

The Mans Decree Chapter 1491 -

Chapter 1491 Test Their Capabilities

In an average restaurant in Jadeborough, Jared was sitting at the table in black clothes after some simple disguise, eating.

He was there to get some information on the Warriors Alliance's movements in the past two days.

There was a twofold reason for his ruthlessness in the past two days. Besides exacting his revenge, he also wanted to snag the attention of the Warriors Alliance and have the elites within the alliance hunt the so-called black-robed man.

Then, he could seize the opportunity when the Warriors Alliance's headquarters had insufficient manpower to slip in and save Josephine. After all, he hadn't full confidence to storm the place forcibly yet.

While he was eating, his attention was suddenly attracted by four figures.

Four elderly men wearing different expressions stepped into the restaurant. Ordering some food, they started eating, yet their expressions remained as solemn as ever.

"The Villainous Four? Why are they here in Jadeborough? Don't tell me they know I'm dead and came to avenge me?"

At The Villainous Four's appearance, Jared couldn't help feeling both apprehensive and worried.

However, he couldn't possibly walk up to them and make himself known when there were so many people coming and going. He could only wait quietly.

In no time, The Villainous Four left the restaurant after eating. He followed closely behind them.

It was already dark then, with a few stars scattered across the sky.

Unexpectedly, The Villainous Four deliberately chose pitch-dark places, walking wherever there were no streetlights.

When they turned into an alley, Jared followed suit and did the same.

But after making the turn, he saw no signs of them ahead. While he was stumped, The Villainous Four had already leaped down from above and surrounded him.

"Who are you? And why are you following us?" Oakley demanded, glaring at him.

Mirth bubbled within Jared when he saw that they didn't recognize him. He decided to test their capabilities at present.

"I saw the four of you acting suspicious and felt that you must be up to no good, so I followed you for a look," Jared said in a hoarse voice, manipulating his vocal cords.

The instant Oakley heard that, his expression darkened.

"Don't yak with him, Oakley. Just kill him. We've still got business to attend to."

Right after saying that, Brody shot his fist out at Jared.

The four of them had cultivated in Pentacarna Tower, so they were all Martial Arts Marquises then. As such, Brody's capabilities weren't to be underestimated either.

The terrifying punch cut through the air and headed straight for Jared.

Fist shadows manifested. Although it was a single punch, countless fist shadows surrounded Jared and slammed into him mercilessly.

Bam! Bam! Bam!

A series of muffled thuds rang out, but Jared remained rooted to the spot without budging an inch.

"There's still much room for improvement," Jared commented.

Right then, Brody was already stupefied. He gaped at the man incredulously, not quite believing that his punch didn't harm a hair on the latter's head. In fact, it didn't even budge him.

The others were, likewise, shocked. Travis, however, chastised Brody, "Are you a weakling, Brody? Why don't you have any strength?"

After reproving the latter, he abruptly unleashed his aura. A distinct wave of martial energy traveled through his body before converging on his right hand.

A layer of faint white light started enveloping his hand, exuding martial energy.

On the heels of that, he let out a roar and swung his fist at Jared.

This time, he didn't bother with anything fancy but focused on boosting his brute strength to the maximum.

Bang!

A deafening boom that sounded like a crack of thunder pierced the air. Travis promptly flew out, his entire arm starting to grow numb and tremble uncontrollably.

But when he swung his gaze on Jared, he found that the man still hadn't budged an inch, nor did he even sway on his feet.

Chapter 1492 The Rescue

"You're too weak. Why not go home and cultivate more instead of roaming around? You will lose your lives if you're careless..." Jared said.

Angered by Jared's taunt, Travis, Brody, and even Quad were prepared to attack him together again.

Although Jared's abilities were astonishing, the three of them were ready to fight him with their lives fearlessly.

However, Oakley stopped them at once. He frowned at Jared and asked, "Who are you? We are The Villainous Four from the Village of Villains, and we don't have any bad blood with you. Why are you following us?"

Oakley knew that there were many hidden talents in the martial arts world in Jadeborough. Since he didn't know Jared's true capabilities, he was careful not to risk their lives unless it was necessary because they had something far more important to do.

The Villainous Four were there to rescue Renee. It would not be worthwhile if a fight ensued or too much time was delayed.

At that moment, Jared took off his hat and revealed his face.

When The Villainous Four saw him, they widened their eyes in disbelief and fell to their knees.

"My Lord! Y-You're alive!" Oakley sobbed.

They all thought Jared was dead because they hadn't seen him for a long time.

"Get up, quick..." Jared helped them up. "I will not die so easily. The person who can kill me is not even born yet..."

"My Lord, were you the one who wiped out the sects a while ago?" Brody asked as he recalled the recent events in the martial arts world in Jadeborough.

Jared nodded, admitting that it was his doing without trying to deny it.

The Villainous Four were even more shocked because it meant that Jared's martial arts skills had improved a great deal.

"What brings the four of you to Jadeborough?" Jared asked.

The Villainous Four suddenly looked embarrassed and awkward. After a moment of silence, Oakley finally said, "My Lord, Ms. Renee was taken away by Edgar. We're here to save her..."

"What?"

Flames of fury raged in Jared.

"Damn it, Edgar!" Jared gritted his teeth, his eyes filled with murderous intent.

The Villainous Four were frightened when they took in Jared's expression.

A while later, after his murderous aura dissipated, Jared asked, "Do you guys have a death wish? How are you going to rescue Renee from the Deragon residence and get out alive? The four of you are not capable enough to fight the Deragons!"

The Deragon family was one of the oldest and most prestigious martial arts families in the martial arts world in Jadeborough. There were so many talents in the Deragon family. Even The Villainous Four were no match for Edgar alone.

It was no different from committing suicide if they went to the Deragon residence hastily.

"Ryker and Edgar are not around at the moment, and some of the martial arts experts have been reassigned to other places. This is a good time to save Ms. Renee..." Oakley said.

Jared was confused. "How do you know?"

Oakley explained, "Rayleigh called the Deragons, saying that he wanted to meet Ryker. Now that Ryker has gone over with some of the martial arts experts, we thought we could seize the opportunity to rescue Ms. Renee..."

"Mr. Deragon?" Jared exclaimed.

Rayleigh had lost his power. How could an ordinary person like him fight Ryker?

He was sacrificing himself to lure Ryker away from the Deragon residence in order to create an opportunity for them to rescue Renee.

Ryker hated Rayleigh and Draco for betraying him and eventually causing the events that followed. He had been wanting to kill Rayleigh for a long time.

Now that Rayleigh had stepped forward, Ryker would definitely go for him.

"Stop Mr. Deragon at once. I'll go to the Deragon residence to save Renee..."

With that, Jared disappeared in the blink of an eye. He knew he couldn't afford to waste more time.

Chapter 1493 A Single Strike

Looking in the direction where Kai disappeared, The Villainous Four exchanged glances with each other because they didn't know if they should follow Kai or stop Rayleigh.

"Oakley, what do we do?" Travis asked.

They were afraid that Kai would be in danger if he went to the Deragon residence alone.

However, if they followed him, he would never forgive them if something happened to Rayleigh.

“Let’s go back and stop Mr. Rayleigh first...”

Oakley turned around and disappeared into the darkness in a flash. Meanwhile, there were only a few higher-ups left overseeing the Deragon residence since Ryker had brought Edgar to meet Rayleigh.

The Deragons had strengthened their security ever since the black-robed man’s frequent murders.

Not only the two guards at the entrance were substituted by Martial Arts Grandmasters, but there were also more than ten Martial Arts Marquis on guard in the courtyard.

Other than the ones who were trained by the Deragon family, the remaining Martial Arts Marquises were hired by Ryker at a high price.

“The elusive black-robed man is not going to show up, is he?” one of the guards in front of the Deragon residence asked his partner fearfully.

“Definitely not. Don’t worry. Don’t you realize that all the sects and prestigious families that were already wiped out were not capable enough in the first place? The Deragon family is one of the best in Jadeborough. He wouldn’t dare...” another guard reassured him.

“That’s good to hear. My eyelids have been twitching for the past few days. Now that Mr. Ryker and Mr. Edgar have left, I feel so flustered and worried...” the frightened guard whispered.

“What is there to worry about? There are more than ten Martial Arts Marquises on guard right now in the courtyard. Even if the black-robed man comes, he will not be able to get away alive. I’ve lived in the Deragon residence for more than two decades, and I’ve never seen such a massive troop of Martial Arts Marquises before. Relax...”

The guard patted his frightened partner’s shoulder.

However, just as he finished comforting his partner, a long shadow under the streetlight caught their attention.

The guards tensed up when they saw a man wearing a black robe and a hat that concealed his face approaching the Deragon residence slowly.

“The black-robed man...”

Pale from fright, the timid guard immediately wanted to turn around and flee to the courtyard.

However, the moment he turned around, he got pulled toward the black-robed man by an unseen force.

Before the guard could even let out a scream, he was sent to his death by the black-robed man's sharp blade.

Upon witnessing the murder, the other guard fell to his knees with a thud.

He might have seemed fearless when talking to his partner just now, but in fact, he was terrified to see Kai!

Kai glanced at the guard. He spared his life and headed toward the courtyard instead.

The moment he stepped into the courtyard, a dozen terrifying auras came from all sides and surrounded him instantly.

The combined auras of the Martial Arts Marquises intensified.

Although there were more than ten of them, their nervous and wary breaths could be heard because they knew about his reputation for being ruthless.

At that moment, Godrick was secretly observing Kai from a corner. Even though he couldn't get a clear glimpse of Kai's face, he thought the man before him felt familiar.

"Scoundrel! How dare you barge into the Deragon residence in the middle of the night? Do you have a death wish?"

Kai watched as one of the higher-ups of the Deragon family stepped forward and yelled at him. He felt the fury in his heart reach its peak.

He knew that his mother was somewhere in the Deragon residence currently!

Whoosh!

Without another word, Kai held up his Dragonslayer Sword, which flared brightly like a shooting star cutting through the night sky.
