Chapter 941 - Mark of Antiquity!

As the details of the [Architect of the Dao] had listed, there were boons to the one birthing the dao when it affected an entire Universe, and when it even affected an entire Cosmos!

Beings that reached the level of Universal Realm and wanted to proceed forward would find it an impossible task, but the pioneers of this stage found that when they birthed and created Daos that the myriad of creatures within their Cosmos could utilize, the path forward was actually opened.

Valentina was among the few Universal Hegemonies that had begun on this path, so she knew more than others on the secrets the beings who were capable of influencing an entire Universe with a Dao could come across!

She knew these secrets...and it was why her emotions turned turbulent and in utter shock when she saw something that could only happen to the most powerful of the Universal Realm Hegemonies...begin to occur on the body of the being on the Galactic Filament Realm that she watched on her golden mirror.

In front of Noah's body that shot out brilliant beams of light, a formation of thin golden lines formed into a Runic Mark- a mark that released a light of ancientness and profound majesty!

The runic mark signified a single word, a word that Valentina knew and had seen for herself multiple times- {ANTIQUITY}!

Antiquity!

More and more of these marks continued to condense in front of Noah as time passed, these marks freely floating and disappearing into his body as the light he released emanated out with even more grandeur.

"Marks of Antiquity!"

The chair that Valentina was on fell as her blessed body shook, the eyes of this being that had lived for hundreds of thousands of years finding themselves staring forward at a loss!

She actually saw the formation of the Marks of Antiquity- something that only the most powerful Universal Hegemonies obtained after they influenced a universe or multiple of them with their Daos and Power.

These Marks of Antiquity held immense power as they were what one had to utilize if they wanted to advance further in the Universal Realm and proceed to the rare Realms that no known being had achieved within the Primordial Cosmos- the Realms that similar to the titles of Sages, Great Sages, Monarchs, and Paragons- they were given their own title for those making their way forward!

After gaining an understanding of the Marks of Antiquity, the Universal Hegemonies of the Primordial Cosmos titled those who could exceed the power of the Universal Realm and find a way forward to be called beings at the stage of...NIRVANIC ANTIQUITY.

In the Realm of the Galactic Filament, you had Great Sages, Monarchs, and Paragons included in it as each of these titles held vastly different power.

Within the Universal Realm, those distinguishing themselves and proceeding forward underwent Nirvanic Antiquity, forging the path that no known beings had managed to step on! They tried to do the insurmountably hard and impossible task of forming...UNIVERSAL FILAMENTS as the ultimate goal of all Universal Hegemonies was to form a COSMOS!

The secrets to all of these lay in the Marks of Antiquity.

Those that had transformed their Origin by over 50% while utilizing the Marks of Antiquity became established existences that were called an Antiquity!

But...such a thing was reserved for Universal Hegemonies! One could only be capable of doing it as a Universal Hegemony! So why was a being in the Galactic Filament Realm forming Marks of Antiquity?!

Valentina's body shook as she knew the answer.

"His birthed Dao has gone on to influence an entire Universe...!"

...!

Shock on top of shock as even she could not believe her own words.

The legs of this Universal Realm Hegemony gave out as she fell on her knees the moment that she saw the formation of thousands of Marks of Antiquity after every second passed!

The Golden Crow Paragon, Valentina, came to aid her master as she had a distraught expression, trying to shake her out of her daze while asking what happened.

Yet the dazed eyes of the Universal Hegemony turned inward as they searched within her Origin, taking a look at the numbers of Marks of Antiquity that she had collected over the last tens of thousands of years.

1,153,926.

With blood, sweat, and tears, she had collected barely a million after all these years.

Yet the being in front of her...he was already condensing thousands every second as he was about to shatter any known common sense that Universal Hegemonies held when it came to something only they could access!

RUMBLE!

Around Noah, an air of oldness and antiquity continued to emulate out as around him, the formation of ancient golden marks continued to appear while sinking into his body a second later.

This was the content that was hidden under the description of the [Architect of the Dao], and he was finally gaining information on it as his System very quickly compiled what every single Mark of Antiquity was relaying to Noah, a proper description of them appearing in front of his eyes.

{Mark of Antiquity} :: The convergence of a unique authority in the form of a mark that can be branded onto the Galaxies within one's Origin. Every branded Galaxy undergoes evolution to become a Dao Galaxy, where one can designate a specific Dao into it. Unique enhancements and boosts are given to the Daos occupying a myriad of Dao Galaxies. The birth of 10 Billion Dao Galaxies allows the elevation of a single Lesser Dao to a Grand Dao, with the culmination of 50 Billion Dao Galaxies allowing the elevation of a Grand Dao to a Cosmic Dao. To proceed from a single Universe and have the possibility of birthing a cl.u.s.ter of Universes, one must transform all the Galaxies within their Origin into Dao Galaxies...

Noah's heart shook as he felt like he had stumbled onto a big secret much too early, the things he was reading involving the elevation of Universal Hegemonies into the next Realm!

Yet even as his heart beat faster, a domineering smile spread across his face at having obtained such a thing, the air of Ancientness around him becoming even more Tyrannical as he turned his attention into his Origin where thousands of Marks of Antiquity freely flowed, giving his command for them to be branded onto nearby Galaxies as he did something only those in the Universal Realm would be able to do- he began to birth his very own Dao Galaxies!

RUUUMBLE!

At the same time he began to do this, the beings that had just sworn Fealty to him felt the 5% of power they were borrowing from the Tyrannical Emperor to be increasing, their minds going into utter turmoil at such a reality as at this time, Noah continuing to break all known norms as the secrets of Universal Hegemonies were laid b.a.r.e before his eyes!

Chapter 942 - Shattering the Calculations of a Hegemony! I

Noah's body shook with a wondrous l.u.s.ter as Marks of Antiquity branded themselves to a Galaxy, each galaxy shining a brilliant gold l.u.s.ter as it transformed into a shocking Dao Galaxy that emanated a shocking level of power that was multiple times what it released before!

These Dao Galaxies...shone beautifully with multicolored rainbow light, Noah being mesmerized by their l.u.s.ter briefly before he acted to move the essence of a particular Dao into these Galaxies at this time.

RUMBLE!

The l.u.s.ter of red spread out along with the essence of Ruination, this Cosmic Dao being the one to occupy all the newly forged Dao Galaxies as Noah's power continued to crazily shoot higher and higher!

He was doing something that only Universal Realm Hegemonies could do, a process that many beings began after they had already forged a Universe that contained tens of billions of Galaxies- only then having the chance to obtain the Marks of Antiquity to turn their Galaxies into Dao Galaxies.

The shocking meaning and result that should come out in doing what he was doing so early...well, it had to be experienced in the future to come!

WAAA!

After Noah absorbed a majority of the Marks of Antiquity, he opened his eyes to feel the wondrous feeling of power, the Enhancement of the power that his Cosmic Dao could release elevated significantly just from its essence being placed the tens of thousands of Dao Galaxies he had forged at this moment.

There would be much he had to do in gathering more information and understand just what shocking boom he had brought to himself, his eyes still shining with light as he saw the Marks of Antiquity still continuing to form slowly around him as time passed! His gaze went towards the Golden Mirror that showed the image of a Universal Realm Hegemony in utter stupor, Noah bringing the mirror close as he looked at Valentina with a light smile.

The Universal Hegemony came to as her eyes shone with l.u.s.trous light, her gaze towards Noah being extremely perplexed as she couldn't help but speak out!

"Just...what are you?"

RUMBLE!

As Noah's main body was about to converse with a Universal Hegemony, his Subordinates were fully beginning to utilize the new power they could access through the Dao of Fealty as they moved with intense vigor.

OOOOH!

Their bodies moved with vigor they hadn't come across their entire lives, the feeling of wielding such immense mana within them being foreign as they enjoyed the boons of it to the fullest.

Those that became [Vassals] of the Tyrannical Emperor were showing such power all around as they utterly began to dominate the Bloodline Races or the foreign beings from other Universes that came to reinforce them!

RAA! RAA!

A golden Dragon was streaking across space and tearing apart Nine-Tailed Foxes as he bellowed out majestically, others weaving across the battlefield in a similar manner as they pushed back the army that they had to call for Noah's support of clones just minutes prior.

"This is the power of Master! Creatures like you cannot even begin to understand it!"

The Emperor Penguin felt Noah's strength flow through him as he moved with excitement, and not many were able to keep up with his rising fervor as blood began to freely overflow around him.

Scenes such as this became more and more common as the beings watching the progress of battles in the periphery of the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Cl.u.s.ters found themselves becoming mute and speechless!

In Galaxy B-48 where Noah and his Summons moved...the scenes here were the most gruesome as in one area, the enormous body of a Squid Chthonian could be seen bloodily floating in space, this creature the size of a planet having actually been ripped into two halves as its overabundance of blood caused rivers of crimson to form in the starry space!

ROAAAR!

On one side, one could also see the figure of a small blue haired child with a shimmering illusory crown floating atop his head, the transformed figure of this Blue Slime actually opening its jaws terrifyingly as it swallowed the shining skull of a Decadent Lich Emperor!

RUMBLE!

The body of the Blue Slime shone with a bright blue hue as a chilling smile appeared on its small body, waving its small hands as before him, space cracked while skeletal hands reached out from beyond- an Undead Legion filled with Sages and Entities being led by a Decadent Lich Emperor beginning to rise in the surroundings!

"Kekekeke!"

Chilling laughter and wails of death spread out freely as the childish figure of the Blue Slime had an even bigger smile spreading across his face!

It was a shocking scene that caused the hearts of many to palpitate as those watching truly did not know what to make of the situation.

In another area, an Obsidian Panther had its claws dug deep into the c.h.e.s.t of a Hero, the green light that used to resonate on the Speedster long gone, his face that of shock as he found that at the end of it all...he wasn't fast enough!

BOOM!

The claws of the kingly Calamity Bear could also be seen smashing towards the grim faced Vindicator that looked around the battlefield with unabated shock.

None could have guessed the ridiculous and domineering actions that led to the results currently being displayed across a myriad of Galaxies!

Chapter 943 - Shattering the Calculations of a Hegemony! II

None of the being from the Bloodline Races or the visitors from other Universes could have guessed that the enemy they faced nonchalantly created a ridiculous Dao that gave 5% of his power to all his subordinates, the boom of multiplying their Mana reserves by tens of times being the thing that freely made them move without fear.

Nor would they ever guess that during this time as well, their enemy obtained things that only Universal Realm Hegemonies could play around with, elevating his own Power to a large degree as this development caused the calculations of a certain being to be off!

Deeper in the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Cl.u.s.ters, the Monarchs and Paragons of the Bloodline Races that were alerted by the foreign intruders and had even sent in their own Great Sages and Sages forward watched on with grim expression, a few of them pulsing with essence as they seemed ready to go!

"You know the rules. Only those at the level of Great Sages and below can enter these Galaxies. We cannot break this rule."

THRUM!

Three powerful Monarchs of the White Tiger Race were ready to set off as their eyes were red with anger and bloodlust when watching scenes of their allies butchered under the hands of this new force. Behind them, a pristine White Tiger towering 1000 meters in size appeared while speaking, his white furred body releasing the powerful aura of a Paragon!

"But Paragon Neriliel...isn't it a Rule that the Master set up? He can also choose to let us break it when it comes to defending our people!"

The Monarchs looked towards the Paragon with blood red eyes, the enormous White Tiger shaking his eyes that seemed full of wisdom as he replied with a cold light while staring at the illusory screens showing the shocking events in the peripheral galaxies.

"This deals with the secret of the Slaughter Star Monolith that these Galaxies are clustered around, and the reason why the Rankings within are also isolated to the levels of Great Sages, Monarchs, and Paragons...If we want to interfere, we can only send more Great Sages! But even this seems futile..."

RUMBLE!

The lustrous fur of the White Tiger Paragon shone as he asked what many creatures of the Bloodline Races were thinking as they watched the unfolding events.

"Just who are they? What makes them so bold to disrupt the ecosystem created by a Universal Hegemony...?"

A grand question! One that would be answered soon enough as the forces moving in the periphery of the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Clusters did not just surprise Paragons...but even the Universal Hegemony overseeing the whole thing!

The ridiculous developments that Noah had created truly caused the calculations of a Hegemony to be entirely off, a loss about to be taken by this being for the first time in many, many years!

In an isolated Realm somewhere within the Animus Universe.

The enormous figure of a regal being situated upon a star could be seen, his eyes cold as they stared at the many illusory screens showing exactly what was happening across certain galaxies.

Around him, a fantastical scene of swirling golden destiny and universal fortune could be seen, his increasingly cold eyes glancing at every single line of destiny and fortune as he came to a conclusion when he observed the minuscule amounts of reduction in his Universal Fortune!

It was the conclusion that what was happening now was just the beginning- that if he did not nip it in the bud...it would lead to an even greater loss in his fortune as everything he built would crumble!

This was similar to how when Valentina had met Noah, her proficiency in Destiny and Universal Fortune told her he would be the solution that would solve her problem and further increase her fortune!

Even though he found it hard to believe, Ambrose could not help but confirm the conclusion multiple times as his eyes focused on the central screen he was viewing that showed Noah's figure.

A Hegemony facing a possible heavy loss in the future just from the single Tyrant Dragon at the Galactic Filament Realm and the forces he led against him.

A being that had at most forged a few billion galaxies, who had at most undergone 25% Purification of Primordial Essence...such a creature actually posed a threat to him!

RUMBLE!

Ambrose waved his hands as he ascertained this, his expression placid as the swirling fortune around him disappeared, a light of teleportation wrapping around him while his focus remained on the central Illusory screen showing the figure of the Tyrant Dragon.

He was a being that had lived for over a million years.

He had truly seen a lot, and knew what he needed to do when a problem like this arose! He...had to nip it in the bud before it bloomed to something bigger, and nothing would be more effective than moving himself!

WAA!

His body disappeared as he undertook a long distance teleportation, his destination...being a place that not even the Paragons he controlled would ever think he would be in.

The terrifying figure of the Tyrant Dragon that had ripped apart two planet sized Chthonians was reflected in everyone's eyes, the Great Sages of the Bloodline Races feeling deep terror in their hearts as they saw this creature cash with the last Chthonian horror!

Meanwhile, his Summons moved with just as much terrifying might as they whittled down the forces of the Bloodline Races and their reinforcements like they were cutting through vegetables.

A feeling of despair welled up deep in their hearts as the only commands they heard from the Monarchs and Paragons above them was to continue fighting with all their power, their hearts shaking as they wondered if they had been abandoned!

Yet..

THRUM!

In the next second, a terrifying aura began to descend unto the starry space they were fighting on.

The aura was most definitely not of the Great Sage, Monarch or even Paragon, the eyes of many being flitting around in shock as they looked towards the starry space above them to see...the appearance of a planet sized human!

RUMBLE!

The eyes of this being opened as they billowed out with intense pressure, his gaze causing the bodies of many to tremble as it landed on a single Tyrant Dragon that was ready to tear apart another Chthonian Great Sage!

Chapter 944 - You Thought!

The rules of the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Cl.u.s.ters that surrounded the Universal Construct- Slaughter Star Monolith, were absolute.

No being outside their respective levels could enter Galaxies that were not designated for their level, and this rule could be broken as the galaxies with the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Cl.u.s.ters were the ones used to anchor the Slaughter Star Monolith in the Animus Universe!

As a Universal Construct that could act to promote Slaughter and influence multiple Universes, it came with its own limitations as the division of power was one of them! When the rule was broken, it would interfere with the Construct, and this was why it had been kept strong without ever being broken since the placement of the Slaughter Star Monolith.

So very few beings could ever break the rule of this Universal Construct and do so with very little if any repercussions at all...and that was the maker of this construct himself.

THRUUM!

The magisterial figure and aura of a Universal Hegemony spread out wildly within the Galaxy as his glorious white hair and beard shone with glimmers of light, an old man that looked like the true representation of a wizened expert appearing in front of the eyes of many!

His eyes were as deep as black holes as they glimmered with the light of stars, his appearance causing the Bloodline Races and their reinforcements from other Universes burst into extreme happiness as they called out.

"The Master..."

"The Master!"

RUMBLE!

Their gazes were reverent as it seemed like they were saved, nearly all of them coming to halt to look reverently up to the starry space! Yet...the beings they were fighting did not seem to feel the aura that descended down at all, their gazes those of contempt as they looked at their enemies that had suddenly come to a stop and threw down even more devastating attacks that snuffed out their lives!

"Ah!"

Some finally came out of their stupor as they continued to fight back, the eyes of the Universal Hegemony flashing with intense light at this scene as his mouth opened to utter a single word.

"Stop."

OOOOOM!

With the mere mention of this word, not just the Bloodline Races, even Noah's Summons and the Chaos Dragons behind them found they could not move- every single person within this area of the Galaxy finding themselves stopped in place as they couldn't even get their essence to revolve around their bodies.

They all came to a complete halt as shockingly, the single word from this Universal Hegemony was capable of stopping all the actions of everyone around, no matter if they were Sages or Great Sages!

Shock and horror appeared in the hearts of the Chaos Dragons as they recalled the terrifying being that they heard of from stories, while the reverence in the hearts of the Bloodline Races only increased as this reality.

In this environment where the figures of every one were brought to a halt, the eyes of the Universal Hegemony went towards a single location- and that was the place where a tinge of movement in all the surrounding miles could be seen.

It was the figure of a Tyrant Dragon shining with an obsidian crimson hue, its eyes glimmering with beams of red light as its body seemed to be vibrating at high speed amidst the shocking pressure!

Against the command that A Universal Hegemony had released where others could not even move, the body of this being was vibrating as it threatened to break out of such shocking influence!

This scene was being displayed to the parties watching the unfolding events within this Galaxy, causing an endless amount of shock to the Paragons and Monarchs of the Bloodline Races as well as causing the expression of a particular Architect of the Dao to turn cold.

THRUM!

"Don't."

RUMBLE!

Similar to Ambrose, Noah said a single word as Valentina turned towards him with sharp eyes, his words continuing thereafter as he spoke with a domineering light!

"Universal Hegemonies cannot act against those of the lower levels, merely influencing them somewhat! Even now, he couldn't use his power to stop just my forces as he had to stop both sides in order for it to not be counted as him acting against a specific group."

"I'm curious to see how this scene will play out, so let's just continue to watch."

"..."

Valentina stared towards Noah's figure in the golden mirror with a difficult expression. Many thoughts flashed through her mind as she wondered how a being like him would be so comfortable as to think of all of this and not even be fearful when he faced against a Universal Realm Hegemony!

She then thought about the Marks of Antiquity and the birthing of a Dao that occurred right in front of her as her eyes flashed, turning her gaze towards the illusory screen showing the events with the certain Galaxy.

Yet...amongst all the beings, there was one that seemed capable of resisting the immense pressure, his body vibrating as it seemed like he wanted to break out of the Influence of a Universal Hegemony!

The voice of one of the powerful Monarchs rang out as they stared at this scene.

"The commands of the Master are inviolable..."

The Paragon nodded his head while looking at the scene with shining eyes, a regal light shooting from them as he replied.

"Yes, especially when he isn't acting against a specific group of beings. Nobody should be able to move until he allows them to so aga-"

THRUM!

Like a bolt of lightning, their minds buzzed as before the words of the Paragon could even finish, they watched a fantastical sight of the body of the Tyrant Dragon pulsed with a domineering light, his roar resounding out as the red beams of light released from his eyes lit up the starry space!

Under the eyes of many beings, Noah's Tyrant Dragon form broke free of the chains that a Universal Hegemony had placed on everyone, its bright eyes releasing a light of tyranny as they glanced towards the magisterial figure of the being above fearlessly.

They thought the mere aura and pressure of a Universal Hegemony could hold the body of a Primordial Ruination Clone?!

RUMBLE!

Chapter 945 – Watch Very Closely! I

A Universal Hegemony could not act against those of the lower levels!

An oath was sworn with every rising Universal Realm expert as the most these beings could do was exert influence on those below them.

This influence alone was extremely domineering, and it was enough to show the grandeur of the Hegemonies that stood at the peak of power in many Universes.

But it was still just that- influence!

For those that wished to break under the influence of Hegemonies, certain conditions had to be met. They had to either be truly powerful Paragons that neared the Universal Realm themselves...or they had to have something shocking in their arsenal like the comprehension of a Cosmic Dao!

Many times, these two things were interchangeable as it was always genius Paragons who could even begin to have the capability to comprehend a Cosmic Dao, examples being the Queen Dowager that had begun grasping at the straws of the Cosmic Dao of Annihilation, and the Universal Emperor Slime that was a unique existence in the Cosmos who could comprehend the very same Cosmic Dao of Annihilation.

Noah was no Paragon...but he did comprehend a Cosmic Dao placed higher than Annihilation, Necromancy... and many other Cosmic Daos as he could utilize the unique essence of this Dao to break free from the mere influence of a Universal Hegemony!

RUMBLE!

The gaze of the Primordial Ruination Clone was tyrannical as he gazed towards the figure of the Hegemony of Slaughter without so much as a tinge of fear.

The star sized humanoid had a white robe that shimmered with the essence of many Daos, his entire body sparkling as when one looked closely, the could almost see the fully manifested lights that represented tens of billions of galaxies...all of them coming together to form a wondrous Universe that existed within the Origin of a single being!

An entire Universe for their Origin!

How vast was the power of such a being? How shocking was their strength that had received 100% Purification from the Primordial Essence?

Mind you, 100% Purification correlated to +1,000,000% to All Parameters!

The star sized being Noah was staring at...contained such immense strength that he could flick his finger and cause the entire Galaxy they were in to shatter, a single finger to bring death to anyone below him!

All this being would need was but a thought to dispel the life force of anyone titled a Great Sage.

Yet Noah still stared towards the magisterial figure that was the epitome of power, the regality and majesty being released by the Hegemony only becoming a mere light show in his eyes!

"You need to stop your advancement into the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Cl.u.s.ters. Nothing good will come out of it in the end."

A voice of majesty and strength! A voice that demanded to be obeyed from its mere power alone.

From it, Noah's Primordial Ruination Clone could sense the power of Antiquity, guessing this being in front of him must have obtained millions if not billions of Marks of Antiquity!

This was because unlike Valentina, he had his grasps in multiple Universes as he actively laid down his terrifying Universal Constructs on them!

Ambrose stared at the figure of Noah's Tyrant Dragon form as this Hegemony seemed to have already determined his nature, becoming direct as he spoke once more before Noah could even reply.

"I see you carry a sense of justice for the Dragons of the Animus Universe. If you are selfish enough not to care about yourself, think about these same Dragons that are still within the Draconic Holy Lands. It will not be a challenge to massacre them."

RUMBLE!

Not a threat to Noah's life, but to the beings he sought to liberate!

Noah's eyes shone brightly at this as he came face to face with the machinations of a truly old being for the first time. Ambrose looked at Noah as he sought out any weaknesses, and he chose a weakness that only he could uniquely attack as he threatened the remaining Dragons within the taken over Draconic Lands.

Off to the side, Tiamat's body that was still frozen in space trembled with anger and wrath as her eyes moved to lock on to the majestic figure of the Universal Hegemony!

Noah's draconic figure vibrated with power as he looked at Ambrose with placid eyes. The light within his blazing eyes seemed to calm down as they were filled with utter calmness, his voice resounding out for the first time since the arrival of this terrifying being.

"A Universal Realm Hegemony cannot act against a creature of the lower level, so if the few remaining Dragons enslaved within the Draconic Holy Lands are massacred, it will be through the hands of Paragons, Monarchs, and Great Sages."

RUMBLE!

His calm voice spread to the ears of all the beings still frozen in place in the surrounding miles, as well as the Paragons and Monarchs of the Bloodline Races within the Bloody Battlefields Galaxies, and even those situated with their Holy Lands who had tuned in to watch the unfolding scene when the news spread that their Master himself had made an appearance!

There were also the Draconic Paragons and Monarchs that stayed within the deepest Galaxies of the Bloody Battlefield Galaxy Clusters that were alerted to the shocking scenes playing out, watching as the scenes of what was occurring were relayed to them from the army of Chaos Dragons behind Noah.

Many eyes were locked towards Noah as he continued with shocking calmness, many of those watching thinking a few similar thoughts!

'He wouldn't actually defy the Master's order and threat, right?'

'He can't denounce a Universal Realm Hegemony right?!'

"For those Paragons, Monarchs, Great Sages, and any of those below them that choose to listen to the words of this...being standing in front of me- for any of those that choose to senselessly massacre the remaining Dragons within the Draconic Holy Lands...I want you all to watch very closely what I am about to do even while standing in front of the very same being that will give you that order!"

RUMBLE!

Noah's body glimmered with brilliant light as he pulsed with power, his body that brimmed with the shocking 200% strength of the Primordial Ruination Clone backed with the Purification of Primordial Essence and Ruination Essence that gave him multiple tens of thousands of percentages to All Parameters moving towards the nearest creatures of the Bloodline Races and their reinforcements from other Universes.

"I want you all to watch very closely how the being you admire and follow the words of blindly...will not be able to protect you when I come to collect the debt of blood against all those that massacre innocent Dragons!"

RUMBLE!

...!

Chapter 946 - Watch Very Closely! II

Shock!

Those watching fell into utter shock when they heard the words of the Tyrant Dragon, their eyes gradually opening ever wider as they saw the thrumming body of this terrifying creature open its jaws to release a terrifying Dragon's Breath, a Breath that released innumerable unstable Ruination Galaxy Spirit Bombs that thundered towards hundreds of Sages and tens of Great Sages that were guarding the center most planets protecting the gateway of the Slaughter Star Monolith.

Mind you, the body of the Tyrant Dragon was currently the size of a Planet, its breath covering over a thousand miles as the explosive force of the unstable Galaxies released with this breath...were utterly maddening in the damage they caused!

This was especially so when the beings targeted could currently not even move!

BOOOM! BOOOM!

The unstable Galaxies tore apart space as they exploded, taking with them hundreds of Sages and tens of Great Sages of the Bloodline Races in but a moment.

Blood, gore, and limbs flew out from every angle as Golden Cyclops, Nine-tailed Foxes...many of the Bloodline Races were decimated from this single attack.

...!

Such an action caused all those watching to draw a sharp breath as the scenes they felt were playing in slow motion continued!

"He actually dared...!"

"Against the authority of the Master!"

RUMBLE!

The Paragons and Monarchs of all Races that had gotten information of what was occurring looked forward in a stupor, watching as a being directly defied the will of a Universal Hegemony and acted in such a domineering manner right in front of him!

The Dragons within the deepest parts of the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Cl_u_s_ters looked at their illusory screens that portrayed Noah's figure, their hearts burning with scorching flames of draconic pride when they looked at this being!

"Watch very closely as what I am doing to these Great Sages and Sages in front of me will be exactly what I will do to those who follow the orders of this Universal Hegemony. It matters not if you are a Monarch or a Paragon...in time, even those standing in these ranks will face the same treatment as the being you so revere will not even be able to protect you!"

His voice was ringing out as he moved with even more vigor to attack and rip apart any beings he could, the Universal Realm Hegemony above looking at this scene with extremely chilling eyes that blazed with a shocking light, this being waving his hands as the forces within the tens of miles of radius finally regained control of their bodies, the Bloodline Races at least being able to try and defend themselves against Noah's onslaught!

But they weren't the only ones to regain their ability to move, Noah's summons gaining it as well- these creatures moving with even more fervor as a wrathful expression twisted Tiamat's face.

OOOOOH!

BOOM!

"The Master!"

"Hegemony, save us!"

The shocking battle resumed as the Bloodline Races and their allies faced heavy losses, many cries ringing out as they sought help from the expert they believed in the most!

The hearts of many beings watching were shaken as they saw the authority of the Hegemony not make the Tyrant Dragon or his forces falter, the scenes playing out being imprinted in their minds as they would never forget them.

The chilling light from the Hegemony only increased as the surroundings quaked, but he still didn't attack Noah as no conditions were met for him to attack a creature of a lower level than himself!

He wasn't directly attacked or had his name tarnished in any way, Noah being careful not to even insult the being or call him names! But Noah did point out the fact that the being that would order them to carry out certain actions would not even be able to protect them from him if he chose to move against them.

Thus, Ambrose could only watch as he inscribed the image of the Tyrant Dragon deep in his mind, nodding with a chilling look as he disappeared a second later while leaving behind shocking words.

"So be it."

RUMBLE!

...!

With many eyes watching, the figure of Ambrose disappeared in the starry space as the forces of the Bloodline Races fighting for their lives lost all hope. A feeling welled up in their hearts, these creatures not being the only ones as those watching also experienced the same feeling- it was doubt!

Doubt towards the Master they knew, doubt when they saw him leave when faced against a creature in the Galactic Filament Realm.

It was a shocking seed of doubt that Noah had planted into the hearts of many, but Ambrose had still left as one would think this might have been one of the worse choices for this Hegemony to make!

He had already exerted as much influence as he could without stepping over the line when he stopped everyone in the surroundings tens of miles from moving, and he couldn't do much else.

If he had chosen to stay as Noah continued to show off the fact that he truly couldn't personally act against him and his forces, the repercussions of today would have been even more disastrous!

So the Hegemony calculated with Destiny as he left, once again having his calculations shattered as he truly had not expected Noah to act the way that he did towards a Universal Hegemony.

Like this, Ambrose had suffered multiple losses against Noah before any true battles began!

Chapter 947 - Not Favored By Destiny!

In an isolated region, a shocking reverberation of power emanated out as space ruptured and reformed constantly.

It was the figure of the enormous sized Ambrose shaking with a chilling look as his eyes stared at his Universal Fortune, seeing that unlike before, it hadn't just been reduced by smidges or small lines, but entire significant chunks of Universal Fortune fell out as they were lost entirely!

It was equating to thousands of years worth of hard work!

RUMBLE

The silent wrath of the expert was extremely deadly, this aged being having come across a creature that actually did not bow to the wills of Hegemonies nor seem to care about future results.

Ambrose's eyes focused on the Universal Fortune and the lines of Destiny swirling around him as a terrifying thought entered his mind. Multiple times now, he had used his understanding of Destiny and fortune to act against the newly rising enemy. Yet all times after making calculations based on what destiny told him...he still failed!

This left very few possibilities as to why, but the most direct one was that the enemy he was utilizing Destiny against...had a much more pronounced Golden Destiny and even more Universal Fortune than him!

This realization made the chilling light in Ambrose's eyes die down as they returned with impassive eyes filled with clarity.

A lower tiered being...with a more abundant Universal Fortune than a Hegemony that had lived for over a million years that when faced against each other, the destiny of the lower tiered being was enough to cause losses to a Universal Hegemony!

"What exactly did you find, Valentina?"

His majestic white hair and beard waved wildly as when he came to this conclusion, a light of teleportation wrapped around him again, taking him towards another location as this time, he didn't utilize destiny to plan his movements.

RUMBLE!

Valentina had a difficult expression as she looked at the scenes playing out in the Bloody Battlefields Galaxies while staring into the Golden Mirror that showed Noah's figure that seemed to be focusing closely on the continuously forming Marks of Antiquity that sank into his body every second.

His aura continued to rise rapidly as the formation of Dao Galaxies that only Hegemonies could do was extremely dominating, capable of increasing the output of strength by more than 5 times compared to normal Galaxies!

Having such Dao Galaxies in the lower stage would mean that if Noah forged 10 billion Galaxies and turned them all into Dao Galaxies...the output of power he could release would be equivalent to Monarch.

At this thought, Valentina couldn't help but imagine the levels of power this being could reach, realizing he would be able to excel as the strongest in each stage he reached as his source of strength was simply too robust!

She was about to speak towards the Golden Mirror and probe Noah to see if he would give her any information on how he became an Architect of the Dao and understand the mystery of his formation of Marks of Antiquity, when her expression suddenly changed and turned extremely wrathful!

BOOOM! RIIIP!

Above the billowing clouds in her isolated Realm, space was ruptured as a hand stretched through, opening the two sides of space as if it was ripping apart clothing, a magisterial being stepping out of this rupture in space and appearing in the skies of her Realm.

"You dare?!"

THRUM!

Valentina's dark hair swirled wildly as she shot forth from her castle, appearing in the skies and looking as the shocking figure of a miniaturized Ambrose who wasn't the size of a planet anymore, of this being that had actually intruded into her isolated Realm after failing against Noah just minutes prior!

BZZZT!

The power of Universal Hegemonies rumbled out majestically as space quaked fearfully, Ambrose looking towards Valentina with calm eyes as for him, it didn't seem like anything much to know where Valentina's abode was and break into it.

With an expression of a wizened being, he spoke calmly while facing Valentina's wrathful gaze and body that palpated with immense power.

"Call off your dog. Give me his life in exchange for me leaving all of the Animus Universe to you, with my influence only remaining around the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Cl_u_s_ters where my Universal Construct is anchored."

...!

A shocking set of words came from the Universal Hegemony, his gaze towards Valentina not showing the least bit of respect as it seemed like a senior making a concession with a junior, that they should be grateful enough to quickly take it while bending their back!

THRUM!

Valentina's face had become utterly cold at this point, her white dress shining with a unique l_u_s_ter as her eyes blazed with power. From her body, the essence of a domineering Dao arose, a Dao that wasn't Lesser or Grand, but Cosmic!

WAA!

Like a dam that had been broken loose, the essence of a Cosmic Dao erupted from Valentina- and it was the essence of the Cosmic Dao of Annihilation that most proficient Universal Hegemonies comprehended!

Valentina's eyes released a cold light as with the essence of a Cosmic Dao swirling around her, she replied.

"Get the f_u_c_k out."

RUMBLE!

Power maddeningly overflowed with her words, the space around the nearby miles shattering as it became the void, not even being capable of reforming yet as from the exceedingly cold eyes of Ambrose, the essence of the Cosmic Dao of Annihilation seeped out...as well as another Cosmic Dao!

Ah!

His shockingly cold eyes stared at Valentina with disdain, his voice ringing out.

"I can't so easily attack those in the Lower Realms, but I can easily f_u_c_k up a girl that has barely entered the ranks of the Universal Realm."

The essence of Slaughter that should have been a Grand Dao seemed from his body wildly, but it seemed to be elevated greatly as the aura it gave off was multiple times more regal than a Grand Dao!

"All I need is a few reasons and I can call forth a Blood Feud, coming into this place and ripping apart this body of yours until I fracture your Universe and turn you into nothing."

RUMBLE!

Domineering!

Tyrannical!

It was the demeanor of a Hegemony!

Chapter 948 - Tyrannical Beyond Measure!

WAA!

Waves of maddening levels of essence vibrated out between the two Hegemonies facing off, the one stemming off from Ambrose being simply ridiculous as too many shocking things were hidden within!

The most frightening thing was the essence of Slaughter that had begun to swirl around him.

His name was the Hegemony of Slaughter, and he lived up to it as the essence of this Grand Dao swirling around Ambrose was unlike any other Daos of the same level, giving off an oppressive aura that far surpassed many Grand Daos!

This phenomenon could only be explained if a being had begun to collect numerous Marks of Antiquity and formed many Dao Galaxies while branding a particular Dao into them, strengthening the selected dao greatly.

THRUM!

Ambrose looked at Valentina with a gaze full of dominance, his terrifying words still ringing out in the surroundings as the fair looking woman in front of her didn't even have a change in expression.

"You are young, barely having had the time to form connections with the Hegemonies of our Cosmos. Isolated, no experience, only a slight genius to be able to birth a somewhat above average Lesser Dao."

Waves of essence burst out with every single word he uttered as he continued!

"I have my reach stretching to multiple Universes, with close connections to monsters millions of years old. I have utter and complete confidence in crushing a creature like you, but I do know it will cause slight damage to me in the short term. Why not come to an agreement on a path that benefits both of us? Form a connection with a powerful Hegemony right now and elevate your status to an even greater level."

With shining eyes filled with intense light, Ambrose actually offered a hand after threats, Valentina still looking towards him coldly as her body pulsed with more and more dangerous essence of Annihilation.

"I leave you all of the Animus Universe but the location where my Universal Construct is anchored, all you need to do is to give me the head of that puny dragon you sent out."

The buzzing essence in the surroundings rose ever higher as a cold voice came from Valentina!

"Did you not hear me before? I said get the f_u_c_k out."

...!

Ambrose was only faced with rejection as the Architect of the Dao of Summoning coldly said no to his advances, her fair face looking extremely valiant at this moment while facing the terrifying Universal Hegemony swirling with essence of two Cosmic Daos and a Grand Dao that seemed on its way there as well!

There was a lull of silence in the seconds to follow, Ambrose's eyes expressionlessly looking towards Valentina before he spoke again.

"Children will always be children. Impulsive, reckless, and never thinking about the future or greater glory."

RUMBLE!

"My Universal Fortune will be reduced in the short term yes, my influence might even wane some more if the river of destiny continues flowing in the direction of the creature you sent out. But in the long run...it will be me as the ultimate victor. We study the same Destiny...so I know you know this!"

The swirling essence around Ambrose receded as he maintained his look of dignity and power while continuing to speak.

"I already see a future with your Dao of Summoning shattered and barely being used, a future of that fair skin of your splinters and ruptured as blood spills from that small body. Continue heading in this direction...and that future will come to you soon enough."

RUUUMBLE!

At the very end of his words, a hint of the essence of Slaughter took over his eyes as the Universal Hegemony spoke words of brutality, showing why he was truly the Hegemony of Slaughter as he would defeat his enemies in the most tyrannical and humiliating of ways!

When he finished, his figure was warped with the light of teleportation as he disappeared an instant later, leaving behind a furious Valentina that coldly looked at the space he used to be.

Her body that was thrumming with power calmed down as calmness returned in the isolated Realm, her expression gradually calming down as a voice reverberated out a second later from a certain golden mirror.

"Why did you not take his deal given the benefits and security it provides you?"

From the other side of the mirror, Noah had heard the shocking conversation between the Hegemonies as his heart was moved, asking Valentina a question as this Architect waved her hands to cause the golden mirror to appear in front of her in the skies!

Her expression was still tinged with wrath as she spoke.

"For him to physically appear in the Galaxy that your Tyrant Dragon body is in to threaten you and then even appear in my realm to threaten me...means that you are an even greater threat to him than I realized!"

RUMBLE!

"Oh?" Noah heard her reply as many thoughts crossed his mind, watching Valentina's wrathful expression obtain a hint of a cruel smile as she continued.

"Besides, why should I get myself tied up to an old man whose size of Universal Fortune is nowhere close to yours? With the size of yours, even his calculations must have been wrong for him to appear so ruffled!"

...!

"But for him to blatantly enter my home and sully it with his disgusting essence of slaughter...!"

THRUM!

Her anger dominated as Valentina's body shone with power, Noah thinking of her words as he glanced at his sizable Universal Fortune that swirled around him like a storm ever since he birthed the Dao of Fealty and shared it with an uncountable number of beings in an entire Universe.

When one just stared at Noah, they would find nothing extraordinary aside from his devilishly good looks, but if one activated <<Unfathomable Light of Destiny and Fortune>> to check his destiny and fortune, they would be able to see raging golden rivers that nearly formed into an enormous sea, a pillar of golden light shining from him and rising above majestically!

A large amount of fortune that even Hegemonies would envy.

It was also the reason why beings with dense fortunes like these...could somehow always turn the most dangerous situations into opportunities as they achieved even greater status in their lives!

His thoughts came to a stop as he looked at the mirror that showed an angered Valentina expressing a fiery gaze that would shake the heart of any man.

"What if he acts on his threat against you and starts a Blood Feud?"

...!

A shocking possible reality that a terrifying Hegemony could act on was questioned!

Chapter 949 - The Construct Spanning Across the Cosmos! I

Noah's question caused Valentina to come to a stop as she composed herself, her eyes shining with strength as she looked at this figure in the golden mirror and replied.

"I'm not so easily bullied, so you don't have to worry about me. Just continue your decimation of his authority and influence, and then use his own Universal Construct to get stronger!"

RUMBLE!

"As for me...I'll let the Paragons and Monarchs of the Galaxy Devouring Serpents, Mythical Helios Races, Golden Crow Race and the Mixed Races move their forces out to exert influence and take the attention of the Bloodline Races on the Draconic Holy Lands. If they choose to really wantonly slaughter...it's no problem to start a war."

...!

Valentina's gaze was filled with a sharp light as after Ambrose intruded into her domain, this powerful woman began to lean more on the offensive as one of the biggest moves she made...was not even considering the words of a powerful Universal Hegemony as a connection and instead continuing to side with a creature at the Galactic Filament Realm that had an overabundance of Universal Fortune.

She turned towards his image in the golden mirror as she spoke with an inquisitive tone. "A Universal Hegemony that has birthed a Grand Dao or a Great Sage that has somehow birthed a Lesser Dao at his level and influenced an entire Universe with it seconds after its birth...the choice between this wasn't really that hard as it seems your Universal Fortune might be multiple times what mine or Ambrose is!"

RUMBLE!

Her sharp eyes were filled with light while she looked at Noah to grasp for some answers! Noah came out of his thoughts as he looked towards the golden mirror with a light smile, his voice ringing out casually.

"It's just forging a Lesser Dao, nothing much!"

Valentina stared at him in a stupor at these words, her eyes becoming even more inquisitive!

"Are you actually the reincarnation of a Nirvanic Antiquity? Do you already have the abstruse Cosmic Dao of Reincarnation under your belt? Or is this identity just a portion of your soul? Just...who are you?"

RUMBLE!

The Architect of the Dao of Summoning wanted to know more about the being that could cause the Hegemony of Slaughter to be this fl_u_s_tered! She could find nothing from the river of Destiny, the Universal Fortune of this being far surpassing hers as any calculations about him were cloudy and filled with mysteries, and it was one of the reasons for Ambrose's failures in the past day. But...she would get nothing from the questions as Noah merely shook his head to all her questions!

"I wouldn't be doing all this or let the Bloodline Races run rampant as they are if I had some grand identity. As for breaking apart Ambrose's influence..."

Noah turned his eyes towards the Galaxies around the Slaughter Star Monolith where his forces were finishing up their slaughter.

Valentina glanced at him for a while longer before she gave up, her eyes sharply scanning her abode before she returned to her paradisiacal castle to behind carrying out a great deal of things while observing Noah's forces within the Bloody Battlefields Galaxies.

Within...a losing battle was being fought by the Bloodline Races and their reinforcements! This was because the wills of many enemies were crushed when they saw the scenes of the Universal Hegemony they revered not being able to do anything!

Noah's forces that continued to display a shocking level of strength dominated the Bloodline Races and the reinforcements from other Universes, shocking scenes being displayed all around the peripheral Galaxies of the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Cl_u_s_ters.

In one Galaxy, three Terrors stood atop the decimated bodies of Chthonians, the Terror of Aether at the very forefront pulsing with terrific power as even with the victory, he still seemed somewhat furious!

His wrath naturally came from the connection he could borrow as a Vassal under Noah, sensing this guys' terrifying power somehow growing even as their battles continued. The big guy wouldn't admit it...but he had a trace of envy when he truly understood Noah's power!

In another Galaxy Legions of Undead freely overflowed, but they weren't from Lich Emperors or even the Blue Slime who just devoured a Decadent Lich Emperor to obtain all of its power- it was from Barbatos who now held a great deal of mana after becoming a Vassal!

WAA!

She had an excited expression as she commanded Legions of Abyssal Undead to rip apart the remaining forces of the Bloodline Races as her eyes locked towards the red gateway situated in the middle of a star system that they were protecting.

This was one of the gates in each Galaxy that led the way to the Universal Construct that was known as Slaughter Star Monolith, the Construct of Slaughter that a Hegemony used to spread his influence across multiple Universes as many powerful creatures delved into the Construct for more power or to prove themselves!

A glimmer of sharp light passed through Barbatos' eyes as she turned her head away and finished up her side, other Harbingers of Sin moving with just as much vigor and power.

In Galaxy B-48, Noah's Summons ripped apart the last creature of the Bloodline Races that was actively displaying the scenes of what was occurring here to the Paragons and Monarchs deeper in the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Cl_u_s_ters, these beings not being able to see or know what was happening any more!

"..."

Many powerful beings sat in silence after watching the shocking events, the words of the Tyrant Dragon ringing out in their ears.

"Watch very closely as what I am doing to these Great Sages and Sages in front of me will be exactly what I will do to those who follow the orders of this Universal Hegemony..."

The powerful experts at the level of Monarchs and Paragons had no need to heed the words of a being that was merely at the Galactic Filament Realm.

Even if he was exceptional! Even if he was able to stand against the authority of a Hegemony without fear!

He was still only a Great Sage! There was a large gap between that level up until Monarchs and Paragons!

Yet...The Monarchs and Paragons found themselves hearing his words over and over again as if they were words of utter truth, words that foretold of a given reality if they took certain actions before then.

Some became angered as they shook this feeling off, remembering their prestige as Monarchs and Paragons as they brushed off the threats of this powerful Great Sage. Others listened to their hearts as they felt a tinge of truthfulness, watching to see how things would play out in the days to come!

But at this moment, the conclusion was a given as the forces of the Tyrannical Dragon Emperor overtook multiple galaxies.

Within Galaxy B-48, Noah looked at the scene of his Summons and Chaos Dragons wrapping up the battles, his gaze fully going towards the enormous doorway that was standing protectively between the star system that the Bloodline Races made their homes.

It was the enormous gateway that one could enter the Universal Construct built by a powerful Hegemony!

It was the gateway of the Slaughter Star Monolith that was created by the Hegemony of Slaughter!

Chapter 950

There were many mysteries surrounding something like a Universal Construct, the Hegemony of Slaughter gaining great recognition across multiple Universes for creating something that was so unique.

Within...there was endless slaughter as beings from many universes across the Cosmos entered the Universal Construct to improve their strength...as well as for honor!

Ambrose was using the Universal Construct for his own means, while the masses of powerful beings across the Universe were also using it for their own means. But at the end of it all, there was only one clear winner that continued to get stronger from the existence of this Universal Construct.

Within Galaxy B-48, the battle had concluded as on the starry space, the body of the powerful Vindicator lay in half, his dark cape stained with blood as even this being who was a central character in his own right barely managed to make a dent into the overall situation of the battle today! Even the Heroes of the Liberated Universe weren't able to do anything in front of the Tyrannical Emperor!

"Haha!"

In another area, the childish laughter of the Blue Slime could be seen as it played with a Decadent Lich Emperor that it had summoned, its palate being expanded greatly as the bright eyes on the bright body of this being danced around wondering what was next.

Tiamat overlooked this whole situation as she was in front of the Chaos Dragons who were still looking at everything in a stupor, today's actions being mere fantasy in their eyes as they still didn't know how to process it!

During this time, Noah's Primordial Ruination Clone was pulling out all the loot gained on this battle that had already entered the hands of his main body, Noah duplicating the loot with the Cosmic Treasure and returning it to the Expansive Space where the clone could access it once more.

The Primordial Ruination Clone that had a ridiculous +100,000% speed in Realm Progression then began to absorb the Cores as he forged hundreds of thousands of more cores while staring at the wondrous gateway leading to the Slaughter Star Monolith!

The body of the clone began to fly towards this wondrous gateway as Noah wanted to check the main tool that Ambrose used to check his power, sending a message to his subordinates and summons to finish cleaning up as he went forward.

For now, even after his subordinates had secured the Galaxies they were in, they were to only occupy them as only he would delve forward to discover all the intricacies of the Universal Construct while matching them with the memories of the many beings he had taken down that had already been in the Monolith!

After they had stabilized these Galaxies, their forces would spread towards the other peripheral Galaxies within the Bloody Battlefields Cluster, Noah truly putting his forces to work as they would be the main ones claiming control of the Bloody Galaxies surrounding the Universal Construct. This would gradually reduce the amount of being entering the gateways of the Universal Construct in the Animus Universe, with the influence of Ambrose continuing to be reduced the more galaxies they conquered!

RUMBLE

As Noah neared the huge red gateway, fluctuations of essence reverberated out as a few words appeared in front of him.

[Gateway B-48 of Slaughter] :: One of the gateways stretched across the Bloody Battlefields Galaxy Clusters that anchors the Universal Construct into the Animus Universe. Any of those entering will be transported to the unique space of the Slaughter Star Monolith...

Noah nodded at himself as he read the details, reducing the size of his body that was a star as he only became a 10 meter Dragon barely five times the size of a human, fearlessly plunging his body into the gateway as he disappeared in a flash of spatial light!

When his awareness returned and he opened his eyes, he was transported to an entirely different location. It didn't seem like a world or Realm, but something even more unique!

It was tinged with red all around the land and skies, with the more striking thing being...the auras of many other beings in the surroundings.

Noah was just teleported in as an insignificant being in the midst of many others, many of those around him not even paying attention to him as they went about their business!

What was shocking was that many of them were in the levels of Entities, Sages, and Great Sages- and there seemed to be millions of such beings moving around like ants across the area Noah had appeared in that spanned tens of miles.

Many were entering grand structures and buildings that were clustered around a singular structure- the Universal Construct that gave the Slaughter of Hegemony his fame and power. The grand structures surrounded it and made it look like an ancient structure that had been there for many ages, making it seem like the only beacon of light rising in the middle of a metropolis filled with powerful Sages and Great Sages all around.

RUMBLE!

Noah raised his eyes to look at this shocking structure as his eyes shone brightly, seeing a never ending tower that stretched to the skies, this tower being made up of glittering red stars stacked up together to create something terrifying!

It gave off a ridiculously overabundant aura of Slaughter, this structure being the location where most slaughter was occurring across the Primordial Cosmos.

This was the Slaughter Star Monolith where powerful creatures from many Universes entered to test their power and improve their strength while gaining immense fame and status!

The innumerable number of stars that created the Monolith that one could not see the end of shone with a bright red luster, each of them showing a scene of what was occurring within as in nearly all of the red stars, there were figures fighting to the death with each other.

Scenes of their terrifying battles were being displayed for all to see, with Noah finally being able to match the memories he had obtained from the enemies he had defeated with what he was currently seeing! When his eyes focused on any of the innumerable red stars on the Slaughter Star Monolith, the scenes of the battle occurring within became even more clear as it was like he was watching the battle right in front of him.

Among the many red stars, some were expanded to be bigger than many others as on the low levels of the Slaughter Star Monolith, it was an innumerable number of small stars that held creatures at the Ranks of Sages and Sages fighting. These stars made up the majority of the tower! But when one looked higher up in the tower, the stars above these levels were nearly 5 times as large as they consisted of battles of beings in the Monarch Realm!

Above this were stars expanded to be 10 times larger, with many of them being empty but a few actually held genuine Paragons battling in a shocking manner.

Paragons!

This was the Universal Construct filled with mysteries, the Slaughter Star Monolith where slaughter prevailed within as many sat back to watch the ongoing battles and spread the fame of the powerful beings within!
