaking the influence of a Universal Realm Hegemony by stopping a cycle of slaughter in a certain region of the Animus Universe. We'll need as many hands on deck to efficiently take over the clusters of galaxies to wipe out enemy Races while helping the Dragon Race..."

"Why should I go to another Universe when I'm perfectly fine here? This doesn't concern me at all!"

RUMBLE!

The voice of the Terror was resonantly spreading across space, Noah only smiling lightly as he waited, a voice even more domineering than his or the Terror's ringing out a second later.

[Do not lazily slack off here anymore, go and contribute.]

...!

The voice of the Universal Core thundered into the mind of Cthulhu as he went quiet, letting out a harrumph before he looked towards Noah!

"...where to?"

WAA!

Spatial essence went on to cover the body of the Terror of Aether as in other areas of the vast Universal Cores, Noah went to the Terror of the Void and the Ancient Terror as well, giving these unique existences Galactic Filament Cores and Dao Crystals to bring them to the level of a Great Sage before they went through the Universal Gateway leading to the Pocket Universe that was currently anchored to the Animus Universe.

It didn't take too long as within an hour, the Three Terrors entered a Galaxy where many powerful Great Sages of both Dragons and other Bloodline Races roamed, their mission being to aid the Dragons while wiping out those that opposed them!

RUMBLE!

The larger than most planets bodies of the Terrors shone majestically as they appeared within the Galaxy. Cthulhu was the biggest among them as an innumerable number of tentacles and tendrils of Aether began to spread out, an apocalyptic scene of a Great Sage over 20,000 miles in size playing out!

For comparison's sake, the size of Noah's home world in the past merely had a radius of 4000 miles.

Such a creature set off as one would wonder- when it faced beings at the same level as it...how would they even fight?!

With many pieces set in place, Noah's mission officially commenced as within the Galaxy he had stepped in, he followed the party of Chaos Dragons to where the core Chaos Dragon Clan of this galaxy was located.

They arrived as a star system that held a great deal of planets and realms hidden within, the auras of the pure bloodline of Dragons emanating from Tiamat and Noah causing the Chaos Dragons hidden within their abodes to come out in stupor!

Noah looked at the many forces of Dragons that were coming out to greet them, giving a nod to Tiamat to release her heavy bloodline power that would be mistaken at the level of an Ancestor for now.

THRUM!

"The Dragon Race will not bow to the Bloodline Races within this galaxy any longer...with all of us moving to wipe out the core powerhouses of the Bloodline Races that reside around the gateway to the Slaughter Star Monolith!"

...!

The hearts of Dragons palpated as they felt their bloodline power riled up, Noah smiling at this scene as his eyes turned towards a far away direction within this Galaxy.

There, he could almost see the gateway that he had only seen from stolen memories, the gateway that led into the Universal Construct that was present in a few universes...the Slaughter Star Monolith!

Chapter 932 - Destiny Alerts a Hegemony!

The goal was set as the forces of Dragons prepared, the galaxy that Noah landed in simply being called Galaxy B-48 that was among the many numbered galaxies within the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Clusters.

With Tiamat's power as the Progenitor, the forces of Dragons within this Galaxy were all brought under her heel as they left behind all those in the stage of Entity or below, only taking the Sages and Great Sages of the Chaos Dragon Clan towards the stronghold of the Bloodline Races!

The rest of the myriad of Dragons that were born into this galaxy of Slaughter through the generations were brought into the Pocket Universe as Noah led the strongest remaining forces towards the stronghold of the Bloodline Races- towards the entrance of the Universal Construct that promoted Slaughter!

In an isolated spatial region within the Animus Universe, a particularly domineering old man that had a demeanor that would exceed most Hegemonies continued to fish among the stars.

The golden line he cast down thrummed with the essence of destiny as it waded across the glittering stars below, the Universal Hegemony feeling a tug on the line as he began to reel it in with a light smile!

The process only took a few seconds as the line came up and what was caught within was displayed to the old man.

It was a glimmering illusory object that was the size of a small star, the Hegemony grasping it in his hands as he squeezed down and shattered it, causing golden lines to be released from the illusory object as they all rushed towards the body of the old man!

His eyes briefly closed before they opened again with a sharp light, the smile being wiped away from his face as he waved his hands in the starry space in front of him to cause the appearance of multiple illusory screens that showed shocking scenes.

In another illusory screen, the figures of a proud Golden Dragon could be seen as it led other forces to break the defenses of the Bloodline Races that had been established for thousands of years.

There were many screens in front of the eyes of the Universal Hegemony, but they focused on a single one at this moment. It was a screen that showed the scene of a domineering Abyssal Black Tyrant Dragon leading the forces of multiple Great Sages towards the stronghold of the bloodline races of Galaxy B-48, the eyes of this Tyrant Dragon filled with a shocking light of confidence!

When the Hegemony was fishing in a field of stars and caught on to a certain line of destiny, many things were displayed in front of him as he had no reason to focus on the movements of a singular being in a certain Galaxy.

He truly had no reason to, but his intuition as a Hegemony that had lived far longer than a million years made him hone towards the single galaxy that had Noah at this moment!

"Interesting..."

A sharp light crossed the eyes of the Hegemony as they moved from the screen showing the image of the Tyrant Dragon towards the area above where he could see golden swirls of light- this was his Universal Fortune.

He stared at the golden swirls of light as he found that they weren't as stable as before, the Universal Fortune that had been steadily increasing in small increments after all this time actually beginning to slow down by a small margin!

It was an extremely small margin that other Hegemonies might even consider negligible, but it wasn't so in the heart of Ambrose as his gaze became exceedingly cold at this scene.

The cause of this was all from just the beginning of certain forces enacting their campaign in the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Cl.u.s.ters, where they hadn't even fully moved and taken over certain locations, and yet it had already begun causing an effect!

"Hmph."

RUMBLE!

An apocalyptic amount of essence moved with his mere harrumph, a spatial essence vibrating out a second later as a figure appeared in front of the star that the Universal Hegemony sat on.

"Sir, you called?"

The Paragon bowed down with extreme respect as he didn't even dare raise his eyes, looking extremely minuscule in front of the being that spoke towards him in a booming voice.

"Send in your top forces at their respective levels to Galaxy B-17, Galaxy B-48, Galaxy B-24..."

The names of multiple galaxies where Noah himself or his subordinates were now moving in were listed out, the Paragon only listening dutifully as he nodded.

"Foreign enemies have entered these galaxies as they harbor malicious intentions. Do not give way to them."

RUMBLE!

The head of the Paragon was bowing down even deeper at these words as his heart shook, his voice ringing out respectfully before he left.

"We will heed to commands of the Master!"

With a flash of light, the Paragon disappeared to relay the given commands as only a single Universal Hegemony was left behind in the region of isolated space!

His fishing line was cast again as his demeanor remained just as majestic, but this time it carried a trace of coldness.

"I never thought that a child would seriously make a move against me. Did she think we were on equal footing just because she didn't completely lose her influence after a hundred thousand years? Truly too naive!"

THRUM!

His voice echoed out among the stars as it carried a trace of ridicule!

The longer one lived, the more terrifying their power. Under this reality, the power that Ambrose wielded was truly immense! When it came to facing a Universal Hegemony that had risen not too long ago in his perspective, he wasn't the least bit worried.

"Let me show you...let me show what true power and influence held over many years actually looks like, O Young Valentina."

RUMBLE!

Chapter 933 - Observe True Power!

The will of the Universal Hegemony Ambrose stretched out through many regions- not just the Animus Universe!

As he sensed the changes brought about by actions of another Hegemony, he only looked at them like a child trying to scheme against an a.d.u.l.t, his will stretching over to the areas he influenced in other Universes as he gave commands there as well.

He wouldn't just be utilizing the forces of the Bloodline Races he controlled here, but would display the shocking power he could actually release whenever he wished from the many other regions under his control!

"You did not lose your whole influence on this Universe because I allowed you to, Little Valentina. I took pity on a rising child that had managed to make something out of herself, and yet it seems even when they reach the Universal Realm, some cannot help but still be mediocre."

RUMBLE!

The gaze of Ambrose was cold as the light of destiny swirled around him, his essence erupting out in full as he did something shocking that he had not done since he began his project on the Animus Universe!

It was the inclusion of forces from other areas of Universes under his influence!

Across the vast distances of the Cosmos, within the Necrotic Universe.

THRUM!

"Vazan, a passage shall open within your Galaxy in the next few minutes. Gazul and a few others will join you. The Master is commanding you on a glorious conquest in the Animus Universe...do not fail him."

An oppressive voice of a powerful Undead Paragon buzzed in the mind of the Decadent Lich Emperor, this Undead Paragon being extremely powerful as he had drenched himself in so much death that he had begun on the path of the Cosmic Dao of Necromancy!

The black flames of the Decadent Lich Emperor blazed widely as they followed the command, looking towards the dreary space of the Galaxy located near the center of the Necrotic Universe as a crack in space that led to another Universe began to appear!

"Kakaka!"

The crackle of a Lich could be heard as he rose from the mountain of bones, his body brimming majestically with manifested Galaxies that numbered in the billions as this being should have been a peak powerhouse in the level of a Great Sage!

...!

From many directions where the crack in space formed, the auras of many powerful Undead Lich Emperors could be felt as they all streaked towards it with fervor.

The Master had spoken, and his will had to be followed!

OOOOONG

An enormous creature that was the size of a large star swam across the starry space, its body seemingly in the form of a segmented worm as its head was filled with a large number of tentacles erupting out!

Its mouth was filled with jagged teeth that were capable of grinding down and swallowing any planets and suns it came across as it was using the cores of the planetary bodies for substance!

"Telos...the Master has commanded the most powerful Great Sages under our race to head towards the Animus Universe for a mission, be ready!"

OOOOH!

The enormous tentacled worm let out a horrendous sound as its innumerable teeth clattered together, gazing towards the crack appearing in front of it as terrifying yells just like the one it released could be heard from other creatures that were making their way over.

In another Universe!

This one was known as the Liberated Universe, one that was filled with powerful beings boasting unique abilities- beings that took the monickers of Heroes or Villains!

In an area of space where chunks of a recently shattered star could be seen, a being could be seen floating in the middle of it all as wore a tight fitting clothing that wrapped around his body to illustrate his muscles, a black cape draping over his back gorgeously.

"Vindicator, the Master is calling for Heroes to defend another one of his Domains. You will lead the team of Heroes within this Galaxy into the Animus Universe...wipe out all the scourge that wish harm to the Master and his people!

RUMBLE!

The body of the one called Vindicator buzzed with power as a heroic smile appeared on his face, nodding with a stern expression as he turned his eyes towards a crack opening up in space not too far from him.

SHAA!

A flash of green light that seemed multiple times faster than light instantly appeared beside Vindicator, a being fully dressed in green while showing out muscles looking towards the crack and Vindicator.

"Who do you think we will face? Anyone that will actually be faster than me?"

The voice of the being in a green costume was filled with pride as he spoke, Vindicator not speaking as he only smiled while shaking his head.

"Tsk, no fun as always!"

SHAA!

These beings and many more answered the call of a being that Paragons called the Master- the Universal Realm Hegemony that had built Universal Constructs in many locations...the Hegemony of Slaughter, Ambrose!

Noah had no knowledge of this as he only continued forward in Galaxy B-48, the light of Destiny descending onto him every now and then as the light in his eyes would gradually change every now and then...but he still continued forward unhindered.

As time passed and the light of Destiny told him more and more things, a devilish smile appeared on his face as a tyrannical light shone in his eyes!

Chapter 934 - A line up of Champions from afar! I

When one truly looked at the overarching situation without taking any sides, it actually seemed somewhat fair!

The Universal Realm Hegemony Valentina had crowned Noah her champion as this foreign being from another Universe descended down into the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Clusters of the Animus Universe.

Now, the Universal Realm Hegemony Ambrose did something similar, but he didn't just call a single one of his Champions...but the strongest beings in the Realms of Sages and Great Sages under the areas he influenced!

As for what the results of these shocking actions would be? Only time would tell!

Galaxy B-41.

Within this galaxy, Noah's terrifying Nether Lich Emperor that was using a Cosmic Dao as the base of its strength moved unhindered across the vast space!

OOOOH!

Behind him, an Undead Legion that filled the nearby space for thousands of miles could be seen, each of them with red flickering flames that made it seem like billions of red lights were moving across the starry space.

In the periphery of this Undead Legion, forces of Storm Dragons could be seen moving with them as in all the Galaxies that Noah's subordinates were teleported into, Tiamat had used her main body or clones to descend down and give orders to the Dragons within these galaxies to work with Noah's forces!

"Kekekeke!"

The wild laughter of the lift resounded across the stellar bodies of space, the flames within its sockets brightening up as it sensed many life forms ahead of them.

They neared the core location of their enemies, but the laughter of the Lich wasn't caused by it just sensing the bloodline races spread throughout...but the aura of another being just like it that should not be here!

WAA!

Like a tide, the Undead Legion that numbered billions thundered forward, the Sagely Necrolords leading them as the scene in front of them cleared.

It was a cluster of stars and planets that surrounded an enormous red crack in space, this crack glimmering with splendid stellar light as it seemed extremely inviting for anyone that neared it!

But the cluster of stars and planets were surrounded by figures from 2 Bloodline Races and...the deathly aura of 3 Lich Emperors!

"Kekekeke! It shall be a dance of death on this day. What brought my brethren here?"

The Nether Lich Emperor ignored the forces of White Tiger Race and the Qilin Race, focusing his eyes on the Lich Emperors that should not be here.

"The same reason why you are here, young lich. Our Masters have merely called us all here."

RUMBLE!

The eyes of the Nether Lich Emperor blazed brightly as the red flames that contained a cosmic essence rose, its teeth clattering as it spoke domineeringly.

"Then let us not disappoint our Masters! Kekekeke!"

...!

A shocking battle was about to unfold within this Galaxy as in another, the forces of Dragons being led by Barbatos, Morgana, the Sword Emperor and a few others also arrived at the core region of their galaxy where the Bloodline Races controlled the gateway that led to the Slaughter Star Monolith.

In front of them, there was the force of the Nine-Tailed Fox Race, Phoenix Race, and the Golden Cyclops Race!

They held tens of Great Sages that looked towards them with dangerous eyes, but the more shocking thing was that amongst them A Lich Emperor could be seen along with...caped beings!

Beings that all held powerful strength at the Realm of Great Sage, with their figures sporting ridiculous getups as they seemed out of place when looking at the fantastical Undead Liches and Phoenixes in the surroundings.

"This just became much, much harder..." Morgana's voice rang out as her eyes shone with a destructive light, her body seemingly trembling in excitement while looking at the force of beings displayed in front of them!

"We might need extra forces if we come across this many of them..." The Sword Emperor analyzed everything carefully as he spoke, a terrifying battle set in place within this Galaxy as even more shocking ones were about to occur across all the galaxies Noah's forces were currently moving in.

They passed word to Noah who was already actively analyzing the situation, but even more wondrous scenes were occurring in other Galaxies at this very moment!

Within Galaxy B-35.

In front of the stronghold where the bloodline races occupied another entrance into the Slaughter Star Monolith, terrifying star sized creatures stood while facing an even larger tentacled being that pulsed with the power of Aether!

It was the creatures called from the Chthonian Universe, their eyes glimmering with light as they came face to face with Cthulhu and the other Terrors that were flanking its left and right.

"What...are you...?"

OOOOM

The worm shaped creature from the Chthonian Universe had its voice reverberate out as Cthulhu's star sized eyes looked towards this worm like being that neared his size coldly.

"I don't make a habit of talking with creatures about to die, so let's just do this quickly."

Aether palpated majestically from the innumerable tentacles that the star sized Cthulhu released, dying the starry space a shade of purple as even the Dragons that followed this Terror of Aether stayed far away, with their Great Sages only honing their eyes towards the bloodline races that could barely be seen as blips behind the Chthonian Worm!

Beside them, the enormous figures of the Terror of the Void and the Ancient Terror stood to the left and right of the Cthulhu, their gazes on the enormous monstrosities beside the speaking Worm that seemed like deformed Chthonian horrors!

"A fallen Chthonian...any of those that deny the Master...shall perish!"

RUMBLE!

The body of the enormous worm rumbled as it barreled forward, its tentacles outstretched as a shocking battle erupted, the other majestically enormous creatures moving towards the Ancient Terror and the Terror of the Void while the Bloodline Races thundered towards the Dragons!

Chapter 935 - A line up of Champions from afar! II

There were many moving pieces to keep track of, but Noah had no problem with this as he received a mountain of information from all the teams he sent into the Bloody Galaxies.

Just in case of possible issues, he had only formed 9 Teams from his Dark Universe- most of them being filled with 4-8 Great Sages and tens of Sages to accompany them! This was for him to be able to send in a clone in case anything happened to assist them, and he did such a thing at this moment as an overabundance of foreign forces began to appear in the galaxies they were in!

When he saw the forces that he had never heard about nor seen before while glancing at them with the light of destiny...he was shocked at what he saw as a smile couldn't help but bloom on his face.

The reason for this was that in the Galaxy B-48 that he had crossed with thousands of Dragons into the stronghold of the Bloodline Races...he came across similar beings that his subordinates were facing in their respective Galaxies!

For him...it seemed the strongest and most numerous were reserved as while he saw Lich Emperors or enormous monstrosities that rivaled Cthulhu in some galaxies as the only enemy reinforcements, his galaxy was one of the few to contain all of them, and in large numbers at that.

THRUUUM!

His enormous figure as a Tyrant Dragon came to a stop as the army of Dragons behind him and his Animus Summons did the same, their eyes staring at the innumerable number of creatures defending a cluster of stars that surrounded the enormous gateway leading to the Slaughter Star Monolith.

In front of an expansive star system, the figures of the Golden Cyclops, Nine-Tailed Foxes, and White Tigers could be seen as among their ranks, beings that didn't belong to the Animus Universe stood beside them!

Noah's eyes squinted at these beings as the ones that stood out the most were the largest ones, his eyes landing on enormous squid like creatures that held a terrifying amount of tentacles.

[Squid Chthonian] :: A terrifyingly large existence from the Chthonian Universe. Its power is only at the Galactic Filament Realm, but its extreme size allows it to display a greater battle power...

The image of a shocking Cthulhu popped in Noah's mind when he looked at these creatures, his eyes then turning to the beings swarming with the aura of death, and there were 4 of them that released the aura of Great Sages!

[Decadent Lich Emperor] :: An Undead Lich that has truly understood the essence of Decadence. It rules a small Galaxy Cl.u.s.ter in the Necrotic Universe...

Four of such creatures appeared within the large army of the Bloodline Races, their skull flames shining brilliantly in the dark space as behind them- legions of Undead had already risen!

Waves of essence and power reeked out as the two sides looked at each other, Noah's eyes curving into smiles as he looked at the last set of beings that were dressed in a manner that he had only read about in stories or seen in the comics before his home world underwent an apocalypse.

It was beings dressed in tight fitting clothing that showed off their stupendous muscles hidden underneath, a few of them with capes draping their back, with more of them having their own unique costumes as each of their bodies thrummed powerfully with essence at the Galactic Filament Realm!

Noah focused his eyes on the being that seemed to be leading them- a humanoid figure dressed in a black costume with an obsidian cape waving majestically behind him.

[Vindicator] :: A unique existence from the Liberated Universe that is under the control of a Supreme Universal Hegemony. His uniqueness lies in that he was born with strength, the routes of multiple Daos inscribed into his soul since the moment of his birth as by the time he grew into a.d.u.l.thood, he had already mastered multiple Daos. Creatures such as this are capable of displaying great strength in the beginning stages, but it is nearly impossible for them to advance forward as many remain in a specific Realm until their death. The Vindicator has gained the title of a 'Hero' as he stands distinguished as a being that stands against those he considers evil...

It truly was so!

Someone that could be termed Hero! Noah's eyes blazed with light as he finally came across the myriad of creatures that could be found across the Cosmos, and he only got a small glimpse of it as they were only from a few separate Universes!

"Good! Good!"

His voice rumbled out gloriously as he couldn't settle his excited heart that beat faster the more his eyes glanced at the beings facing him!

RUMBLE!

In an isolated Realm.

Valentina's eyes shone with a gorgeous splendor of light as they became exceedingly cold, the many scenes occurring in some parts of the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy playing out in front of her eyes!

She saw the newly entering beings as well as the rifts in space they stepped out of, seeing the creatures from other Universes actually be called forth to stand against the single champion that she sent forth.

Her eyes had lost all the smiling light within them as she spoke while looking into an enormous mirror that she could see the figure of Noah's main body through.

"Let me call forth the Great Sages of the Galaxy Devouring Serpents, Golden Crowns, Mythical Helios Races, and the Mixed Races to come aid you. I didn't think Ambrose would move with such ferocity that he would even call forth champions from other regions of the Primordial Cosmos under his influence."

The eyes of Valentina were exceedingly cold as essence rose around her to do what she said, but she came to a stop when she heard a single word from the being that smiled devilishly within the golden mirror!

"Don't."

RUMBLE!

With a gaze dripping with a light of arrogance and tyranny, Noah told the Universal Hegemony to stop!

"Why send in more people that will just ruin the fun? I want all of these enemies to myself!"

...!

Glorious light erupted from Valentina's eyes as she heard these tyrannical words and locked her gaze towards the being in the Galactic Filament Realm that spoke with such arrogance.

She saw unmatched confidence in those eyes as her essence dwindled, this Universal Hegemony heeding the words of a being much lower than her as she gave a light nod.

Off to the side of Valentina, the Golden Crow Paragon looked at this scene with utter shock!

Chapter 936 - Crossed the Cosmos Just To Die By My Hands! I

A Great Sage of the Nine Tailed Fox Race looked at the surroundings as his eyes shone with a brilliant light.

He looked at the strength of the being they were under the banner of as he was reminded it was truly great, the scenes of beings he had never seen before in the Animus Universe making their appearance and standing to defend beside from the commands of the Master!

Beside this Great Sage, a pristine creature of the White Tiger Race that has extravagantly silky fur and stood on the same Realm looked over at the new defenders as her voice shone with interest.

"Paragon Luna shared with me that these beings are from different Universes, each of them respective powerhouses at the levels of Great Sage that it would be hard for others to beat them!"

"Oh?" The interest of the Nine-Tailed Fox Great Sage was perked up as he stared at the largest and most terrifying of their new allies.

"The big guys are calamities from the Chthonian Universe, the Lich Emperors from the Necrotic Universe, and the exquisitely dressed ones...are from the Liberated Universe!"

The eyes of the White Tiger shone with a brilliant light as he was actually admiring their allies even when a Tyrant Dragon stood in front of a huge army of Dragons right before them!

He and many others weren't fearful, and it wasn't just due to their own power, but their reinforcements that stood with them!

"Pay even closer attention to the ones from the Liberated Universe. The one at the very forefront dressed in black and the one dressed in green beside him- they released an oppressive pressure that even made me tremble when they first arrived..."

RUMBLE!

They didn't spare any eyes towards the terrible looking Chthonians that took the surrounding space and were equivalent to stars, their eyes locked on to the figure of Noah and the army behind him as they pulsed with the thirst of battle!

These were the powerful [Heroes] of the Liberated Universe!

The one dressed in a tight fitting green costume had a deep smile on his face as he seemed to be discussing something with the black caped Vindicator at this moment.

"Hey, wanna bet if I can quickly take down the enemy leader and throw their forces into confusion? I always love to see their shocked faces when they find they can't even come close to keeping up with my speed!"

WAA!

His body cracked with power as this Hero, this being that was actually classified with the term of a [Speedster] in his Universe- he looked towards Noah's draconic figure as his body vibrated with an intense green light!

Vindicator glanced towards him coolly as he spoke out.

"You can give it a try."

The calm words caused a competitive light to shine from the Speedster, a green light overcoming his body as before the two sides clashed, he disappeared in a flash of green light!

'Let's see the expression of shock on the faces of these natives!'

His eyes shone with a brilliant light as he streaked across the skies, locking on Noah's Tyrant Dragon figure as he saw this being had not even been able to react while he neared!

'Speed...I am speed! Haha!'

His thoughts were vibrant as his body pulsed with power, his hand being covered by arcs of this green light as they gained a deadly edge that could split apart his enemies on a molecular level.

Such a hand cleaved towards the neck of the Tyrant Dragon that could not even react, the eyes of the Speedster smiling jubilantly as he sought to claim victory and kill the enemy commander before the battle even began.

THRUM!

The hand clad in dreadful arcs of green light was descending unto the Tyrant Dragon when all of a sudden, a flash of black light appeared as claws as dark as night smashed onto the figure of the Speedster, the expert barely moving his face away from the claw as his eyes changed to those of extreme shock!

BOOM!

An explosive sound as if a bomb went off occurred, a vibrant green light shining brilliantly as the Speedster was pushed back multiple meters, his chest having nearly been carved out as his shocked eyes forward to see the trousers of an Obsidian Panther staring coldly at him while standing in front of the Tyrant Dragon!

"The f.u.c.k you think you're doing mate?"

RUMBLE!

Immense shock smashed into the mind of this Hero, essence erupting out from the two sides as the fight was about to break out the moment that this being failed on his sneak attack!

OOOOOOH!

The three enormous Chthonians that were the size of planets roared out as they began to move towards the forces of Dragons that seemed like mere ants in front of them, those of the Bloodline Races also pulsing with power as they prepared to move out.

Meanwhile, the Vindicator's black cape waved majestically behind him as his body began to be covered by an oppressive black light, his eyes shining as he looked towards the figure of Noah's Tyrant Dragon form and the shocked Speedster that always tried to compete with him!

BOOM!

The space around the body of this being shattered as his body was instantaneously pushed forward, his bright eyes locked onto the Tyrant Dragon!

In the middle of the two raging forces, time seemed to be moving in slow motion for the Speedster as he stared in a stupor towards the Obsidian Panther, the eyes of the Tyrant Dragon he targeted locking towards him as a devilish draconic smile erupted out.

"Do you think I could not see you, little guy?"

RUMBLE

The voice was extremely chilling because of the nonchalant manner it came out, the Speedster feeling his body shiver as he stared into the red eyes of this beast, his body already vibrating with power as he was ready to run at any time.

Noah looked at the Obsidian Panther that began to glow with a black light as he gave the go ahead. "Teach this fool what speed really is. As for the rest..."

OOOOM!

The gaze of the Tyrant Dragon stared at the coming enemies as his Animus Summons trembled with power by his side, their bodies drawn like arrows on a bow just waiting to be released.

"Well, let's just enjoy the feast!"

RUMBLE!

Chapter 937 - Crossed the Cosmos Just to Die By My Hands! II

My name is Arnold Jaeger...and I am the fastest man alive.

Well, I thought I f.u.c.k.i.n.g was until a few seconds ago!

Under the command of the Master, we entered into an entirely different Universe, yet the enemies we face...seemed to be different from the ones we commonly come across.

THRUUM!

Energy was madly gathering around the enormous red Dragon that had a chilling smile, yet my eyes couldn't even focus on this as I had to urge the force within my body to make me go even faster...as I was currently being chased by a creature that actually seemed to be faster than I was!

A sleek furred beast that looked like a Panther...a Panther! Such a thing was fast behind me and catching up, my eyes swarming across the battlefield as under my gaze, everyone still seemed to be moving in slow motion.

Everyone but a few beings!

One was of course Vindicator, the golden boy- the hero that everyone looked up to. The other was the red Dragon that led the enemy forces, and also the one that Vindicator was flying towards as space shattered wherever he crossed.

Massive amounts of energy gathered around the red Dragon as I watched this creature begin to expand and get bigger, where even in my slowed time he was ballooning up so fast that it seemed instantaneous!

My eyes shook as I saw this being instantly go from a few hundred meters to a few hundred miles, his body eventually spilling over 1000 miles as he became larger than some continents instantaneously.

Holy shit.

The black flash behind me nearly caught up as I urged my body forward, the chilling voice of the red Dragon continuing to reverberate out as the glistening body expanded!

"How wonderful!"

THRUM!

My ears buzzed at his mere words as the claws of the black Panther nearly reached my back, feeling the beat of my heart that actually felt a tinge of fear for the first time in forever as I wondered.

Just who the hell had the Master sent us to stand against?!

...

"How wonderful!"

THRUM

The essence of the Grand Dao of Vastness erupted out as Noah's body continued to enlarge, passing a thousand miles as it continued even more, the enormous amounts of mana being nothing to him!

"All of you actually crossed the Primordial Cosmos and brought yourselves to me...delivering yourselves on the platter just to die by my hands!"

RUMBLE!

"Truly wonderful, truly magnanimous of all of you!"

WAA!

The draconic forces parted like tides, Noah's body taking up the space of a planet as his body continued, now towering over a few miles as it grew at a rapid pace.

The Chthonians looked at this scene with shining eyes as they roared out, their three enormous bodies going towards Noah with even more fervor as they believed their authority was being questioned!

Yet the enemy closest to Noah at this moment was the being shattering space just from the sheer movement of his body, the figure of Vindicator about to arrive at Noah's location that was nearly becoming the size of a planet!

Yet Vindicator only had a chilling flash cross his eyes, his outstretched fist flashing with an oppressive black light that had shattered many stars and planets in the past.

Yet in the next second, his path was interrupted as a paw eclipsed his sight, smashing into his outstretched fist as this paw was attached onto the body of a kingly Calamity Bear that gazed down at the Vindicator with a gaze filled disdain!

BOOOM!

WAA!

The sight behind the Calamity Bear was majestic as Noah had grown into a Tyrannical Dragon Emperor the size of a planet, his red black scales shining with glorious and profound l.u.s.ter as his eyes shot out resplendent beams of light.

These eyes locked onto the 3 enormous Chthonians of similar size as Noah's enormous body was wrapped in a spatial light, disappearing seamlessly as he reapplied above one of the tentacled Chthonians, his jaws releasing an innumerable number of Ruination Galaxy Spirit Bombs!

WAA!

In another direction, three terrifying Lich Emperors that commanded Undead Legions forward as in front of them, three beings appeared to face them fearlessly.

One was an enormous Galaxy Devouring Serpent, the other was an Oculothorax that blazed with golden splendor, and lastly it was the chilling body of the Blue Slime that looked towards the essence of the Lich Emperors while l.i.c.k.i.n.g its lips hungrily!

The forces of the Bloodline Races were in awe at the power displayed by their enemies just seconds after the start of the battle, but they couldn't even take the time to relax as the terrifying figures of Tiamat and the Colossal Helios Leviathan barreled towards them, the armies of Chaos Dragons they gathered following them from behind.

The gazes of many Great Sages of the Bloodline Races were cold as they released a myriad of commands and prepared their forces, but their eyes shook in a stupor as their jaws hung in space at the next second!

"No way..."

"This...! This...!"

RUMBLE

The starry space trembled as the enemies found themselves facing 5 Clones of the terrifying Animus Summons all at once, the battle on Noah's side going in full swing as it was bound to be one full of glory!

In the other Galaxies, battles were breaking out in shocking fashion as the scenes within these peripheral galaxies within the Cl.u.s.ters of Galaxies surrounding Ambrose's Universal Construct were being watched by a few beings.

Two were Universal Realm Hegemonies that glimmered with the light of Destiny and Fortune, watching from their respective isolated Realms as they made a great deal of calculations!

Then there were the Paragons of the Bloodline Races that were made aware of the commotion happening within the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Cl.u.s.ters.

Lastly...was Noah's main body in the Dark Universe that saw through his many clones' eyes, a light of confidence emanating from him as he uttered a shocking thought within his mind so that even the gorgeous Valentina that could be seen in the mirror in front him could not hear!

'Well then, let's create a unique Dao for this occasion.'

Chapter 938 - Fealty!

Across the Bloody Battlefield Galaxies that his forces had begun to fight in, Noah sent in a clone in each of the 9 Galaxies as even though his subordinates held a great deal of power in the Great Sage and Sage levels, there was still a risk when they faced the terrifying forces of a Universal Hegemony that had been in these same levels for thousands of years.

As Noah's main body looked at these scenes, he knew it was time to birth the second Dao from the options he had theorized, and this one would particularly go towards strengthening those that followed him...and also grant him a boost in a direction that many Universal Hegemonies were fighting on- to influence large amounts of beings in the cosmos en masse!

His eyes turned bright as his main body sent his thoughts to the Universal Core, beams of luminous lights shooting out as even Valentina who should have been drawn into the occurring battles couldn't help but turn her eyes to the figure of Noah in the golden mirror.

"I wish to birth a second Dao."

THRUM!

The Master of the Universal Core spoke, and an eruption of essence occurred a second later as the Dao Noah had in mind was sent to the Core as it was then tweaked and tuned, glorious lights and mana shooting out from all around as soon after, a runic word similar to how Subterfuge had taken form began to appear!

In the direction of the centermost location of the Universal Core, an immense amount of essence went forward to cause the culmination of a single word...[FEALTY]!

RUMBLE!

The moment this word was formed, it disappeared as it searched for the creature that birthed it, appearing in front of Noah's body in the Dark Universe a second later as it smashed into his Origin and Soul, finding its Architect as it caused Noah's body to shine with a glorious light.

This scene was nonchalantly displayed in the Golden Mirror Valentina was discussing with Noah through, her eyes popping out as she stared in utter stupor at the scene of Runic Dao Symbol she had seen only once in her life when she formed her own Dao!

"You...what...!"

The Universal Hegemony was forced into a stupor for the first time since she met Noah, her eyes shaking at the fact that a being who currently had his clones fighting in galaxies of a faraway Universe actually took time to birth a Dao, and he domineeringly did it right in front of her.

What gall!

What balls!

Valentina's eyes were shaking even more as she knew the process of birthing a dao, where a Universal Realm Hegemony had to be in tune with the Universe within their Origin, resonating with it and getting on a certain frequency as such a thing would take them days if not months.

Only when they were truly in tune and were lucky and powerful enough within their Realm, they might be able to condense a Dao Rune and form their own Dao!

It took the utter care and all the power of a Universal Hegemony just to have a chance to birth a Dao, and this being just floated in the starry space, birthing a dao as if he could do it whenever he pleased!

It was a stupendous scene as within seconds, Noah opened his eyes as an intense light swirled within, turning his gaze onto a panel that showed the information on the new Dao he had birthed.

Mana settled down as a new Dao was made.

A dao to insanely increase the strength of the forces he could control, one that also had a shocking utility from the eyes of those in the Universal Realm- it was the fact that the one who birthed this Dao could very easily influence many beings as this Dao offered strength for Fealty!

But when it came to Noah who stood above an entire Universe and could extend his call for Fealty to the beings within it...just how would everything turn out?

The answer...oh the answer to this would be a shocking phenomenon that one could only experience once in their life time!

It felt like the calm before the storm as after Noah affirmed the limits of what he could create with a Lesser Dao, he began the process of comprehending and assimilating it!

Beams of luminous light shone through Noah's eyes as the clone within the Ruination Realm began to comprehend the Dao of Fealty.

A second passed...and he attained full comprehension!

RUMBLE!

In her Realm, Valentina had to rise from her seat as she watched Noah's figure in the Golden Mirror, seeing the light of a foreign fully comprehended Dao burst out a second after its creation.

Her fair lips parted a second later as she saw...the light of assimilation erupt out to signify full assimilation of this same Dao!

Full Comprehension in a second, full assimilation after another second!

How magisterial!

Chapter 939 - Madness! I

The moment that Noah achieved full assimilation in the Lesser Dao of Fealty, his luminous eyes opened as they locked on to every subordinate that was about to battle or already embroiled in the battles against the Bloodline Races and the foreign forces from other Universes.

While locking onto them, the essence of the Dao of Fealty was wielded by him as he utilized it, a prompt appearing in front of him to show shining words!

[Send the call of Fealty to all those considered as Subordinates?]

Noah felt the essence of this new Dao and the different ways of using it, agreeing to this most direct way as he gave his command and sent the call for Fealty to all those that were his Subordinates but had not become his subjects!

It was a call that traverses the boundaries of Universes, a call that allowed his mana to move like a tide as it burst into a great deal of locations!

RUMBLE!

In the eyes of every single one of Noah's Subordinates, a prompt appeared as golden words were displayed in front of them!

[In exchange for a portion of his power, bind a portion of your soul to Noah Osmont and become his Vassal. Do you wish to swear Fealty to the Tyrannical Emperor?]

...!

A prompt that asked his subordinates to make the choice to bind a portion of their soul to him, an action that would make them his subjects as they had to listen to his commands, otherwise the portion of their soul bound to him will suffer immense pain!

This knowledge was instilled in their mind with the prompt that appeared, along with how much power they could access as the eyes of all of the beings seeing the prompt shone brightly, a nearly unanimous reply ring out.

"I swear Fealty to the Tyrannical Emperor...!"

"I swear Fealty to the Tyrannical Emperor!"

Immense mana fluctuations tumbled and roiled as from this moment on, shocking scenes erupted from a myriad of Galaxies!

---

Within a Galaxy where Cthulhu's enormous body was barreling towards worm like Chthonians with the two other Terrors fighting beside him, a similar golden prompt appeared as the star sized eyes of Cthulhu shook with anger.

[In exchange for a portion of his power, bind a portion of your soul to Noah Osmont and become his Vassal. Do you wish to swear Fealty to the Tyrannical Emperor?]

A prompt that seemed to hit at the dignity of this powerful being, a prompt that promised tremendous power in exchange for becoming a Vassal!

The Terror of Aether was about to dismiss it when he recalled the stupendous strength of the being that his Universe had chosen as champion, the being that caused many unbelievable things to become a reality.

ROAAAAAR!

The bellows of the Chthonians they fought in an apocalyptic manner brought the Cthulhu back to reality, knowing it would be hard for him and the other two Terrors to defeat them as these creatures had lived for too long and coalesced too many Galaxies!

Their planet sized bodies swirled with the light of billions of Galaxies, these beings already on their way to becoming Monarchs! Cthulhu's heart was unwilling, but the information that came with the prompt and his own knowledge of the being behind it...he became one of the first to ascertain it as he bellowed out in resignation.

"I f.u.c.k.i.n.g swear Fealty!"

RUUUUUUMBLE!

The nearby Chthonians were pushed out from the blast of power that followed, the body of the Cthulhu trembling and vibrating with such immense power that it caused doubt to appear in the star sized eyes of the enemy!

OOOOOOH!

The Cthulhu couldn't help but bellow out at the mere 5% of total power he could access from the Tyrannical Emperor.

It was a mere 5%...so some might think it wasn't much!

But this 5% was from the total power of someone as balance breaking as Noah. And there was also the shocking details of Dao that mentioned that [The unique abilities, qualities, laws, and LESSER Daos of the Emperor can be utilized by the Vassals in a much lower form...].

Abilities, qualities, laws, and Lesser Daos.

Don't even think about the abilities. Or the laws or Lesser Daos!

Just the qualities. The things that made Noah Osmont! His Traits...were a part of his qualities.

The body of the Cthulhu exploded out in power as it expanded in size, the figures of other Terrors undergoing the same process as around their bodies, the intense light of resplendent blue Mana overflowed!

Mana! So much Mana!

It was a quality of Noah that would be inherited by his Vassals in a much lower form, so they didn't gain the balance breaking effects of Infinite Mana. But what they did gain...was access to such large reserves of mana that among those of the same Realm as them, their Mana Pools would be ten if not a hundred times more.

Their mana pools expanded by tens of times!

It was like the shackles of side characters that bound them became broken, their statuses being elevated greatly as even though they were termed [Vassals], the power they could access was simply stupendous!

"This f.u.c.k.i.n.g guy had access to all this...?!"

WAAA!

The Cthulhu roared out in stupor and anger as the blue mana caused the purple Aether around his body to blaze brightly, the enemy Chthonians feeling a sense of fear as they felt the overpowering battle power that suddenly began to emulate from the beings they faced.

Such a thought was something that not just the Chthonians facing Cthulhu and the two other Terrors were feeling, but all the creatures that were currently facing Noah's subordinates that had answered the call to fealty!

This was because when he sent the call of Fealty, he sent it to all those considered as [Subordinates].

As the one controlling the Core of a Universe, what status could the beings in it be given in relation to him?!

Ah!

Chapter 940 - Madness! II

At this juncture...we can't even start mentioning the shocking scenes that were playing out within the Bloody Battlefields Galaxies of the Animus Universe where Noah's new overpowered [Vassals] were displaying their power.

We have to actually veer away from them as we go towards beings not in the Animus Universe...but in Noah's very own Dark Universe!

A random creature in a small galaxy within the Dark Universe that had not even come in contact with Noah or his forces, the creature merely being at the EPIC Rank of power.

A prompt appeared in front of this creature.

[In exchange for a portion of his power, bind a portion of your soul to Noah Osmont and become his Vassal. Do you wish to swear Fealty to the Tyrannical Emperor?]

In a hidden Realm within the Dark Universe where a unique race of creatures made of light peacefully lived, the same prompt appeared in front of all of them!

[In exchange for a portion of his power, bind a portion of your soul to Noah Osmont and become his Vassal. Do you wish to swear Fealty to the Tyrannical Emperor?]

...

Within Noah's very own Universal Core that houses tens of thousands of Galaxies' worth of planetary bodies, this prompt began to appear on the eyes of every single being!

Young or Old.

Poor or Rich.

Powerful or weak!

In front of every single being, the effect and influence of a Dao was spread to them as the being utilizing it had something that made this shocking possibility into a reality.

If a powerful Universal Realm Hegemony had created a Dao similar to Noah, they would not be able to utilize it to the extent he was as they did not have the quantity of Mana that he had! Even the Architect of the Dao of Summoning that drew nods from other Hegemonies at the genius of her Dao- even she only facilitated the contractual obligations as her Dao was only known and spread like any other Daos.

Its influence could be broken, just like how the Universal Hegemony Ambrose was currently breaking it!

Yet Noah...he birthed a Dao that was applicable to an entire Universe, being even more unique to him as he stood on top of a Universe and those within it...could all be easily influenced by his Dao.

All they had to do was say yes!

Say yes to be able to access 5% of the power of a terrifying being, say yes to have your mana reserves multiplied by many times over!

Say yes...to start an era of Madness and Tyranny!

It didn't matter if they came across laws or Daos, or how weak or powerful they were on the scale of power. In fact, the vast majority of creatures receiving the Call of Fealty would forever only have access to anything more than 5% of Noah's power as many would not even be able to take a step towards the comprehension of the Dao.

But just the mere fact of being able to borrow the minimal amount that the Dao of Fealty provided...the changes brought about by it were simply too monstrous!

Madness.

Utter madness for the scale that Noah chose to work on!

[In exchange for a portion of his power, bind a portion of your soul to Noah Osmont and become his Vassal. Do you wish to swear Fealty to the Tyrannical Emperor?...]

Such a prompt appeared on every being within the Dark Universe, the vast majority accepting it right away as those who didn't accept it out of carefulness..would come to accept it in time when they saw the power that those around them would come to display!

Something of even more importance within all this to keep in mind was the goals of many Universal Hegemonies who could even birth Daos.

They fought to influence Universes on a large scale as at their Realms, this was the only way for them to have a chance to advance forward, and Noah found information about this first hand from the details of the [Architect of the Dao] that showed different perks depending on if one's dao was capable of affecting a few beings, a Universe, or even an entire Cosmos!

Noah's first Dao had only just begun to be cultivated by the strongest beings of his Universe, but even this didn't go towards enhancing their power too much as the influence of it was not too large.

But the influence of a Dao that allowed them to borrow a base 5% of his strength...and then when one applied this not just to them, but to the creatures of the entire Universe...

Ah!

The result was truly and utterly only going to become madness!

Noah's body shone with l.u.s.trous light as he continued to release his essence like a tide, floating in the starry space as he was in a unique state where he received enormous feedbacks every single second as trillions upon trillions of beings became his Vassals.

His eyes and mouth shot out majestic beams of cerulean blue light endlessly, mana fluctuations reverberating outward and the essence of Fealty continued to spread out!

The golden mirror that hung not too far away showed the image of a Universal Hegemony in utter shock, her eyes trembling as she observed the scene of Noah that he chose to display!

Maybe he didn't think it would show such a terrifying sight, maybe he didn't account for what was about to happen to actually be seen...but the scenes occurring were that of pure fantasy as even a Universal Realm expert was put into shock.

The eyes of this Universal Hegemony were in for an even more shock as it was around this time when a majority of beings in Noah's Dark Universe had answered the Call of Fealty.

It meant...that his Dao had actually descended down and been able to influence an entire Universe, not even a vast majority of it like most powerful Hegemonies would be able to do!
